——Art. 245 — Rule-making power—Extent of—Delegation of legislative powers — Principles. See Sales Tax — Assam Sales Tax Act (17 of 1947), S. 52 (1). AIR 1959 Assam 216 (DB).

——Art. 245 — Legislature entrusted by Constitution to enact particular kind of legislation — In such a case specifically there can be no delegation of legislative power. AIR 1956 Assam 142 (DB).

[Reversed on another point in AIR 1957 SC 414]

——Art. 245 — Delegation of power by legislature—General — Foreigners Act (1946), Pre, S. 3 — Object of Act — S. 3 is not bad for excessive delegation.

Essential legislative functions must not be delegated but subordinate legislative functions may. Legislature, therefore, necessarily leaves the duty of making rules and of taking necessary actions under the statute to the appropriate Government. But this delegation must not be uncontrolled and unguided and only such delegation of authority may be made to the Government for the exercise of which sufficient guidance has already been provided in the statute itself. AIR 1958 SC 538 and AIR 1961 SC 4, Rel. on.

The object of the Foreigners Act is limited to powers over the entry, presence and departure of foreigners into, in and from India. The problem of immigration and presence of foreigners, is difficult for the legislature to resolve once for all, because the problem is linked up with many variables both national and international. S. 3 of the Foreigners Act, authorising prohibition, regulation or restriction on the entry of foreigners into India or their departure therefrom or their presence or continued presence therein is not bad for excessive delegation of authority, because the power in respect of entry of foreigners into India, their presence therein and their departure therefrom must be left as of necessity, to the discretion of the executive. 67 Cal WN 206: (1963) 2 Cri LJ 9: AIR 1963 Cal 369 (371, 372) (Pt A) (Pr 10).

——Art. 245—Iron and Steel Control Order (1956) — Plea as to excessive power of delegation — When available — Legislature selecting instrumentality by whom power is to be exercised — Delegation cannot be condemned on ground of excessive delegation — Power conferred by R. 11 not arbitrary — Does not suffer from vice of excessive delegation — Essential Commodities Act (1955) Ss. 3 and 5

Where the delegation of powers under a provision of law is unguided and unbriddled the delegation may be condemned as unreasonable; but where the legislature selects the instrumentalities or indicates the method of selecting the instrumentalities, the legislative wisdom must not be questioned on the plea that the Government has been vested with excessive power of delegation. Such a criticism is subversive of the rights which legislatures enjoy while dealing with matters falling within the class or subject in relation to which the Constitution has granted them legislative powers. Under S. 5 of the Essential Commodities Act, the power to make orders (under S. 3 of the Act, under which the Iron and Steel Control Order has been framed) may be exercised, inter alia, by an officer or authority subordinate to the Central or the State Governments as may be specified by the notified order by the Central Government. The section therefore selects the instrumentality by whom the power under the Act may be exercised. 'Any person' authorised by the Central Government becomes an authority subordinate to it and as such an instrumentality selected by the legislature. Exercise of power under the Act by such an authority must not be condemned on the ground of excessive delegation power. AIR 1954 SC 465, Rel. on.

S. 3 of the Essential Commodities Act leaves it to the Central Government by order to provide for regulation and prohibition of production, supply and distribution of essential commodities and trade and commerce therein, if in its opinion it is necessary to do so for increasing supplies or securing equitable distribution thereof. The Statute supplies the guidance for the exercise of power under the Control Order (and also under clause 11 thereof), and it cannot, therefore, be said that the provisions of clause 11 invest the Controller with arbitrary powers. AIR 1960 SC 475 Rel. on. 67 Cal WN 120: AIR 1963 Cal 355 (357, 359) (Pt B) (Prs 9, 13, 15).

——Art. 245—Delegation of power by legislature—Nature and extent of — Indian Dock Labourers Act (1934), S. 5 — Regulations framed under — Indian Dock Labourers Regulations (1948) — Power given to frame regulations not exceeded—No delegation of unrestricted power to make laws. 1962 (1) Cr LJ 22 (24, 25) (Pt B) (Pr 13) (Cal).

——Art. 245 — Extent to which legislative power may be delegated — There exists great danger in excessive delegations to executive. AIR 1955 NUC (Cal) 5922.

● ——Art. 245—Delegation of legislative functions — Right of Maharaja of Travancore. See Travancore Tobacco Act (1 of 1087), S. 31. AIR 1958 Ker 129 (FB).

[Reversed on another point in AIR 1962 SC 922]

——Art. 245—Legislature making law containing determination of legislative policy — It has discretion to delegate authority to subordinate agency to deal with details for working out the law and to carry the enactment into operation—MP Minimum Wages Fixation Act (XVI of 1962), S. 3 — Validity — Act not violative of freedom of contract. See M. P. Minimum Wages Fixation Act (16 of 1962), S. 3. AIR 1964 Madh Pra 45 (DB).

● ——Art. 245 — M. P. Accommodation (Requisition) Act (63 of 1948) — Delegation of powers of requisition under S. 14 to Collector — Extent of power so conferred. See M. P. Accommodation (Requisition) Act (63 of 1948), S. 3. AIR 1962 Madh Pra 146 (FB).

● ——Art. 245 — Delegation of powers to outside agency — Conferment of uncontrolled, arbitrary and naked powers is unreasonable if those powers infringe fundamental rights. State v. Haidarali, 1957 Jab LJ 658: 1957 MPC 473: 1957 MPLJ 549: 1957 Cri LJ 1266: AIR 1957 Madh Pra 179 (182) (Pt B) (Pr 9) (FB).

[Held reversed on another point by Cri App. 162 of 1957 dated 16-12-1959 in 1961 (1) Cri LJ 674 (MP).]

● ——Art. 245 — Delegation of power by Legislature — Validity of.

The delegation of its power by the Legislature may, up to a point, be good, but it will not be good if it confers naked and arbitrary powers on the delegate. The restriction placed upon the fundamental rights by Control Orders should be not only reasonable but should be manifestly reasonable. There should be some standard which the Courts can see and examine and from which they can determine whether the restriction is reasonable or not. AIR 1954 SC 224 Foll. State v. Haidarali, 1957 Jab LJ 658: 1957 MPC 473: 1957 MPLJ 549: 1957 Cri LJ 1266: AIR 1957 Madh Pra 179 (190) (Pt G) (Pr 42) (FB).

[Held reversed by Cri App. 162 of 1957 dated 16-12-1959 on another point in 1961 (1) Cri LJ 674 (MP)]

——Art. 245 — Power of delegation — Limitations on — Legislature must indicate policy and lay down principles for carrying it out — Delegation of power to Executive to fill up details, to create machinery for effectuating purpose of legislation and to make rules towards that end. See Ibid, Art. 265. AIR 1966 Mad 220.

——Art. 245 — Delegated legislation—Rule making power delegated to executive— Validity—Legislative practice —Madras Village Panchayats Act—Rules under, constituting tribunals to hear election disputes are valid—(Madras Village Panchayats Act (10 of 1950), S. 112 (2) (i)).

Once it is established that the legislature has sovereign powers within a certain sphere, it must follow as a corollary that it is free to legislate within that sphere in any way which appears to it to be the best way to give effect to its intention and policy in making a particular law, and that it may utilise any outside agency to any extent it finds necessary for doing things which it is unable to do itself or finds it inconvenient to do. In other words, it can do everything which is ancillary to and necessary for the full and effective exercise of its power of legislation.

The utilisation of the Government for setting up the machinery for the adjudication of disputes to enable the constitution of the Panchayat Board under the Act is merely a ministerial provision, in respect of which it is competent for the Legislature to employ the Executive for making the rules.

The Legislative practice in India also supports the validity of this type of legislation. The juridical basis upon Legislative practice relied upon to sustain the validity of a law is that the content of Legislative power granted by the Constitution should be measured by the manner in which the same has been utilised before the Constitution. In other words, the entry in the Legislative list conferring upon the Legislature a power in relation to a subject would include in the light of this Legislative practice, a right to legislate in the manner in which it was hithertofore done.

Therefore, the rules framed by Government under S. 112 (2) (i) constituting the tribunals to hear election disputes under the Village Panchayats Act are intra vires and valid. AIR 1955 NUC (Mad) 2421.

——Art. 245 — Delegated legislation.

The proposition that subsidiary or delegated legislation has become inevitable and necessary owing to the increased pressure on legislation and the complexity of the subject-matter of the present day legislation is well recognised. Due to the complexity of the modern social and economic conditions the Legislature has been compelled to entrust the Department responsible for administering the law with the power of deciding administrative or quasi-judicial issues.

The usual test for finding out whether a delegation of power is permissible or not is to see if the delegation amounts to an abdication of legislative powers. ILR (1955) Mys 597: AIR 1956 Mys 20 (24) (Pt G) (Pr 10) (DB).

●—Art. 245 — Delegation of legislative power — Extent of delegation allowed. Ganpatrao Yadorao v. State of Madh. Pra., AIR 1955 NUC (Nag) 1341 (FB).

——Art. 245 — Delegated legislation.

The weight of judicial authority now favours the view that what can be delegated is only the task of subordinate legislation which by its very nature is ancillary to the statute which delegates the power to make it. The Legislature has always to declare the policy of the law and fix the legal principles, and after it has done that it can, under certain circumstances, delegate to executive officers the authority to make rules and regulations. State v. Kunja Behari Chandra, 1954 Cr. LJ 1187: 1954 BLJR 459: 33 Pat 507: AIR 1954 Pat 371 (384) (Pt K) (Pr 46) (FB).

——Art. 245 — Power to make rules and regulations for carrying enactment into operation and effect — Legislature can as part of its legislative functions confer power on Executive. AIR 1956 Pepsu 40 (45) (Pt C) (Pr 16) (DB).

●——Art. 245 — Power of legislature to delegate its powers — Limits of.

It is well established that the power of delegation is a constituent element of the legislative powers as a whole, and in modern times when the legislatures enact laws to meet the challenge of the complex socio-economic problems, they often find it convenient and necessary to delegate subsidiary or ancillary powers to delegates of their choice for carrying out the policy laid down by their enactments. It is further well settled that though subsidiary legislative authority may thus be delegated, the legislature cannot delegate its essential legislative function in any case, and it must lay down the legislative policy and principle and must afford guidance for carrying out the said policy before it delegates its subsidiary powers in that behalf. AIR 1951 SC 332 and AIR 1961 SC 4 and ILR (1958) 8 Raj 248, Rel. on. Virendra Kapur v. University of Jodhpur, 1964 Raj LW 328: ILR (1964) 14 Raj 463: AIR 1964 Raj 161 (165) (Pt A) (Pr 13) (FB).

6 (a). 'Legislation', meaning of.

●——Art. 245 — Delegated legislation — Awards pronounced by Industrial Tribunals — Whether there is legislation or delegated legislation in awards — (Industrial Disputes Act (1947), Section 15 (1)).

The powers vested in the Industrial Tribunals in the matter of the settlement of industrial disputes referred to them for adjudication, can hardly be characterised as legislative powers.

The Industrial Courts are undoubtedly free to apply the principles of justice, equity and good conscience, keeping in view the further principle that their jurisdiction is invoked not for the enforcement of mere contractual rights but for preventing labour practices regarded as unfair and for restoring industrial peace. The process does not cease to be judicial by reason of that elasticity or by reason of the application of the principles of justice, equity and good conscience.

There is neither legislation nor delegated legislation in the awards which are pronounced by the Industrial Tribunals while adjudicating upon the industrial disputes referred to them for adjudication. Niemla Textile Finishing Mills, Ltd. v. State of Punjab, (1956-57) 11 FJR 481: ILR (1957) Punj 989: (1957) SCJ 275: (1957) 1 Lab LJ 460: (1957) SCA 640: (1957) MLJ (Cri) 181: 1957 SCR 335: AIR 1957 SC 329 (338, 339) (Pt D) (Prs 22, 23, 24).

——Art. 245 — 'Legislation' — Meaning of — Power of Legislature to adopt and extend measures enacted by another Legislature. See Madras Sales of Motor Spirit Taxation (Andhra Pradesh Extension and Amendment) Act (5 of 1958). (1959) 1 Andh WR 216: AIR 1959 Andh Pra 237 (DB).

——Art. 245 — Power to create public office.

The creation of a public office is generally said or assumed to be a legislative function, though it has been held in a unmber of cases that the Legislature in providing for the creation of local offices, may make the operation of the Act in a given locality dependent upon some contigency or event. In either case the Legislature cannot delegate to another body the power to create an officer or appoint an officer which is enjoined upon it by a constitutional provision. 79 Law Ed. (Anno.) 573-575 and 79 Law Ed (Anno) 479, Rel. on. AIR 1956 Assam 142 (148) (Pt D) (Pr 13) (DB).

[Overruled on another point in AIR 1957 SC 414.]

——Art. 245 — "Legislation" — Central Excise Rules (1944), Rule 8 — Collector withdrawing exemption from particular area does not legislate. See Central Excise Rules (1944), Rule 8. AIR 1959 Bom 256.

——Art. 245 — Delegation of legislative power and non-legislative power such as power to make rules, bye-laws and other things for carrying out purpose of law — Latter is not delegation of legislative power. AIR 1955 NUC (Hyd) 1548 (DB).

6 (b). Essential legislative power cannot be delegated.

●——Art. 245 — Delegation of essential legislative functions — Prohibition against — Whether applies even where there is express authority to confer power.

If the nature of legislative power is such that the legislature cannot delegate essential legislative functions the fact that the authority to confer powers is express and not implicit makes no difference to the application of the principle. In either event, as law conferring power expressly is a law, the rule against excessive delegation applies to it as much to cases where the authority to confer power is implicit. The Corporation of Calcutta v. Liberty Cinema, (1965) 1 SCA 657: AIR 1965 SC 1107 (1134 to 1138) (Pt F) (Prs 72 to 79 and 80).

●——Art. 245 — Plenary power of Legislature — Delegation of subsidiary or ancillary measure.

When a Legislature is given plenary power to legislate on a particular subject there must also be an implied power to make laws incidental to the exercise of such power. It is a fundamental principle of constitutional law that everything necessary to the exercise of a power is included in the grant of the power. A Legislature cannot certainly strip itself of its essential functions and vest the same on an extraneous authority. The primary duty of law-making has to be discharged by the Legislature itself but delegation may be resorted to as a subsidiary or an ancillary measure. (1909) 8 CLR 626; (1878) 3 AC 889, Rel. on. Edward Mills Co. v. State of Aimer, 1955 SCA 24: (1954) An WR (SC) 1: (1955) 1 MLJ (SC) 1: 1955 SCR 735: 1955 SCJ 42: AIR 1955 SC 25 (32) (Pt B) (Pr 17).

●——Art. 245 — Validity of Section 3 of Act (24 of 1946) — Delegation of legislative powers — Essential power of legislation — Bar against delegation of. See Essential Supplies (Temporary Powers) Act (1946), S. 3. 1954 Cri LJ 1322: AIR 1954 SC 465.

●——Art. 245 — Legislature must normally discharge its primary legislative function itself and not through others. In re Art. 143 Constitution of India and Delhi Laws Act (1912), 1951 SCJ 527: 1951 SCR 747: AIR 1951 SC 332 (345, 355, 361, 400, 401, 433) (Pt B) (Prs 35, 36, 38, 74, 90, 246, 378, 379).

——Art. 245 — Delegated powers — Execution of — Extent of — Delegation of essential legislative powers. See Municipalities — U. P. Nagar Mahapalika Adhiniyam (2 of 1959), S. 560. AIR 1965 All 356.

——Art. 245 — Validity — Delegation of legislative powers — Principles — Rule 17 of U. P. Agri. Income-tax Rules 1949 not covered by S. 44 (2) or S. 8 of U. P. Agri. Income-tax Act — Rule acted upon bona fide by assessee—State cannot challenge validity retrospectively—Rule held effective in respect of past transactions. See U. P. Agricultural Income Tax Rules (1949), Rule 17. ILR (1959) 2 All 353.

——Art. 245 — Delegation of legislative power — What amounts to. See U. P. Industrial Disputes Act (28 of 1947), S. 3. AIR 1954 All 550 (DB).

●——Art. 245 — Delegation of legislative power — Validity — The rule and the exceptions.

The power conferred upon a Legislature to make laws cannot be delegated or transferred by it to any other body or authority. Such Legislature, though it may have plenary powers within the limits set by the Constitution of the State, cannot give up those powers and thus pass on the duty of making laws to another authority. In the very nature of things, the duty cast upon a Legislature to make laws must be discharged by the Legislature itself and it cannot be transferred to other authorities. This is the general well-established principle. The extension of the life of an Act, i.e., the duration of a temporary Act is an exercise of legislative function and such a power cannot be delegated to any non-legislative authority.

Certain exceptions have been engrafted on the cardinal principle that the Legislature cannot transfer or delegate this power to any other department or body which may be summed up under these general heads:—

(1) A statute may be conditional and its taking effect may be made to depend upon some subsequent event. This is not really an instance of a delegation of legislative function. Such a form of legislation is inherent in the very nature of the plenary character of legislative power vested in a particular Legislature.

(2) A Legislature may enact a law complete in itself, but may expressly authorise specific officials within definite limitations to provide rules and regulations for carrying out and enforcement of the law enacted.

(3) A Legislature may delegate any power which is not strictly legislative although it may itself be in a position to exercise that power. State v. Ram Kishan, 1951 AWR (HC) 128: 52 Cri LJ 333: 5 AI Cr D 306: 1951 ALJ 64: ILR (1952) 1 All 376: 1951 All Cri R 23: AIR 1951 All 181 (191, 192, 194, 195) (Prs 46, 49, 57, 60) (FB).

——Art. 245 — Extension of life of Act.

Extending the life of an Act is a Legislative function exclusively exercisable by the legislature. ('51) 1951 All LJ 9 (DB).

——Art. 245 — Andhra Pradesh Buildings (Lease, Rent and Eviction) Control Act (15 of 1960), Section 35 — Delegated Legislation — Principle underlying such legislation — Its application to notification issued under Section 35 — Notification is not objectionable.

In respect of delegated legislation, what is prohibited is the delegation by the Legislature of its essential functions of laying down legislative policy in respect of a measure and formally enacting it as a rule of conduct. When the Legislature declares the policy of the law and the legal principles which are to control a given case, and provides also a standard to guide the officials or the body in power to execute the law if the power is delegated which does not contravene in any manner the declared policy of the law, it cannot be said that such a delegation is objectionable. Applying this principle to the issue of G. O. Ms. 575, dated 11th October, 1961 issued under Section 35 of the Andhra Pradesh Buildings (Lease, Rent and Eviction) Control Act (15 of 1960), it cannot be said that it encroached upon the essential legislative functions entrusted solely to the Legislature. What it does is to merely put in practice the policy in regard to appeals laid down by S. 20. AIR 1951 SC 332; AIR 1954 SC 465, 569; AIR 1961 SC 4, Rel. on. (1964) 1 Andh LT 236: (1964) 2 Andh WR 88.

——Art. 245 — Limits of power of delegation — Citizenship Act (1955), Section 9 — Delegation of power under — Validity — (Citizenship Act (1955), Section 9).

The true distinction is between the delegation of power to make the law, and conferring authority or discretion as to its execution to be exercised under and in pursuance of law. The first cannot be done; to the latter no valid objection can be made. 1 Ohio St. 88, Foll.; AIR 1956 Andh 129 and 72 Pa. St. 491, Rel. on.

In conferring under Section 9 of the Citizenship Act read with the rules made thereunder, on the Central Government the power of prescribing the authority to determine the questions whether a citizen of India has voluntarily acquired the citizenship of any other country the Legislature did not delegate its power to make a law but only conferred a power on the Central Government to implement the law in the manner prescribed. It cannot be said that the Legislature in the circumstances has abdicated its function. The delegation therefore, is within the limits permissible by law. 1957 Andhra LT 689: (1957) 2 Andhra WR 527: ILR (1957) Andh Pra 755: AIR 1957 Andhra Pra 1047 (1053) (Pt D) (Prs 18, 20) (DB).

[Overruled on another point in AIR 1962 SC 1052].

——Art. 245 — Delegation of power by Legislature — Limits to.

The Legislature cannot part with its essential legislative function which consists in declaring its policy and making it a binding rule of conduct. A surrender of this essential function would amount to abdication of legislative powers in the eye of law. It cannot therefore, create a sort of a parallel Legislature to do what the Legislature should have done itself. AIR 1951 SC 332 Rel. on.

In this respect the real test is whether there is delegation in matters of essential legislative principle and policy to the Executive Government. If it is, then it must be held that the legislation is void for excess of delegation. This is specifically so where the Legislature has been entrusted by the Constitution with the right to enact a particular kind of legislation; for, in such a case there can be no delegation of legislative power. AIR 1954 SC 569, Rel. on. AIR 1956 Assam 142 (146, 147) (Pt A) (Prs 8, 9) (DB).

[Reversed on another point in AIR 1957 SC 414.]

——Art. 245 — Delegation of legislative power— Tests to determine — Duty of Court.

It is still incumbent upon the Court, when a legislation is challenged on the ground that it constitutes delegated legislation, to consider whether in delegating certain power to the Government or to an outside agency, the Legislature has divested itself of any essential judicial function. It is also incumbent upon the Court to consider whether the power has been delegated to the Government after the Legislature has laid down the vital policy. Once the policy is laid down and is made clear in the Act itself, it would not be for the Court to consider the extent and the nature of the delegation; that must be left to the discretion of the Legislature. The Court will not and cannot say that the Legislature should have delegated up to this point and not beyond it. If the delegation does not constitute a delegation of essential judicial functions and if the delegation does not result in the outside agency laying down the policy and not the Legislature, then the delegation must be upheld as within the competence of the Legislature. AIR 1952 SC 252 and AIR 1951 SC 69, Rel. on; Case-law referred. 56 Bom LR 321 : ILR (1954) Bom 1278 : AIR 1954 Bom 397 (402) (Pt A) (Pr 11) (DB).

——Art. 245 — Delegation of legislative functions — Principles.

The power to delegate legislative functions generally is not warranted under the Constitution of India, at any stage. If, owing to unusual circumstances and exigency the Legislature does not choose to lay down detailed rules or regulations, that work may be left to another body which is then deemed to have subordinate legislative power. This is described as 'subordinate legislation'. The Legislature while entrusting power to an outside agency, must see that such agency acts as a subordinate authority and does not become a parallel Legislature. So long as a standard is established by Statute no constitutional delegation of legislative power is involved. It is equally true that where no policy is laid down but arbitrary power is given without limit, then there is a surrender of legislative function. AIR 1951 SC 332 and 93 Cal LJ 304, Foll. AIR 1959 Cal 45 (50; 51) (Pt C) (Pr 18).

[Impliedly Overruled on another point in AIR 1963 SC 1811.]

——Art. 245 — Validity — Delegation of legislative powers — What amounts to — Policy and purpose of the Rules — S. 3 not invalid due to excessive delegation. See Defence of India Act (1962), S. 3. 1963 (2) Cr LJ 624 : AIR 1963 Ker 341 (DB).

——Art. 245 — Delegated legislation — (T. C.) Motor Vehicles Act (14 of 1950), S. 12 — Policy and guiding principles for levy of tolls not indicated in Act — S. 12 amounts to excessive delegation of legislative powers — (T. C.) Notification, dated 28-4-1953 held invalid.

The essential powers of legislation cannot be delegated. The legislature must declare the policy of the law and the legal principles which are to control any given case and must also provide a standard to guide the officials or the body in power to execute the law. The legislature cannot strip itself of its essential functions and vest the same on an extraneous authority. The primary duty of law making has to be discharged by the legislature itself; but there can be a delegation resorted to as a subsidiary or ancillary measure. The legislature cannot abdicate its functions in favour of another.

There is no indication anywhere in the T. C. Motor Vehicles Act as to what circumstances can be considered to be 'special circumstances' under S. 12 justifying the levy of a toll. The decision as to what will constitute a 'special circumstance' under S. 12 for levy of a toll, has been completely left to the sole and exclusive discretion of the Government. Again, the legislature has not specified on what basis the toll is to be levied on the various vehicles using the bridge or road. The maximum levy, that could be made under the section has not in any way been indicated by the legislature. As it is, it is open to the Government to treat any circumstance as a 'special circumstance' and the only requirement is that the Government should be so satisfied. In the absence of any legislative indication in the Act regarding any policy to govern the Government before taking action under S. 12 or placing any limits of assessment for the guidance of the assessing authority in the matter of fixing of rates of tolls, the provisions of Section 12 of the Act amount to excessive delegation of legislative power. Hence, the notification, dated 28-4-1953 issued by the T. C. State Government under Section 12 of the Act, directing the levy of tolls on vehicles using the bridge at Palai across the Meenachil river must be held to be invalid. 1961 Ker LJ 1235: ILR (1962) 1 Ker 494: AIR 1962 Ker 298 (308, 309) (Prs 59, 61, 62, 68).

——Art. 245 — Central Excises and Salt Act (1944), S. 12 — Delegation of legislative power — Principles — Bar against surrender of Legislative power to subordinate — Does not cover authority to frame Rules where object and limits of Rules are not vague to frame rules amounting to mere ministerial acts — Delegation of power under S. 12 — Not invalid — Rules framed under the power are valid. See Central Excises and Salt Act (1944), S. 12. AIR 1961 Ker 93.

——Arts. 245, 265 — T. C. Vehicles Taxation Act (1950), S. 18 (1) — Notification under, enhancing maxima specified in Schs. 1 and 2 — Validity — Delegation of legislative functions — Principles — Notification held ultra vires. See T. C. Vehicles Taxation Act (14 of 1950), S. 18 (1). AIR 1960 Ker 58.

——Art. 245 — Delegation of legislative powers— Limits of.

The Legislature cannot repose any power essentially legislative in another body or organ; it cannot efface itself and set up a parallel legislative authority; it must exercise its judgment on vital matters of policy and enact the general principles which should be embodied in the legislation; but it can confer upon any person or body fitted to exercise it, the power to work out details and particulars for carrying out its policy and in order to give effect to the legislation in a particular direction. It is not possible to lay down any hard and fast rule for determining whether a matter is of principle and policy or whether it is one of detail, ancillary to the statute for carrying it into effect. The question, though often be set with difficulty, has to be answered with reference to the nature of the impugned legislation. AIR 1951 SC 69; AIR 1951 SC 332; AIR 1951 SC 484; AIR 1954 SC 569 and AIR 1949 FC 175, Rel. on. ILR (1955) Madh Bha 406: Madh BLR 195[illegible] (Civ) 528: Madh BLJ 1955 HCR 1949: AIR 1955 MB 177 (178) (Pt A) (Pr 3) (DB).

——Art. 245 — Madhya Pradesh Accommodation Control Act (41 of 1961), S. 3 (2) — Legislature cannot delegate its essential legislative function — It is open to legislature to formulate policy and to delegate rest of legislative work — Held, S. 3 (2) of the Act not hit by Art. 245 of Constitution. AIR 1954 SC 465 and AIR 1961 SC 4, Rel. on. 1964 Jab LJ 628: 1965 MPLJ 188: AIR 1965 Madh Pra 160 (163) (Pt A) (Pr 8) (DB).

●——Art. 245 — Delegation of power by Legislature — Limits to power.

The Supreme Court has laid down that all the essential law making must be done by the Legislature itself. What is meant by 'Essential Law making' is defined by the Supreme Court as the policy and the intent and purpose of the law. Thereafter, according to the Supreme Court, delegation is perfectly valid so that the details of the law may be filled in by the designated authority. But even there, unless the intent and purpose and the policy of the law is clearly adequate, or there is some ancillary provision controlling the vagaries of the delegate, the law is found to be defective and has been struck down. State v. Haidarali. 1957 Jab LJ 658: 1957 MPC 473: 1957 MPLJ 549: 1957 Cri LJ 1266: AIR 1957 Madh Pra 179 (188) (Pt C) (Pr 32) (FB).

[Held reversed by Cri. App. 162 of 1957 dated 16-12-1959 on another point in 1961 (1) Cri LJ 674 (MP).]

——Art. 245 — Unconstitutionality on ground of excessive delegation — Karnatak University Act (Bom. Act 20 of 1949), Ss. 19, 29 — Provision empowering Syndicate to make Ordinances for supervising and controlling conduct and discipline of students — Not unconstitutional on ground of excessive delegation by Legislature — Ordinances 109, 119 and 120 — Validity — Not beyond scope of Ss. 19 and 20 — Power to arrange for conduct of examinations — Includes power to arrange for conduct and discipline of students. Karnatak University Act (Bom. Act 20 of 1949), Ss. 19 and 20 — Whether unconstitutional on ground of excessive delegation — Karnatak University Ordinances, Ordinances 109, 119 and 120 — Validity — Whether beyond scope of Ss. 19 and 20 of Karnatak University Act.

What may be described as essential legislative function of the legislature consists in declaring its policy and making it a binding rule of conduct and the true test of whether there has been a delegation of any part of that essential legislative function is to see whether decisions or exercise of power by the delegate derive sanction from the act or volition of the delegate himself or they have got the sanction from what the legislature has enacted and decided.

The Legislature by establishing the Karnatak University, naming its authorities and allocating to several authorities the duties and powers necessary for the purpose for which the University has been established has clearly indicated its policy and laid down the rule of conduct for all the authorities functioning under the Act. There is no question therefore, of either a delegation of essential legislative functions or excessive delegation of such functions or of a conferment of arbitrary power on statutory authorities without any guidance whatever having been given to them as to the manner in which those powers are to be exercised by them.

There is, therefore, no reason to hold either that any part of sections 19 and 29 of the Karnatak University Act is unconstitutional or that Ordinances 109, 119 and 120 promulgated by the Syndicate of the University are for any reason invalid or incompetent. 1951 SCR 747, Rel. on.; 63 CWN 147, Disting.

The expression 'students of the Univeristy' in S. 19 is comprehensive enough to include not merely students residing in institutions like hostels, colleges, research department, etc., actually, set up and maintained by the University itself, but also students of affiliated colleges or other recognised institutions who get themselves admitted into courses of study prescribed by the University and pursue those courses with a view to acquire degrees, diplomas or other academic distinctions appropriate to the same. Under these clauses the University has power to control and supervise the residence also of students reading in affiliated colleges or other recognised institutions by prescribing that such students shall reside only with their parents or other near relations or in recognised hostels or other institutions conducted in a prescribed manner.

The power to arrange for the conduct or examinations, having regard to the purpose of holding an examination is wide enough to make provisions for all matters germane to the proper conduct of examinations including the conduct and discipline of students in relation thereto. 1963 Mys LJ 408.

——Art. 245 — Scope — Manner of dividing land among quasi-permanent tenants and inamdar is not matter of policy relating to essential legislative function. See Mysore (Personal and Miscellaneous) Inams Abolition Act (1 of 1955), S. 6. AIR 1959 Mys 222 (DB).

——Art. 245 — Pepsu Sirhind Canal and Western Jamna Canal (Enforcement and Validation) Act, S. 3 — Validity — (Pepsu Sirhind Canal and Western Jamna Canal (Enforcement and Validation) Act (4 of 1954), S. 3).

A Legislature cannot delegate its legislative functions to the Executive. The Legislature can, as as a part of its legislative functions, confer on the Executive, power to make rules and regulations for carrying the enactment into operation and effect.

The rule making power is given by the Canal Act (8 of 1873) itself and that was simply recognised or reiterated by the Validation Act (4 of 1954). The Punjab Rules were formally adopted for the interim period till the State Government framed its own rules under the Canal Act. This can, in no sense, be regarded as abdication of its power by the Legislature in favour of the Executive.

Assuming that second portion of S. 3 of the Validation Act (4 of 1954) is ultra vires the powers of the Legislature, there is no reason to accept the contention that it is so inseparably inter-mingled with the rest of the section that the section should be declared invalid in its entirety. The first part of the section enforces the Punjab Rules in the State and the second authorises the State Government to modify those rules or make fresh rules of its own. Even if the latter be bad the former stands as valid and unimpeachable. AIR 1956 Pepsu 40 (44, 45) (Pt C) (Prs 15, 16, 18) (DB).

●——Art. 245 —Legislature itself may lay down legislative policy and principle.

It is well settled that though subsidiary legislative authority may be delegated the legislature cannot delegate its essential legislative functions in any case and it must lay down the legislative policy and principle and must afford guidance for carrying out the said policy before its delegates its subsidiary powers in that behalf. Virendra Kapur v. University of Jodhpur, 1964 Raj LW 328: ILR (1964) 14 Raj 463: AIR 1964 Raj 161 (165) (Pt A) (Pr 13) (FB).

——Art. 245 — Delegation of powers by State Legislature — Extent of — (Municipalities — Rajasthan Town Municipalities Act (XXIII of 1951), S. 59 —Whether invalid on ground of excessive delegation).

In delegating its powers to subordinate authorities the legislature must declare the policy of the law and the legal principles which are to control any given cases and must provide a standard to guide the officials of the body in power to execute the law. AIR 1954 SC 465, Rel. on.

Section 59 of the Rajasthan Town Municipalities Act, which authorises imposition of octroi tax cannot be struck down as conferring excessive delegation on the Board or the Government. The legislature has discharged its essential legislative functions in the determination of the legislative policy and formally enacting that policy into a binding rule of conduct. 1959 Raj LW 6: ILR (1958) 8 Raj 409: AIR 1958 Raj 192 (196, 197) (Pt B) (Prs 22, 24) (DB).

6 (c). Abdication or self-effacement by legislature.

●——Art. 245 — Parliament cannot delegate power so as to abdicate its legislative function—Power can be entrusted to outside agency only in such a way that it would act as a subordinate authority and not as a parellel legislature. In re Art. 143 Constitution of India and Delhi laws Act (1912), etc. 1951 BLR (SC) 311: 1951 SCJ 527: 1951 SCR 747: AIR 1951 SC 332 (359, 360, 361, 371, 392, 393, 407, 408, 434, 440) (Pt A) (Prs 80; 81; 97; 130; 205; 206; 207; 269, 276, 348, 390, 391).

●——Art. 245 — Delegation of legislative power — Extent.

No doubt a law can be challenged on the ground of the incompetency of the particular Legislature, whether federal or State to enact it or on the ground of its inconsistency with the fundamental rights guaranteed by the Constitution. but—provided the Legislature concerned does not abdicate its power of legislation by wiping itself out and retains its control so as to be able to withdraw legislature power conferred on the subordinate authority whenever it considers it proper to do so, it is not for Courts to decide how much authority should be delegated or for how long such delegation should continue: AIR 1951 SC 332, Rel. on. Basti Sugar Mills, Ltd. v. State of Uttar Pradesh, ILR (1954) 1 All 457: 1954 All LJ 452: 1954 All WR (HC) 428: AIR 1954 All 538 (541; 542) (Pt C) (Prs 6, 7) (FB).

[Reversed on another point in AIR 1961 SC 420.]

●——Art. 245 — Delegation of powers of subordinate legislation.

A legislature must legislate. It cannot abdicate its powers. But provided it preserves its own capacity intact there is no reason why it should not delegate powers of subordinate legislation to such other authorities as it deems proper. Raja Suryapalsingh v. U. P. Govt., 1951 All LJ 365: 1951 All WR (HC) 317: ILR (1952) 2 All 46: AIR 1951 All 674 (696, 697) (Pt V) (Prs. 119; 120; 121; 123) (FB).

——Art. 245 — Madras Village Panchayats (Andhra Second Amendment) Act (1955), S. 22—Validity — S. 22 does not amount to abdication of power by Legislature. See Panchayats — Madras Village Panchayats (Andhra Second Amendment) Act (1955), S. 22. AIR 1957 Andh Pra 355.

——Art. 245 — Government of India Act (1935), S. 296 — Assam Revenue Tribunal (Transfer of Powers) Act (4 of 1948), S. 3 (3) — S. 3 (3) in effect makes government a parellel authority for Constituting Tribunal leaving the principle and policy of such constitution to be determined by Government — Hence it goes beyond bounds of permissive legislation — It is repugnant to S. 296, Government of India Act. See Government of India Act (1935), S. 296. AIR 1956 Assam 142.

——Art. 245 — S. 169, Bom. Municipal Corporation Act is valid — Delegation of power to Commissioner to charge for water supplied by measurement — Whether amounts to delegation of legislative functions — Discrimination — Whether a valid ground for challenging the provision. See Municipalities — Bombay Municipal Corporation Act (3 of 1888), S. 169. AIR 1955 Bom 185 (DB).

——Art. 245 — Granting of certain powers, under S. 133, Bombay Industrial Relations Act, 1946 (11 of 1947) do not amount to surrender or abdication of legislative power. See Bombay Industrial Relations Act, 1946 (11 of 1947), S. 133. (1965) 6 Guj LR 369.

——Art. 245 — Banking Companies Act (1949), S. 45 (10) (as amended by Act 7 of 1961) — validity—Provision not ultra vires on ground of excessive delegation.

The essential legislative function of declaraing the policy and making it a binding rule of conduct is done by S. 45, of the Banking Companies Act itself and is not surrendered under sub-section (10), of S. 45, to the Central Government. It is not as if the Central Government can make any order it pleases under the sub-section and thereby alter contractual or other rights. The section clearly lays down the policy and the guiding principles. Only the details are left to the Central Government. The order to be made under the sub-section can only be for the purpose of removing a difficulty that arises in giving effect to the provisions of the scheme and it must be necessary or expedient for that purpose. Sub-section (5), lays down with great particularity what the scheme can do. Among the many things the scheme can do is a reduction or other alteration of the interest and rights of depositors and other creditors of the banking company concerned. Thus the contract between the banking company and its creditors can be altered by the scheme. Under sub-S. (8), the contract so altered is binding on both parties. The Central Government is empowered to remove only a difficulty that arises in the working of the scheme in its many details. There is no abdication of the essential legislative function. Even if S. 45 (10) is construed so as to authorise a modification of any other law the provision would come within the bounds of permissible delegation. AIR 1951 SC 332 and AIR 1954 SC 569, Rel. on. ILR (1965) 1 Ker 131 : 1965 Ker LT 229 : (1965) Com LJ 154 : 1965 Ker LJ 359 : (1965) 1 Ker LR 410 : AIR 1965 Ker 297 (301) (Pt A) (Prs 13, 14).

——Art. 245 — Delegated legislation — Motor Vehicles Act (1939), Ss. 68 (2) (o) and 133 — Scope —S. 68 (2) (o) does not confer unrestricted power to frame rules — There is no abdication of function by legislature. See Motor Vehicles Act (1939), S. 68 (2) (o). ILR (1962) 2 Ker 540.

——Art. 245 — Rule against abdication and self effacement — Implication of — Possible abuse of power delegated as a test of validity of delegation. See T. C. Vehicles Taxation Act (14 of 1950), S. 18 (1). AIR 1960 Ker 58 (DB).

●—— Art. 245 — Delegation of power by Legislature — Competency.

It is open to the Indian Legislature, both at the Centre and in the States, to delegate to an outside instrumentality the carrying into operation of the purpose of an enactment. The only condition to be observed in this respect is that in making such delegation the Legislature itself must enact the policy and the purpose of the enactment and should not, in other words, abdicate or efface itself. AIR 1951 SC 332, Foll.

Further, uncontrolled and arbitrary and naked powers conferred upon an outside agency are unreasonable if they infringe the fundamental rights. State v. Haidarali, 1957 Jab LJ 658 : 1957 MPC 473 : 1957 MPLJ 549 : 1957 Cri LJ 1266 : AIR 1957 Madh Pra 179 (181, 182) (Pt B) (Prs 6, 9) (FB).

[Held reversed by Cri. App. 162 of 1957 dt. 16-12-1959 on another point in 1961 (1) Cri LJ 674 (MP).]

——Art. 245 — Delegation of powers by legislature to executive — Conditions and limitations — Legislature cannot abdicate its legislative functions — Delegation of power to levy tax. See Ibid, Art. 265. AIR 1966 Mad 220.

——Art. 245 — Legislatures under the Government of India Act, 1935.

Under the Constitution Act the legislative powers of a Government was vested in the legislature and it was not open to the legislature to surrender or abdicate that power or delegate it to another authority whether it is the executive Government or some other body. (1949) 2 Mad LJ 663 : 1949 Mad WN 733 : 51 Cr LJ 615 : AIR 1950 Mad 243 (246, 247, 248) (Pt E) (Prs. 6, 9) (DB).

——Art. 245 — Act declaring policy of law fixing the legal principles that should govern in a case — Delegation of power to ascertain facts and conditions to which the policy and principles apply — Validity — Delegation when does not amount to abdication or self-effacement. See Orissa Essential Articles Control and Requisitioning (Temporary Powers) Act (1 of 1947), S. 2 (a). AIR 1952 Orissa 260.

——Arts. 245 and 246 — S. 78 of the Bengal Irrigation Act — Validity — (Bengal Irrigation Act (3 of 1876), S. 78).

It was open to the Legislature to leave it to the State Government to determine the water rate from time to time. S. 78, Bengal Irrigation Act 1876, cannot be said to amount to an abdication of the Legislative function. 1956 BLJR 383 : AIR 1956 Pat 482 (488) (Pt F) (Pr 12) (DB).

——Art. 245 — Punjab Urban Immovable Property Tax Act (17 of 1940), Ss. 1 (2), 2 (e), 3 (3) and 4 (2) — Not violative of Art. 14 of the Constitution as being discriminatory — Sections 1 (2), 3 (3) and 4 (2) are in the nature of conditional legislation which is not an abdication of Legislative powers. See Punjab Urban Immovable Property Tax Act (17 of 1940), S.1 (2). AIR 1963 Punj 354 (DB).

6 (d). Control over subordinate agency.

●——Art. 245 — Power can be entrusted to outside agency only in such way as that agency acts as subordinate authority and not as a parallel legislature. In re Art. 143 Constitution of India and Delhi Laws Act (1912). 1951 BLR (SC) 311 : 1951 SCJ 527 : 1951 SCR 747 : AIR 1951 SC 332 (359, 360, 361, 371, 392, 393, 407, 408, 434, 440) (Pt A) (Prs 80; 81; 91; 130; 205 to 207; 269; 276, 348, 390, 391).

●——Art. 245— No improper delegation of power — Law, whether can be challenged on the allegation that excessive authority has been given.

Provided the legislature concerned does not abdicate its power of legislation by wiping itself out and retains its control, so as to be able to withdraw its authority whenever it considers it proper to do so, it is not for Courts to decide how much authority should be delegated or for how long delegation should continue. Basti Sugar Mills Co., Ltd. v. State of Uttar Pradesh. 1954 All LJ 452 : 1954 All WR (HC) 428 : ILR (1954) 1 All 457 : AIR 1954 All 538 (541, 542) (Pt C) (Prs 6, 7) (FB).

[Reversed on another point in AIR 1961 SC 420.]

——Art. 245 — Delegation of statutory powers — Effect — Delegating authority does not denude itself of delegated powers during subsistence of delegation. See Municipalities — Madras District Municipalities Act (5 of 1920), S. 23. AIR 1964 Andh Pra 357.

——Art. 245 — Delegated Legislation — Subordination of delegate — Nature of.

All that is implied in the idea of delegated legislation is that the delegate should operate under the control of the Legislature from which authority is derived and on the continuing operation of which its capacity to function rests. It is only in that sense that there is dependency by the delegatee. The power delegated could be withdrawn, altered, and expanded or further curtailed at any time. So, the subordination contemplated is only legislative subordination : 1957 SCJ 527 : AIR 1951 SC 332, Rel. on. (1959) 1 An WR 331 : (1959) 10 STC 378 : AIR 1959 Andh Pra 225 (229) (Pt B) (Pr 15) (DB).

——Art. 245 — Entrustment of power to outside agency — Legislature must see that the agency acts as a subordinate authority and does not become a parallel legislature. AIR 1959 Cal 45 (50, 51) (Pt C) (Pr 18).

[Impliedly overruled on another point in AIR 1963 SC 1811.]

■ ——Art. 245 — "Delegation"— Meaning of.
The word "delegation", as generally used, does not imply a parting with powers by a person who grants the delegation, but points rather to the conferring of an authority to do things which otherwise that person would have to do himself. Achchala v. Janpad Sabha, Sihora., ILR (1963) Madh Pra 777 : 1963 Jab LJ 5 : 1963 MPLJ 92 : AIR 1963 Madh Pra 74 (84) (Pt C) (Pr 18) (FB).

● ——Art. 245 — Delegation of power to designated authority to fill in details of law — Though such delegation is not invalid law will be found to be defective and struck down unless the intent and purpose and policy of the law is clearly adequate or there is some ancillary provision controlling the vagaries of the delegate. State v. Haiderali, 1957 Jab LJ 658 : 1957 MPC 473 : 1957 MPLJ 549 : 1957 Cri LJ 1266 : AIR 1957 Madh Pra 179 (188) (Pt C) (Pr 32) (FB).
(Held, reversed on another point by Cri App. 162 of 1957 dated 16-12-1959 in 1961 (1) Cri LJ 674 (MP).)

● ——Art. 245 — Delegation of power — Procedure and conditions.

In delegating the power to fix prices or to control commodities or trade, it is necessary that not only the purpose and intent of the law should be made clear but that the mode and manner in which the control is to be exercised should also be indicated. AIR 1952 Mad 565 : (1952) 1 Mad LJ 514, Foll. State v. Haidarali, 1957 Jab LJ 658 : 1957 MPC 473 : 1957 MPLJ 549 : 1957 Cri LJ 1266 : AIR 1957 Madh Pra 179 (190) (Pt F) (Pr 41) (FB).
[Held reversed on another point by Cri App. 162 of 1957 dt. 16-12-1959 in 1961 (1)Cri LJ 674 (MP).].

6 (e). Delegatus non potest delegare — Sub-delegation.

● ——Art. 245 — Delegation of discretion to State Government or its executive — Validity — Ss. 2 and 3 of Punjab Act (38 of 1956) — Validity — (Punjab Special Powers (Press) Act (38 of 1956), Sections 2 and 3).

Sections 2 and 3 of the Punjab Special Powers (Press) Act, 1956, lay down the principle that the State Government or the delegated authority can exercise the power only if it is satisfied that its exercise is necessary for the purposes mentioned in the sections. The State Government may delegate the power to any officer or person but the fact that the power of delegation is to be exercised by the State Government itself is some safeguard against the abuse of this power of delegation. No assumption ought to be made that the State Government or the authority will abuse its power. To make the exercise of the power justiciable will defeat the very purpose for which the power is given. Further, even if the officer may conceivably abuse the power, what will be struck down is not the statute but the abuse of power. AIR 1950 SC 124: Distinguished. Virendra v. State of Punjab. 1958 SCC 1: 1958 SCA 891: 1958 SCR 308: (1958) SCJ 88: AIR 1957 SC 896 (900, 901) (Pt D) (Prs 11, 12, 13).

● ——Art. 245 — Validity of Section 4 of Act (24 of 1946 — Delegation of delegated powers. See Essential Supplies (Temporary Powers) Act (1946), Section 4. 1954 Cri LJ 1322: AIR 1954 SC 465.

——Art. 245 — Electricity Act (1910), S. 37 — Rules under, Rule 45 — Notification under U. P. Government Notification No. 877/El-86-1938, dated 2-6-1942 — Power delegated by Central Electricity Board to State Government to provide for qualifications of electric contractors and manner for issue and cancellation of licence — Delegation of powers not illegal. See Electricity Act (1910), S. 37. AIR 1960 All 87.

——Art. 245 — Delegation of power to sanction prosecution — Validity — Principles of. See Panchayats — Madras Village Panchayats Act (10 of 1950), Section 106. 1961 (1) Cri LJ 37: AIR 1961 Andh Pra 18.

● ——Art. 245 — Motor Vehicles Act (1939), Section 133-A and Section 44-A (Madras) — Power of delegation vested in Government — Its exercise — Presumption as to. See Motor Vehicles Act (1939), Section 133-A. AIR 1959 Andh Pra 413 (FB).

——Art. 245 — Re-delegation of delegated powers. See Bombay Essential Commodities (Regulation of Disposal and Acquisition) Order (1947), Cl. 4. AIR 1959 Bom 511 (DB).

——Art. 245 — Essential Commodities Act (1955), Sections 5, 3 — Validity — Power to form opinion and make orders under section 3—Delegation of— Not unconstitutional — See Essential Commodities Act (1955), Section 5. 1963 (1) Cri LJ 49: AIR 1963 Cal 61.

——Art. 245 — Essential Commodities Act (1955), Ss. 3 and 5 — Power to promulgate orders — If delegated to District Magistrate — Principle of delegatus non potest delegare — Applicability — West Bengal Soft Coke Distribution Order (1955), Paras. 3 and 5 — Scope.

The West Bengal Soft Coke Distribution Order (1951) has been promulgated by the State Government in exercise of powers under S. 3 (2) (d) of the Essential Commodities Act, 1955, delegated to it by the Central Government under S. 5 of that Act. By that order, the State Government has not re-delegated its power to the District Magistrate, etc., of making such an order. The principle of delegatus non potest delegare has therefore, no application. ('60) 64 Cal WN 521.

——Art. 245 — Prevention of Food Adulteration Rules (1955) Rule 50 (1) — Constitutional validity — Legislative sub-delegation — State Government empowered by Central Government to apply Rule 50 (1) to any other article of food — No legislative sub-delegation — Rule is valid.

The Central Government does not sub-delegate its legislative function to the State Government by providing in Rule 50 (1) that the Rule will apply also to any other article of food which the State Government may by notification specify. There is undoubtedly an element of delegation implied in the provision of Rule 50, for the Central Government in a sense authorises another body specified by it to do something which it might do itself. But such delegation, if it can be so called at all is not unconstitutional. The Central Government have made all the necessary rules on the subject and thereby discharged fully their legislative function and what is left to the State Government under Rule 50 (1) is only to determine to what further articles of food the operation of the said Rules should be extended. There is no element of legislative sub-delegation involved in this and therefore Rule 50 (1) is not ultra vires. 1962 Ker LJ 240 : 1962-1 Ker LJ 294 : ILR (1962) 1 Kerala 436.

——Art. 245 — Notification dt. 13-8-1953 issued under M. P. Official Languages Act, 1950 — Not hit by doctrine of delegate potestas non potest delegare. See M. P. Official Languages Act (1950), S. 3 (2). AIR 1959 Madh Pra 208 (DB).

——Art. 245 — Madras Prevention of Adulteration Act (3 of 1918), Section 3 — Delegation referred to in Section 3 amounts to delegation of a delegated authority which is not valid under Section 20 of the Central Act, viz., Prevention of Food Adulteration Act (1954). Hence, a Sanitary Inspector of a town or Panchayat authorised to launch prosecution under Madras Act (3 of 1918) is incompetent to launch prosecution under Section 20 of the Central Act. (1956) 2 MLJ 465.

——Art. 245 — Indian Legislatures before Constitution.

The Indian legislatures were in no sense the agents of the British Parliament which created them and the principle of delegata potestas non potest delegare is inapplicable to them. (1949) 2 Mad LJ 663 : 1949 Mad WN 733 : 51 Cr LJ 615 : AIR 1950 Mad 243 (246, 247, 248) (Pt E) (Prs 6, 9) (DB).

——Art. 245 — Delegated legislation — Delegatus non-potest delegare — Applicability. See Industrial Disputes Act (1947), S. 38. AIR 1965 Mys 39 (DB).

——Art. 245 — Competitive examination by State Public Service Commission for recruitment for the posts of Munsiffs in the State — Prescribing of qualifying marks — Absence of power in Governor to delegate his authority — Governor cannot delegate the power — P. S. C. is not competent to prescribe qualifying marks — Prescribing two sets of qualifying marks, one for scheduled caste and other for others is illegal — It does not amount to reservation within Art. 16 (4). See Ibid, Art. 234. AIR 1963 Mys 292 (DB).

——Art. 245 — Delegated Legislation — Public Safety — Saurashtra State Public Safety Measures (Third Amendment) Ordinance (66 of 1949), Ss. 9, 10, 11 — Validity — Civil P. C. (1908), S. 9.

The Legislation contained in S. 9, S. 10 and S. 11 of the Ordinance is valid and is not obnoxious to the principle of delegatus non potest delegare. 47 Bom LR 260, Foll. 52 Cri LJ 1300 : AIR 1951 Sau 69 (73) (Pt B) (Pr 7) (DB).

6 (f). Power to repeal existing laws.

●——Art. 245 — Authority of State Rulers—Pre-Constitutional Nizam — Firmans of — Effect of subsequent firman repealing earlier one — Repeal of repealing Act — Effect — (Interpretation of Statutes) — (General Clauses Act (1897), Ss. 6, 7) — (Supreme Court — Practice — Can follow Common law rule).

Under the English Common Law when a repealing enactment was repealed by another statute the repeal of the second Act revived the former Act ab initio. But this rule does not apply to repealing Acts passed since 1850 and now if an Act repealing a former Act is itself repealed, the last repeal does not revive the Act before repealed unless words are added reviving it.

The present rule, however, is based on the statutory provisions introduced by the Interpretation Act, 1889 and as the Supreme Court is not bound by the provisions of any English statute, it can still apply the English Common Law rule if it appears to be reasonable and proper. But even according to the Common Law doctrine, the repeal of the repealing enactment would not revive the original Act if the second repealing enactment manifests an intention to the contrary.

Held, that the firman of the 7th September, 1949, did not repeal the earlier firman of the 24th February, 1949, simpliciter but made a further provision providing for fresh enquiry and report which presupposed the continuance of the repeal of the original firman of the 26th June, 1947. Ameer-un-Nissa Begum v. Mahboob Begum, AIR 1955 SC 352 (363) (Pt B) (Pr 24).

●——Art. 245 — Validity of S. 6 of Act 24 of 1946 — Does not repeal any Act. See Essential Supplies (Temporary Powers) Act (1946), S. 6. 1954 Cri LJ 1322 : AIR 1954 SC 465.

——Art. 245 — Power of Government to render ineffective provisions of S. 5-A in cases of urgency, does not amount to delegation of legislative functions — Power flows not from executive but from S. 17, Land Acquisition Act framed by Legislature. See Land Acquisition Act (1894), S. 17 (4). AIR 1965 All 433.

——Art. 245 — Delegated legislation — Permissible limits of Delegation — Land Acquisition Act (1894), Ss. 17, 5-A — Direction that S. 5-A shall not apply to particular case does not imply conferment of power on Government to repeal section 5-A.

The fact that sub-S. (4) of S. 17 authorises the appropriate Government to direct that S. 5-A shall not apply to a particular case does not imply that the appropriate Government has been given the power of repealing S. 5-A and consequently has been invested with essential legislative functions.

The effect of direction under S. 17 (4) is not to repeal S. 5-A. Matters of detail and the manner in which to execute the law are often left to the executive, the policy of law and legal principle having been enacted into a binding rule of conduct by the Legislature itself. In such cases, there is no delegation of essential legislative function. The mere fact that the State Government has been given power to decide that in cases of urgency the provisions of S. 5A would not apply, does not amount to the repealing of that provision. AIR 1963 All 24 (27) (Pt E) (Pr 10).

——Art. 245 — Land Acquisition Act (1894), S. 17 (4) — Sub-section is not invalid on the ground of excessive delegation of power by Legislature. See Land Acquisition Act (1894), S. 17 (4). AIR 1962 All 221 (DB).

[Reversed on another point in AIR 1965 SC 1763.]

——Art. 245 — Responsible authority authorised by Act to extend it to specified locality — Authority given power to alter and modify Act according to situation and to repeal existing law which would stand repealed by the Act — Notification repealing certain laws in force in the area when applying the Act does nothing more than express what is implicit in the situation — Repeal is not one by act of delegate but is by Act of legislature itself. 1955 All LJ 508: 1955 All WR (HC) 450 : AIR 1955 All 554 (556, 557) (Prs 13, 17) (DB).

——Art. 245 — Applicability and scope — Law passed by Parliament or existing Central law in matter enumerated in concurrent list — Power of State Legislature to repeal. See Minimum Wages Act (1948), S. 31-A. AIR 1962 Madh Pra 342 (DB).

——Art. 245 — Law — Amendment of — By executive act not valid — Order of erstwhile Ruler in Vindhya Pradesh making cash grant — Nature of — Power of Raj Pramukh after forma- tion of Union of Vindhya Pradesh to modify — Modification by executive act not valid.

The act of the Raj Pramukh in modifying the grant made by the erstwhile Ruler by merely an executive act is not valid. A pre-existing law could be repealed only by a repealing enactment and as the executive act of the Raj Pramukh did not have that effect the order of the ruler, making grant continued valid. 1961 MPLJ 549 : 1961 Jab LJ 820 : 1961 MPC 605 : AIR 1962 Madh Pra 257 (259, 261) (Pt A) (Prs 12, 16, 17) (DB).

——Art. 245 — S. 6 C. P. and Berar Regulation of Letting of Accommodation Act 11 of 1946 — Validity — Not invalid as conferring power of repeal on executive. See Houses and Rents — C. P. and Berar Regulation of Letting of Accommodation Act (11 of 1946), S. 6. AIR 1955 Nag (246).

——Arts. 245 and 254 — Provisions of S. 35, Stamp Act (1899) as modified by S. 5 Indian Stamp (East Punjab Amendment) Act (27 of 1949) cannot be extended to Delhi. See Part C States (Laws) Act (1950), S. 2. AIR 1965 Punj 279 (DB).

——Art. 245—Power conferred on State Government to exempt from provisions of Act — Exercise of power does not amount to exercise of powers of repeal — Exemption merely implies suspension of statute — Repeal implies obliteration of statute. 64 Pun LR 1: ILR (1962) 1 Punj 407: AIR 1962 Punj 204 (210, 211, 212, 213) (Pt A) (Prs 11, 13, 14, 15, 17, 18) (DB).

6 (g). Power of taxation.

●——Art. 245—Delegation of legislative powers—Power of taxation — Delegation of, to corporation — Fixing of rates of tax not essence of legislative power — Duty of legislature to provide for sufficient guidance — Sufficient guidance — What is. See Municipalities — Calcutta Municipal Act (XXXIII of 1951), S. 548 (2). AIR 1965 SC 1107.

●——Art. 245 — Delegated legislation — C. P. and Berar Sales Tax Act (21 of 1947), S. 6 (1) and (2) and Sch. II. Item 33 — Scope — Notification, dated 18th September, 1950, Amending Sch. II, Item 33 — Validity.

Per Venkatarama Aiyar, J. : It is not unconstitutional for the Legislature to leave it to the executive to determine details relating to the working of taxation laws, such as the selection of persons on whom the tax is to be laid, the rates at which it is to be charged in respect of different classes of goods, and the like.

The power conferred on the State Government by S. 6 (2) to amend the schedule relating to exemption is in consonance with the accepted legislative practice relating to the topic, and is not unconstitutional. The two sub-Sections (1) and (2) of S. 6 together form integral parts of a single enactment, the object of which is to grant exemption from taxation in respect of such goods and to such extent as may from time to time be determined by the State Government. S. 6 (1) therefore, cannot have an operation independent of S. 6 (2) and an exemption granted thereunder is conditional and subject to any modification that might be issued under S. 6 (2). In this view, the notification, dated 18th September, 1950, issued by the State under S. 6 (2) of the Act amending item 33 in Sch. II of the Act, is intra vires and not open to challenge. Banarasi Das Bhanat v. The State of Madhya Pradesh. 1959 SCR 427: (1958) 9 STC 388: 1958 MPLJ 467: AIR 1958 SC 909 (912, 913) (Pt B) (Prs 7, 10, 11).

——Art. 245, Sch. VII, List II Entries Nos. 54, and 66 — Delegation of power to fix fees in sales tax cases — Validity — S. 52 (1) of Assam Act 17 of 1947 not invalid.

The mere fact that the imposition of fee forms a distinct head of the legislative list, is no bar to the legislature delegating the power to fix fees to the administrative authorities as ancillary to the main purposes of the Assam Sales Tax Act, 1947 and with a view to carry out the purposes of the Act. (1960) 11 STC 125: AIR 1959 Assam 216 (218, 219) (Pt B) (Pr 2) (DB).

——Art. 245 —Municipal borough empowered to levy profession tax — Rate at discretion of Municipal boroughs — No excessive delegation. See Municipalities — Bombay Municipal Boroughs Act (18 of 1925), S. 75. AIR 1966 Bom 15 (DB).

——Art. 245, Sch. VII, List II, Items 13 and 66 — Calcutta Tramways Act (1 of 1880), Ss. 9 and 10 — Validity.

The fares charged by the Calcutta Tramways Company Ltd., cannot be called as "fees" chargeable by the State Government in terms of item 66. The power to fix the rate of fares is based on legislative sanction. Even assuming that this is a delegated legislation, as long as the Legislature lays down the policy, the details can be left to a non-legislative body to work out. Nothing illegal has been done on this ground, and the provisions of Ss. 9 and 10 of the Act of 1880 are valid and constitutional. AIR 1960 Cal 396 (399) (Pt C) (Pr 8).

——Art. 245 — Delegated legislation — Taxation Laws — Delegation to municipal corporation of power to fix rate of tax. See Ibid, Art. 110 (2). AIR 1959 Cal 704 (DB).

——Art. 245 — Delegation of power to tax — Excessive delegation. See Municipalities — Calcutta Municipal Act (33 of 1951), S. 548 (2) AIR 1959 Cal 45.

——Art. 245 — S. 299, Calcutta Municipal Act — Validity — Licence fee, if tax — Powers of delegation, if exceeded. See Municipalities — Calcutta Municipal Act (33 of 1951), S. 229. AIR 1959 Cal 36.

——Art. 245 — Delegation of legislation — Power to impose trade-tax — Ss. 123 and 182 and Sch. IV, Bengal Municipal Act, if ultra vires—(Municipalities — Bengal Municipal Act (15 of 1932), Ss. 123 and 182 and Sch. IV).

The Bengal Municipal Act contemplates an imposition of tax on trades. The rate is fixed, and the procedure by which a licence has to be taken out in respect of a trade is laid down in the Act. Only the power is given to the Commissioners to decide as to whether in a particular Municipality, the tax is to be levied. That of course will depend upon the necessity for raising revenue and so far as this is concerned, the Commissioners would be the best persons to judge as to whether an occasion has arisen for the imposition of the tax. Such a delegation is permissible and Ss. 123 and 182 and Sch. IV of the Act are not ultra vires. 60 Cal WN 170: ILR (1957) 1 Cal 391: AIR 1956 Cal 397 (399) (Pt C) (Pr 5).

——Art. 245 — Power of taxation — Fixing per capita tax burden at suitable level — Duty of legislature — Delegation of power to extraneous body to ascertain and determine appropriate tax level by applying principles and standard which may be settled by the legislature. See T. C. Vehicles Taxation Act (14 of 1950), S. 18 (1). AIR 1960 Ker 58 (DB)

——Art. 245—Delegation of power to levy tax. See Ibid, Art. 265. AIR 1966 Mad 220.

——Art. 245 — Delegated legislation—Madras Commercial Crops Markets Act (XX of 1933) (as amended by Madras Act (33 of 1955), S. 11 (1)—Validity.

A taxing provision has essentially three features: (1) a declaration of liability, (2) assessment or quantification and (3) machinery for collection. Section 11 (1) of the Madras Commercial Crops Markets Act, 1933, declares a liability and provides the machinery. But the rate of tax which is an essential part of the declaration and assessment has been completely delegated to the Executive Government with no principles or basis laid down. Uncontrolled power is vested in the Executive to fix such rate as it pleases. The provisions of the section amount to excessive delegation of legislative power and therefore, are invalid. 1960 Mad WN 734: (1960) 1 MadLJ 298: 72 Mad LW 752: ILR (1960) Mad 171: AIR 1960 Mad 160 (166, 167, 168) (Pt E) (Pr 17)

——Art. 245 — Delegated legislation — General Scheme of Mad. Gen. Sales Tax Act — Main provisions in Rule — Draft criticised. See Sales Tax—Madras General Sales Tax Act (9 of 1939), (1957) Mad LJ (Cr.) 721: (1957) 2 Mad LJ 533.

——Art. 245 — Scope — Sale in course of inter-State trade — Power of Parliament to directly enact legislation — Validity of S. 2, Sales Tax Law Validation Act, 1956. See Ibid, Art. 286 (2). (1957) 2 Mad LJ 167: AIR 1957 Mad 368 (DB).

——Art. 245 — Agency for collection of sales-tax. See Sales Tax — Madras General Sales Tax Act (1939), S. 15. 1954 Cr LJ 1267: AIR 1954 Mad 833 (DB).

——Arts. 245, 246 (3), and 277 — Power of fixing percentage of tax — Does not amount to delegation of legislative power — Sections not ultra vires the Constitution. See Municipalities — Assam Municipal Act (15 of 1957), S. 68 (1) (a) AIR 1962 Manipur 28.

——Art. 245 — Sales Tax — Mysore Sales Tax Act (46 of 1948), S. 3 (4), Proviso — Proviso conferring power on Government to amend Sch II of the Act providing for determination of turnover is not invalid on the ground of excessive delegation — Determination of turnover is a mere matter of detail in regard to which the legislature itself need not make a law: AIR 1955 SC 25 Rel. on. — Constitution of India Art. 245. See Sales Tax — Mysore Sales Tax Act (46 of 1948), S. 3 (4). (1962) 13 STC 314 (DB).

——Arts. 245 and 265 — Power of Legislature to impose tax — Delegation of, to municipal Corporation — Corporation cannot exceed delegated power.

The power to tax belongs to the Legislature. The State Legislature has delegated the power in respect of municipal administration to the Corporation, but the taxing power of the Corporation depends upon the grant to it in the Act. The Corporation cannot either change or exceed the delegated powers. The power of the municipal Corporation to impose taxes, licence fees, or other imposts is not an absolute power. 1956 Nag LJ 237: ILR (1956) Nag 102: AIR 1956 Nag 152 (153) (Pt A) (Pr 5) (DB).

—Art. 245—Power to fix rate of tax—Nature of—Whether delegation of, to executive authority invalid. See Municipalities — Bihar and Orissa Municipal Act (7 of 1922), S. 82 (1) (ff) Proviso. 1965 BLJR 886.

— Art. 245 — Taxing power derived from Constitution — Interpretation. See Interpretation of Statutes. AIR 1960 Punjab 669.

——Art. 245 — Rajasthan Entertainment Tax Act (24 of 1957), S. 6-A (as amended by Act 8 of 1960) — Power for levy of entertainment tax—Section not invalid for excessive delegation. See Rajasthan Entertainment Tax Act (24 of 1957, as amended by Act 8 of 1960, S. 6-A. AIR 1964 Raj 106.

——Art. 245 — Determination of fee by executive authority — If permissible delegation. See Ajmer Shops and Establishments Act (4 of 1956), S. 4. AIR 1959 Raj 257 (DB).

6 (h). Power to constitute Courts and tribunals.

● ——Art. 245 — Delegation of judicial function—Exercise of — Such function, subject to delegating authority's control and revision — Propriety. See Municipalities — Bombay Municipal Corporation Act (1888) (as amended by Maharashtra Act 14 of 1961), S. 68 (1). AIR 1965 SC 1486.

●——Art. 245 — Bengal Finance (Sales Tax) Act (6 of 1941) as amended by Bengal Finance (Sales Tax) (Delhi Amendment) Act 17 of 1956), S. 8-A, as in force in Delhi — Powers conferred on Commissioner are not unlimited and unrestricted — Provision for demanding security is not arbitrary or unreasonable restriction — Amount of security — Power to demand is not constitutionally invalid — Constitution of India, Arts. 19 (1) (g) and (6), 245, 226. See Sales Tax—Bengal Finance (Sales Tax)Act (6 of 1941) as amended by Bengal Finance (Sales Tax) (Delhi Amendment) Act (17 of 1956), S. 8-A. (1962) 1 SCR 283.

——Art. 245 — Delegation of power of — Validity—Power given to Reserve Bank under Banking Companies Act — If excessive delegation — Abuse of power — Aggrieved party's right to apply under Art. 226 — (Banking Companies Act (1949), S. 20).

The power that is given to the Reserve Bank under the Act is a wide range of administrative discretion. The Legislature having prescribed the nature of a real banking institution in this country, it could not be said that there has been any excessive delegation of power. A discretionary power is not necessarily a discriminatory power and abuse of power should not be easily assumed where discretion is vested in a public authority, and not in a minor official. In such cases the delegation as such could not be held to be invalid, though in individual cases, if such a body exceeds its jurisdiction or abuses its power, it would be open to an aggrieved party to apply to the superior Court for the issue of a writ under Art. 226 of Constitution. AIR 1956 SC 44 Foll. 72 Mad LW 790: (1960) 30 Comp Cas 146: 1960 Mad WN 207: (1959) 2 Mad LJ 455: AIR 1961 Mad 8 (13) (Pt D) (Pr 16).

——Art. 245 — Delegated legislation — S. 3, Madras Hindu Religious and Charitable Endowments Act (19 of 1951) — Validity.

Madras Act (19 of 1951), no doubt, primarily and of its own force, applied to Hindu religious institutions and endowments. The Legislature considered that it was sufficient if the provisions of the Act were applied to those charitable endowments whose affairs were mismanaged. Naturally some authority had to be created and vested with power to find out those cases of charitable endowments whose affairs were mismanaged. The executive Government was vested with this power under S. 3. It was for the Legislature to determine the authority to be invested with such power, and so no objection, could be taken on the score that the Government were chosen for that purpose. AIR 1955 SC 25 Foll. 1956 Mad WN 177 (2): 71 Mad LW 222: (1958) 1 Mad LJ 248: AIR 1958 Mad 532 (533) (Pt A) (Pr 5).

——Art. 245 — Delegated legislation—Rule making power — Delegation to executive — Validity — Legislative practice — Rules under Madras Village Panchayats Act constituting tribunals to hear election disputes are valid — (Madras Village Panchayats Act (10 of 1950), S. 112 (2) (1). AIR 1955 NUC (Mad) 2421.

——Art. 245 — Delegated legislation — Legislature leaving creation of appellate authority under Motor Vehicles Act to the discretion of State — Qualification for Chairman not laid down — Sections 64 and 68 are not invalid because of it.

There is no specific provision either in the Motor Vehicles Act or the Rules framed thereunder prescribing qualification for the Chairman of the Appellate Authority. The Legislature left it to the Government of the State to constitute the Appellate Authority for purposes of S. 64. Power has been given to the State Government under S. 68 to make rules for purposes of carrying into effect the provisions of Chapter IV. The Legislature may not have thought it fit to prescribe qualifications for the Chairmanship leaving the matter to the discretion of the State Governments. Ss.64 and 68 of the Motor Vehicles Act cannot in this view of the matter be regarded to be invalid and Ss. 64 and 68 are not hit by the principle of delegated legislation as laid down in the judgment of the Supreme Court in Delhi Laws Act case. ILR (1960) 10 Raj 1060: 1960 Raj LW 708 : AIR 1962 Raj 19 (22, 23) (Pt C) (Prs 7, 9) (DB).

——Art. 245 — Delegation of powers by legislature — Rajasthan Municipalities Act (38 of 1959), S. 301 — Validity.

The authority delegated to the Government under S. 301 of the Rajasthan Municipalities Act is of a transitory nature. The intention of the Legislature was that the Act was ultimately to prevail but in order to bring it in operation, it was considered necessary that the Government should be authorised to issue orders so as to bring the old boards or the boards that had not come into being under the laws thereby repealed in a position to function under the Act. Hence S. 301 could not be held to be ultra vires. Section 3, sub-S. (4) of the Rajasthan Municipalities (Transitory Provisions) Second Order, 1959 could not be regarded outside the scope of S. 301, for the Government thereby provided a quick and suitable method of constituting the Board at its earliest in consonance with the spirit of the new Act. AIR 1951 SC 332 and AIR 1954 SC 465 and AIR 1954 SC 569 Foll. ILR (1960) 10 Raj 477: AIR 1961 Raj 3 (5, 6) (Pt A) (Prs 5, 6) (DB).

6 (I). Conferment of administrative authority.

● ——Art. 245—Bihar Land Reforms Act, S. 32 (2) — Payment of compensation — Payment in cash and bonds and intervals between instalments — Determination of, left to executive Government — Held limited discretion of such a nature to an administrative body was not incompetent. See Tenancy Laws — Bihar Land Reforms Act (30 of 1950) S. 32 (2). AIR 1952 SC 252.

● — Art. 245 — Power which is not strictly legislative but which can be exercised by legislature— Legislature can delegate such power, Ram Kishan v. State 1951 All LJ 64: 52 Cr LJ 333: 1951 All WR (HC) 128: 1951 All Cri R 23: ILR (1952) 1 All 376: AIR 1951 All 181 (191, 192, 194, 195) (Prs 46, 49, 57, 60) (FB).

——Art. 245, Sch. VII, List II, Entry 5 — Madras Village Panchayats Act (10 of 1950), S. 112 (2) (i) — Validity.

If the Legislature expressly provided for tribunals and authorised Government to appoint authorities to man those tribunals, it cannot be said that the conferment of such power is bad. In effect and substance, what the Legislature purported to do by enacting Section 112 (2) (i) is nothing more than authorising them to appoint authorities for conducting elections. The section, therefore, cannot in any way be questioned on the ground of excessive delegation. AIR 1951 SC 332 Foll.; (1955) 1MLJ 201 and AIR 1957 Andh Pra 393, Rel. on. ILR (1956) Andhra 383.

——Arts. 245 and 246— "Laws in Force" — Entrustment of power under Art. 258 (1) — Nature of — Whether executive in nature. See Bombay Reorganisation Act (11 of 1960), S. 87. AIR 1963 Guj 80 (DB).

— Art. 245 — (Hyderabad) Special Tribunals Regulation — Provision laying down that tribunal would get jurisdiction only where Military Governor transfers case is not unconstitutional — Provision does not abrogate the extant law viz. Criminal P. C. and does not amount to any delegation of legislative power. See (Hyderabad) Special Tribunals Regulations (5 of 1358 Fasli) AIR 1953 Hyd 145.

——Art. 245 — Delegation under Section 3 (2) M. P. Official Languages Act, 1950 is not delegation of legislative functions but only of administrative powers — Delegation is not improper — Notification under Section 3 (2), M. P. Official Languages Act, (1950) — Effect of. See M. P. Official Languages Act (1950), Section 3 (2). AIR 1959 Madh Pra 208 (DB).

——Art. 245 — Bihar Sugar Factories Control Act (7 of 1937), Ss. 29 (3) and 30 (2) (t) — Challenge on ground of unconstitutional delegation.

The power of legislating on policy or principle has not been delegated by Section 29 (3) to the State Government. What is delegated by the section is only the power to set up an administrative machinery for the execution of the law and such a delegation is constitutionally permissible. Therefore, Section 29 (3) cannot be challenged on the ground that there is an unconstitutional delegation of legislative power. The language of Section 30 (2) (t) is identical to that of Section 29 (3). Therefore, the attack on the constitutional validity of Section 30 (2) (t) must also fail. 1956 BLJR 754: 1956 Pat LR 467: ILR 35 Pat 847: AIR 1957 Pat 40 (44) (Pt C) (Pr 10) (DB).

● ——Art. 245 — Delegation of Administrative power — Delegation with retrospective effect. See East Punjab Holdings (Consolidation and Prevention of Fragmentation) Act (50 of 1948), S. 41. AIR 1959 Punj 453 (FB).

——Art. 245 — Municipal Committee — Ministerial, administrative and legislative functions of — Power to defend or institute suit — Delegation of to an agent — Validity. See Municipalities — Punjab Municipalities Act (3 of 1911), Section 33. ('57) 59 Punj LR 470.

——Art. 245 — Delegation of authority—Punjab Passengers and Goods Taxation Act (16 of 1952) — There is no delegation of legislative authority in Act — Only some executive powers have been given to the authority. AIR 1955 NUC (Punj) 1887 (DB).

6 (j). Sub-delegation of power.
See Note 6 (e).

6 (k). Legislation relating to foreigners.

——Art. 245 — Foreigners Order (1948), Para. 7 — Validity — Para. 7 is not invalid — Neither does the provision confer an unbriddled and unguided power to Central Government nor is it a piece of delegated legislation. See Foreigners Act (1946), Section 3. 1962 (2) Cri LJ 166: AIR 1962 All 383 (DB).

6 (l). Defence of India Act.

●——Art. 245 — Defence of India Act, Sections 3 (2) (15) (i) and 40 cannot be challenged on the ground of excessive delegation — Rule 30 (1) (b) of Defence of India Rules is not therefore, ultra vires. See Defence of India Act (1962), S. 3 (2), (15) (i). 1964 (1) Cri LJ 269: AIR 1964 SC 381.

——Art. 245 — Excessive delegation — Defence of India Act, Section 3 (2) — Validity of. See Defence of India Act (1962), S. 3 (1). 1964 (1) Cri LJ 662: AIR 1964 Cal 279 (DB).

6 (m). Marketing laws.

●——Art. 245 — Bombay Agricultural Produce Markets Act, 1939 (Bom. 22 of 1939), Section 29 — Delegated legislation — Agricultural produce specified in Schedule to Act — Power given in Section 29 to State Government to amend schedule — Ample guidance to State Government contained in provisions of Act — Section 29 is constitutional. AIR 1953 SC 25, Rel. on. Mohammad Hussain Gulam Mohammad v. State of Bombay, (1962) 2 SCR 659 : (1961) 2 Guj LR (SC) 21 : AIR 1962 SC 97 (102, 103) (Pt B) (Pr 6).

——Art. 245 — Section is not invalid due to excessive delegation. See Madras Commercial Crops Markets Act (20 of 1933), Section 2 (i.-a.). AIR 1964 Andh Pra 416.

——Art. 245 — Hyderabad Markets Act (2 of 1339-F), Section 2 (1) — Validity — Provisions do not confer uncontrolled power on Government — Hyderabad Markets Act (2 of 1339-F), S. 2 (1).

Section 2 (1) of the Hyderabad Markets Act does not confer uncontrolled power on the State Government to notify any commodities as "agricultural produce." The section establishes definite criteria and standards in that it defines the agricultural produce. AIR 1962 SC 97; AIR 1959 SC 309 and AIR 1960 SC 554, Rel. on. ILR (1964) Andh Pra 1223: (1963) 2 Andh LT 485: AIR 1964 Andh Pra 373 (376) (Pt A) (Pr 13) (DB).

——Art. 245 — Section 6 (1) (i) Bombay Agricultural Produce Markets Act — Not invalid on ground of excessive delegation.

It is clear from Section 6 (1) (i) that the power conferred on the State Government was to make a list, by a rule, of all those organisations which in its opinion should be entitled to representation on the market committee. If the selection of the organisations is entrusted to a high authority like the Government which can be trusted to perform that duty justly and reasonably, the delegation of that power to it is not open to the challenge of excessive delegation. If any organisation of agriculturists was arbitrarily and whimsically excluded by the Government from a rule made by it, what can be challenged and struck down is the misuse of the power conferred on the Government by Section 6 (1) (i) of the Act and not the conferment of that power to the Government by the legislature. 1962 Mys LJ (Sup) 272 (DB).

——Art. 245 — Delegation of power — Levy of licence fee by market committee by its by-law — Rule making authority fixing maximum fee and leaving each market committee with discretion to fix fees below that maximum — No case of excessive delegation. (Obiter). See Rajasthan Agricultural Produce Markets Act (38 of 1961), Section 37. ILR (1965) 15 Raj 897 : 1965 Raj LW 358: AIR 1966 Raj 142 (DB).

6 (n). Tenancy Acts.

●——Art. 245 — Delegated legislation — Bombay Tenancy and Agricultural Lands Act (67 of 1948), Section 6 (2) — Validity. See Tenancy Laws — Bombay Tenancy and Agricultural Lands Act (67 of 1948), Section 6 (2). AIR 1961 SC 4.

●——Arts. 245, 363 — Zamindars not parties to agreement between acceding State and Dominion Government cannot rely upon provisions of agreement and attack extension of U. P. Act 1 of 1951 to acceding State — Notification attacked on ground that it changed the definition of "Estate" in Act — In view of amendment of Act by Act 14 of 1958, the contention held fell — Power to extend Act to new areas was not excessive delegation of legislative power — Amendment Act does not save pending actions — (Tenancy Laws — U. P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act (1 of 1951), Section 2). See Ibid, Art. 363. AIR 1959 SC 909.

●——Art. 245 — Bombay Tenancy and Agricultural Lands (Amendment) Act (13 of 1956), Section 7 — Validity.

Individuals would be benefited by the variations contemplated in Section 7 of Bombay Act (13 of 1956), but for that purpose the State Government has got to be satisfied that it is expedient in the public interest to do so. The broad principles and policy have been laid down by the legislature, the criteria have been fixed according to which the State Government has to be satisfied that it is expedient to vary the ceiling area and economic holding already prescribed by the legislature and the mere matter of working out the details having regard to those criteria which are specifically mentioned therein which has been delegated to the State Government does not amount to any excessive delegation of legislative power. This power of variation of the ceiling area and the economic holding is vested in the State Government. Section 7 of the Act cannot be impugned on the ground of excessive delegation of legislative power: AIR 1957 Bom 252, Overruled. Sri Ram Ram Narain Medhi v. State of Bombay, 1958 SCA 491: (1959) 2 Mad LJ (SC) 1: 61 Bom LR 811: (1959) 2 Andh WR (SC) 1: 1959 SCJ 679: (1959) Supp (1) SCR 489 : AIR 1959 SC 459 (473, 474) (Pt F) (Prs 47, 48).

——Art. 245 — Delegated legislation — Validity. See Tenancy Laws — U. P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act (1 of 1951), Section 6. AIR 1954 All 515.

——Art. 245 — Assam Fixation of Celing on Land Act, Section 2 (c) (i) — If invalid on ground of delegation of legislative power. See Tenancy Laws — Assam Fixation of Ceiling on Land Holdings Act (1 of 1957), Section 2 (c) (i). AIR 1959 Assam 147 (DB).

——Art. 245 — Validity of Bombay Act (67 of 1948). See Tenancy Laws — Bombay Tenancy and Agricultural Lands Act (67 of 1948), Section 6 (2). AIR 1954 Bom 397 (DB).

——Art. 245 — W. B. Estates Acquisition Act (1954), Section 16 (1) (a) (ii) — W. B. Estates Acquisition Rules (1955), Rule 15 — Validity — Not ultra vires on the ground of unauthorised delegation of legislative power. See Tenancy Laws

— W. B. Estates Acquisition Act (1 of 1954), Section 16 (1) (a) (ii). AIR 1964 Cal 552.

——Art. 245 — W. B. Estates Acquisition Act 1 of 1954 — Delegation of power under — Not excessive — Exercise does not affect fundamental rights of intermediaries. See Tenancy Laws—West Bengal Estates Acquisition Act (1 of 1954), Section 5-A. ('62) 66 Cal WN 1024.

——Art. 245—S. 6 (2) Mysore Tenancy Act—Validity — Section cannot be challenged on ground of delegated legislation — Legislature has laid down policy to guide executive in fixing lower rate of maximum rent payable by tenants in particular area. See Tenancy Laws — Mysore Tenancy Act (13 of 1952), Section 6 (2). AIR 1960 Mys 236.

——Art. 245 — Delegated legislation — Tenancy Laws — Bihar Land Reforms Act (30 of 1950) (as amended in 1953), Section 4 (h) — It does not amount to delegation of legislative function.

The latter part of Section 4 (h) which empowers the Collector to lay down such terms as may appear to the Collector to be fair and equitable before taking possession of the property does not amount to delegation of legislative function. ILR 34 Pat 585: AIR 1955 Pat 445 (446) (Pt A) (Pr 4) (DB).

——Art. 245 — Section is not discriminatory — Administrator given discretion to implement Act in respect of estates in any area — There is no excessive delegation. See Tenancy Laws — Tripura Land Revenue and Land Reforms Act (43 of 1960), Section 134 (1). AIR 1963 Tri 1.

6 (o). Excise laws.

●——Art. 245 — Central Excise Rules (1944), R. 8 (1)—Constitutional validity — Rule does not suffer from vice of excessive delegation of power to exempt — Notification under — Notifications No. 74 of 1959, dated 31st July, 1959 and 70 of 1960, dated 30th April, 1960 — Validity — Excise duty on cotton fabrics produced on power looms — Exemption granted to co-operative societies of weavers — No violation of Arts. 14, 19 (1) (f) and (g) of Constitution. See Central Excise Rules (1944), Rule 8 (1). AIR 1963 SC 98.

——Art. 245 — Delegated legislation — Section 36 (2), Eastern Bengal and Assam Excise Act (1 of 1910) — Rules under Rule 218 — Validity. See Eastern Bengal and Assam Excise Act (1 of 1910), Section 36 (2). AIR 1960 Assam 218 (DB).

——Art. 245 — Delegated legislation. See East Bengal and Assam Excise Act (1 of 1910), Section 17 (3). 1958 Cri LJ 1461: AIR 1958 Assam 173 (DB).

——Art. 245 — Central Excise Rules (1944), Rule 8 — Validity — No excessive delegation of power — Does not contravene Art. 14 or 19 (1) (f) of the Constitution. See Central Excises and Salt Act (1944), Section 37 (2) (xvii). AIR 1964 Punj 192 (DB).

——Art. 245 — Punjab Excise Act — Rules issued under, by State Government — Notification No. 769-ET-52/1273 issued by Government — No question of delegated legislation arises. See Punjab Intoxicating Spirituous Preparation, Import, Export, Transport, Possession and Sale Rules (1952). 1953 Cri LJ 549: AIR 1953 Punj 77 (DB).

6 (p). Industrial Disputes Act.

●——Art. 245 — U. P. Industrial Disputes Act (28 of 1947), Section 3, Cls. (c), (d) and (g) — Validity — If bad for excessive delegation.

Section 3 of the U. P. Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, so far as Cls. (c), (d) and (g) are concerned, does not suffer from the excessive delegation and is not unconstitutional on that ground. AIR 1956 All 689, Affirmed.

Section 3 gives power to the State Government to make certain provisions by general or special order, if, in its opinion, it is necessary for securing public safety or convenience, or the maintenance of public order or supplies and services essential to the life of the community. The forming of such opinion is a conduct precedent to the making of the order. If, such an opinion was formed and an order was passed thereafter, the subsequent order would be a valid exercise of the power conferred by the section. The fact that in the notification, the formation of the opinion is not recited will not take away the power to make the order which had already arisen and led to the making of the order. The only exception to this course would be where the statute requires that there should be a recital in the order itself before it can be validly made. AIR 1952 SC 317 and AIR 1954 SC 359 and AIR 1955 SC 41, Rel. on.

Where the recital of the opinion is not on the face of the order, the order will not become illegal ab initio and only a further burden is thrown on the authority passing the order to satisfy the Court by other means that the conditions precedent were complied with. Observations of Spens, C. J., in AIR 1943 FC 75 (92) which were approved by P. C. in AIR 1945 PC 156 (161), Rel. on. (1922) 67 Law Ed. 124 and (1924) 68 Law Ed 549, Expl. and Disting.; (1935) 79 Law Ed 446, Disting.

Held, that Section 3 of the Act is constitutional so far as Cls. (c), (d) and (g) are concerned and orders Nos. 615 and 671 passed on March 15, 1951, are legal and valid. Swadeshi Cotton Mills Co., Ltd. v. State Industrial Tribunal, U. P., (1962) 1 SCA 55: ILR (1961) 2 All 149: (1961) 3 Fac LR 527: (1962) 1 SCR 422: (1962) 1 SCJ 398: (1961) 2 Lab LJ 419: (1961-62) 20 FJR 325: AIR 1961 SC 1381 (1384,1385, 1386, 1387, 1388) (Prs 5, 6, 9, 11, 15).

——Art. 245 — Delegated legislation — U. P. Industrial Disputes Act (28 of 1947), Section 3 (c), (d), (g) — Section is not ultra vires and unconstitutional on ground of delegation of essential legislative powers to a non-legislative body. AIR 1954 All 538 (FB) and AIR 1954 All 350, Foll. AIR 1955 NUC (All) 1732 (DB).

——Art. 245 — Delegated legislation. See U. P. Industrial Disputes Act (28 of 1947), S. 3 (B and C). AIR 1954 All 705.

●——Art. 245 — S. 3, U. P. Industrial Disputes Act — Validity — Not invalid on ground that it delegates legislative or rule making power of unspecified character to Executive Government. See U. P. Industrial Disputes Act (28 of 1947), S. 3. AIR 1954 All 538 (FB).

——Arts. 245 and 14 — Industrial Disputes Act (1947), Section 2 (a) — Power conferred on Central Government to treat settlement of disputes in some industries as its exclusive concern — Validity. See Ibid, Art. 14. AIR 1956 Mysore 7.

6 (q). Acts relating to municipalities.

●——Art. 245 — Delegated Legislation. See Municipalities — City of Bangalore Municipal Corporation Act (69 of 1949), Section 97 (e). AIR 1962 SC 1263.

●——Art. 245 — Delegation of legislative functions — Validity. See Municipalities — Bombay District Municipalities Act (3 of 1901), S. 59 (1) (xi). AIR 1959 SC 586.

——Art. 245 — Delegation of power by legislature — Subordinate or ancillary legislation — Municipal legislation — Levy of water tax — Delegation of power to State Government to fix radius for imposition of levy by rule — Held no delegation of legislative power — U. P. Municipalities Act (2 of 1916), Section 129. 1961 All LJ 386: 1961 All WR (HC) 262: AIR 1961 All 583 (589, 590) (Pt B) (Prs 20, 24).

——Art. 245 — Section does not provide arbitrary powers — No excessive delegation — Constitution of India, Arts. 14 and 245. See Municipalities — Madras District Municipalities Act (5 of 1920) as Adopted by Andhra Pradesh and Amended by Andhra Act (4 of 1956), Section 132-A. AIR 1964 Andh Pra 280 (DB).

——Art. 245 — Delegation of legislative powers — Bengal Municipal Act (15 of 1932), Ss. 245 and 503 — Bye-laws — Validity.

Bye-laws made under Section 245 of the Bengal Municipal Act, 1932, so far as they provide for penalties and create offences are not illegal and ultra vires of the Constitution on the ground of delegation of essential legislative function. Even apart from Section 503 which confers express power to punish breaches of bye-laws the power given by Section 245 carries with it a power to make breaches of bye-laws punishable by action or distress.

Even under Section 503 of the Act there has been proper delegation because under that section the direction of the Commissioners of the Municipality with the sanction of the State Government as to how a breach of the bye-law shall be punishable has been strictly defined. ILR (1960) 2 Cal 299: 1960 Cri LJ 900: AIR 1960 Cal 436 (437, 438) (Pt A) (Prs 8, 9, 10) (DB).

——Art. 245 — Constitutional validity of Section 131 (1) (kk) — Orissa Municipal Act, Cl. (kk) of Section 131 (1) does not suffer from excessive delegation and is valid — Constitution of India, Art. 245. See Municipalities — Orissa Municipal Act (23 of 1950), Section 131 (1) (kk). AIR 1963 Orissa 171 (DB).

——Art. 245 — Legislature delegating power to authority to prepare assessment list — Mode of assessment to be laid down by State in Rules — Provision for appeal and revision — Assessment held not left entirely to discretion of authority. See under Municipalities — Rajasthan Municipalities Act (38 of 1959), S. 114. ILR (1964) 14 Raj 1033.

——Art. 245 — Rajasthan Town Municipal Election Rules (1951), Rule 13 (1) — Validity — (Municipalities — Rajasthan Town Municipal Election Rules (1951), R. 13 (1)) — (Elections).

The Rajasthan Town Municipalities Act lays down the policy for the election of a member to the Municipal Board. Having laid down the policy the Legislature could leave to the Government how that policy was to be carried out. In the matter of the election of a municipal member, the Legislature has left it to the Government to prescribe further qualifications for a candidate in accordance with the exigencies of the situation. The Government was the best judge to decide as to what should be the qualifications for a member of the Municipal Board. By doing so it cannot be said the Legislature has effected itself and that the rules made by the Government are made by virtue of the power which could not be conferred. 1958 Raj LW 568: ILR (1958) 8 Raj 248.

6 (r). Police Acts.

●——Art. 245 — Delegated legislation — Section 61-A of Calcutta Police Act and Section 38-A of Calcutta Suburban Police Act and notifications of Police Commissioner thereunder — Validity.

Section 61-A of the Calcutta Police Act and Section 38-A of the Calcutta Suburban Act and the notifications thereunder by the Police Commissioner with the previous consent of the State Government, banning the use of cycle-carts in the city of Calcutta and its suburbs cannot be challenged on the ground of there being excessive and illegal delegation inasmuch as all powers are delegated to the Police Commissioner and no standards are laid down in the Act saying what tests the Commissioner should apply to prescribe or prohibit types of vehicle. AIR 1954 SC 465, Applied.

It is not a case of unconstitutional delegated legislation for the following reasons:

(i) The delegation is limited by statute to the highest police executive, namely the Police Commissioner.

(ii) This power of the Commissioner of Police is only exercisable 'with the previous sanction of the State Government' as expressly enjoined in the section. If the State Government acts unreasonably in such a context then the particular act always be struck down by the Court as can constitutionally unreasonable but then it is not a case of unconstitutional delegation.

(iii) There is the requirement of publication in the official Gazette. That means that sufficient publicity has to be given to such an order.

(iv) The contexts in which these sections occur are sufficient guide for prescribing types of vehicles. AIR 1954 SC 465, Applied. Paschim Banga Malbahi Cycle Mazdoor Union v. Commr. of Police, Calcutta. ILR (1961) 2 Cal 594: 65 Cal WN 213: AIR 1961 Cal 125 (135, 136, 141, 142) (Pt E) (Prs 38, 40, 64, 66) (SB).

——Art. 245 — Use of loud-speaker — Taking out of license — Provisions are reasonable restriction on right of freedom of speech, in interest of public order — Power is not arbitrary — Provision cannot be attacked on grounds of delegation. See Bombay Police Act (22 of 1951), S. 33 (1) (r) (iii). 1963 (2) Cri LJ 502 : AIR 1963 Guj 250 (DB).

——Art. 245 — Mysore Police Act not ultra vires, Art. 19 (1) (b) and (d) — Nor does it amount to a legislative delegation. See Mysore Police Act, (5 of 1908), S. 45. 1960 Cr LJ 379: AIR 1960 Mys 57 (DB).

6 (s). Rent Control legislation.

——Art. 245 — Scope — Rule under Act — Validity of — Delegation within competence of legislature. See Houses and Rents—U. P. (Temporary Control of Rent and Eviction Rules (1949), R. 6. AIR 1959 All 675 (DB).

●——Art. 245 — U. P. Act (25 of 1947) is not a delegated legislation — Government could validly extend Act for one year beyond 30-9-1948. See Houses and Rents — U. P. (Temporary) Accommodation Requisition Act (25 of 1947), S. 1 (5). AIR 1955 NUC (All) 147 (FB).

●——Art. 245 —Delegated legislation—West Bengal Premises Rent Control (Temporary Provisions) Act (17 of 1950), Ss. 47 (2) (g), 33 — West Bengal Premises Rent Control Rules — Rule 9 — Rule is ultra vires in so far as it made Criminal P. C. applicable to enquiries into offences created by Act — Violation of prohibition under S. 33, is offence — Procedure for trial — Rule 9, is in excess of delegation under S. 47 (2) (g) — Criminal P. C. (1898), S. 5 (2) — West Bengal Premises Rent Control Rules (1950), R. 9— Houses and Rents —West Bengal Premises Rent Control (Temporary Provisions) Act (17 of 1950), Ss. 47

(2) (g), 33 — Bengal General Clauses Act, S. 3 (30).

Though S. 47 (2) (g) of the Act contains no express words, limiting the power of the rule-making authority in the matter of prescribing rules of procedure, the limitation is implied; otherwise S. 47 (2) (g) itself would have become bad because of delegation of excessive and unrestrained legislative power to a rule-making authority. Section 47 (2) (g) of the Act did not delegate to the State Government the power to prescribe for trial of offences under the Act, a procedure different from that in the Code of Criminal Procedure. AIR 1954 SC 569, Rel. on.

B. N. Mookerjee, J.:— Essential legislative functions cannot be delegated. In the face of section 5 (2) of the Code of Criminal Procedure, the prescribing of a different procedure for a statutory offence would in essence, be an essential legislative function. Accordingly power in that behalf cannot be delegated. Sethia Properties v. T. R. Bhavanani, ILR (1961) 1 Cal 861 : 1961 (1) Cr LJ 472 : 64 Cal WN 899: AIR 1961 Cal 199 (203, 207, 210, 211, 214) (Prs 36; 37; 38; 54; 56; 66; 67; 68; 73; 75; 80; 81) (SB).

——Art. 245 — Delegated legislation — Mysore House Rent and Accommodation Control Act (30 of 1951), S. 3 (3) (a) — Rules under S. 25, R. 4 (a) and (b) — Validity.

Rule 4 is ultra vires of the powers of the rule making authority and therefore must be struck down.

Rule 4 (a) does not comply with the requirements laid down in S. 25 (1). It completely overrides S. 3 (3)(a). The Controller is a quasi-judicial officer, particularly in the matter of allotment of premises. That character is completely negatived by R. 4 (a) which converts him into a ministerial officer requiring him to carry out the behest of the Deputy Commissioner. R. 4 (a) is thus far in excess of the powers conferred. R. 4 (a) is in conflict with R. 4 (b). 38 Mys LJ 863 : ILR (1960) Mys 974 : AIR 1960 Mys 313 (313, 314, 315) (Prs 8; 9).

——Art. 245 — Section 2 of C. P. and Berar Regulation of Letting of Accommodation Act, 11 of 1946 — It is not invalid on ground of delegation of legislative power. See Houses and Rents — C. P. and Berar Regulation of Letting of Accommodation Act (11 of 1946), S. 2. AIR 1955 Nag 246.

6 (t). Panchayat Acts.

——Art. 245— M. B. Panchayat Act (58 of 1949), S. 38 (b) and R. 214 under S. 115 — Both are not bad on account of excessive delegation.

S. 38 (b) of the Madhya Bharat Panchayat Act (58 of 1949) is not bad for excessive or complete delegation of the legislative power to the Government without any indication either of the policy or any other provision to canalise the power delegated to the Government. The delegation is very well within the limits indicated in the judgment in AIR 1953 Mad 105 on the analogy of the American rulings which are usually more conservative in this regard than the Indian rulings.

The sub-delegation by the Government to the Director of Panchayat under R. 213 is intra vires and the power of delegation conferred on Government by S. 115 of the Act has application to the rule making powers conferred by the next section. There are certain requirements in regard to the manner and the form in which such delegation has to be made and once these are observed, the delegation by rule or order is not ultra vires. So, as far as this delegation goes it is competent within the frame work of the Act. R. 214 of the Rules framed in pursuance of the Government's rule-making power under S. 115 of the Act providing for the fixing of maximum and minimum rates by the Director of Rural Uplift and enabling the Gram Panchayat to levy tax within those limits does not involve excessive delegation by the Legislature of its essential legislative function. ILR (1964) Madh Pra 199 : 1964 Jab LJ 185 : AIR 1964 Madh Pra 81 (83, 86, 91) (Pt A) (Prs 2, 15, 16, 17, 35) (DB).

——Art. 245 — Panchayats — Punjab Gram Panchayat Act (4 of 1953), S. 8 (2) (a) — Validity of — Setting aside of an election — Considerations before Tribunal — Policy and purpose of Act not indicated by legislature — Discretion vested in authority uncanalised and unguided — Section held unconstitutional. See Panchayats — Punjab Gram Panchayat Act (4 of 1953), S. 8 (2) (a). ('62) 64 Punj LR 213.

6 (u). Sales-tax Acts.

——Art. 245 — U. P. Sales Tax Rules (1948), S. 2 (d) (1) — Definition of importer whether illegal or inoperative on the ground of its being ultra vires the rule making power of legislature or for the reason that it is delegation beyond permissible limits. See Sales Tax — U. P. Sales Tax Rules (1948), S. 2 (d-1). AIR 1955 All 653.

——Art. 245 — Madras General Sales Tax Act — Whether invalid on ground of unconstitutional delegation of taxing power. See Madras General Sales Tax Act. AIR 1954 Mad 1030.

——Art. 245 — Sales Tax — Mysore Sales Tax Act (25 of 1957), Ss. 5, 6 — Rules framed under Act, R. 25 — Validity — No abdication of legislative power — Right of appeal is not fundamental right — Persons imposed of sales tax and those imposed of licence fee — Differentiation justified — Rule retrospective. See Sales tax — Mysore Sales Tax Act (25 of 1957), S. 5. (1963) 14 STC 84 (Mys) (DB).

——Art. 245 — Delegation of Legislative powers — S. 40 (2) of Mysore Act (25 of 1957) —Validity — Provisions not invalid on ground of delegation of legislative powers — (Sales Tax — Mysore Sales Tax Act (25 of 1957), S. 40 (2)).

It cannot be said that the provisions of sub-S. (2) of S. 40 were ultra vires the powers of the legislature on the ground that the legislature by the said provision delegated to the State Government its essential legislative functions. The Tribunal to be constituted to sit in revision over the decision of the Deputy Commissioner of Sales Tax should have the requisite capacity and competency to deal with revision petitions. There is sufficient indication in the Act as to the type of persons who have to be appointed. AIR 1957 SC 414, Foll. (1960) 11 STC 94 (Mys).

6 (v). Essential Supplies (Temporary Powers) Act.

——Art. 245 — Essential Supplies (Temporary Powers) Act, S. 3 — Not void on ground of illegal delegation by legislature. See Essential Supplies (Temporary Powers) Act (1946), S. 3. AIR 1952 All 866 (FB).

——Art. 245 — Act whether invalid for permitting delegating legislative powers. See Essential Supplies (Temporary Powers) Act (24 of 1946). AIR 1953 Cal 548.

6 (w). Factories Act.

——Art. 245 — Delegation — Factories Act, S. 84 — Validity of — If delegation of legislative power, See Factories Act (1948), S. 85. AIR 1959 All 24.

——Art. 245 — Delegated legislation — Factories Act (1948), S. 85 (1)—Validity—Vires of notification, issued under S. 85 (1) — (Factories Act (1948), S. 85 (1)).

To alter the essential character of an Act, or to change any material particulars is to legislate, and the power to legislate cannot be delegated by a Legislature which is not unfettered. What the Factories Act (1948) aims at is to regulate labour in factories with a view to obviate the chance of exploitation of labour. Power has been given to the State Government to decide with reference to local conditions, whether it is desirable that all, or some of the provisions of the Act should be applied to a particular place wherein a particular trade or industry is carried on which is not already included in S. 2 (m) of the Act. S. 85 (1), therefore, is neither illegal nor ultra vires.

As the notification, dated 11th June, 1954. does not travel beyond the authority which S. 85 (1) of the Act confers on the State Government, the notification must also be held to be ultra vires. (1956-57) 11 FJR 96 : 1956 BLJR 717 : (1957) 1 Lab LJ 536 : ILR 35 Pat 877 : AIR 1957 Pat 247 (251, 252) (Pt D) (Prs 23, 24) (DB).

6 (x). Motor Vehicles Act.

——Art. 245 — Delegation of powers — Ancillary legislation — (Motor Vehicles Act (1939), Ss. 44, 64 and 68) — Validity — (Motor Vehicles Rules (Andhra), Rr. 140-A (V) (3), 147 — Validity of R. 140-A (V) (3)).

Rule 140-A (V) (3) of the Motor Vehicles Rules, which empowers the Board to delegate to its Secretary the power to grant or refuse interim stay, is valid. The prohibition against delegation by the Central Board to its Secretaries under R. 140-A (V) does not however extend to the power to grant or refuse interim stay of orders of the Regional Transport Authorities which are appealed against. It is a case where the statute itself confers power on the Central Board to dispose of appeals but empowers it to delegate the ancillary power to grant or refuse stay to its Secretary, and it cannot be held that the rule is invalid.

Instead of the rule itself providing for the exercise of the power to grant or refuse stay by the secretary, it empowered the Board to delegate that power. There is no valid ground for holding that the rule is invalid. Nor is the delegation repugnant to R. 140-A (V) and ultimately to R. 147 itself. AIR 1957 Andh Pra 830 (830, 831, 832) (Pt A) (Prs 3; 6; 7; 8; 10).

——Art. 245 — Motor Vehicles Act (1939), S. 44 (5)—Madras Motor Vehicles Rules (1940), R. 134-A — Validity of —Does not amount to delegation of legislative or judicial function. See Motor Vehicles Act (1939), S. 44 (5). AIR 1956 Andhra 129.

——Art. 245 — Delegated legislation — Sections 44 (5) and 68, Motor Vehicles Act, whether unconstitutional on the ground that they amount to excessive delegation of legislative functions. See Motor Vehicles Act (1939), S. 44 (5). AIR 1957 Mad 387 (DB).

——Art. 245 — Punjab Motor Vehicles Rules (1940), R. 4-20 (c) — Validity — Rule authorising R. T. A. to prescribe uniforms for drivers and conductors and attaching it as a condition of permit — Rule if ultra vires on ground of delegation of legislative powers or violation of a fundamental rights under Art. 19 (1) (g). See Motor Vehicles Act (1939), S. 62 (2) (f). AIR 1957 Punj 145.

6 (y). Arms Act.

——Arts. 245, 226 —Delegation of legislative functions — Arms Act (1959), S.1 (3) — Not unconstitutional on ground of delegated legislation.

S. 1 (3) of the Arms Act (1959), giving power to the Central Government to lay down the date of commencement of the Act does not amount to delegated legislation and is not unconstitutional on that ground. With regard to the date of commencement of an Act duly passed by the legislature, the Courts of law need not be as strict as in the interpretation of enactments passed by the legislature. The legislature gives expression to its legislative policy while making the law leaving the implementation thereof to the Government or a subordinate authority. In determining from which date an enactment is to come into force, different matters have to be taken into consideration. In case the Government does not, within a reasonable period, issue a notification with regard to the commencement of the Act, the aggrieved parties have an alternative remedy. They can invoke the extraordinary jurisdiction of the High Court under Art. 226 of the Constitution of India when it can be considered whether the circumstances justify the issue of a writ of mandamus or not. 1963 All LJ 1108 : 1963 All WR (HC) 807 : 1964 All Cr R 11 : 1964 (2) Cr LJ 124: AIR 1964 All 339 (339, 340) (Pt B) (Prs 6, 8, 9).

——Art. 245 — Power delegated under S. 14, Arms Act, 1878— Government is made competent only with matters of details and make rules for effectuating principles embodied in S. 14 —Such delegation is permitted. See Arms Act (11 of 1878), S. 14. 1953 Cri LJ 1409 : AIR 1953 MB 236 (DB).

6 (z). Other instances.

● —Art. 245—Delegation of Legislative Functions —Citizenship Act, S. 9 (2) — Whether offend Act or is invalid as amounting to excessive delegation of legislative functions. See Citizenship Act (1955), S. 9 (2). 1962 (2) Cri LJ 215 : AIR 1962 SC 1052.

● ——Art. 245 — Slum Areas (Improvement and Clearance) Act (1956), S. 19 — Constitutionality — Does not violate equal protection of laws guaranteed by Art. 14 of Constitution — There is enough guidance in Act for exercise of discretion by competent authority under S. 19 (1) — S. 19 (3) not invalid on ground of excessive delegation of legislative power. See Slum Areas (Improvement and Clearance) Act (1956), S. 19. AIR 1961 SC 1602.

● —Art. 245 — Delegated Legislation — Drugs and Magic-Remedies (Objectionable Advertisements) Act (1954), S. 3 (d) — Validity — Delegated legislation and conditional legislation — Distinction — Portion of S. 3 (d) held invalid. See Drugs and Magic Remedies (Objectionable Advertisements) Act (1954), S. 3 (d). 1960 Cr LJ 735 : AIR 1960 SC 554.

● ——Art. 245 — Delegation — Validity of Iron and Steel (Control of Production and Distribution) Order (1941), Cl. 11-B — Not unconstitutional on ground of excessive delegation. See Iron and Steel (Control of Production and Distribution) Order (1941), Cl. 11-B. 1960 Cr LJ 664: AIR 1960 SC 475.

● ——Art. 245 — Delegation of rule making power — All India Services (Discipline and Appeal) Rules 1955, promulgated under S. 3 of the All India Services Act — Validity. See Ibid, Art. 312. AIR 1959 SC 512.

● ——Art. 245 — Delegation — Notification, dated 11th December,1956 — Not bad on ground of delegation of essential legislative functions. See Commissions of Inquiry Act (1952), S. 3. AIR 1958 SC 538.

●——Art. 245 —Section 296 (2), Government of India Act — Obligation on Provincial Legislature to constitute tribunal — S. 3 (3), Assam Revenue Tribunal (Transfer of Powers) Act, if ultra vires — Delegated legislation. See Government of India Act (1935), S. 296(2). AIR 1957 SC 414.

●——Art. 245 — Delegated legislation — U. P. Sugarcane (Regulation of Supply and Purchase) Act (24 of 1953), Ss. 15 and 16 (1) (b) — If delegated legislation and void.

There is no provision in the U. P. Sugarcane (Regulation of Supply and Purchase) Act (24 of 1953) which would amount to a delegation of legislative power to any officials of the State Government. The provisions contained in S. 15 and S. 16 (1) (b) read with S. 16 (2) (b) of the Act are certainly no piece of delegated legislation and the vires of the Act is not affected thereby. Tika Ramji v. State of Uttar Pradesh, 1956 SCJ 625 : 1956 SCA 979 : 1956 All WR (HC) 657 : 1956 SCR 393 : AIR 1956 SC 676 (712) (Pt J) (Pr 52).

●——Art. 245 — Minimum Wages Act (1948), S. 27 — Legislative policy of the Act — Provision in S. 27 deals with subsidiary power — S. 27 is valid.

The legislative policy is apparent on the face of the Minimum Wages Act, 1948. What it aims at, is the statutory fixation of minimum wages with a view to obviate the chance of exploitation of labour. The Legislature undoubtedly intended to apply this Act not to all industries but to those industries only where wages of all labourers in a particular industry were very low.

Conditions of labour vary under different circumstances and from State to State. It is to carry out effectively the purpose of this enactment that power has been given to the appropriate Government to decide, with reference to local conditions, whether it is desirable that minimum wages should be fixed in regard to a particular trade or industry which is not already included in the list.

Hence, in enacting S. 27 the legislature has not in any way stripped itself of essential powers or assigned to the administrative authority anything but an accessory or subordinate power which was deemed necessary to carry out the purposes and the policy of the Act. S. 27, therefore, is neither illegal nor ultra vires. Edward Mills Co., Ltd. v. State of Ajmer. 1955 SCA 24 : 1955 SCR 735 : (1955) Andhra WR (SC) 1 : (1955) 1 MLJ (SC) 1 : 1955 SCJ 42 : AIR 1955 SC 25 (32, 33) (Pt C) (Pr 17).

——Art. 245— U. P. Imposition of Ceiling on Land Holdings Act (1 of 1961)— No provision in Act delegates unguided legislative power on the executive. See U. P. Imposition of Ceiling on Land Holdings Act (1 of 1961). AIR 1965 All 175.

●——Art. 245 — Delegation of legislative powers U. P. Large Land Holdings Tax Act (31 of 1957) — Act not invalid — (U. P. Large Land Holdings Tax Act (31 of 1957), S. 5).

The power to fix the multiple within the limits of $12\frac{1}{2}$ times and the principles contemplated by sub-S. (2) of S. 5 cannot amount to delegation of any essential legislative function. The Act does not suffer from the defect of delegation of essential legislative functions. Oudh Sugar Mills, Ltd. v. State of U. P., ILR (1960) 1 All 487 : 1959 All LJ 754 : 1959 AWR (HC) 544 (2): AIR 1960 All 136 (150) (Pt F) (Pr 44) (FB).

——Art. 245 — Delegation — Limits — Notification under S. 38, U. P. Town Areas Act if exceeds permissible limits of delegation. See Municipalities — U. P. Town Areas Act (2 of 1914), S. 38. AIR 1957 All 366.

——Art. 245 — U. P. Road Transport Services (Development) Act (9 of 1955), S. 3 — Delegated legislation — S. 3 of Act is not void.

Section 3 of the Act fully lays down the standard and the policy for the guidance of the State Government. It is not therefore, void on account of going beyond the provisions of permissible delegation. AIR 1957 All 320 (331, 332) (Pt I) (Prs 39, 40) (DB).
[Reversed on another point in AIR 1959 SC 648.]

——Art. 245 — Scope — U. P. Sugarcane Cess Act (22 of 1956), S. 3 (1) — Validity — Conferment of power on State Government to determine amount of cess does not exceed permitted limits of delegated legislation. See Ibid, Art. 14. AIR 1957 All 159 (DB).

——Art. 245 — Ss. 46 and 47 of Andhra Pradesh and Madras (Alteration of Boundaries) Act, 1959 — Are not unconstitutional on ground of delegation of essential legislative functions to executive and judiciary. See Andhra Pradesh and Madras Alteration of Boundaries Act (1959), S. 46. AIR 1961 Andh Pra 50.

——Art. 245 — Delegated legislation — Excessive delegation — Assam Liquor Prohibition Act (1 of 1953), S. 2 (3) — Validity.

When all the provisions of the Assam Liquor Prohibition Act are taken into consideration it cannot be said that the power given to the State Government by notification to declare any substance as a liquor is uncontrolled so as to be hit by the doctrine of excessive delegation. When any particular notification is challenged on the ground that it is an unreasonable restriction on the rights of the petitioner, it may be examinable by the Court; but the Act cannot be struck down on that ground. AIR 1951 SC 318, Rel. on. ILR (1960) 12 Assam 396 : AIR 1961 Assam 16 (17) (Pt C) (Pr 6) (DB).

——Art. 245 — Bombay Commissioners of Divisions Act (8 of 1958), Ss. 3 (2), 3 (4) — Delegation of legislative powers — Principles — Ss. 3 (2) and 3 (4) are not invalid on ground of excessive delegation — Mere capability of abuse of power does not alter its nature. AIR 1951 SC 332 and AIR 1954 SC 569, Rel. on. 67 Bom LR 101 : 1965 Mah LJ 290 : ILR (1965) Bom 394 : AIR 1965 Bom 224 (236, 237) (Pt A) (Prs 28, 29, 30, 31) (DB).

——Art. 245 — Delegated legislation — Essential Services Maintenance Ordinance (1960), Ss. 2 (1) (a) and 3 — Ordinance is not bad on account of excessive delegation of legislative power to Central Government. (1963) 2 Lab LJ 264 : 63 Bom LR 774 : 1961 Nag LJ 695 : (1961-62) 21 FJR 441 : AIR 1962 Bom 53 (64) (Pt C) (Pr 39) (DB).

——Art. 245 — Saurashtra Act (26 of 1956) — Validity. See Saurashtra Local Development Fund Act (26 of 1956), S. 7 (2). AIR 1959 Bom 43 (DB).

——Art. 245 — West Bengal Land (Requisition and Acquisition) Act (2 of 1948), S. 3 (1) — Order of requisition of land — Satisfaction of person passing the order and who is duly authorised in that behalf by the State Government is sufficient — It is not essential that he should go through the process of State Government's satisfaction through the Minister in charge as required by the Standing Rules and Business and Orders of Government — S. 3 is not unconstitutional on ground of uncontrolled delegation. See West

Bengal Land (Requisition and Acquisition) Act (2 of 1948), S. 3 (1). AIR 1963 Cal 373.

——Art. 245 — Mines Act — Validity — Rule against delegated legislation held not offended. See Mines Act (1952), S. 58 (d). ILR (1957) 3 Cal 504 : 1957 Cr LJ 122.

——Art. 245 — West Bengal Clinical Establishments Act (56 of 1950) — Act and Rules framed thereunder are not ultra vires. AIR 1955 NUC (Cal) 5922.

——Arts. 245 and 246—S. 3 (1) (a) (iii) and (2) of Preventive Detention Act — Validity — (Public Safety — Preventive Detention Act (1950), S. 3).

It cannot be said that the question whether the impugned provision of S. 3 of the P. D. Act was legislation within the meaning of Arts. 245 and 246 of the Constitution was not decided in Gopalan's case, AIR 1950 SC 27. The provision in S. 3 of the P. D. Act is not bad as being an instance of unwarranted delegation of legislative power. Incidentally, if the contention that such provisions are invalid be upheld not only will S. 3 (1) (a) (iii) and S. 3 (2) of the P. D. Act fall, but also the other provisions of S. 3 and with it the entire Act will fall—a sweeping result indeed. The fact that what were essential commodities was laid down in certain statutes, e. g. Essential Supplies Act, etc., cannot be considered to be a valid ground for nullifying the impugned provisions of the Preventive Detention Act. AIR 1950 SC 27; AIR 1951 SC 332, Foll; AIR 1951 SC 270, Explained. 58 Cal WN 659 : 1954 Cr LJ 1722 : AIR 1954 Cal 591 (593, 594) (Pt A) (Prs 5, 6, 8) (DB).

——Art. 245 — Right to assemble under Art. 19 (1) (b) — Not an absolute right — Jammu and Kashmir Security Rules, R. 50 — Validity of — Rule is not ultra vires the Constitution — Prohibition of public meetings not unreasonable restriction — Rule does not constitute delegated legislation, in view of preamble to Ordinance 1 of Smt. 2003 and heading of the rule. See Ibid, Art. 19 (1) (b). AIR 1964 J and K 23 (DB).

——Art. 245 — Madhya Pradesh Abolition of Cash Grants Act (16 of 1963), S. 2 (1) — No vagueness about definition of 'Cash grant' in S. 2 (1) of Act — There is in that provision no delegation to State Government of any power. 1964 Jab LJ 527 : 1964 MPLJ 874 : AIR 1965 Madh Pra 77 (82) (Pt B) (Pr 8) (DB).

——Art. 245 — Delegated legislation — S. 35 (3), States Reorganisation Act (1956) — Validity — (States Reorganisation Act (1956), S. 35 (3)).

Under S. 35 (1), it is not as if the Legislature having decided as to the law that should govern, had left merely the time when, or the area over which, it should operate to the determination of an executive authority. The specification by the Chairman is just the exercise of statutory power and partakes no more of the character of legislation than any other act of administration or even the decisions of a quasi-judicial authority or Tribunal created by statute. If the naming by the Chairman of the members to be eliminated were held to be a legislative act, the Courts have no hesitation in holding it to be excessive delegation and therefore, invalid on that account. 3 AC 889, Dist. (1956-57) 12 Ele LR 345 (Mad).

——Arts. 245 and 16 (4) — Mysore Munsiffs (Recruitment and Promotions) Rules (1954), R. 7 (2) — Direction in R. 7 (2) does not amount to delegation of power for reservation of seats. See Ibid, Art. 16 (4). AIR 1956 Mysore 20.

——Art. 245 — Bihar High Schools (Control and Regulation of Administration) Act (13 of 1960), S. 5 (1) — Validity — Delegation of legislative authority — What amounts to S. 5 (1) deals with formation of managing committee and not with its policy — Section not ultra vires on account of excessive delegation. See Bihar High Schools (Control and Regulation of Administration) Act (13 of 1960), S. 5 (1). AIR 1965 Pat 124 (DB).

——Art. 245 — Bihar Essential Services Maintenance Act (1 of 1948), Ss. 1, 3 — Scope of S. 3 — Does not amount to delegated legislation — Act not void. See Bihar Essential Services Maintenance Act (1 of 1948), S. 1. AIR 1956 Patna 188.

——Art. 245 — Rubber Act (1947, as amended in 1960), Ss. 12, 14 — Section does not violate Art. 14 of Constitution — Power given to executive to frame rules is not uncanalised. See Rubber Act (1947, as amended in 1960), Section 12. ILR (1965) 2 Punj 663 : 67 Pun LR 1153.

——Art. 245 — Punjab Passengers and Goods (Taxation) Act (16 of 1952), S. 6 (4) — Constitutionality — Section not ultra vires on ground that it confers uncontrolled or unregulated power to reopen past assessment. See Punjab Passengers and Goods (Taxation) Act (16 of 1952), S. 6 (4). AIR 1964 Punj 438 (DB).

●——Art. 245 — Jodhpur University Act (17 of 1962), S. 39 — Constitutionality — Not void as conferring excessive delegation of legislative power to State Government. See Jodhpur University Act (17 of 1962), S. 39. AIR 1964 Raj 161 (FB).

——Art. 245 — Rajasthan Limitation Act (Adaptation) Ordinance (6 of 1950), S. 11 — Validity.

S. 11 cannot be held to be invalid on the ground of any excessive delegation of power or on account of abrogation of any essential legislative function by the legislature. ILR (1960) 10 Raj 913.

——Art. 245 — (Rajasthan) Price Control Order — Validity — Order not void on account of excessive and unauthorised delegation. See Gram (Rajasthan) Price Control Order (1958). AIR 1959 Raj 206 (DB).

7. Conditional legislation.

(a) Power to refer cases to Special Court for trial.

(b) Addition of new items to those specially mentioned.

(c) Power to exempt from provisions of an Act.

(d) Extension of duration of Act.

7. Conditional legislation.

●——Art. 245 — Employees' State Insurance Act (1948), S. 1 (3)—Validity — Not invalid on ground of excessive delegation — It is conditional legislation — See Employees' State Insurance Act (1948), S. 1 (3). AIR 1964 SC 1260.

●——Art. 245 — Delegated legislation and conditional legislation — Rajasthan (Protection of Tenants) Ordinance (9 of 1949), S. 3 — Validity — (Tenancy laws — Rajasthan (Protection of Tenants) Ordinance (9 of 1949), S. 3).

When an appropriate Legislature enacts a law and authorises an outside authority to bring it into force in such area or at such time as it may decide that is conditional and not delegated legislation, and such legislation is valid. S. 3 of the Rajasthan Ordinance in so far as it authorises the Rajpramukh to extend the life of the Act falls within the category of conditional legislation, and is, in consequence, intra vires. AIR 1949 FC 175, Diss from: (1877-78) 5 IA 178, Rel. on. Inder Singh v. State of Rajasthan, 1957 SCJ 376: 1957 SCA 735: 1957 SCR 605: AIR 1957 SC 510 (515, 516) (Pt A) (Prs 9, 10, 11).

●——Art. 245 — Delegated legislation and conditional legislation — Imports and Exports (Control) Act (1947), S. 3 (1) (a) — Validity — (Imports and Exports (Control) Act (1947), S. 3 (1) (a)).

Legislation which is conditional, properly so-called, must be distinguished from legislation which is delegated. Where the Legislature provides and lays down principles underlying the provisions of a particular statute and also affords guidance for the implementation or enforcement of the said principles, it is open to the Legislature to leave the actual implementation or enforcement to its chosen delegate. The time when the provision should be implemented, the period during which it should be implemented or the place where it should be applied can, in appropriate cases be validly left by the Legislature to its delegate. The Imports and Exports (Control) Act cannot be held as ultra vires on the ground of delegated legislation. AIR 1954 SC 465 and AIR 1957 SC 397 Rel. on. Bhatnagars and Co. v. Union of India, 1957 SCJ 546: 1957 SCA 810: 1957 SCR 700: AIR 1957 SC 478 (485, 486) (Pt D) (Pr 11).

——Art. 245 — Foreigners Orders (1948), Para 7— Provision is only a piece of conditional legislation and is therefore not in excess of S. 3, Foreigners Act. 1962 All LJ 123: 1962 All Cri R 78: 1962 All WR (HC) 83: ILR (1961) 2 All 738: 1962 (2) Cri LJ 166: AIR 1962 All 383 (389, 390) (Pt F) (Prs 36, 37) (DB).

● ——Art. 245 — U. P. Municipalities Act (2 of 1916), Ss. 1 (2), 87 A— S. 1 (2) only declares territorial extent of the Act but does not prohibit extension of S. 87 A to town areas by section 38 (1) of the U. P. Town Areas Act (2 of 1914). See Municipalities — U. P. Municipalities Act (2 of 1916) S. 1 (2). AIR 1961 All 200 (FB).

——Art. 245 — Delegated legislation — Tenancy Laws — U. P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act (1 of 1951), S. 2 — Notifications under Nos. 3168 and 3169 — Validity.

Where the legislature has passed an Act and empowered a responsible authority to extend that particular Act to a specified locality with such modifications and alterations as the necessities of the situation may require and to repeal those existing laws only which impliedly stand repealed when the Act is so extended the delegation of the power to repeal existing laws in these circumstances cannot be said to be ultra vires.

Held, that the modifications made by the Notifications Nos. 3168 and 3169 while extending the U. P. Act (1 of 1951) to Rampur district did not amount to an alteration affecting the substance, that is the essential nature of the impugned enactment. Nor the provisions regarding the repeal of certain laws already in force in the former territories of Rampur is unconstitutional; for, the notification in repealing the Acts does nothing more than express what was implicit in the situation.

A repeal of this nature is not in reality a repeal by any act of the delegate but by the Act of the legislature itself. Hence, the Notifications are not ultra vires the State Government. AIR 1954 SC 465 Foll. AIR 1951 SC 332 Dist. and Expl. 1955 All LJ 508: 1955 All WR (HC) 450: AIR 1955 All 554 (556, 557) (Prs 13, 17) (DB).

● ——Art. 245 — Taking effect of Act made contingent upon subsequent event — Some authority empowered to bring it into effect on the happening of the condition — It is not a case of delegation of legislative power by the legislature. Ram Kishan v. State 1951 All LJ 64: 52 Cr LJ 333: 1951 All WR (HC) 128: 1951 All Cri R 23: ILR (1952) 1 All 376: AIR 1951 All 181 (191, 192, 194, 195) (Prs 46, 49, 57, 60) (FB).

—— Art. 245 — Employees' State Insurance Act (1948), Ss. 1 (3), 73-A — Validity — Power of Central Government to bring parts of the Act into force in different areas on differnt dates — No violation of Art. 14 or excessive delegation — Levy of special contribution under S. 73-A before benefit sections are brought into force — Not an unreasonable restriction on right of employers — No violation of Art. 19. See Ibid, Art. 14. AIR 1962 Assam 120 (DB).

——Art. 245 — Character of Provincial Legislature — Delegated Legislature — Power to pass conditional legislation. See Government of India Act (1861), S. 42. AIR 1954 Bom 261 (DB).

——Arts. 245, 21 and 14—Validity—Authorisation to enforce Act on fulfilment of conditions — No delegation of legislative power to the authority — Hence provisions of Hyderabad Special Tribunals Regulation is not unconstitutional — See Hyderabad Special Tribunals Regulation (5 of 1358 Fasli). AIR 1953 Hyd 145.

—— Art. 245 — Separate notification for bringing Central Excises and Salt Act into force in any area not contemplated — Applicability to Bhopal area — Act extended to Bhopal area by Act LIX of 1959 — Effect — Power to issue notification to bring Act into force — Nature of — Power is a delegated power — Power if can be taken away by implication by legislature by enacting when extending Act to new area, that it shall come into force immediately. See Central Excises and Salt Act (1944), S. 1 (2). AIR 1961 Madh Pra 353 (DB).

—— Art. 245 — Delegated legislation — S. 5, Madras Hindu Religious and Charitable Endowments Act (19 of 1951) — Validity — (Madras Hindu Religious and Charitable Endowments Act (19 of 1951), S. 5).

Section 5 no doubt effects the repeal of the enactments set out in their application to institutions and endowments brought within the scope of the Act. This repeal was within the power of Legislature. When by a proper legislative delegation the State Government are vested with power to extend the operation of Act (19 of 1951) to particular institutions S. 5 would certainly be attracted to those institutions and to the extent to which provisions of this Act are made applicable to such endowments the enactments mentioned in S. 5 would cease to apply or would be overborne. But this effect is not by virtue of the "legislative act" of the Government in notifying the institution but because the Legislature has so provided. It would be a true case of a conditional legislation which is within the powers of the Legislatures in India. 71 Mad LW 222: (1958) 1 Mad LJ 248: 1956 Mad WN 177 (2): AIR 1958 Mad 532 (533) (Pt B) (Pr 6).

——Art. 245 — Non-legislative power —Delegation of, permissible.

A Legislature is authorised to delegate a power which is non-legislative in character. Sometimes the delegated power may be in the nature of conditional legislation authorising an authority such as the executive to determine the time of the commencement of an act and the area of its application after determining, if necessary, certain facts. (1949) 2 Mad LJ 663: 1949 Mad WN 733:

51 Cri LJ 615: AIR 1950 Mad 243 (246, 247, 248) (Pt E) (Prs 6, 9) (DB).

——Arts. 245 and 246—Power of State Legislature to impose limitation on right of appeal — (Sales Tax — C. P. and Berar Sales Tax Act (21 of 1947), S. 22 (1), Proviso — Validity).

A person has no inherent right of appeal. It must be given by an express enactment and that is the scheme of all Acts, civil or criminal. The right, which is the creature of statute, is limited to the extent permitted by it. As the right of appeal is not an inherent right it cannot come under the category of fundamental rights. It is therefore, open to the Legislature to impose limitations on the right of appeal. AIR 1953 Nag 14, Ref. to.

Hence, the proviso to S. 22 (1) of the C. P. and Berar Sales Tax Act is not ultra vires the State Legislature because it imposes a condition of payment of the tax with penalty, if any, before an appeal is admitted. 1955 Nag LJ 49: (1955) 6 STC 222: ILR (1955) Nag 137: AIR 1955 Nag 99 (103) (Pt F) (Pr 15) (DB).

——Art. 245 — Legislature — Delegation of power by — Legislative policy and principle laid down — Orissa Municipal Act, 1950 (as amended by Orissa Act 19 of 1951), Section 417-B — Notified area — Extension of provisions of Municipal Act to — Power given to State Government to select sections and apply them as modified to notified area — Notification extending certain section but omitting Sections 4 and 5 therefrom — Notification is valid. AIR 1961 SC 4. Disting. ILR (1961) Cut 347: (1961) 3 Orissa JD 238: AIR 1962 Orissa 17 (19, 20) (Pt A) (Prs 6, 8) (DB).

——Art. 245 — Delegated or conditional legislation — Bihar Buildings (Lease, Rent and Eviction) Control Act (3 of 1947), Section 1 (3) — Not ultra vires.

The power given to the Provincial Government under Section 1 (3), Bihar Buildings (Lease, Rent and Eviction) Control Act, 1947, is not a case of delegated legislation but that of a conditional legislation and as such that provision of law or the Act itself is neither void nor constitutionally bad.

All that has been left for the decision of the Provincial Government under Section 1 is to extend its operation to the areas which they think proper or to cut away its life to a period fixed and thereafter to extend it again if they so like. There is no power given to the Provincial Government in the case of this Act to cut away its life on making any modification in the provisions of the Act as originally enacted by the Legislature. AIR 1950 Orissa 50, Rel. on. 1956 BLJR 410: 1956 Pat LR 291: AIR 1956 Pat 496 (500) (Pt B) (Pr 7) (DB).

——Art. 245 — Delegated authority — Extension of law.

Extension of a law amounts to enacting a law; if such extension is done by an authority who has itself no power of legislation but only purports to act under a delegated authority, such extension is not valid. Case-law Ref. 1955 Raj LW 355: ILR (1954) 4 Raj 861: AIR 1954 Raj 224 (225, 226, 228) (Pt D) (Prs 7, 20) (DB).

7 (a). Power to refer cases to Special Court for trial.

——Art. 245 — Power to direct offences or classes of offences or classes of cases to be tried by special Court — Validity. See Public Safety — Saurashtra State Public Safety Measures (Third Amendment) Ordinance (66 of 1949), S. 11. 1952 Cri LJ 805: AIR 1952 SC 123.

——Art. 245 — Validity of Acts — Jurisdiction of Courts. See (Hyd) Special Tribunal Regulation (5 of 1358-F), Section 3. AIR 1955 NUC (Hyd) 5624 (DB).

7 (b). Addition of new items to those specially mentioned.

—Art. 245 — Orissa Essential Articles Control and Requisitioning (Temporary Powers) Act (1 of 1947) Section 3 — Power given to Government to add to items in schedule — Validity. See Orissa Essential Articles Control and Requisitioning (Temporary Powers) Act (1 of 1947), Section 3. AIR 1952 Orissa 260.

7 (c). Power to exempt from provisions of an Act.

——Art. 245 — Land Acquisition Act, Section 17 (4) — Power conferred on State Government to exempt case of urgency from application of Section 5-A — Does not amount to a repeal of Section 5-A. See Land Acquisition Act (1894), Section 4. AIR 1963 All 24.

——Art. 245 — Taxation law — Delegation of power to Municipal Corporation to select cases for exemption and to determine manner of calculation. See Constitution of India, Art. 110 (2). AIR 1959 Cal 704 (DB).

——Arts. 245, 246, 14 — Extent of legislative powers — Right to except from operation of law particular class of persons — Classification must be reasonable — Equality between persons — Interpretation of — Mysore House Rent and Accommodation Control Act (30 of 1951), Section 20 is not unconstitutional. See Ibid, Art. 14. (1963) 1 Mys LJ 444.

——Art. 245 — Scope — Madras Sugar Factories Control Act (1949), as amended by Mysore Act (7 of 1954), Section 14 (4) — Validity — Levy of tax on entry of sugarcane within particular area — Selection of persons from whom tax is to be imposed — If can be delegated to administrative body. See Madras Sugar Factories Control Act (20 of 1949) as Amended by Madras Sugar Factories Control (Mysore Amendment) Act (7 of 1954), Section 14 (4). AIR 1958 Mys 64 (DB).

——Art. 245 — Delegated legislation — Rent Control legislation — Delegation of power to State Government to exempt particular building or class of buildings from applicability of statute — Not void on ground of excessive delegation — East Punjab Urban Rent Restriction Act (3 of 1949), Section 3, does not confer any legislative power — Constitutional validity — Exercise of power of exemption does not amount to the exercise of the powers of repeal — Exemption implies merely suspension of statute for the time being — Repeal implies obliteration of statute. AIR 1951 Nag 58 (FB); AIR 1959 Madh Pra 208; AIR 1960 SC 554 & AIR 1961 SC 44, Rel. on. ILR (1962) 1 Punj 407: 64 Punj LR 1: AIR 1962 Punj 204 (210, 211, 213) (Pt A) (Prs 11, 13, 14, 15, 17, 18) (DB).

——Arts. 245 and 265 — Tax — Exemption from.

Power to exempt from tax is sovereign legislative power and no State can fetter its own much less the future legislative authority of its successor. ILR (1958) 8 Raj 700 and AIR 1960 Raj 92, Rel. on. 1964 Raj LW 313: ILR (1964) 14 Raj 667: AIR 1964 Raj 205 (213) (Pt D) (Pr 31) (DB).

7 (d). Extension of duration of Act.

——Art. 245 — Sub-section (5) of Section 1 of the U. P. Act (25 of 1947) — Provision authorising Government to extend duration of Act for a further period is not ultra vires. See Houses and Rents — U. P. (Temporary) Accommodation Requisition Act (25 of 1947), S. 1 (5). AIR 1955 All 48 (FB).

——Art. 245 — Delegated Legislation — Essential Supplies (Temporary Powers) Act, 1946, S. 1.

The question of delegation does not arise in the case of the extension of the period of duration of the Essential Supplies (Temporary Powers) Act, 1946 as the intention in Sec. 1, sub-section 3, enacting that the Act would cease to have effect on the expiration of the period mentioned in Section 4, India (Central Government and Legislature) Act, 1946, was that without any further action on the part of the Legislature the Act should continue to be in force up to the end of the period during which the Indian Legislature would have powers to legislate under the Imperial Act. Once it is taken that the Legislature intended that and provided for it by legislation, it could not be said that there was as a matter of fact any further legislation. 53 Bom LR 268: 52 Cri LJ 954: ILR (1951) Bom 626: AIR 1951 Bom 369 (377, 378) (Pt E) (Pr 22) (DB).

● ——Art. 245 — Legislation.

Period during which Hyderabad Defence Regulation was operative — Lapse of Regulation — Temporary legislation — Principles. See Hyderabad Defence Regulation (1348-F), Preamble. 1954 Cri LJ 1093: AIR 1954 Hyd 129 (FB).

——Art. 245 — Delegated legislation — Houses and Rents — Madhya Bharat Sthan Niyanatran Vidhan (1950), S. 1 (4), Proviso — Not ultra vires.

The proviso to Section 1 (4) of the Madhya Bharat Sthan Niyantran Vidhan which authorises the Government to extend the duration of the Act for a further period of two years from 30-6-1951 is not invalid on the ground of delegation of legislative powers. AIR 1951 SC 484, Foll.

The notification of the Government extending the Act is not Legislation; the fixation of the maximum duration of the Act is a legislative act of the Legislature itself, the effect of the proviso to S. 1 (4) being to confer upon the Government the discretion to determine conditions necessary to give effect to the legislative act of the Legislature providing for the extension of the Act for a further period of two years. ILR (1955) Madh Bha 406: AIR 1955 MB 177 (178, 179) (Pt B) (Prs 5, 6) (DB).

——Art. 245 — Delegated legislation — Power conferred on executive to extend operation of Act — (Houses and Rents — M. B. Sthan Niyantran Vidhan (15 of 1950), Section 2 (4)).

Power conferred upon the executive Government to extend the operation of an Act is not a delegated power of legislation but is merely subsidiary to the enforcement of the Act. Therefore, the order of the Madhya Bharat Government extending the duration of the M. B. Sthan Niyantran Vidhan by two years under its Notification No. 66 (8) JJ 51, dated 26th March, 1951 in the case of Mhow Cantonment is not bad because it amounts to a delegated legislation. It was a conditional legislation when made. AIR 1952 Bom 16 and AIR 1952 Assam 69 (FB), Rel. on. MBLR 1954 (Civ) 392: MBLJ 1955 HC 61: AIR 1955 MB 76 (78) (Pt C) (Prs 28, 29).

——Art. 245 — Delegated or conditional legislation — Power to extend operation or modify Act.

The power to extend the operation of the Act beyond the initial period mentioned in the Act prima facie is a legislative power. It is for the Legislature to state how long the particular legislation will be in operation. That cannot be left to the discretion of some other body. The power to modify an Act of Legislature without any limitation on the extent of power of modification is undoubtedly legislative power. Where the power to extend and the power to modify are given by the same provision, they are one power and not two separable powers. Where the Legislature passes a temporary Act and specifies the period for which it will be initially in force, and then gives power to some other body to extend it without specifying the period up to which it can be extended, the power of extension is purely a legislative power and cannot be delegated. But where the Legislature passes a temporary law and fixes a maximum period for its continuance, but in the first instance applies it for a period shorter than the maximum period, and also provides a machinery for its extension from time to time up to the aggregate period, the power of extension so given is not delegated or condidional legislation. It is merely a method for reaching the maximum period by instalments to be worked out in a particular manner. But where along with this power of extension within the maximum fixed by the Legislature, the power of modification is also given the two become one power and as the power of modification is essentially a legislative power, the extension would be invalidated even though there may be no actual modification. AIR 1949 FC 175 and AIR 1951 SC 484, Rel. on. 1954 Raj LW 587: ILR (1954) 4 Raj 958: AIR 1954 Raj 252 (259, 260) (Pt F) (Pr 30) (DB).

7 A. Temporary legislation.

See Note 7 (d).

8. Subordinate and ancillary legislation.

● ——Art. 245 — Rules framed under delegated authority — Validity — Test.

Per Shah and Sikri, JJ.— When power to frame rules is conferred by the Act upon the State Government that power may be exercised within the strict limits of the authority conferred. If in making a rule the State transcends its authority, the rule will be invalid, for statutory rules made in exercise of delegated authority are valid and binding only if made within the limits of authority conferred. Validity of a rule whether it is declared to have effect as if enacted in the Act or otherwise is always open to challenge on the ground that it is unauthorised. State of Kerala v. Charia Abdulla and Co., (1965) 2 SCJ 461: (1965) 2 ITJ 351: (1965) 16 STC 875: 1965 Ker LJ 903: (1965) 1 SCWR 680: AIR 1965 SC 1583 (1589) (Pt B) (Pr 14).

● ——Art. 245 — Mines and Minerals (Regulation and Development Act (1948) (as it was before its amendment by Act 77 of 1957), Section 5 (1) — Mineral Concession Rules (1949), Rules 37, 39 and 48 — Transfer and assignment of mining lease — Word 'grant' used in Section 5 — Meaning of — Rules 37 and 48 are intra vires — Petitioner acquiring colliery in transgression of these rules — He cannot question about constitutional validity of Rule 39. Biswanath Prasad v. Union of India, 1965 BLJR 621: AIR 1965 SC 821 (824, 825) (Pt B) (Pr 10).

● ——Art. 245 — Foreign Exchange Regulation Act (7 of 1947), Sections 8 (1) and 23 (1-A) — Subordinate legislation — Question regarding date when it can be said to have been passed and date when it has come into effect—Determination of — Notifications under Section 8 (1) by Central Government and Reserve Bank of India — Contravention of, by foreigner — Prosecution under Section 8 (1) read with Section 23 (1-A) — Absence of knowledge of Notification not a valid defence — Absence of statutory requirement as to mode of publication — Publication in Gazette of India is effective to give notice of it to persons concerned — AIR 1964 Bom 274, Reversed. State of Maharashtra v. M. H. George, 1965 (1) Cri LJ 641: (1965) 1 SCWR 430: (1965) 1 SCA 750: (1965) 35 Com Cas 557: 67 Bom LR 583: 1965 SCD 735 : (1966) 1 SCJ 363 : 1966 Mad LJ

(Cri) 248 : AIR 1965 SC 722 (742, 743) (Pt B) (Prs 44, 45, 46).

●——Art. 245 — Rules framed under U. P. Panchayat Raj Act, Rule 84 — Scope of Section 49 (4) — Criminal case — One of parties belonging to place outside — Constitution of Bench — Rule 84 is ultra vires. See U. P. Panchayat Raj Act (27 of 1947), S. 49 (4). 1955 Cri LJ 1010: AIR 1955 SC 435.

●——Art. 245 — Ancillary or subsidiary legislation. See Ibid, Sch. VII, List I, Entry 97. AIR 1965 All 420 (FB).

——Art. 245 — Subordinate legislation — Rule 44 U. P. Sales Tax Rules, 1948 in so far as it prescribes as to what amounts to turnover, is beyond rule-making power of State Government. See Sales-tax — U. P. Sales-Tax Rules (1948), Rule 44. AIR 1964 All 176 (DB).

●——Art. 245 — Delegated legislation—Reasonableness — Justiciable standard.

It is a fundamental principle of our law that rules or regulations or orders made under a power conferred by the Legislature upon a subordinate authority must be reasonable. This furnishes a justiciable standard for the Courts to apply to all subordinate legislation. By this wholesome rule no subordinate legislation may make rules and regulations which may be considered unreasonable. Public interest is thus safeguarded and the arbitrariness of executive bodies is thus curbed and controlled. AIR 1951 All 674 (FB), Ref. Bhushan Lal v. State, ('52) 1952 All WR (HC) 327: 1952 All Cr R 84: 1952 All LJ 412: 1952 Cri LJ 1676: ILR (1953) 2 All 226: AIR 1952 All 866 (870, 871) (Pt B) (Pr 33) (FB).

●——Art. 245 — Power to make rules and regulations within definite limitations — Conferring of power on specific officials—Act compete in itself — Does not offend rule against transfer or delegation of legislative powers. Ramkrishan v. State, 1951 All LJ 64 : 52 Cr LJ 333: 1951 All WR (HC) 128 : 1951 All Cri R 23 : ILR (1952) 1 All 376: AIR 1951 All 181 (191, 192, 194, 195) (Prs 46, 49, 57, 60) (FB).

——Art. 245 — Delegated legislation — Power of making rules conferred by Act.

Desai, J. :— What is delegated legislation ? If, a Legislature, while legislating in respect of a certain matter, confers powers to make rules in respect of that matter on some authority, it cannot be said to be delegating legislative powers. If what the legislature does, amounts to law in respect of that matter, it cannot at the same time amount to delegated legislation. When an authority makes rules in exercise of the powers conferred upon it by the legislature the Act is the real authority behind the rules and the Legislature retains control over the authority and the rules. So long as it retains control it cannot be said that it has delegated the power. ILR (1952) 2 All 360 : 1952 Cri LJ 1119 : AIR 1951 All 44 (51, 52) (Pt D) (Pr 12) (DB).

——Arts. 245, 14, 19 — Andhra Inams (Abolition and Conversion into Ryotwari) Act (37 of 1956), S. 17 — Rules under R. 16 — Validity — Rule granting power to issue injunctions to prevent eviction of tenants entitled to protection — Rule whether made beyond rule making power of Government — Rule whether hit by Arts. 14 and 19 of the Constitution or void as illegal delegation of legislative power. See Tenancy Laws — Andhra Inams (Abolition and Conversion into Ryotwari) Act (37 of 1956), S. 17. AIR 1962 Andh Pra 220.

●——Art. 245 — Subordinate or ancillary legislation. See Sales Tax — Madras General Sales Tax Act. (9 of 1939), S. 3. AIR 1958 Andh Pra 356 (FB).

——Art. 245 — Rule making power — Extent of. See Sales-tax — Assam Sales Tax Act (57 of 1947), S. 52 (1). AIR 1959 Assam 216 (DB).

——Art. 245 — Rule-making power — Arbitrary exercise — Rule of pith and substance — Applicability — Assam Land and Revenue Regulation, R. 12 — If ultra vires — (Assam Land and Revenue Regulation (1 of 1886), Ss. 16 and 155 (f) and R. 12).

Where the Legislature confers on a person or body of persons large powers for the purposes of administering an Act, it normally prescribes the principles on which these powers are to be exercised. If there are no rules for guiding and controlling the exercise of discretion by the person or by body of persons, the power is regarded as arbitrary and even unreasonable.

The State Government when exercising its rule making power performs a legislative function. When it confers on itself power which is absolutely unfettered, it exposes itself to the criticism that arbitrary power has been assumed. The rule of pith and substance which provides the test for determining whether the impugned Act is within its legislative competence or not would apply when the question is whether the rule-making authority has exceeded its powers. It is the substance and not the form that would provide the answer to the question.

The direction in R. 12 which allows the State Government to settle a fishery otherwise than by sale and makes the order of settlement by the State Government final, is inconsistent with S. 16 and as such ultra vires the State Government and therefore, invalid and unenforceable. AIR 1953 SC 309, Foll. ILR (1955) 7 Assam 510: AIR 1956 Assam 48 (50, 51, 52) (Pt B) (Prs 8; 9; 12) (DB).

[Overruled in AIR 1957 SC 377.]

——Art. 245 — Delegated Legislation — Civil P. C. (1908), S. 9.

The principle that whenever power is conferred upon the Legislature to pass laws in a field mentioned, the power carries with it the power to pass laws on matters which may be called subsidiary or ancillary cannot possibly be applied where subordinate powers of legislation are conferred upon a body, whether it may be Municipality which is empowered to make bye-laws, or it may be the Central Government itself, empowered to provide by an order for regulating the production, distribution and supply of, and trade and commerce in, essential commodities like cotton etc. It cannot act beyond the powers, except, of course to the extent that any other powers which it takes upon itself are justified by the doctrine of implied powers; but where the doctrine of implied powers cannot be availed of, it is not permissible to a body, to which powers of subordinate legislation have been given, to say that the power which has been given to it carried with it what may be called subsidiary or ancillary powers of operating beyond the field within which it can operate : AIR 1941 FC 16 and AIR 1951 Bom 210, Ref. 53 Bom LR 689 : 21 Bom Cr C 189 : 52 Cri LJ 1381 : ILR (1952) Bom 105 : AIR 1951 Bom 397 (401, 403) (Pt B) (Prs 5; 10) (DB).

——Art. 245 — Subordinate or ancillary legislation — Validity — Power to make rules — Enumeration of particular power does not curtail general power to make rules for carrying out purposes of Statute — Rule 7 framed under Bengal (Rural) Primary Education Act intra vires — Bengal (Rural) Primary Education Act (7 of 1930) Ss. 66 (1) and 23 (1) (g).

The enumeration of particular powers in an Act does not in any way curtail the general power given under the Act to make any rules for the purposes of carrying out the purposes of the Act, provided such rule is not inconsistent with the provisions of the Act. Whatever may fairly be regarded as incidental to, or consequential upon, those things which the Legislature has authorised ought not, unless expressly prohibted, to be held, by judicial construction to be ultra vires. A subordinate legislation should be invalidated only if such reasonable construction in favour of its vires is not possible. (1958) 1 WLR 546 and (1898) AC 720 and AIR 1945 PC 156 and (1880) 5 AC 473, Rel. on.

Rule 7 of the Rules framed under Bengal (Rural) Primary Education Act dealing with appointment and transfers of primary school teachers is not ultra vires the Act. The transfer of primary teachers comes within the purposes of the Act. The Preamble of the Act makes it clear that the object of the Act is the better "management and control of primary education" in the State. In proper circumstances, the transfer of a teacher from one school to another may be conducive to a better management of the system of education through particular institutions. It is also evident that any such provision will not be inconsistent with the provisions of the Act. If the Board can make a new appointment which would include the power of dismissal, it would be of little avail to contend that the purposes of the Act would be defeated if the Board gets the power to transfer. Alternatively, even though the power to transfer may not be directly included in the power to appoint, it may be regarded as ancillary. Thus, an appointment involves the question of suitability. If after appointing a teacher to a particular school, the Board finds that he would be more suitable for another institution, it cannot be said that the Board should not have the power to transfer him to make an effective use of the power to appoint given to it by the statute. AIR 1964 Cal 568 (571) (Pt A) (Prs 13 to 15).

——Art. 245 — Delegated Legislation — Subordinate or ancillary legislation — Rule-making power in statute — Rules made under — Non-recital of section under which it is made — Validity.

In order to justify a Rule, the Rule itself need not show on its face under what particular section of the Act it is being made. So long as the Rule can be justified under the rule-making power, the non-recital of the fact that it has been so made will not make the Rule bad or invalid. 65 Cal WN 670 : ILR (1961) 1 Cal 501 : AIR 1961 Cal 217 (220) (Pt B) (Pr 20) (DB).

——Art. 245 — Delegated legislation — Rule-making power — Delegation — Rules.

Delegated legislation, confers on Governmental authorities the power to supplement the provisions of a statute by the making of rules which can be divided into three categories.

In the first category, the rules are an integral part of the statute. If there is any inconsistency between the provisions, the ordinary rules of interpretation will come into play. In the second category the legal consequences are the same as in the first. In the third category, the rules made are only in furtherance of the provisions of the Act, and therefore, they must confine themselves within the four corners of the Act. AIR 1954 Cal 436 and AIR 1956 Andhra 232, Foll. AIR 1960 Cal 296 (297) (Pt C) (Pr 6).

——Art. 245 — Delegated legislation — Coal Mines Provident Fund and Bonus Schemes Act (1948), S. 9 — Validity.

The legislative body instead of prescribing the precise penalty may lay down the limit or standard, leaving it to the non-legislative body to prescribe the penalty within such limits or in accordance with the standard laid down. In such a case where the non-legislative body avails itself of the power, it cannot be said that it has exceeded limits. Section 9 is not ultra vires and S. 70 of the scheme is not an unconstitutional exercise of a delegated power. (1959) 1 Lab LJ 587 : 63 Cal WN 147 : AIR 1959 Cal 208 (211, 212) (Pt B) (Pr 12).

——Art. 245 — Doctrine of ancillary or subsidiary powers — Provision whether incidental or ancillary to effective legislation on subject.

What is incidental or ancillary in a given case must depend upon the main legislation and the circumstances of the particular case. It is in the last analysis a question of degree and it is not possible to lay down any hard and fast rule on the basis of which it can be said that a particular provision is necessarily incidental to effective legislation or not. But one thing is certain that the question of incidentality must be determined ab extra, irrespective of Parliamentary assumption on the matter. The provision must be regarded in its true nature and character and it must be ascertained having regard to the object or purpose of the provision as also the effect produced by it as to whether it is really and truly a provision relating to an ancillary or subsidiary matter or whether under the guise of making a provision on an ancillary or subsidiary matter what it really seeks to do is to trespass into some other field. (1914) 19 CLR 298, Rel. on. (1965) 16 STC 329 : AIR 1965 Guj 60 (67) (Pt F) (Pr 12) (DB).

——Art. 245 — Delegated legislation.

Rule making power conferred upon any other body or authority is a form of delegated legislation. ILR (1956) Hyd 58 : AIR 1956 Hyd 35 (38) (Pt E) (Pr 16) (DB).

——Art. 245 — General Clauses Act (1897), S. 21 — Where rules are to be framed for "carrying out the purpose of the Act" such rules cannot travel beyond four corners of the Act itself — Interpretation of statutes — Statutory rules — Vires. See General Clauses Act (1897), S. 21. AIR 1956 Hyd 35.

●——Art. 245 — Legislation— Subordinate legislation — Publication.

Per Palnitkar; J.— In the case of subordinate legislation the general rule is that the legislation must be published properly and in the manner considered best adapted for the purpose of informing the persons concerned. Pannalal Lahoti v. State of Hyderabad. ILR (1954) Hyd 441 : 1954 Cr LJ 1093 : AIR 1954 Hyd 129 (138) (Pt F) (Pr 44) (FB).

——Arts. 245 and 246 — Cochin Abkari Act (1 of 1077 M. E.), Ss. 69, 29 — Validity — There is conflict between S. 69 read with S. 29 of the Act and Arts. 245 (1) and 247 (3) of the Constitution — G. O. Ms. No. 253/63 Rev., dated 25-3-1963 is illegal and has to be struck down. See Ibid, Art. 372. AIR 1965 Ker. 8.

——Art. 245 — M. P. Agricultural Produce Markets (Validation) Act, 1962 (12 of 1962), S. 3 — Madhya Pradesh Agricultural Produce Markets (Validation) Ordinance (2 of 1962) — Both enactments purporting to validate executive action taken under statute are not incompetent — Legislature has plenary powers to make laws regarding matters covered by entry in legislative list of Constitution — Such validation is ancillary legislative power. See Madhya Pradesh Agricultural Produce Markets (Validation) Act, 1962 (12 of 1962), S. 3. AIR 1965 Madh Pra 6 (DB).

——Art. 245 — Subordinate Legislation.

The law of the land, besides the common law and statute law, includes Orders in Council, rules, regulations or bye-laws, made under statutory powers, which are compendiously described by the term subordinate legislation. So far as bye-laws conforming with prescribed form are concerned, their validity depends upon the question of their reasonableness, or of their consistence with the general law or with the statute under which they are made. Rules made under a rule making power conferred by a statute, are, on the other hand, part and parcel of the statute itself. 1957 MPC 694 : ILR (1957) Madh Pra 117 : 1957 MPLJ 830 : 1957 Jab LJ 1057 : AIR 1958 Madh Pra 193 (194, 195) (Pt A) (Pr 4) (DB).

——Art. 245 — R. 49-A, C. P. and Berar Motor Vehicles Rules, 1940—Validity—Whether in excess of rule making power — (Motor Vehicles Act (1939), S. 68 (1)). See C. P. and Berar Motor Vehicles Rules (1940), R. 49-A. AIR 1958 Madhya Pra 193.

——Arts. 245 and 246 — Subsidary and ancillary legislation — Competency of State Legislature to enact law for forfeiture by State of sales-tax illegally collected. See Ibid, Sch. 7, List 2, Entry 54. AIR 1963 Mad 116 (DB).

——Art. 245 — Subsidiary legislation — Orissa Essential Articles Control and Requisitioning (Temporary Powers) Act (1 of 1947), S. 3 — Delegation to subordinate agency of ancillary power to make regulations and rules for administering the Act. See Orissa Essential Articles Control and Requisitioning (Temporary Powers) Act (1 of 1947), S.3. AIR 1952 Orissa 260.

——Art. 245 — Subordinate legislation — Bihar High Schools (Control and Regulation of Administration) Act (13 of 1960), S. 8 (1) and (3) — Bihar Government Notification No. 1460, dated 13-5-1963, issued in exercise of the powers conferred by S. 8 (1) — Notification purporting to amend previous Resolution of 1958 — Contention that State Govt. purported to amend Resolution of 1958 of Education Dept. (which had force of statutory rule) under S. 8 (2), by administrative action and not by making a rule in accordance with procedure prescribed by Ss. 8 (1) and 8 (3) and hence amendment made by notification was legally invalid — Held, the Notification was not in the nature of administrative action of State Govt. but it was piece of subordinate legislation by the Govt. of Bihar by taking recourse to the rule-making power conferred under S. 8 (1) and, as legislative requirements under Ss. 8 (1) and 8 (3), had been complied with, Notification dated 13-5-1963, was legally valid — Bihar High Schools (Control and Regulation of Administration) Act (13 of 1960), S. 8 (1) and (3) — Bihar Govt. Notification No. 1460, dated 13-5-1963, purporting to amend previous Rules of 1958 — Validity. Bihar Govt. Notification No. 1460, dated 13-5-1963 — Validity. 1964 BLJR 722.

——Art. 245 — Capital of Punjab (Development and Regulation) Act (27 of 1952), S. 22 (3) — Provision of laying rules before Houses of State Legislature — Effect of — Rules to be treated as sections for all purposes. See Capital of Punjab (Development and Regulation) Act (27 of 1952), S. 22 (3). AIR 1964 Punj 533 (DB).

——Art. 245— Suit for injunction against Market Committee restraining it from recovering market fees on ground that levy was illegal and ultra vires — Jurisdiction of civil Court not barred — R. 51 is ultra vires of S. 31. See Civil P. C. (1908), S. 9. AIR 1962 Punj 426 (DB).

——Art. 245 —Scope — Separation of executive and judicial functions under Gram Panchayat Act — Violation of — Directive principles of Art. 50 of the Constitution Act not ultra vires Constitution. See Panchayats — Punjab Gram Panchayat Act (4 of 1953). 1957 Cri LJ 796 : AIR 1957 Punj 149 (DB).

●——Art. 245 — Power of Parliament to enact law for expelling citizen outside India —Section 7 of Abducted Persons (Recovery and Restoration) Act — Validity. See Ibid, Art. 19 (1) (d). 1952 Cri LJ 1313 : AIR 1952 Punj 309 (FB).

9. Retrospective laws.

(a) Power of legislature to make retrospective laws.

(b) Retrospective operation of delegated legislation.

9. Retrospective laws.

——Art. 245 — Ex post facto legislation — Meaning.

The mere fact that a law or a rule looks back and takes into account certain events that have already taken place does not necessarily mean that the said law or rule operates or acts from a date anterior to its promulgation. A law or rule may take into account the previous events or facts but may, nevertheless, operate only prospectively as from the date of its promulgation. A more accurate expression to be used to describe a law which acts or operates as from a date anterior to its promulgation would be 'retroactive legislation' or 'ex post facto legislation'. Such ex post facto legislation may either take away the rights created by previous transaction or validate what was in its inception invalid. Commonest form of ex post facto legislation is one which validates what was in its inception invaild. 1963 Mys LJ (Sup) 525 : AIR 1963 Mys 265 (274) (Pt B) (Pr 42) (DB).

——Arts. 245 and 309, Proviso — Retrospective Laws — Amendment to statutory rules —Mysore Recruitment of Gazetted Probationers Rules, 1959 — Mysore Gazetted Probationers (Special) Rules, 1960, R. 9 — Prospective rules creating no obligation on statutory bodies — Mandamus — Maintainability — Constitution of India, Art. 226.

An amendment to a statute or a rule can be characterised as retrospective if it brings about deprivation or impairment of any vested right acquired under the existing laws or creates a new obligation or imposes a new duty or attracts a new disability in respect of transactions or considerations already past.

Held, that the amendments to the Mysore Recruitment of Gazetted Probationers Rules, 1959 were prospective and the petitioner's difficulty was not a disability which could make the amendments retrospective; (ii) since the petitioner had not acquired any right to the post of a Gazetted Probationer when the Governor made amendments to the Special Rules of 1960, the possibility of the petitioner not being able to attain the post of a Gazetted probationer, by direct recruitment, by reason of the maximum age limit being lowered could not amount to the creation of a new disability in respect of a past transaction or consideration; (iii) The writ of mandamus sought was a purposeless mandamus and could not issue. As the Public Service Commission had no power to make any selection of the persons to be appointed as Gazetted Probationers after the Governor amended the Special Rules, there was no statutory duty on the part of the Commission to make a selection the performance of which could be compelled by mandamus. 1963 Mys LJ (Sup) 261: AIR 1963 Mys 263 (264, 265) (Prs 2, 3, 4) (DB).

9 (a). Power of legislature to make retrospective laws.

● ——Arts. 245, 368 — Constitution (17th Amendment) Act 1964, S. 3 — Validity — Power to amend Constitution if can be exercised retrospectively — Act not unconstitutional on ground that it validates Acts added to Ninth Schedule but declared invalid.

Per Gajendragadkar, C. J. Wanchoo and Raghubar Dayal, JJ.:

It cannot be urged that inasmuch as the impugned Act purports in substance to set aside the decisions of Courts of competent jurisdiction by which some of the Acts added to the Ninth Schedule have been declared to be invalid, it is unconstitutional. Legislative power to make laws in respect of areas entrusted to the legislative jurisdiction of different legislative bodies, can be exercised both prospectively and retrospectively. The constituent power conferred by Art. 368 on the Parliament can also be exercised both prospectively and retrospectively. On several occassions, legislatures think it necessary to validate laws which have been declared to be invalid by Courts of competent jurisdiction and in so doing, they have necessarily to provide for the intended validation to take effect notwithstanding any judgment, decree or order passed by a Court of competent jurisdiction to the contrary. Sajjan Singh v. State of Rajasthan, (1965) 1 SCA 875: (1965) 1 Mad LJ (SC) 57: (1965) 1 SCJ 377: (1965) 1 Andh WR (SC) 57: (1965) 1 SCWR 593: AIR 1965 SC 845 (854) (Pt C) (Pr 16).

● ——Art. 245 — Power of State Legislature to legislate laws having retrospective effect — Legislative competency when law is enacted if sufficient — Sales Tax — Madras General Sales Tax (Special Provisions) Act (11 of 1963), S. 2 (1)— Validity — Effect of declaration under Central Act LII of 1952, as regards hides and skins — Did not affect legislative competency of State to enact provision relating to pre-Constitution Act — Section not invalid for want of President's assent. See Sales Tax — Madras General Sales Tax (Special Provisions) Act (11 of 1963), S. 2 (1). AIR 1964 SC 1729.

● ——Art. 245 — Orissa Government Notification dated 1st July, 1947 granting exemption in respect of gold ornaments in exercise of powers under S. 6, Orissa Sales Tax Act (1947) — S. 2 of Validation Act is not ultra vires on the ground that it withdraws exemption with retrospective effect. See Sales Tax — Orissa Sales Tax Validation Act (7 of 1961), S. 2. AIR 1964 SC 1581.

● ——Arts. 245 and 246 — Competency of Legislature — Retrospective Laws — Action taken under law which is void because of its contravention of fundamental rights — Legislature can pass law retrospectively validating such action.

Where a law is invalid for the reason that it has been passed by a Legislature without legislative competence, and action is taken under its provisions, the said action can be validated by a subsequent law clothed by the same Legislature after it is clothed with the necessary legislative power. If the Legislature can by retrospective legislation cure the invalidity in action taken in pursuance of laws which were void for want of legislative competence and can validate such actions by appropriate provisions, the same power can be equally effectively exercised by the Legislature invalidating actions taken under laws which are void for the reason that they contravened fundamental rights. The infirmity proceeding from lack of legislative competence as well as the infirmity proceeding from the contravention of fundamental rights lead to the same result and that is that the offending legislation is void and non est. Hence, it is not correct to say that where the contravention of fundamental rights is concerned, the Legislature cannot pass a law retrospectively validating actions taken under a law which was void because it contravened fundamental rights. AIR 1959 SC 648, Expl., Case Law Ref. West Ramnad Electric Distribution Co., Ltd. v. State of Madras, (1964) 1 SCJ 484: (1964) 1 Mad LJ (SC) 126: (1964) Andh WR (SC) 126: (1963) 2 SCR 747: (1963) 2 SCA 422: AIR 1962 SC 1753 (1760; 1761) (Pt C) (Pr 16).

● ——Art. 245 — Laws affecting vested rights.

The legislature can interfere with the vested rights of persons in the exercise of its legislative power. That is not adjudicating between the parties affected by the Act. Kochuni v. State of Madras and Kerala, 1960 Ker LJ 1077: 1960 Ker LT (SC) 31: (1960) 2 SCA 412: (1960) 3 SCR 887: (1961) 2 SCJ 443: AIR 1960 SC 1080 (1109, 1110) (Pt O) (Prs 76, 78).

——Arts. 245, and 19 (g) (f) — Court-fees Act (1870), S. 37—U. P. Court-fees (U. P. Amendment) Ordinance (2 of 1960), S. 2 — Retrospective legislation affecting right to file appeal on payment of court-fees — Constitutional validity — Appeal filed on payment of proper court-fee, pending on date of promulgation of Ordinance — Demand for additional court-fee according to Ordinance, whether contravenes Art. 19 (1) (f) of the Constitution. See Court Fees Act (1870), S. 37. 1962 All LJ 480.

——Art. 245 — Scope — Arts. 123, 246 and 248 — Effect of. See Administration of Evacuee Property (Chief Commissioners Province) Ordinance (12 of 1949). AIR 1957 All 561 (DB).

——Art. 245 — Retrospective levy of tax. See Sales Tax — Madras General Sales Tax Act (9 of 1939), S. 3 (As Amended in 1955). AIR 1958 Andh Pra 558 (DB).

——Art. 245 — Legislation with retrospective effect — Competence of State Legislature.

The Legislature of a State is a sovereign authority in the sphere of legislation on State subjects, and in the exercise of that authority it has competence to enact legislation with retrospective effect. 59 Bom LR 274: ILR (1957) Bom 420: AIR 1957 Bom 130 (133) (Pt C) (Pr 7).

[Reversed on another point in AIR 1963 SC 358.]

——Art. 245 — Legislature — Powers of — Unless there is a compelling public necessity the legislature cannot pass an Act having retrospective operation. 55 Cal WN 433: AIR 1951 Cal 85 (88) (Pt C) (Pr 34).

[Reversed on another point in AIR 1954 SC 92.]

——Art. 245 — Retrospective law — Legislative authority competent to make law, can make it to take effect retrospectively. AIR 1955 NUC (Hyd) 2368 (DB).

——Art. 245 — Enactment of new rule of law with retrospective effect — It is proper exercise of legislative function within the competence of State Legislature. ILR (1954) Hyd 766: AIR 1955 Hyd 257 (258, 259) (Pt B) (Pr 6) (DB).

——Arts. 245 and 246 — Retrospective imposition of tax — Validity. See Kerala Luxury Tax on Tobacco (Validation) Act (9 of 1964), Preamble. AIR 1966 Ker 46.

——Art. 245 — The fact that transfer of cases under S. 10, Criminal Law Amendment Act would amount to retrospective legislation would not make the Act invalid — Law made by Parliament cannot be impeached merely on ground that it operates ex post facto. See Criminal Law Amendment Act (1952), S. 10. 1954 Cri LJ 1739: AIR 1954 Madh B 206 (DB).

——Art. 245 — Power of legislatures to make retrospective laws — Extent of. See Ibid, Art. 20. AIR 1952 Madh B 181 (DB).

——Art. 245 — Madhya Pradesh Tendu Patta (Vyapar Viniyaman) Niyamavali Sanshodhan Adhyadesh (1965), (Ordinance No. 3/65), S. 3 — Constitutional validity — Ordinance is not invalid — It is not repugnant to an 'existing law' and is not a colourable legislation — Even though it retrospectively validates certain Acts it is within competence of State Legislature. See Madhya Pradesh Tendu Patta (Vyapar Viniyaman) Niyamavali Sanshodhan Adhyadesh (1965), (Ordinance No. 3/65). AIR 1966 Madh Pra 110 (DB).

——Art. 245 — Power to enact retroactive legislation.

Subject to any limitation imposed by the Constitution, Parliament and State Legislature can give to their laws, otherwise valid retrospective or prospective operation. AIR 1961 SC 1486 and AIR 1954 SC 158; AIR 1958 SC 468 and AIR 1961 SC 1534, Rel. on. ILR (1963) Madh Pra 985: 1962 MPLJ 849: 1962 MPC 321: 1962 Jab LJ 987: AIR 1962 Madh Pra 342 (348) (Pt D) (Pr 13) (DB).

——Art. 245 — Retrospective law incidentally putting an end to finality of decision of Court— No judicial power is exercised by legislature — Law not bad on that account. 1962 MPC 216: 1962 MPLJ 935: 1962 Jab LJ 725: ILR (1963) MP 737: AIR 1962 Madh Pra 245 (250; 251; 252) (Pt A) (Prs 11, 13, 14, 15) (DB).

——Art. 245 — Retrospective operation — Matters to be taken into account. See Madhya Bharat Interest Act (17 of 1956), S. 3. AIR 1958 Madh Pra 21 (DB).

——Art. 245 — Power of Parliament to alter retrospectively period of limitation within which assessment once completed could be reopened — (Income-tax Act (1922), S. 34 (1-A) — Validity).

Parliament has power to enact a legislation which alters retrospectively the period of limitation within which assessments once completed could be reopened.

Section 34 (1-A), Income-tax Act, as introduced by the Amending Act (33 of 1954), expressly refers to the assessments which could be reopened by specific reference to particular assessment years. The date, 17th July, 1954, was obviously a reference to the date when the Ordinance which this amending Act replaced was promulgated, and the purpose of the mention of this date in the enactment was to confer on and continue the validity of the notices which had already been issued and the proceedings initiated thereby. (1957) 32 ITR 439: AIR 1958 Mad 220 (227) (Pt C) (Prs 30; 31) (DB).

——Art. 245 — Power to enact retrospective law for levy or collection of tax.

Under the Constitution, Parliament is not incompetent to make a retrospective provision for levy or collection of a tax relating to a period anterior to 26th January, 1950. AIR 1954 SC 158, Foll. (1957) 32 ITR 439: AIR 1958 Mad 220 (227) (Pt D) (Pr 32) (DB).

●——Art. 245 — Power of legislatures.

The powers of legislation given to the Parliament or to the Legislatures of the State are very wide as indicated in Art. 245, and it cannot be doubted that a sovereign Legislature has power to enact prospective as well retrospective laws. Brij Bhukan v. S. D. O., Siwan., 1954 BLJR 513: 33 Pat 690: AIR 1955 Pat 1 (34) (Pt Z-b) (Pr 27) (SB).

——Art. 245 — Administration of Evacuee Propetry Act (1950), S. 17 — Attachment in execution of decree effected prior to Act — Right to get property sold is taken away. See Administration of Evacuee Property Act (1950), S. 17. AIR 1956 Pepsu 58.

——Art. 245 — Retrospective legislation affecting fundamental right — Power of State Legislature to enact. See Ibid, Art. 13 (2). AIR 1963 Punj 319 (DB).

——Art. 245 — Displaced Persons (Debts Adjustment) Act (1951), Ss. 18 and 36 — Validity.

There is no bar to the passing of an Act within the competence of a Legislature with retrospective effect. There is on the other hand always a presumption of constitutionality in favour of statutes. Ss. 18 and 36 of the Debts Adjustment Act are not ultra vires of the Constitution on the ground of being retrospective in operation. 1960 CIS (IJ) 8: 62 Punj LR 241: AIR 1960 Punj 523 (526) (Pt E) (Pr 11).

●——Art. 245 — Legislature has power to enact laws with retrospective effect — Jodhpur University (Amendment) Ordinance (3 of 1963) amending S. 39 of Jodhpur University Act (17 of 1962) with retrospective effect is not ultra vires. 1901 AC 297 and (1862) 31 LJPM and A 129, Rel. on. Virendra Kapur v. University of Jodhpur, 1964 Raj LW 328: ILR (1964) 14 Raj 463: AIR 1964 Raj 161 (166) (Pt C) (Pr 17) (FB).

——Art. 245 — Retrospective operation of amendments — Constitutionality. See Sales Tax — Rajasthan Sales Tax Act (29 of 1954), S. 10 (5) (As Amended by Ordinance III of 1956). ILR (1958) 8 Raj 947.

9 (b). Retrospective operation of delegated legislation.

——Art. 245 —Vested rights—If can be taken away — Notification under S. 88 (1) (d), Bombay Act (67 of 1948) — Retrospective effect— If affects tenant's vested rights. See Tenancy Laws — Bombay Tenancy and Agricultural Lands Act (67 of 1948), S. 88 (1) (d). AIR 1957 Bom 130.

——Art. 245 — Subordinate authority cannot act retrospectively under delegated authority. See Income-tax Act (1961), S. 2 (44) (as amended by Finance Act (1963), S. 4). AIR 1966 Ker 5 (DB).

——Art. 245 — Scope — T. C. Buildings (Lease and Rent Control) Order, S. 6 (c) — Validity— Power of delegate to give retrospective operation to subordinate delegated legislation. See Houses and Rents — T. C. Buildings (Lease and Rent) Control Order (1950), S. 6 (c). AIR 1957 Ker 59.

——Art. 245 — Retrospective laws — Service Rules under Art. 309, Proviso, having retrospective operation — Ultra vires — Rule making power of Governor under Art. 309, Proviso does not extend to give retrospective operation to rules. See Ibid, Art. 309, Proviso. AIR 1965 Mys 25 (DB).

——Art. 245 — Delegated legislation — Retroactive legislation — Distinction between powers of legislature and other rule making bodies — Framing of Service Rules having retroactive operation — Ultra vires rule making powers of Governor under Art. 309, Proviso. See Ibid, Art. 309, Proviso. AIR 1963 Mys 265 (DB).

——Art. 245 —Mysore Sales Tax Act (25 of 1957) — R. 25 of Rules framed under — Rule is retrospective. See Sales Tax — Mysore Sales Tax Act (25 of 1957), S. 5. (1963) 14 STC 84 (Mys) (DB).

——Art. 245 — Delegation of Legislative powers to executive body — Exercise of — If to be only prospectively.

Unless the power to legislate, conferred on an executive body by the Legislature, expressly mentions that such power can be exercised retrospectively, it can only be exercised prospectively. Hence a power conferred by the Legislature on a subsidiary body, e. g., Government, to issue notifications, if couched in general language can unless it is expressly stated that the same can be exercised retrospectively, only be exercised prospectively. A Legislative body unlike the executive body can always legislate retrospectively unless there is any prohibition under the Constitution which has created it. AIR 1958 Mad 249 and AIR 1957 SC 246, Dist. 38 Mys LJ 635: ILR (1959) Mys 688: AIR 1960 Mys 326 (330, 331) (Pt A) (Prs 13; 14) (DB).

——Art. 245 — Legislative power — Delegation of to pass retrospective orders. See Houses and Rents — C. P. and Berar Letting Houses and Rent Control Order (1949), Cl. 8 (c). ILR (1956) Nag 569.

——Art. 245—Delegation of power by Legislature—Delegation of authority with power to make rules under the Act — Delegated authority carries with it the power to amend rules already made — Power to amend also to include power to repeal a rule with retrospective effect. See Panchayats—Bihar Panchayat Raj Act, 1947 (Act 7 of 1948), S. 80. (1964) BLJR 855.

——Arts. 245, Pre, 20 — Scope — R. 33 of the Sind Canal Rules — Validity — (Interpretation of Statutes — Retrospective effect) — (Civil P. C. (1908), Preamble — Retrospective effect. See Ibid, Pre. AIR 1956 Pepsu 40.

10. Validating laws.

●——Arts. 245 and 246 and Sch. 7, List II, Entry 18 — Constitution (17th Amendment) Act, 1964)— Act is not ultra vires of Parliament under Arts. 245 and 246 — It is not land legislation falling under Sch. 7, List II, Entry 18 but merely validates land legislation passed by States.

Per Gajendragadkar, C. J., Wanchoo and Raghubar Dayal, JJ.:

The contention that since the Constitution (17th Amendment) Act 1964 is a legislative measure in relation to land falling within Entry 18 of Sch. List II, it falls within the exclusive powers of the State Legislatures and is ultra vires the power of Parliament under Arts. 245 and 246 of the Constitution is misconceived. What the impugned Act purports to do is not to make any land legislation but to protect and validate the legislative measures in respect of agrarian reforms passed by different State Legislatures in the country by granting them immunity from attack based on the plea that they contravene fundamental rights. Sajjan Singh v. State of Rajasthan (1965) 1 SCA 875: (1965) 1 Mad LJ (SC) 57: (1965) 1 SCJ 377: (1965) 1 Andh WR (SC) 57: (1965) 1 SCWR 593: AIR 1965 SC 845 (853) (Pt B) (Pr 15).

●——Arts. 245, Preamble, 286 (2)—Madras General Sales Tax Act (1939), S. 22, Explanation — Repugnancy to Art. 286 (2) of Constitution — Subsequent enactments of Sales Tax Laws Validating Act — Effect — Invalidity of S. 22, Explanation, if removed — (Interpretation of Statutes — Constitutionality — Invalidity — Void and null statutes) — (Sales Tax — Sales Tax Laws Validation Act (7 of 1956), S. 2). See Sales Tax—Madras General Sales Tax Act (9 of 1939), S. 22, Explanation. AIR 1958 SC 468.

[Held overruled on another point by AIR 1959 SC 648 in AIR 1961 Mys 3.]

●——Arts. 245, 32, 246 — Orissa Hindu Religious Endowments Act (2 of 1952 as amended in 1954), S. 79 A — Validity — Orissa Hindu Religious Endowments Act (2 of 1952 as amended in 1954) S. 79 A). See Ibid, Art. 32. AIR 1956 SC 432.

●——Arts. 245, 246, Pre. 265, Sch. VII, List I, Item 97 — Constitutional limitations—Retrospective validation taxing laws — Constitutionality — State Act imposing cess, declared void ab initio by Supreme Court on ground of incompetency of State Legislature — Power of Parliament to enact retrospective validation taxing laws — Parliament passing Act merely declaring action taken under State law as valid, without furnishing authority of law required for it—Act invalid on ground of incompetency — U. P. Sugarcane Cess (Validation) Act (Central Act 4 of 1961) — Unconstitutional — Writ Petn. No. 2311 of 1961 dated 2-11-1962 (All), Overruled; AIR 1958 SC 468 (489); AIR 1962 Madh Pra 342; AIR 1962 Madh Pra 245, Rel. on; AIR 1962 SC 1753 Foll. Lakshmi Kant Jhunjhunwala v. State of U. P. ILR (1965) 2 All 24: 1965 All LJ 386: AIR 1965 All 420 (423, 424, 425, 428, 429, 432) (Pt B) (Prs 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 16, 17, 18, 19, 32, 35, 36, 37, 38, 43, 45) (FB).

——Art. 245 — Legislature cannot validate unconstitutional Act — U. P. Act of 1953 declared unconstitutional— Actions taken or orders passed thereunder cannot be validated by S. 17, U. P. Ordinance 4 of 1953. AIR 1962 All 350 (352, 353) (Pt B) (Prs 9 10, 13).

——Art. 245 — Power of Legislature to validate provision made under its delegated authority — (Sales tax — U. P. Sales tax (Validation) Act (15 of 1958), S. 3).

Where a Legislature is competent to pass any enactment making any particular provision it can validate a similar provision made under its delegated authority because it was competent to pass a valid legislation covering that subject. If it can legislate on that subject, it can validate the delegated legislation. In such a case, to validate delegated legislation would amount to independent legislation. The effect of S. 3 of the U. P. Sales-tax (Validation) Act, 1958, is to convert a notification issued on 31-3-1956 by a State Government, which was not valid, into a valid notification issued in exercise of the proper delegated authority conferred on the State Government by the U. P. Legislature. 1958 All LJ 719: (1959) 10 STC 424: AIR 1959 All 208 (210, 211) (Pt C) (Pr 3) (DB).

——Art. 245 — Scope — U. P. Administration of Evacuee Property Ordinance — Validity — U. P. Ordinance(1 of 1949) was ultra vires the Governor — Ordinance not validated by Government of India (Third Amendment) Act. See U. P. Administration of Evacuee Property Ordinance (1 of 1949). AIR 1957 All 561 (DB).

——Art. 245 — Powers of the Legislature — Retrospective validation of invalid orders.

The Legislature can retrospectively validate orders which were not valid when they were passed. To hold that the Legislature has no power to give retrospective effect to Acts passed by it would be to hold that it could never pass Acts of indemnity. By an order passed by U. P. Act (14 of 1951) orders which were invalid have been validated. 1951 ALJ 620.

● ——Art. 245 — M. P. Janapada Election Matters Validating Act (1 of 1955) S 3 — Act validating what was void by introducing a legal fiction — Validity of Act. See Madhya Pradesh Jana Pada Election Matters Validating Act (1 of 1955), S. 3. AIR 1957 Bom 266 (FB).

——Art. 245—Hyderabad Houses (Rent Eviction and Lease) Control Act (20 of 1954), S. 31 — Validity — (Houses and Rents) — Hyderabad Houses (Rent, Eviction and Lease) Control Act (20 of 1954) Ss. 31, 21).

It is open to the Legislature acting within the sphere of its constitutional authority to pass a validating statute or to give a retrospective effect to a new statute notwithstanding the fact that the earlier law governing the same matter is declared by Courts of law as invalid, unenforceable or inoperative.

The first sub-section of S. 31 of the Hyderabad Houses (Rent, Eviction and Lease) Control Act merely enacts the replacement of an earlier order and the other sub-section does not pronounce on the merits of the cases but merely lays down that the orders and decisions given under the Hyderabad Rent Control Order, 1353-F, shall be deemed to be as far as possible, orders under the new enactment. The application of the new law to the facts of each case is left to the judicial authorities and the pending proceedings are not decided by the force of the new enactment.

The section in substance is an exercise of the incidental power of varying a rule of law and making a new law retrospective and this is a function which the Legislature is competent to perform effectively under Item 18 of List 2 of the 7th Schedule of the Constitution. Hence S. 31 of the Hyderabad Houses (Rent, Eviction and Lease) Control Act of 1954 is not ultra vires the legislative powers of the Hyderabad Legislative Assembly.

Held, further that consistently with the view that the enactment of a new rule of law with retrospective effect was a proper exercise af the legislative function and within the competence of the State Legislature the right to apply in revision under S. 21 rested in the applicants if the orders impugned suffered from the defects referred to in that section. The writ applications were allowed to be converted into applications for revision of the orders challenged therein under S. 21 of the Act. Case-law discussed. ILR (1954) Hyd 766: AIR 1955 Hyd 257 (258, 259) (Pt A) (Prs 6, 7, 8, 9) (DB).

——Art. 245—Madhya Pradesh Agricultural Produce Markets (Validation) Act (12 of 1962), S. 3. Madhya Pradesh Agricultural Produce Markets (Validation) Ordinance 1962 (2 of 1962) — S. 3 is sufficient to validate past acts or things done— Not essential to amend impugned statute. See Madhya Pradesh Agricultural Produce Markets (Validation) Act (12 of 1962), S. 3. AIR 1965 Madh Pra 6 (DB).

——Art. 245 — Madhya Pradesh Agricultural Produce Markets (Validation) Act, 1962 (12 of 1962), S. 3 — Agricultural Produce Markets (Validation) Ordinance 1962 (2 of 1962) — Section 3 of Validating Act purporting to validate an action struck down by the judgment cannot be challenged as a judicial act performed by legislative authority — Arrogation of judicial power by legislative authority, what amounts to. See Madhya Pradesh Agricultural Produce Markets (Validation) Act, 1962 (12 of 1962), S. 3. AIR 1965 Madh Pra 6 (DB).

——Art. 245 —Validating law incidentally putting end to finality of decision of Court — Not an exercise of judicial power and is not bad on that ground. 1962 MPC 216: 1962 MPLJ 935: 1962 Jab LJ 725: ILR (1963) MP 637: AIR 1962 Madh Pra 245 (250, 251, 252) (Pt A) (Prs 11, 13, 14, 15) (DB).

——Art. 245 — Sales Tax Law Validation Act (1956), — Parliament held did not transgress its powers under Art. 286 (2). See Sales Tax — Sales Tax Law Validation Act (1956), S. 2. AIR 1957 Mad 368 (DB).

——Arts. 245, 246 and 286 (2) and Sch. VII List I, Entry 42 — Power of Parliament to legislate retrospectively.

Held, on facts that the Sales Tax Law Validation Act is within the legislative power conferred by Art. 286 (2) read with entry No. 42 of the Union list and that it is not invalid or unconstitutional because it is retrospective in operation. AIR 1946 P. C. 66 Disting. 70 Mad LW 186: (1957) 8 STC 177: (1957) 2 MLJ 167: AIR 1957 Mad 368 (372, 373) (Pt C) (Prs 13, 15) (DB).

——Art. 245—Validating Laws—Order to suspend levy of tax on explanation sales, an administrative order only — Administrative order cannot become statutory order merely by subsequent passing of Validating Act — Orissa Sales Tax Laws (Validation) Act 1955 (7 of 1956)— Orissa Sales Tax Act (14 of 1947) S. 7. (1965) 16 STC 693: ILR (1964) Cut 565: (1964) 6 OJD 305: AIR 1965 Orissa 190 (193) (Pt C) (Pr 9) (DB).

——Arts. 245, 286 (1) (a), Explanation—Validating Laws — Explanation sales made liable to tax by Validating Act — Assessment order was passed prior to Validating Act and when order suspending levy of tax was in force —Assessment can be made after passing of Validating Act — Orissa Sales Tax Laws (Validation) Act (7 of 1956), (1965) 16 STC 693: ILR (1964) Cut 565: (1964) 6 OJD 305: AIR 1965 Orissa 190 (193) (Pt D) (Pr 11) (DB).

——Art. 245 — Punjab Development of Damaged Areas (Validation) Act (VIII of 1963), Section 2— Validated provisions made effective retrospectively — Validating enactment cannot be held to be void on this account.

If an enactment is struck down as invalid for a technical defect, it would be open to the legislature to validate the provisions of the enactment, struck down as invalid, with effect from the date the said invalid enactment was passed. The validating legislation cannot be said to be void simply because it retrospectively makes the enactment or provisions thereof valid from the date the invalid Act was passed.

Thus, where the previous schemes for development of damaged areas were held to be invalid simply on the ground that there was no proper notification declaring the area in dispute as a "damaged" area under the relevant legislation, and the defect was sought to be remedied by the validating Act, with the result that the schemes, which fully conformed with the provisions with regard to publication and sanction by the Government, became valid.

Held, that the validating legislation could not be held to be void because it retrospectively made the schemes valid. ILR (1965) 2 Punj 501: AIR 1965 Punj 212 (216) (Pt C) (Prs 9, 10) (DB).

●——Art. 245—Punjab Consoldiation of Land Proceedings Act, Ss. 3 and 4 — Competence of State Legislature to pass the Act. See Punjab Consolidation of Land Proceedings (Validation) Act (6 of 1957) S. 3. 60 Pun LR 461: ILR (1958) Punj 2136: AIR 1959 Punj 8 (11, 12, 13) (Pt A) (Prs 1, 2, 3a, 4) (FB).

[Overruled on another point in AIR 1959 SC 519.]

11. "Subject to the provisions of this Constitution."

●——Art. 245 — Restriction on trade — Licence — Imposition of Calcutta Municipal Act (33 of 1951), Section 437 (1) (b) — Validity. See Ibid, Art. 19 (1) (g). 1964 (2) Cri LJ 354: AIR 1964 SC 1279.

●——Art. 245 — Exemption given by Art. 289 (1) — Power of Parliament to legislate to take away the exemption — Immunity of property and income of States from Union taxation — Scope and extent of levy of customs duties (export or import) and excise duties by Union on property of State — Levy not covered by exemption can be validly imposed. See Ibid, Art. 289 (1). AIR 1963 SC 1760.

●——Art. 245 — Bihar Act 1 of 1951 — Validity of—Does not infringe Art. 19 (1) (f) and Arts. 25, 26 and 27 — Nor does it impose an unauthorised tax. See Bihar Hindu Religious Trusts Act (1 of 1951), S. 2 (b). AIR 1959 SC 1073.

●——Art. 245 (1) — Power of Legislature to make laws in regard to entries in Seventh Schedule — U. P. Transport Service (Development) Act — Validity. See Ibid, Art. 13. AIR 1959 SC 648.

●——Arts. 245 and 246 — Indian Legislatures — Plenary powers of legislation—Entries in Legislative Lists — Interpretation — Rule of pith and substance.

The legislatures in our country possess plenary powers of legislation. The supremacy of the legislatures is confined to the topics mentioned as Entries in the Lists conferring respectively powers on them. These entries though meant to be mutually exclusive, are sometimes not really so. They occasionally overlap, and are to be regarded as enumeration simplex of broad categories. Where there is a conflict between rival lists, it is necessary to examine the impugned legislation in its pith and substance, and only if that pith and substance falls substantially within an Entry or Entries conferring legislative powers, is the legislation valid. ILR 4 Cal 172 (PC) and AIR 1941 FC 47 and AIR 1947 PC 60, Rel. on.

The power to legislate on a topic of legislation carries with it the power to legislate on an ancillary matter which can be said to be reasonably included in the power given. State of Rajasthan v. G. Chawla, 1959 SCJ 485: 1959 Mad LJ (Cr) 309: 1959 Cr LJ 660: (1959) 1 SCR (Supp) 904: AIR 1959 SC 544 (545, 546) (Pt A) (Pr 8).

●——Art. 245 — Part III (Gen.), Part IV (Gen.), and Art. 246 — Legislation by State to implement directive principles — Legislation cannot override fundamental rights — Principle of harmonious construction to be followed. See Ibid, Pt. III (Gen.). AIR 1958 SC 956.

●——Art. 245 — Scope — Tax imposed by Section 12-A, Bombay Act (54 of 1948) — Validity — Constitution of India, Sch. VII, List II, Entry 62. See Bombay Lotteries and Prize Competitions Control and Tax Act (54 of 1948), S. 12-A. AIR 1957 SC 699.

●——Art. 245 — Powers of State Legislature to legislate — Extent of. See Ibid, Art. 31-A. AIR 1955 SC 540.

●——Art. 245 — 'Void' in Art. 13 (1), meaning of — Effect of declaration of voidness of statute — Declaration of unconstitutionality brought about by lack of legislative power, effect of. See Ibid, Art. 13 (1). 1955 Cri LJ 215: AIR 1955 SC 123.

●——Art. 245 (1) — Sections 123 (5) and 124 (5), Representation of the People Act, are not ultra vires, Art. 19 (1) (a). See Representation of the People Act (1951), S. 123 (5). AIR 1954 SC 686.

●——Arts. 245 and 246, Sch. VII, List 1 — Retrospective operation of Arts. 245, 256-A—Absence of such operation if affects Parliament's power to make retroactive law — Validity of Section 2 (14-A), Income-tax Act. See Income-tax Act (1922), Section 2 (14-A) (as Amended by Finance Act, 1950). AIR 1954 SC 158.

●——Arts. 245 (1), 246 — Legislative power of Parliament how far limited.

Per Das J.:— By Art. 245 (1) the legislative power of Parliament is definitely made "subject to the provisions of this Constitution". A perusal of Art. 19 makes it abundantly clear that none of the seven rights enumerated in Cl. (1) of that Article is an absolute right, for each of these rights is liable to be curtailed by laws made or to be made by the State to the extent mentioned in the several Cls. (2) to (6) of that Article. Those clauses save the power of the State to make laws imposing certain specified restrictions on the several rights. The unlimited legislative power given by Art. 246 read with the different legislative lists in Sch. 7 is cut down by the provisions of Art. 19 and all laws made by the State with respect to these rights must in order to be valid, observe these limitations. Whether any law has in fact transgressed these limitations is to be ascertained by the Court and if in its view the restrictions imposed by the law are greater than what is permitted by Cls. (2) to (6) of Art. 19, whichever is applicable, the Court will declare the same to be unconstitutional and, therefore, void under Art. 13. A. K. Gopalan v. State of Madras, (1950) 2 Mad LJ 42: 63 Mad LW 638: 1950 SCJ 174: 51 Cri LJ 1383: 1950 SCR 88: 1950 Mad WN 495: 1950 Mad WN (Cri) 127: AIR 1950 SC 27 (109) (Pt ZN) (Pr 216).

●——Art. 245 — U. P. Sales Tax (Validation) Act (15 of 1958), Section 4 — Validity — Affects discretion of High Court under Art. 226 and hence Contravenes Art. 245 under which article the legislature derives its power to legislate. See Ibid, Art. 226. AIR 1959 All 557 (FB).

——Art. 245 — Construction of Constitution — Rules as to repugnancy between law and Constitution — Effect. See Ibid, Art. 13. 1958 Cri LJ 462: AIR 1958 All 293. (DB).

●——Art. 245 — Delegated Legislation — Legislature — Delegation of powers — U. P. Act (1 of 1951), if invalid on ground of illegal delegation of powers by State legislature — U. P. Abolition of Zamindari and Land Reforms Act (1 of 1951) — Constitution of India, Arts. 13, 246.

Legislative powers are conferred on the legislatures of India by the Constitution and it is in the Constitution that there must be found the extent and the limits of the powers so conferred. The Constitution has placed a limitation on the matters in respect of which a State Legislature may make laws; and it has further provided that no laws made by a legislature on a matter within its own field shall contravene any of the fundamental rights set forth in Chapter 3. If the framers of the Constitution did not think fit to impose restrictions on the manner in which legislature may exercise its powers it is not for the Courts to be astute to invent or evolve them. 5-IA 178; AIR 1950 SC 27, Rel. on.

A legislature must of course legislate; it cannot abdicate its powers. But provided it preserves its own capacity intact, there is no reason why it should not delegate powers of subordinate legislation to such other authorities as it deems proper. (Permissible heads of delegation of powers by legislature discussed).

U. P. Act 1 of 1951 is not void on the ground of illegal delegation of its powers by the State Legislature. Surya Palsingh v. Government of U. P., 1951 All LJ 365: 1951 RD (BR) 122: ILR (1952) 2 All 46: 1951 All WR (HC) 317: AIR 1951 All 674 (696, 697) (Pt V) (Prs 119, 120, 121, 123) (FB).

——Art. 245 — Government of India Act (1935), Ss. 99 and 296 — Force of.

It is true that the power to legislate by the Provincial Government is derived from Ss. 99 and 100. Government of India Act, 1935, read with the relevant Legislative Lists. But in legislating on the field the Provincial Government is subject to the other provisions of that Act and Section 296 is one of them. In other words, in making such a legislation the Legislature must respect the provisions of Section 296 of the Act and carry out the obligations imposed by that section. AIR 1956 Assam 142 (147) (Pt C) (Pr 11) (DB).

[Reversed on another point in AIR 1957 SC 414.]

●——Arts. 245 and 226 — Powers of High Court — Election — M. P. Janapad Election matters Validating Act (1 of 1955), S. 3 — Exercise of Legislative function.

Under the present Constitution of India, the powers of the High Court under Art. 226 cannot be taken away by the Legislature and no law passed by a State Legislature can prevent a party from approaching the High Court under Art. 226 and invoking its jurisdiction under that Article. Gulabrao Keshavrao v. Pandurang Bhanji, ILR (1957) Bom 714: 60 Bom LR 12: 1957 Nag LJ 419: AIR 1957 Bom 266 (268, 269) (Pt C) (Pr 6) (FB).

●——Arts. 245 and 226 — Jurisdiction of High Court — Effect of M. P. Act (1 of 1955) — (Election — Madhya Pradesh Janpada Election Matters Validating Act (1 of 1955), S. 3).

There is no provision in M. P. Act (1 of 1955) which prevents anyone from approaching the High Court under Art. 226 or the High Court passing any order under Art. 226. Thus the jurisdiction of the High Court is not taken away by the Act. Gulabrao Keshavrao v. Pandurang Bhanji. ILR (1957) Bom 714 : 60 Bom LR 12 : 1957 Nag LJ 419 : AIR 1957 Bom 266 (268, 269) (Pt D) (Pr 6) (FB).

——Art. 245, 286 and 303 — Limitations on Legislative powers of States.

The powers conferred upon the Legislature under Art. 245 are subject to the provisions of the Constitution. The powers are not unlimited and the Constitution itself provides various limitations upon those powers, and although the language of Art. 286 is not identical with the language in Art. 303, if the Constitution provides that no law of a State shall authorise the imposition of a tax, it does contain a restriction or a limitation upon the legislative power of the Legislature, AIR 1946 PC 66, Relied on. 55 Bom LR 246 (DB).

[Reversed on another point in AIR 1953 SC 252, which itself was overruled in AIR 1955 SC 661.]

——Art. 245 — Power of Parliament to amend 'existing law' so as to make the amendment effective as from a time when Parliament itself was not in existence. See Income-tax (Amendment) Act (71 of 1950), S. 2. AIR 1951 Bom 438 (DB).

●——Art. 245 — Federalism — What connotes — Limitation of authority.

Per Manohar Pershad, J.: — Federalism connotes, among other things, the supremacy of a written Constitution setting up a Central Government, clothed with legislative, executive and judicial powers, which are exercised within the limits of authority prescribed by the Constitution. This limitation of authority is in contrast to the supremacy of the legislature under a unitary form of Government. There are no practical limits to the authority of a Supreme Legislature, such as the Imperial Parliament of Great Britain except the lack of executive power to enforce its enactment. But in a federation neither the legislature of the Central Government nor the legislature of any component entity is Supreme. Each such legislature can only assert its supremacy within the limits assigned by the Constitution. Pannalal Lahoti v. State of Hyderabad. ILR (1954) Hyd 441: 1954 Cr LJ 1093: AIR 1954 Hyd 129 (139) (Pt G) (Pr 64) (FB).

——Art. 245 — Scope — Levy of sales tax — T. C. General Sales Tax Act in respect of works contract, after Constitution — Legality. See Ibid, Art. 277. AIR 1957 Kerala 146 (DB).

[Overruled on another point in AIR 1958 SC 560.]

——Art. 245 and Sch. VII — Articles, if controlled by Schedule.

The meaning and scope of the Articles in the Constitution is not controlled by the various items in the list of Sch. VII. On the contrary, the scope and meaning of these various items is controlled by the various Articles of the Constitution. ILR (1952) Madh Bha 231 : AIR 1950 Madh B 46 (50) (Pt C) (Pr 10) (DB).

●——Arts. 245 and 19 (1) (f) and (g) — Validity of — Essential Supplies (Temporary Powers) Act (1946), S. 3 — (Essential Supplies (Temporary Powers) Act (1946), S. 5).

It cannot be said that the delegation which is made by S. 3 of the Essential Supplies (Temporary Powers) Act is bad, inasmuch as it constitutes an unreasonable restraint upon the freedom guaranteed by Art. 19 (1) (f) and (g) of the Constitution. AIR 1954 SC 465, Foll. State v. Haidarali, 1957 Jab LJ 658: 1957 MPC 473: 1957 MPLJ 549 : 1957 Cr LJ 1266 : AIR 1957 Madh Pra 179 (181) (Pt A) (Pr 4) (FB).

[Held Reversed on another point by Cri. Appeal 162 of 1957 D/-16-12-1959 in 1961 (1) Cri LJ 674 (MP).]

——Art. 245 — Duty of legislature to exercise, legislative powers within limits laid down by Constitution. See Madras Hindu Religious and Charitable Endowments Act (19 of 1951), S. 20. AIR 1952 Mad 613 (DB).

● —Art. 245 — Subject to the provisions of this Constitution. See Ibid, Art. 31. AIR 1955 NUC (Nag) 1341 (FB).

——Art. 245 — Power under to legislate is subject to provisions of Constitution — Hence Orissa Municipal Act and Rules thereunder making decision of election tribunal final are subject to Arts.

226 and 227. See Municipalities—Orissa Municipal Act (23 of 1950), S. 21. AIR 1952 Orissa 244 (DB).

●——Art. 245 — Legislatures — Powers of — Written Constitution.

Per Ray, C. J.:— No legislative authority that is subject to a written Constitution which it is bound to obey possesses sovereign powers to the fullest extent. No legislative authority can make laws that are not according to, and consistent with, the fundamental laws that have been prescribed for its Government by the people, who are superior to both the law-making and the Constitution themselves. Prahalad Jena v. State, ILR (1950) Cut 222: 51 Cri LJ 1189: AIR 1950 Ori 157 (166) (Pt H) (Pr 22) (FB).

——Art. 245 — Legislative powers of State — Limitation on.

Though generally the State Legislature has under Art. 245 plenary power to legislate with respect to any matter within its own ambit, its enactment must be incompetent and void if in exercising that power it directly affects any right guaranteed by Part III of the Constitution and transgresses the limitations within which the legislation is permissible under the provisions of that Part. ('51) 30 Pat 1085: AIR 1952 Pat 166 (172) (Pt F) (Pr 27) (DB).

●——Arts. 245, 246 and 301 and Sch. VII, List II, Entry 56 — Scope.

Article 245 is concerned with legislative power which is made subject to the other provisions of the Constitution. It is followed by Art. 246 which refers to the various lists defining the powers of the Parliament as well as the State Legislature and also providing for concurrent legislation, vide list III. It is obvious therefore, that legislative power conferred on Parliament as well as the State legislatures is subject to the provisions of the Constitution. Art. 301 is one such provision. Automobile Transport (Raj), Ltd. v. State, 1957 Raj LW 456: ILR (1957) 7 Raj 794: AIR 1958 Raj 114 (119) (Pt C) (Pr 20) (FB).

12. "Law", meaning of.

See also Ibid, Art. 13.

●——Art. 245 — Law — When becomes operative — Jaipur Opium Act (1923) — Validity.

Natural justice requires that before a law can become operative it must be promulgated or published. It must be broadcast in some reasonable way so that all men may know what it is. Promulgation or publication of some reasonable sort is essential.

In the absence of some specific law or custom to the contrary a mere resolution of a Council of Ministers in the Jaipur State without further proclamation or promulgation would not be sufficient to make a law operative.

Hence, Jaipur Opium Act which purported to be enacted by a Resolution of the Council of Ministers and was not published in the Gazette is not a law validly made. Harla v. The State of Rajasthan, 1952 Mad WN 67: 1952 Mad WN (Cri) 15: (1951) SCJ 735: 1952 Cr LJ 54: 65 Mad LW 2: 88 Cal LJ 265: 1952 SCR 110: AIR 1951 SC 467 (468, 469) (Pt B) (Prs 7, 13, 14).

——Art. 245 — Minimum Wages Act, S. 10 (2) — Notification under — Nature of — Notification whether law within meaning of Art. 13 (3) (a) of Constitution. See Minimum Wages Act (1948), S. 10 (2). AIR 1960 Bom 299.

——Art. 245 — Madras Prevention of Insults to National Honour Act (14 of 1957), S. 5 — Constitutional validity — Section is competent for State Legislature to enact under entry 1 of Lists 2 and 3 — Phrases "Public Order' and "Criminal Law" — Meaning — Section does not violate Art. 19 (1) (f) of Constitution. See Madras Prevention of Insults to National Honour Act (14 of 1957), S. 5. 1965 (1) Cri LJ 49: AIR 1965 Mad 11 (DB).

——Art. 245 — Law, meaning of — Departmental regulations.

The Rules in the Bihar and Orissa Education Code are merely departmental regulations which do not create any statutory or legally binding rights. AIR 1952 Orissa 259 (259) (Pr 1) (DB).

——Art. 245 — Law — Meaning of — Sathi Lands (Restoration) Act (34 of 1950), S. 2.

Law in its legislative sense is of much wider import than the juristic notion of law as the command of a sovereign or as a rule lying down a general course of conduct. The term "law" in Art. 245 must be construed so as to include in its scope all legislative Acts enacted in the prescribed manner and form. Sathi Lands (Restoration) Act was therefore, 'Law' in the strict sense and the declaration contained in it was not in the nature of a mere decree in respect of certain individuals' rights. 5 IA 178, Rel. on. AIR 1952 Pat 194 (195, 196) (Pt A) (Pr 8) (DB).

[Reversed on another point in AIR 1953 SC 215.]

——Art. 245 — Personal grant by ruler of Nabha as a sovereign — It is law — Grant repudiated by new Pepsu State — Repudiation is not act of State and is justiciable in municipal Courts — Act of State. AIR 1960 Punjab 644.

——Art. 245 — Law Firman of Maharana of Udaipur — Firman is declaration of the sovereign power and is law and binding on all. ILR (1962) 12 Raj 406: 1962 Raj LW 317: AIR 1962 Raj 196, (207) (Pt E) (Pr 47) (DB).

——Arts. 245, 226 — Sovereign authority — Powers of, as Chief executive, judicial and legislative authority — Order of Maharaja of Jaipur on 6th April, 1949, levying fine of Rs. 10,000 on jagirdar for illicit distillation — Order held illegal — (Government of Jaipur Act (1944), Ss. 28 and 42) — (Jaipur Excise Law (1924), S. 21).

In the former State of Jaipur, when His Highness the Maharaja passed on the 6th of April, 1949, an order imposing a fine of Rs. 10,000 on the applicant Jagirdar, for illicit distilling, the Jaipur Excise Law of 1924 was in force. According to S. 21 of that law any person, who manufactured any excisable article in contravention of the law, was liable to imprisonment for two years, or fine up to Rs. 2,000 or both. It was, therefore, open to the State to prosecute the applicant under S. 21 of the Jaipur Excise Law in a competent Court, and in that case the applicant would have been liable to punishment as provided by that section. Therefore, the order of the Maharaja, passed on 6th April, 1949, upon the recommendation of the authorities could not be justified under that law.

The order could not also be passed by the Maharaja as a Sovereign of the State, because the order had no force of law.

A sovereign has executive, legislative and judicial powers. Therefore, every order that a sovereign may pass does not necessarily have the force of law. It may be only an executive order or a judicial order.

Besides even a sovereign when it has made certain law, which will govern its actions, must act according to that law. When the order was passed there was the Government of Jaipur Act which prescribed how the sovereign authority would be exercised. S. 28 provided how laws would be passed with respect to excluded matters, and ■ cannot be said that the order of 6th April, 1949, was a law within the meaning of S. 28 of the Act.

The order could not also be considered to be one under S. 42 of the Act. Under this section Acts, Proclamations and Orders could be passed by His Highness without reference to the Legislative Council. The use of the Words 'without reference to the Legislative Council' clearly indicates that the Acts, Proclamations and Orders passed under it must be of a nature which required reference to the Legislative Council. If the Acts, Proclamations and Orders passed under S. 42 were not of that nature they could not be pssed under that section. The order of the 6th April, 1949, was not of the nature which required reference to the Legislative Council.

Nor could it be said that this order was in the exercise of the judicial powers of the sovereign, when there was a regular judicial system in the former State of Jaipur with the High Court at its head, and the Ruler did not reserve to himself any judicial powers, the High Court being the highest judicial authority in the State?

The order of 6th April, 1949, could not have the force of law. Simply because it was passed by the Ruler of Jaipur it could not be an order under the judicial powers of the sovereign.

If it was an executive order relating to a subject excluded under S. 27, Government of Jaipur Act, it might have been justified on the ground that it was the order of sovereign in relation to an excluded subject and had to be carried out. Had the order been for confiscation of part of the jagir, which was the excluded subject under S. 27 (e) of the Government of Jaipur Act, it might have been possible to justify it as an executive order with reference to an excluded subject but His Highness did not pass an order confiscating the jagir. What he did was to impose a fine of Rs. 10,000 on the applicant. There was no warrant for such an order being passed by His Highness the Maharaja of Jaipur in April, 1949, when the Government of Jaipur Act, 1944, was in force. The power to impose a fine for illicit distillation was only conferred under S. 21 of the Jaipur Excise Law, and such a fine could only be imposed by a Court of law and not by His Highness the Maharaja of Jaipur even though he was sovereign Ruler of Jaipur on that date.

The State of Rajasthan, therefore, cannot realize any part of this fine (after the Constitution) as the order imposing the fine was illegal when it was passed. 1954 Raj LW 543 : ILR (1954) 4 Raj 743 : AIR 1954 Raj 200 (203, 204) (Pt C) (Prs 13, 14, 15, 16 to 19) (DB).

13. Territorial extent of legislative power.
(a) Extra territorial laws.
(b) State legislature.
(c) Sufficient territorial nexus and taxation power of State.

13. Territorial extent of legislative power.

——Arts. 245, 246 — Extra-territorial operation. (Per Venkatarama Ayyar, J., in a dissenting Judgment).

The powers of Union and the State under Ss. 99 (1) and 100 of the Government of India Act, 1935, as also under Articles 245 (1) and 246 in respect of the matters mentioned in their respective lists have the same content and quality and if legislation with extra-territorial operation is within the competence of the Union it is equally within the competence of the State. The words "extra-territorial operation" are used in two different senses as connoting firstly, laws in respect of acts or events which take place inside the State but have operation outside, and secondly, laws with reference to the nationals of a State in respect of their acts outside; in its former sense, the laws are strictly speaking intra-territorial though loosely termed 'extra-territorial' and under Art. 245 (1) it is within the competence of the Parliament and of the State Legislature to enacts laws with extra-territorial operation in that sense. The words "laws with extra-territorial operation" in Art. 245 (2) must be understood in their strict sense as having reference to the laws of a State for their nationals in respect of acts done outside the State. Otherwise, the provision would be redundant as regards legislation by Parliament and inconsistent as regards laws enacted by States. Bengal Immunity Co. v. State of Bihar, (1955) 6 STC 446: (1955) 2 SCR 603: (1955) SCJ 672: 1955 SCA 1140: (1955) 2 MLJ (SC) 168 : 1955 Andhra WR (SC) 422 : AIR 1955 SC 661 (750, 751) (Pts ZC) (Prs 199, 200).

● ——Art. 245—Territorial extent of Act and locale of its effective operation. See U. P. Municipalities Acc (2 of 1916), S. 1 (2). AIR 1961 All 200 (FB).

● ——Art. 245 — Power of legislation — Central and Provincial Legislatures — Extra territorial powers of Legislation — Interpretation of statutes. See Government of India Act, S. 99. 1958 Cr LJ 161: AIR 1958 Bom 68 (FB).

——Art. 245 — Extra territorial jurisdiction — Suit under S. 92 C. P. Code — Some of properties and defendants outside jurisdiction — [C. P. Code (1908), S. 92].

All jurisdiction is in a sense territorial. No State by legislation can confer upon its Courts the authority to deal with the rights and obligations in respect of land not situated within its limits, nor against persons not residing, permanently or temporarily, within the realm. Though normally where the charity is a foreign charity, it is administered in a foreign country, and even the trustees are residing in a foreign country, the High Court would not be entitled to administer that charity or to give directions with regard to administration of that charity to persons who are not subject to its process the fact that some of the properties are within the jurisdiction confers jurisdiction upon the High Court to entertain the suit under S. 92, C. P. Code. Even if the High Court be incompetent to grant the reliefs, which interfere with the administration of the trust in the foreign countries such as framing a scheme, removal of trustees and appointment of new trustees and corresponding reliefs, the Court can at least protect the property within its jurisdiction for the benefit of the trust, and to that end pass all such consequential orders as may be necessary. 21 Ind. App. 171 (PC), AIR 1942 Bom 208, AIR 1944 PC 39, Rel. on. 56 Bom LR 955: AIR 1955 Bom 55 (59, 60, 61) (Pt E) (Prs 7, 8, 11, 12, 13).

——Art. 245 — Preventive Detention Act (1950), Ss. 5, 3A and 4 (a) and (b) (as amended by Act 4 of 1951) — Construction of S. 5 — See Public Safety — Preventive Detention Act (1950) (as amended by Act (4 of 1951), S. 5). AIR 1953 Cal 81.

——Arts. 245 and 246 .— Notification No. 5327 L. R. Zan, dated 10-5-1955 vesting the properties in the former State of Seraikella in the State of Bihar —— Validity ——Notification held was not outside jurisdiction of Bihar Legislature. See Tenancy Laws —— Bihar Land Reforms Act (30 of 1950), S. 3 (i). AIR 1963 Pat 475 (DB).

——Arts. 245 and 395 — Powers of Parliament —— Enactment of law imposing income-tax in Rajasthan in respect of income prior to 26th January, 1950 —— Instrument of Accession (Rajasthan) ——Government of India Act, S. 101.

The Parliament has no power to enact a law imposing income-tax in Rajasthan in respect of income prior to 26th January, 1950, when the Constitution of India was promulgated. By Art. 395 of the Constitution, the Government of India Act, 1935, was repealed and by Art. 245 (i) the power to make laws for the whole or any part of the territory of India from 26th January, 1950 was conferred on the Parliament. This, of course, included the power to make laws for the imposition of income-tax which is item 82 of List 1 but only from 26th January, 1950, onwards and not retrospectively. Under the provisions of S. 101, Government of India Act, the power to legislate was exercisable only in accordance with the Instrument of Accession and the limitations contained therein. The Instrument of Accession by the Rajpramukh of Rajasthan positively excluded the authority of the Dominion Legislature in the matter of legislation for the purpose of imposition of income-tax. In the circumstances, before 26th January, 1950, no law could be enacted making Rajasthan a "taxable territory" before 26th January, 1950. The previous operation of S. 101, Government of India Act, could not be affected by subsequent legislation by reason of S. 6 of the General Clauses Act which is made applicable for the interpretation of the Constitution by Art. 367 of the Constitution. ILR (1951) 1 Raj 96: 1951 RLW 56: (1951) 20 ITR 214: AIR 1951 Raj 94 (2) (103) (Pt G) (Pr 24) (DB).

[Reversed in AIR 1954 SC 158].

13 (a). Extra-territorial laws.

●——Art. 245 — Goods carried in State only for short distance —— Does not render tax invalid on ground of extra territoriality. See Assam Taxation (on Goods Carried by Road or on Inland Waterways) Act (10 of 1961), S. 3. AIR 1964 SC 925.

●——Art. 245 — Section 3 of Rajasthan Passengers and Goods Taxation Act, S. 3 (3) —— Not ultra vires on ground that it has extra territorial operation. See Rajasthan Passengers and Goods Taxation Act (XVIII of 1959), S. 3 (3). AIR 1961 SC 1480.

●——Art. 245 — Bihar Hindu Religious Trusts Act (1951) — Validity — Principle of territorial nexus. See Bihar Hindu Religious Trusts Act (1 of 1951), S. 3. AIR 1959 SC 1002.

●——Art. 245 — Extra-territorial operation. See Debt Laws — U. P. Encumbered Estates Act (25 of 1934), S. 14 (7). AIR 1959 SC 809.

●——Art. 245 — Powers of Ruler of former Indian State to enact extra-territorial laws.

The Rulers of the former Indian States had, prior to 1947, the authority to pass extra-territorial laws relating to offences committed by their own subjects and vesting in their own Courts the power to try them, except where the contrary is made out by evidence in the case of any individual State. Shiv Bahadur Singh v. State of V. P., (1953) SCJ 563: 1953 Cri LJ 1480: 1953 SCA 803: 1953 SCR 1188: AIR 1953 SC 394 (403) (Pt J) (Pr 21).

——Art. 245 — Scope of — Exclusion of claims of Saurashtra Government — Does not amount to extra-territorial operation of Act. See Tenancy Laws — Bombay Tenancy and Agricultural Lands Act (67 of 1948), S. 51. AIR 1957 Bom 155 (DB).

——Art. 245 (1) — Jurisdiction of State Government to detain person outside jurisdiction — Constitutionality — See Public Safety — Preventive Detention Art (1950) S. 5. ILR (1956) Bom 715.

——Arts. 245 (2), 246 and 248 and Sch. VII List I, Item 82 — Income-tax (Amendment) Act (33 of 1954), S. 2 — Income-tax Act (1922), S. 34 (1-A) to (1-D) — Constitutionality — Extra-territorial operation.

The Parliament was competent to enact the Income-tax (Amendment) Act (33 of 1954) which introduced sub-Ss. (1-A) to (1-D) in S. 34 of the Income-tax Act by virtue of Art. 246 read with Sch. VII, List I, Item 82 of the Constitution. The Act is not rendered invalid by any provisions of the Constitution and is a valid piece of legislation.

The Indian Income-tax (Amendment Act) (33 of 1954) has no extra-territorial operation. Even if that law had extra-territorial operation, by the express words of Art. 245 (2) of the Constitution, the law cannot be pronounced to be invalid on the ground that it would have extra-territorial operation. AIR 1958 Mad 220, Dissented from;AIR 1945 PC 62, Rel. on.

Art. 245 of the Constitution can in no sense be said to be a limitation on the legislative power of the Union of India to legislate with regard to such tax. The subject-matters with regard to which the Parliament can legislate are specified in Art. 246 of the Constitution read with the Union List and the Concurrent List. The tax is income-tax within the meaning of item 82 of the Union List and Parliament has power to legislate with respect to the tax. Parliament has also power to make the law under the residuary powers by Art. 248 of the Constitution. (1962) 44 ITR 315: 65 Cal WN 60: AIR 1960 Cal 619 (620, 621, 622) (Pt A) (Prs 5, 8, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18 19) (DB).

13 (b). State legislature.

●——Art. 245 — Extra territorial operation of State law — Qustion as to — Hyderabad Endowments Regulations (1940), Ss. 4, 12 — M. P. Public Trusts Act (30 of 1951), Ss. 2 (4), 4 — Religious public trusts — Public temple and some of its property situate in Hyderabad — Other income yielding properties situate in M. P. — Hyderabad Regulations will apply — Registration of trust under Act 30 of 1951 — Effect — Scope of S. 2 (4) of M. P. Act.

Where the trust is situate in a particular State, the law of that State will apply to the trust, even though any part of the trust property, whether large or small, is situate outside the State where the trust is situate.

Where a public temple is situate in Hyderabad in the State of Andhra Pradesh and there is also some property of the temple there though the major part of the income yielding endowed property is situate outside in the State of Madhya Pradesh, the Hyderabad Endowments Regulations will apply to the trust as the trust is situate in the State of Andhra Pradesh and the fact that some of the endowed properties are not in Andhra Pradesh would make no difference. Further,the fact that the trust has been registered under the Madhya Pradesh Public Trusts Act (30 of 1951), cannot exclude the operation of the Regulations in the case of this trust, for the trust is undoubtedly situate within the area where the Regulations are in force.

It is obvious that public trust as defined in S. 2 (4) of the Madhya Pradesh Act (30 of 1951), must be a public trust situate in the State of Madhya Pradesh. Even though S. 2 (4) does not say so in terms, the definition must be confined to public trusts situate in Madhya Pradesh. Therefore S. 2 (4) must be interpreted to apply only to public trusts situate in Madhya Pradesh. This conclusion is supported by S. 3. As the public trust in this case must be held to be situate in Andhra Pradesh and not in Madhya Pradesh where only some of the endowed trust properties are, the registration of the trust under the Madhya Pradesh Act cannot be a bar against the enforcement of the relevant provisions of the Hyderabad Regulations, because even if it may be necessary for the purpose of management of the property in Madhya Pradesh to register this trust also in Madhya Pradesh, that would not exclude the jurisdiction of the State of Andhra Pradesh, to legislate with respect to this trust which is undoubtedly situate in Andhra Pradesh, though some property of the trust is in Madhya Pradesh. AIR 1959 SC 1002, Foll. Anant Prasad Lakshminivas Ganeriwah v. State of Andhra Pradesh, (1964) 1 SCJ 615: (1964) 2 Mad LJ (SC) 1: (1964) 2 Andh WR (SC) 1: 1963 Supp (1) SCR 844: AIR 1963 SC 853 (858, 859) (Pt A) (Prs 10, 12).

●——Art. 245 — Extent of powers of State Legislature — Madras Marumakkathayam (Removal of Doubts) Act (32 of 1955) passed by Madras Legislature could not have any extra-territorial operation so as to affect properties in the quondam Cochin State. Kochuni v. States of Madras and Kerala. 1960 Ker LJ 1077: 1960 Ker LT (SC) 31: (1960) 2 SCA 412: (1961) 2 SCJ 443: (1960) 3 SCR 887: AIR 1960 SC 1080 (1085) (Pt A) (Pr 11)

●——Art. 245 — State legislation — Necessity of territorial nexus — Territorial nexus as to marriage and crime — Validity of S. 4 (b) of Bombay Act (25 of 1946). See Government of India Act (1935), S. 99. 1958 Cr LJ 161: AIR 1958 Bom 68 (FB).

●——Art. 245 — State Legislature — Competency.

It is not open under the Indian Constitution to a State to enforce social legislation outside its boundaries. If social legislation has to be enforced all over the country, then the proper method of doing it is to approach the Central Government to pass a law if the subject-matter is within the Concurrent List. The State v. Narayandas Mangilal Dayame. 59 Bom LR 901: 1958 Cr. LJ 161: ILR (1957) Bom 880: AIR 1958 Bom 68 (73) (Pt F) (Pr 9) (FB).

——Arts. 245 and 246 (3) — State legislation — Tests of validity.

The competence of the State Legislature arises by virtue of the provisions of Art. 245 and Art. 246 (3) of the Constitution. A State Legislature has the competence to make laws mentioned in the relevant Lists for the whole or any part of the State. There must also be a territorial nexus between the subject-matter and the State. If the Legislature legislates in respect of a topic mentioned in the relevant list and the legislation goes beyond the State, then it would not be competent legislation.

If these two tests are satisfied namely that the legislation is competent in the sense that it is covered by a topic mentioned in the relevant list and also it is not extra-territorial, then the third question to be considered is whether the Constitution has placed any restrictions upon the power of the Legislature to legislate on that particular topic.

In order to decide the legislative competence with regard to the impugned Act, the Courts must first look at the Act itself and consider what the scheme of the Act is and what is the subject-matter with which the Act is dealing. ILR (1955) Bom 680: 57 Bom LR 288: AIR 1956 Bom 1 (4) (Pt A) (Prs 3, 4) (DB).
[Reversed on another point in AIR 1957 SC 699.]

——Arts. 245, 345 — Limitation Act (1908), Art. 52 — Municipalities — U. P. Municipalities Act (2 of 1916), S. 326 (3) — Suit to recover price of goods sold to Municipality in Uttar Pradesh — Suit filed in Court beyond Uttar Pradesh — Special limitation prescribed in S. 326 (3) does not apply — Suit is governed by Art 52, Limitation Act — (Words and Phrases — "Action") — See Limitation Act 1908, Art. 52. AIR 1956 Cal 216.

——Arts. 245 and 254 — (Government of India Act (1915), S. 79) — Power of local Legislature to make law — Extent of its extra-territorial jurisdiction.

Under S. 79 of the Government of India Act, 1915, the local Legislature could make laws for the territories of its own Province. Where the field of legislation was occupied by any law made by an authority other than the local Legislature, it could legislate with regard to the occupied field only with the consent of the Governor-General in Council. Even with such assent, it could not however, repeal or alter such law as to other Provinces. The local Legislature could not also make any law with regard to the matters specified in sub-S. (3) of S. 79 without the assent of the Governor-General. Even with such assent, it could not legislate for territories outside that Province.

The local Legislature, whose powers were conditioned by S. 80-A of the Government of India Act, 1915, (as substituted for S. 79 in 1919) could not by an enactment affect rights in land outside the Province; nor could it pass laws restricting the jurisdiction of Courts of another Province; nor laws regulating the powers and procedure of Courts of another Province.

It cannot, however, be said that the laws of a local Legislature, cannot affect persons and properties outside the Province. For, the Courts, of this country very often have to recognise the extra-territorial consequences of a foreign law. ILR (1957) 3 Cal 113: AIR 1956 Cal 216 (217,218) (Pt B) (Prs 13, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20) (DB).

——Art. 245 — Special law prevailing in one State when becomes foreign law — (International Law).

For many purposes, the special laws prevailing in sub-divisions of a single political State of which the forum is a part is as much foreign law as the laws of a State under a foreign political sovereignty. ILR (1957) 3 Cal 113: AIR 1956 Cal 216 (219) (Pt E) (Pr 24) (DB).

●——Arts. 245 and 246 — Taxing law — Extent of operation of State Legislature.

An Act of a State Legislature cannot operate to any extent beyond the State's boundaries. For a State's power of taxation however vast in its character and searching in its extent, is confined to subjects which are within its jurisdiction and the tax laws of a State can have no extra-territorial operation. The law of a State relating to assessment of taxes may have a retrospective effect. Still it is necessarily limited to persons, property or business within the jurisdiction and further it is only such tax as could have been authorised originally that could be levied retrospectively. Ananthanarayanan Iyer v. Agricultural Income-tax and Sales Tax Officer. 1958 Ker LT 1144: 1958 Ker LJ 1286: ILR (1959) Ker 125: AIR 1959 Ker 182 (188) (Pt C) (Pr 16) (FB).

——Art. 245 — Scope — Madras Aliyasanthana Act (9 of 1949) — Validity of — Extra-territorial operation.

The Madras Aliyasanthana Act is to be construed as applying to land and properties situate within the Province of Madras and when so construed the Act is valid and operative to govern the title in respect of properties included in the suits for partition of Kutumba property. (1942) 5 FLJ (PC) 1: ILR (1956) Mad 785: AIR 1956 Mad 642 (651) (Pt G) (Pr 28) (DB).

——Art. 245 — Test of validity of Act — Act of Provincial legislature — One of the tests is to see whether its operation does not extend beyond the boundaries of the province. 36 Mys LJ 73 ILR (1957) Mys 423: AIR 1958 Mys 102 (106, 107, 108) (Pt B) (Prs 21, 22, 25, 27, 28) (DB).

——Art. 245 — Applicability of Bihar Hindu Religious Trusts Act to Baidyanath temple — State Legislature's competence to legislate for territories outside its jurisdiction. See Bihar Hindu Religious Trusts Act (1 of 1951), S. 29. AIR 1954 Pat 262 (DB).

[Reversed on another ground in AIR 1959 SC 1073.]

——Art. 245 — Extra-territorial jurisdiction — Powers of State Legislature. See Government of India Act (1919), S. 80-A. AIR 1954 Pat 164 (DB).

[Reversed on another point in AIR 1959 SC 809.]

——Art. 245 and Sch. 7, List 2, Entry 17 — Rule 33 of Sirhind Canal Rules — Validity.

"The Sirhind Canal Rules", including Rule 33, were adopted and enacted as law for the State by the State Legislature of Pepsu State. This was well within its powers under entry 17 of the State list. AIR 1956 Pepsu 40 (47) (Pt F) (Pr 26) (DB).

——Art. 245 — Punjab Passengers and Goods Taxation Act whether is within the legislative and territorial competence of the State notwithstanding the fact that it imposes fare or freight in respect of journey through territories which are outside the State of Punjab. See the Punjab Passengers and Goods Taxation Act (16 of 1952), Proviso to S. 3 (3). AIR 1954 Punj 364 (DB).

13 (c). Sufficient territorial nexus and taxation power of State.

■——Arts. 245 and 286 (2) — Territorial extent of legislative power — Theory of territorial connection or nexus — Applicability to sales tax legislation.

Per Majority (Bose, J., dissenting):— The theory of territorial connection or nexus should not be confined in its application only to income-tax legislation but would be equally applicable to sales-tax legislation.

The provisions of the Bihar Sales Tax Act (1947) limit its charging section to 'sale'. In order to attract the charging section there must be a completed sale involving the transfer of property in the goods sold from the seller to the buyer. The nexus theory only indicates the circumstance in which a tax imposed by an Act of the Legislature may be enforced in a particular case and unless eventually there is concluded sale in the sense of passing of the property in the goods no tax liability attaches under the Act. The argument that one and the same transaction of sale may be taxed by different States by applying the nexus theory has no force for Art. 286 (2) of the Constitution, as it stood originally, was a complete safeguard against such eventuality and after the amendment of that Article and the relevant entries in the Legislative List such contingency will not arise. Tata Iron and Steel Co., Ltd. v. State of Bihar. (1958) 9 STC 267: 1958 SCA 469: 1958 SCJ 818: 1959 BLJR 453: ILR 37 Pat 827: 1958 SCR 1355: AIR 1958 SC 452 (461, 462) (Pt B) (Prs 14, 15).

■——Art. 245 — Territorial extent of legislative power — Doctrine of territorial nexus — Principles — (Bombay Lotteries and Prize Competitions Control and Tax Act (54 of 1948)) — Validity of.

When there is territorial connection between the person sought to be charged and the State seeking to tax him the taxing statute may be upheld. Sufficiency of the territorial connection involves a consideration of two elements, namely, (a) the connection must be real and not illusory and (b) the liability sought to be imposed must be pertinent to that connection. The question whether in a given case there is sufficient territorial nexus is essentially one of fact.

Held, on facts that the standing invitations, the filling up of the forms and the payment of money for the newspaper "Sporting Star" take place within the State which is seeking to tax only the amount received by the petitioners from the State of Bombay. The tax is on gambling although collected from the promoters. All these constitute sufficient territorial nexus which entitles the State of Bombay to impose a tax on the gambling that taxes place within its boundaries and the law cannot be struck down on the ground of extra-territoriality. State of Bombay v. R. M. D. Chamarbaugwala, 1957 SCR 669: 1957 Mad WN (SC) 64: 35 Mys LJ 283: (1957) 2 MLJ (SC) 87: (1957) 2 Andh WR (SC) 87: (1957) SCJ 607: (1957) MLJ (Cr) 558: 59 Bom LR 945: 1957 SCA 867: AIR 1957 SC 699 (711, 712) (Pt E) (Pr 24).

■——Arts. 245, 246, 286 — Sales tax legislation operating on non-resident persons.

(Per Venkatarama Ayyer, J., in a dissenting Judgment:— A law enacted by the Indian Legislature in respect of the matters enumerated in the appropriate lists would be valid provided it is for the territory entrusted to their charge; whether it was so or not would depend on whether there was sufficient territorial connection between the person who is sought to be charged or proceeded against under the law and the country which enacts the law; and when such connection exists, the law is not strictly speaking extra-territorial, and it is not ultra vires on the ground that the person is not residing within the State which enacts the law. A sales tax legislation of a State which is otherwise valid is not ultra vires on the ground that the person proposed to be taxed is not resident within the territorial limits of the State. Case-law discussed. Bengal Immunity Co., Ltd. v. State of Bihar, (1955) 6 STC 446: (1955) 2 SCR 603: ILR 34 Pat 905: (1955) SCJ 672: 1955 SCA 1140: (1955) 2 MLJ (SC) 168: (1955) Andhra WR (SC) 422: AIR 1955 SC 661 (749) (Pt Za) (Pr 197).

■——Art. 245 — Theory of territorial nexus — Taxing Statutes having extra-territorial operation. See Travancore Cochin Agricultural Income-tax Act (22 of 1950) (as Amended by Act 8 of 1957), Section 3. AIR 1959 Ker 182 (FB).

——Arts. 245, 246, 286 — Development of sales tax law in India — State of law in pre-Constitution and post-Constitution periods— C. P. and Berar Sales Tax Act (21 of 1947), Section 2 (g), Expl. II — Sales Tax Laws Validation Act (1956).

In the Pre-Constitution period, the validity of a sales tax law was judged on the nexus theory, so that the State which had sufficient territorial nexus with the goods to be taxed could validly tax their sales by operating on one or more of its essential ingredients. 1961 MPLJ 804: 1961 Jab LJ 1011: 1961 MPC 582: AIR 1962 Madh Pra 229 (232) (Pt A) (Pr 22) (DB).

——Arts. 245 (1), 246, 286 (1) and Explanation and Sch. 7, List 2 Entries 92 and 54 — Power of State to tax intra-State and inter-State sales — Contract of sale concluded in another State — Goods delivered in Madras — Liability for taxation under Madras General Sales Tax Act — (Sales Tax — Madras General Sales Tax Act (9 of 1939), Ss. 3 and 22).

The power of a State to impose taxes is not conditioned on the subject-matter being wholly within its jurisdiction. The exercise of the power will be valid, if there is sufficient territorial connection with reference to the subject-matter. 1948 PC 118, Foll.

The effect of the Explanation to Art. 286 (1) is to remove the limitation imposed by Art. 245 and Art. 286 (1) on the power of a State to enact extra-territorial legislation and permit the State to levy sales tax on an extra-state sale, provided goods thereunder are delivered within the State. The Explanation should accordingly be construed as not taking away the positive powers of taxation conferred under Art. 246 and Entry No. 54 but as enlarging those powers in cases falling within the Explanation.

Under the Constitution, the States enjoy both a power under Entry 54 to tax sale and purchase of goods and a power under Entry 52 to tax goods on their entry into a local area, subject only to the limitation contained in Art. 286. There is no conflict between the power of States to tax sales under Entry 54 and the power to impose taxes on the use of goods to which the Explanation relates.

The words "actual delivery" in the Explanation to Art. 286 (1) can mean only physical delivery and not constructive delivery such as by transfer of documents of title to the goods. The whole object of the Explanation is to give a power of taxation in respect of goods actually entering the State for the purpose of use therein and it will defeat such a purpose if notional delivery of goods as by transfer of document of title to the goods within the State is held to give the State a power to tax, when the goods are actually delivered in another State.

The result may be thus summed up: (1) The State has plenary powers of taxation over intra-State sales. (2) The State has no power to impose a tax on extra-State sales. (3) In respect of inter-State sales, the State in which the contract is concluded is the only State which has the power to impose a tax. (4) Where goods are delivered for consumption in a particular State, that State has the power to impose a use tax or a purchase tax thereon notwithstnding that the transaction of sale is extra-State.

Thus where purchases are made in another State by a person living in Madras and the documents of title are received by post in Madras or the price is paid to the banks in Madras against delivery of documents of title and the contracts in respect of the sales are concluded in the former State, they will be extra-State sales not liable for taxation under the Madras General Sales Tax Act. If, however, the goods are actually delivered in Madras, that will confer on the State of Madras a power to tax the goods under the Explanation to Art. 286 (1) (a) which has become incorporated in the Madras General Sales Tax Act by the Adaptation of Laws (Fourth Amendment) Order, 1952. (1952) 2 MLJ 614: (1952) 3 STC 405: 65 Mad LW 1041: AIR 1953 Mad 116 (120, 126, 127 128) (Pt C) (Prs 9, 27, 29, 30, 31, 32) (DB).

——Art. 245 — Bihar Sales Tax Act (19 of 1947), Ss. 2 (c), 2 (g) and 4 — If invalid on ground of extra territorial operation. See Sales Tax —Bihar Sales Tax Act (19 of 1947), S. 2 (c). AIR 1955 Pat 87 (DB).

[Reversed on another point in AIR 1955 SC 661.]

14. Constitutionality of statutes.

(a) Proper approach in deciding question.

(b) Presumption and burden of proof.

(c) Law void in part.

(d) Who can question the constitutionality of a statute.

14. Constitutionality of statutes.

●——Art. 245 — Statutory rules — Amendment — Notification — Recitation of wrong source of power — Amendments not invalidated. See Indore Industrial Tax Rules (1927), R. 17. AIR 1964 SC 1329.

●——Art. 245 — Constitutionality of statute — Questions of public policy or motives of legislature — Relevancy.

In determining the constitutionality of a statute the Court is not concerned with the motives of the legislature and whatever justification some people may feel in their criticisms of the political wisdom of a particular legislative or executive action, the Supreme Court cannot be called upon to embark on an enquiry into public policy or investigate into questions of political wisdom or even to pronounce upon motives of the legislature in enacting a law which it is otherwise competent to make. Sarup Singh v. State of Punjab, 1959 Supp (2) SCR 499: (1960) 1 SCA 163: 1959 SCJ 1115: AIR 1959 SC 860 (864) (Pt A) (Pr 5).

●——Art. 245 — Ultra vires — Constitutionality of legislation — Duty of Court. See Ibid, Art. 13. AIR 1954 SC 119.

●——Art. 245 — Constitutional validity of statutes — It is always a question of power — Motive is not a relevant consideration. See Interpretation of Statutes. AIR 1953 SC 375.

——Art. 245 — Constitutional validity of statutes — Suppression of Immoral Traffic in Women and Girls Act of 1956 — Validity.

Hardship is no consideration while dealing with the constitutionality of an Act. Therefore, if the Suppression of Immoral Traffic in Women and Girls Act of 1956 is found to have been constitutionally passed and it is not also otherwise ultra vires, consideration of difficulty in rehabilitating the prostitutes in society or the fact that several causes had led to prostitution over which the girls carrying on prostitution had no control can be no ground for invalidating the Act. 1959 All Cr R 427: 1959 All WR (HC) 509: AIR 1959 All 57 (59) (Pt A) (Pr 2).

[Overruled on another point in AIR 1964 SC 416.]

——Art. 245 — Scope — 'Existing law' found to be beyond competence of legislature to make under Constitution — Whether saved by Art. 372. See Ibid, Art. 372. AIR 1958 All 126.

——Art. 245 — Power of Legislature to enact law contrary to principles of natural justice — Limitation — American Constitution and Indian Constitution—Distinction — Due process of law—Applicability, Art. 14.

If a certain procedure is prescribed by law then unless it contravenes the provisions of Art. 14, it cannot be challenged as invalid upon any supposed principles of natural justice. In this respect it departs from the American Constitution under which the Union and the State Legislature are forbidden to enact laws affecting the life, liberty or property of individuals except in accordance with the due process of law. Due process of law includes principles of natural justice. The doctrine of due process has not been adopted by the Indian Constitution save in certain cases where its principles have been expressly enacted in the Constitution. 1956 All WR (HC) 643: 1956 All LJ 878: AIR 1957 All 297 (301) (Pt C) (Prs 10, 11) (DB).

——Art. 245 — Interpretation of Constitution — Powers of High Court.

A Constitution must be so interpreted as to advance the very objects for which it is brought into existence and to ensure the harmonious working of the different organs of the State for the ultimate good of its citizens.

It is for the Courts to give effect to the provisions in the Constitution and not to do away with, or whittle down, the powers conferred by them by a process of construction. Of course, if the functionary concerned acts in excess of the powers conferred upon him, the High Courts will refuse to uphold his action but that is the limit of the function assigned by the Constitution to High Courts. 1956 All LJ 556: 1956 All WR (HC) 570: ILR (1956) 2 All 665: AIR 1956 All 557 (559, 562) (Pt E) (Prs 5, 36, 37) (DB).

——Art. 245 — Constitutionality of Act — Courts when can declare on.

It is not the function of any Court or Judge to declare void or annul a law the moment it has been promulgated; their function is only interpretative. In other words, when a particular case comes before them in which the right of any party is involved, they decide whether the Act or any part of it is to be disregarded on the ground of its incompatibility with the constitution. 1951 All LJ 246: ILR (1951) 2 All 505: AIR 1951 All 228 (231, 232, 233) (Pt C) (Prs 13, 23) (DB).

——Art. 245 — Powers of Court to question propriety or reasonableness of legislation — Province of Court in regard to legislation of sovereign and non-sovereign legislatures.

Desai, J.:— A Court has absolutely no jurisdiction over a sovereign Parliament. If it goes wrong, the remedy lies in the hands of the people. It is not for a Court to go into the question of reasonableness or propriety of any enactment of even a non-sovereign legislature. How to legislate is the sole concern of the legislature; a Court has nothing to do with the means with which the legislature hopes to secure its end. 52 Cri LJ 1191: ILR (1952) 2 All 360: AIR 1951 All 44 (48, 49, 50) (Pt B) (Pr 10).

——Art. 245 — Power of Court to reject an Act as ultra vires — Scope and limits.

Desai, J.:— No Indian Court has any power to reject an Act as ultra vires, though it was within the scope of the legislature, merely on the ground that it involved delegated legislation. The power of Court to reject an Act as ultra vires arises only out of the legislature's exceeding the authority given to it under the Constitution Act. Unless the Court can point its finger to a particular provision of the Constitution Act which is violated by the legislature through the enactment, it cannot rule out the enactment as ultra vires. ILR (1952) 2 All 360: 1952 Cri LJ 1191: AIR 1951 All 44 (54, 55) (Pt G) (Pr 17) (DB).

——Arts. 245 and 246 — Validity of Act questioned — Duty of Court.

When the validity of an Act is called in question, the first thing for the Court to do is to examine whether the Act is a law with respect to a topic assigned to the particular Legislature which enacted it. If it is, then the Court is next to consider whether, in the case of an Act passed by a Legislature of a State, its operation extends beyond the boundaries of the State. State laws cannot, in the absence of a territorial nexus, have any extra-territorial operation. If the impugned law satisfies both these tests, then finally the Court has to ascertain if there is anything in other part of the Constitution which places any fetter on the legislative powers of such Legislature. (1959) 1 Andh WR 285: ILR (1959) AP 648: AIR 1959 Andh Pra 398 (401) (Pt A) (Pr 14) (DB).

● ——Art. 245 — Constitutionality of an Act — Argument based on hardship — Not tenable.

The Courts are not concerned with any hardship that a piece of legislation may cause where it is obviously within the competence of the Legislature. They have no power to relieve hardship in such cases. The remedies for any real hardship lie elsewhere. H. P. Barua v. State of Assam, AIR 1955 Assam 249 (262) (Pt M) (Pr 30) (SB).

[Reversed on another point in AIR 1961 SC 232.]

——Art. 245 — Amendment by Industrial Disputes (Appellate Tribunal) Act (1950) — Amendment which is a complementary legislation cannot be challenged so long as it covers the appropriate field of legislation. See Industrial Disputes Act (1947), S. 15. AIR 1954 Assam 161 (DB).

——Art. 245 — Validity of Statutes — Duty of Court. See Bombay Prohibition Act (25 of 1949 as amended by Act 26 of 1952), S. 24-A. AIR 1958 Bombay 181.

——Arts. 245, 14, 19 (1) (f) — Bombay Tenancy and Agricultural Lands Act (67 of 1948), Ss. 7, 5, 6 and 6-A (as amended by Act 13 of 1956) — Validity — Whether S. 7 is inconsistent with Arts. 14 and 19 (1) (f) of the Constitution — Possible abuse of power by Government whether a ground for challenging its validity. See Tenancy Laws — Bombay Tenancy and Agricultural Lands Act (67 of 1948) as amended by Act (13 of 1956), Section 7. AIR 1957 Bom 252.

[Overruled on another point in AIR 1959 SC 459.]

——Art. 245 — Preamble and Art. 14. — Unconstitutionality of legislation. See Ibid, Preamble. AIR 1956 Bombay 368.

——Arts. 245, 19, 26 — Bombay Police Act (22 of 1951), S. 37 (3) — Validity — Is to be judged on the assumption that persons called upon to exercise the wide powers will exercise them honestly and bona fide — (Bombay Police Act (22 of 1951), Section 37 (3)). See Ibid, Art. 19. AIR 1956 Bombay 300.

——Art. 245, Preamble — Sch. VII, List II, Art. 34, List I, Entry 42 — Constitutionality of legislation — Presumption as to — Duty of Court — Construction of constitutional laws — Validity of Section 2 (1) (d) of Bombay Act, LIV of 1948 — (Bombay Lotteries and Prize Competitions Control and Tax Act (54 of 1948), S. 2 (1) (d)).

It is only if there are clear unequivocal words in the statute which go to show that the Legislature has overstepped its competence or has travelled outside the limitations laid down in the Constitution that the Court will pronounce a Legislation to be ultra vires. AIR 1952 Bom 16, Rel. on.

The Courts must, therefore, interpret and construe the prize competitions included in the first category of the definition in Section 2 (1) (d) of the Bombay Act 54 of 1948 as only those competitions, the success in which does not depend to a substantial degree upon the exercise of skill. In other words, the Courts must presume that the Legislature was legislating under the topic "gambling" and not under the topic "trade and commerce" and as such S. 2 (1) (d) is valid. 1959 Cri LJ 28: ILR (1955) Bom 680: 57 Bom LR 288: AIR 1956 Bom 1 (8, 9) (Pt E) (Prs 17, 18) (DB).

[Reversed on another point in AIR 1957 SC 699.]

——Art. 245 — Civil P. C. (1908), S. 100 — New point — Constitutional point. See Civil P. C. (1908), S. 100. AIR 1959 Cal 328.

——Art. 245 — Preamble — Unconstitutionality of legislation — Practice — (Civil P. C. (1908), Pre.) — (Interpretation of Statutes — Unconstitutionality). See Ibid, Preamble. AIR 1958 Cal 570.

——Art. 245 — Amending Act within Legislative powers — It is not justiciable — Effect should be given to it — (Interpretation of Statutes).

Where the amendment of an Act is within the legislative powers and has been made in accordance with the correct legislative procedure, the justice of such amendment or its integrity is not justiciable in a Court of law; and if the amendment is in form only declaratory or explanatory of the principal Act and retrospective by express enactment, effect must be given to it as if it was a part of the Act. ('56) 60 Cal WN 962.

——Art. 245 — Validity of legislation — Extent of power of Court. AIR 1955 NUC (Hyd) 5624 (DB).

——Art. 245 — Powers of Court — State Courts when should express opinion on question of Constitutional Law.

As a general rule, State Courts should desist from expressing any opinion on constitutional matters unless it is absolutely necessary for the decision of the case. Cooley in his Constitutional Limitations, Vol. I. Pages 333 and 339 has expressed the same view in the following words.

"In any case, where a constitutional question is raised, though it may be legitimately presented by the record, yet, if the record also presents some other and clear ground upon which the Court may rest its judgment, and thereby render the constitutional questions immaterial to the case, that course will be adopted and the question of constitutional power will be left for consideration until a case arises which cannot be disposed of without considering it, and when consequently a decision upon such question will be unavoidable." ILR (1952) Hyd 122: 1952 Cri LJ 1076: AIR 1952 Hyd 112 (117, 120) (Pt G) (Prs 9, 23) (DB).

●——Art. 245 — Constitution — Power of Courts to declare statute unconstitutional — Interpretation of Statutes.

The Court's duty is to enforce the provisions of the Constitution. If, therefore, a Court finds that a statute is in accordance with the Constitution, it must pronounce it valid. If the Court finds that it is in contravention of the Constitution or transgresses the authority vested in the Legislature, the Court must pronounce it a nullity. Laws may be unwise though constitutional. If a law is unconstitutional it is the duty of the Courts to declare it void. But if a law is unwise an appeal for its removal lies not to the Court but to the electorate in a democratic form of Government. Abdur Rahim v. J. A. Pinto, 52 Cri LJ 1333: ILR (1951) Hyd 1: AIR 1951 Hyd 11 (16) (Pt D) (Pr 35) (FB).

[Overruled on another point in AIR 1953 Hyd 33 (FB).]

●——Art. 245 — Constitutionality of an Act — Tests of — S. 19, J. and K. Preventive Detention Act — Validity — (Public Safety — J. and K. Preventive Detention Act (4 of 2011), S. 19).

No statute can be held invalid on the ground that it is opposed to the spirit of the Constitution. Whether an Act is ultra vires or not has to be seen with reference to the provisions of the Constitution alone and nothing else. It is a fundamental rule of Interpretation of Statutes that there should always be a leaning towards holding a statute as constitutional and intra vires. AIR 1951 All 476 (FB) and AIR 1950 SC 27, Rel. on.

Held, that Section 19 of the Preventive Detention Act cannot be said to be ultra vires of the Constitution on the ground that it is not in accordance with the spirit of the Constitution. Ghulam Ahmad v. State, 1954 Cri LJ 1811: AIR 1954 J and K 59 (62) (Pt C) (Pr 10) (FB).

——Art. 245 — Constitutional validity of statutes — Judicial review — Extent of — Rule framed under Act — If can be struck down on ground that it fixes short period of limitation. See Madras Plantation Agricultrural Income-tax Rules (1955), Rule 31, Proviso. AIR 1958 Ker 6.

——Art. 245 — Validity of Act — Absence of attack for some time — If bar to challenge later.

The fact that no one challenged the vires of an Act for the last two years, since it was enacted, will not preclude a person from challenging it on the ground that the law was beyond the competence of the State legislature to make under the Indian Constitution. 1958 Mad WN 161: ILR (1958) Mad 452: 1958 Mad LJ (Cri) 591: (1958) 2 Mad LJ 123: 1959 Cri LJ 731: AIR 1959 Mad 261 (264) (Pt A) (Pr 9) (DB).

——Art. 245 — Validity — Act derogating from the jurisdiction of the High Court — Consent of Judges not obtained before enacting the Act — Effect. See (Code of) Criminal Procedure (Madras Amendment) Act (Madras Act 34 of 1955). AIR 1959 Mad 261.

——Art. 245 — Legal fictions — Validity of — Power of legislature to legislate with such fictions added on — Transfer of suit to Revenue Court — Assumption of presentation of application under appropriate Act — Injunction issued by Civil Court — Effect. See Tenancy Laws — Madras Cultivating Tenants Protection Act (25 of 1955), (as amended by Madras Act (14 of 1956), S. 6-A. (1958) 1 Mad LJ 232.

——Art. 245 — Constitutional validity of statute. See Government of India Act (1935), S. 99. AIR 1956 Mad 642.

——Art. 245 — Scope— Madras General Sales Tax Act whether bad as offending Art. 14 or Art. 286 of the Constitution. See Sales Tax — Madras General Sales Tax Act (9 of 1939). AIR 1954 Mad 1030.

●——Art. 245 — Ultra vires — Civil P. C. 1908, Section 9.

Time alone will not validate an Act which when challenged is found to be ultra vires. Canadian Federation of Agriculture v. Attorney-General of Quebec, 1951 Mad WN 495 (PC).

——Art. 245 — Amendment converting into tax what is not really tax — Amendment held unconstitutional. See Sales Tax — Mysore Sales Tax Act (25 of 1957), S. 18 (3), (as amended in 1964). AIR 1965 Mys 120 (DB).

——Arts. 245 and 246 — Colourable legislation — Act within competence of legislature — Motive cannot be questioned.

If the State Legislature has competence, then the reason behind the law becomes irrelevant. If the Legislature enacts a measure which it has competence to do, it is not open to the Court to examine the motive behind the legislation. The vires of a legislation does not depend on the purpose behind the legislation. It depends on the competence of the concerned legislature to enact the Statute in question. AIR 1953 SC 375, Rel. on. AIR 1964 Mys 240 (242) (Pt A) (Pr 4) (DB).

——Art. 245 — Mysore Village Offices Abolition Act (14 of 1961) — Act does not contravene Constitution of India — Abolition of village offices, is within competence of State Legislature. See Mysore Village Offices Abolition Act (14 of 1961), Section 2 (1) (n). AIR 1964 Mys 84 (DB).

——Art. 245 — Constitutionality of Statute — Statute cannot be questioned on grounds of public policy. See Ibid, Preamble. AIR 1963 Mys 245.

——Art. 245 — Validity of Section 13, Finance Act, 1950 — Contravention of Agreement between the President and the Rajpramukh — Objection that it is constitutionally bad. See Finance Act (1950), S. 13. AIR 1955 Mys 49 (DB).

●——Art. 245 — Ultra vires.

An Act cannot be declared to be invalid merely because it may be feared that the Government may abuse it in future; nor are the Courts at liberty to declare an Act void, because it is in their opinion opposed to the spirit that is supposed to pervade the Constitution but not expressed in words. Abdul Khader v. State of Mysore, 52 Cri LJ 992: ILR (1951) Mys 284: AIR 1951 Mys 72 (85, 86) (Pt I) (Pr 40) (FB).

——Art. 245 — Power to declare an enactment void — Interpretation of statutes — Civil P. C. 1908, Pre.

A law passed by a competent Legislature should not be declared to be void except in a clear case. Every possible presumption regarding the validity of that law should be drawn until the contrary is shown beyond reasonable doubt. ILR (1951) Nag 552: 1952 Cri LJ 580: AIR 1951 Nag 43 (44, 45) (Pt B) (Pr 8) (DB).

●——Art. 245 — Constitutionality of an Act — Duty of Court — Validity of M. P. Act 13 of 1954 — (M. P. Appropriation (No. 2) Act (13 of 1954), Section 1).

It is the duty of the Courts to uphold the Constitution. If therefore, the very basis of a law contravenes any provision of the Constitution, the law itself will fall and it would be the duty of the Courts to declare that law unconstitutional.

Held, that the M. P. Appropriation (No. 2) Act, 1954, did not contravene any provision of the Constitution. Piarelal Singh v. State of M. P., ILR (1954) Nag 764: AIR 1955 Nag 11 (22) (Pt H) (Pr 43) (SB).

——Art. 245 — Constitutional validity of Statutes. See Representation of the People Act (1951), Section 126. 1957 Cri LJ 648: AIR 1957 Pat 252 (DB).

——Art. 245 — Statute invalid because of constitutional check — It can become valid if constitutional prohibition is removed. See Ibid, Art. 13. AIR 1957 Pat 44 (DB).

14 (a). Proper approach in deciding question.

●——Art. 245 — Constitutional validity of Statute — Determination of — Essentials.

In cases where the vires of statutory provisions are challenged on constitutional grounds, it is essential that the material facts should first be clarified and ascertained with a view to determine whether the impugned statutory provisions are attracted; if they are, the constitutional challenge to their validity must be examined and decided. State of Bihar v. Hardut Roy Moti Lall Jute Mills, ILR 39 Pat 303: (1960) 11 STC 17: 1960 SCJ 255: 1960 BLJR 171: (1960) 2 SCR 331: AIR 1960 SC 378 (380) (Pt A) (Pr 7).

●——Arts. 245, 246, 48 and Schedule VII, List II, Entry 15 — Statutes enacted under — Acts enacted for prevention of slaughter of cows and cattle — Constitutional validity of — Background against which question should be considered stated — (Bihar Preservation and Improvement of Animals Act (2 of 1956), Preamble — (U. P. Prevention of Cow Slaughter Act (1 of 1956), Preamble) — (C. P. and Berar Animal Preservation Act (52 of 1949), (as amended by M. P. Acts 23 of 1951 and 10 of 1956), Preamble). See Ibid, Art. 48. AIR 1958 SC 731.

●——Arts. 245 and 246 — Constitutional validity of statutes — Tests to be applied.

When the validity of an Act is called in question the first thing for the Court to do is to examine whether the Act is a law with respect to a topic assigned to the particular Legislature which enacted it. If it is, then the Court is next to consider whether its operation extends beyond the boundaries of the province or the State, as its laws cannot, in the absence of a territorial nexus, have any extra-territorial operation. If the impugned law satisfies both these tests, then finally the Court has to ascertain if there is anything in any other part of the Constitution which places any fetter on the legislative powers of such Legislature. State of Bombay v. R. M. D. Chamarbaugwala, 1957 Mad WN (SC) 64: 1957 SCR 874: 35 Mys LJ 283: (1957) 2 MLJ (SC) 87: (1957) 2 Andh WR (SC) 87: 1957 SCJ 607: (1957) MLJ (Cri) 558: 59 Bom LR 945: 1957 SCA 867: AIR 1957 SC 699 (705) (Pt A) (Para 14).

●——Art. 245 — Constitutionality of Act — Duty of Court.

The Court is only concerned to interpret the law, and if it is valid, to apply the law as it finds it and not to enter upon a discussion as to what the law should be. Purushottam Govindji v. B. M. Desai, (1955) 28 ITR 891: 1956 Cr LJ 129: 58 Bom LR 498: 1956 Andhra LT 1: 1956 SCJ 75: (1956) 1 Mad LJ (SC) 51: (1955) 2 SCR 887: 1956 SCA 465: AIR 1956 SC 20 (26) (Pt E) (Pr 16).

●——Art. 245, Preamble and Sch. VII, Lists — Constitutional enactment — Rules of interpretation of statutes apply — Construction of entry in list conferring legislative power — Widest possible construction according to ordinary meaning should be put — Reference to legislative practice may be admissible for cutting down meaning of word in order to reconcile two provisions of two legislative lists — (Government of India Act (1935), Sch. VII, Lists)— (Civil P. C. (1908), Preamble). See Interpretation of Statutes. AIR 1955 SC 58.

——Art. 245 and Preamble — Vires of Act or Notification — Determination of — General principles —(Civil P. C. (1908), Pre.) — (Interpretation of Statutes — Unconstitutionality). See Ibid, Pre. AIR 1959 All 218.

——Arts. 245 and 246 — Vires of Act — Considerations.

The Court has to judge the vires of the Act with reference to the applicability of the entries in the respective lists. If it does not fall within the ambit of the State list, it would be saved by the residuary entry and its validity would be unaffected notwithstanding that a State legislative measure contains a similar provision. ILR (1959) Andh Pra 1340 : 1960 Andh LT 22: (1960) 38 ITR 93 : (1960) 1 Andh WR 153 : AIR 1960 Andh Pra 115 (119, 120) (Pt C) (Pr 24) (DB).

——Art. 245 — Competency of Legislature to legislate.

A distinction must always be borne in mind between the competence of a legislature and the violation or contravention of fundamental rights. If legislation is not competent, no further question arises. If legislation is competent then the Court has got to consider whether it offends any of the provisions of the Constitution particularly Part III of the Constitution. Therefore, if in a case the legislation itself was incompetent, no question of considering Art. 31 or Art. 31-A would arise. ILR (1955) Bom 127 : 56 Bom LR 1062 : AIR 1955 Bom 28 (33) (Pt E) (Pr 10) (DB).

——Art. 245 — Constitutionality of an Act — Determination of.

In deciding whether any particular legislation is unconstitutional, it is necessary to examine with some strictness the substance of the legislation. AIR 1954 SC 119, Rel. on. ILR (1954) Hyd 640 : AIR 1955 Hyd 41 (42) (Pt A) (Pr 4) (DB).

——Arts. 245, 246 — Interpretation of legislative entries — Liberal construction — Doctrine of incidental and ancillary power — Scope of — When can be invoked.

The words describing the legislative powers should receive wide and liberal meaning. The enumerated powers must be effectively put in operation by legislation. The doctrine of incidental and ancillary power has necessarily to be invoked to prevent a statute becoming ineffective.

In a statute falling within the enumerated topic of legislation, provisions enacted to ensure and achieve the effectiveness of the Act should not be treated as alien to the subject matter of the legislation. The competency of the legislature to make such provisions cannot be tested as if they stand apart and are severable from the main enactment. A matter not otherwise within the enumerated powers may be legislated upon as an incident to the exercise of an enumerated power. What is 'incidental' in any given case depends upon the main legislation and the circumstances of the particular case. Matters of incidental powers are largely questions of degree, but in considering them, the Court must not lose sight of the fact that once the subject-matter is fairly within the province of the legislature, the justice and wisdom of the provision which it makes in the exercise of its powers over the subject-matter are matters entirely for the legislature and not for the judiciary. (1962) 13 STC 967 : AIR 1963 Mad 116 (118, 119) (Pt A) (Prs 6, 7, 7-a, 8) (DB).

[Overruled on another point in AIR 1965 SC 922.]

——Arts. 245 and 246 and Sch. VII — Constitutional validity of enactment — Proper method of approach.

The first thing to do, in determining the constitutional validity of an enactment in India, is to turn to Part XI and Schedule VII of the Constitution. Even where the attack on the validity of the enactment is based solely on Part III of the Constitution, a preliminary examination of the amplitude of the power of the concerned legislature to legislate on the subject and the purposes which such legislation might attempt to achieve which create the necessary atmosphere for a competent consideration of the question arising under Part III. C. N. Subramania Iyer v. N. Dharmalinga Padayachi, 1959 Mad WN 1 : ILR (1958) Mad 932 : (1959) 1 MLJ 1 : AIR 1958 Mad 608 (615) (Pt A) (Pr 24) (FB).

——Art. 245 — Procedure — Question relating to validity of statute. See Ibid, Art. 226. AIR 1956 Mad 387 (DB).

——Arts. 245 and 246 — Validity of Coorg Agricultural Income-tax Act — Tests — (Coorg Agricultural Income-tax Act (1 of 1951)).

When the validity of an Act is called in question the Court has to examine whether it passes three tests. The first is whether the Act is a law with respect to a topic assigned to the particular Legislature which enacted it. Next if the Act is one passed by a provincial Legislature, whether its operation extends beyond the boundaries of the Province. Lastly, it must be seen whether there is nothing in any other part of the Constitution which places any fetter on the legislative powers of such Legislature.

The Coorg Agricultural Income-Tax Act satisfies the second test. It also satisfies the first test because it is intra vires the Coorg Legislative Council. It is a legislation with respect to tax on agricultural income and the Coorg Legislature was competent to enact the law by reason of Entry 44 of Sch. II of the Coorg Devolution Rules read with Entry 10 of the same.

While the Coorg Legislative Council had, when it enacted the Agricultural Income-tax Act on 15th January, 1951, the competence to make laws relating to the subjects classified as provincial subjects, Article 246 of the Constitution placed no fetter on the otherwise plenary competence of the Coorg Legislative Council to legislate on those provincial subjects. Hence, the contention that the Act was ultra vires of the Coorg Legislative Council has to fail. 36 Mys LJ 73 : ILR (1957) Mys 423 : AIR 1958 Mysore 102 (106, 107, 108) (Pt B) (Prs 21, 22, 25, 27, 28) (DB).

——Art. 245 — Ultra vires — Validity of law has to be considered with reference to the provisions of Constitution and nothing else. ILR (1952) Nag 736 : 1953 Nag LJ 199 : AIR 1953 Nag 40 (51) (Pt N) (Pr 52) (DB).

——Art. 245 — "Subject to the provisions of this Constitution" — Constitutional validity of Statutes — General principles — Principle that Crown cannot derogate from its own grant — Applicability — (Tenancy Laws — Bihar Land Reforms Act (30 of 1950) — Constitutionality).

Held, on facts that it is well established that the Parliament or the State legislatures are not debarred from legislating so as to vary the effect or cancel the effect of a Crown grant in the absence of any express provision in the Constitution. The ultimate touchstone of constitutionality is the Constitution itself and not any general principle ouside it. AIR 1952 SC 252, Rel. on. 1957 BLJR 245 : AIR 1957 Pat 390 (393) (Pt B) (Pr 5) (DB).

——Art. 245 — Power given by constitutional instrument — If text is explicit, it is conclusive in what it directs and in what it forbids— Government of India Act (1935), S. 88.

When a right or power given by a constitutional instrument is challenged, the duty of the Court is to keep close to the words of the constitutional instrument, and see first whether the power is granted, and secondly, whether there is anything else which restricts the rights so granted. If the text is explicit, the text is conclusive, alike in what it directs and in what it forbids : 1912 App. Cas. 571, Rel. on. 51 Cri LJ 256: ILR 28 Pat 775 : AIR 1950 Pat 19 (23) (Pt C) (Pr 6) (DB).

——Art. 245 — Points to be enquired before deciding whether a tax has been lawfully imposed by a State.

In order to decide whether a tax has been lawfully imposed by a State, it is necessary to enquire—

(1) Whether it was enacted for the purposes of the State;

(2) whether the tax falls within the description of taxation set out in an entry of the State List;

(3) whether the person, property or business to be taxed is within or associated with the State, or in other words, whether there is a sufficient territorial connection between the object to be taxed and the taxing State; and

(4) whether there is anything in the Constitution or in any other law for the time being in force to indicate that the tax is not valid. ILR (1955) Punj 58 : (1955) 6 STC (Sup) 1 : AIR 1954 Punj 264 (267) (Pt C) (Pr 10) (DB).

14 (b). Presumption and burden of proof.

——Art. 245 and Preamble — Constitutionality of statutes — Onus — (Interpretation of Statutes—Constitutionality). See Ibid, Pre. AIR 1959 Andh Pra 292.

——Art. 245 and Preamble — Presumption is in favour of constitutionality of an enactment — Burden is upon him who attacks it. 55 Cal WN 433: AIR 1951 Cal 85 (89) (Pt D) (Pr 51).

[Reversed on another point in AIR 1954 SC 92.].

——Arts. 245 and 246 and Pre. — Presumption in favour of Legislature — Presumption in favour of constitutionality of enactment — Interpretation in favour of validity of an Act to be preferred.

There is a presumption in favour of the constitutionality of a statute and the burden is on the person who challenges it as unconstitutional to establish his case. Further where two interpretations are equally possible, the one which is in favour of the validity of an Act must be preferred. 1960 Cri LJ 223: AIR 1960 J and K 15 (18) (Pt D) (Pr 10) (DB).

——Art. 245 — Validity of J. and K. Act (42 of 1956) — Constitutionality — Burden of proof — Effect of S. 31 (3), J. and K. Constitution Act— S. 1 (2) of J. and K. Act (42 of 1956) not invalid. See J. and K. Criminal Procedure Code (Amendment) Act (62 of 1956), S. 1 (2). 1960 Cr LJ 62: AIR 1960 J and K 1(DB).

——Art. 245 — Validity of legislation — Presumption in favour of — Burden of proof.

The presumption is always in favour of the constitutionality of an enactment. This presumption being there, a heavy onus lies on those who challenge the constitutionality of the legislation. AIR 1951 SC 41, Rel. on. 1960 Jab LJ 698 : 1960 MPC 549 : 1960 Cr LJ 1614 : 1960 MPLJ 972 : AIR 1960 Madh Pra 389 (391) (Pt B) (Pr 16).

——Art. 245 — Constitutional validity of statute — Presumption of — Test of ultra vires character.

There is a presumption in favour of the legality of statute and the Court will not declare an Act unconstitutional or ultra vires unless the repugnancy to the Constitution is clear and beyond doubt. (1936) AC 578 (614) and AIR 1935 PC 158 (162), Rel. on. ILR (1956) Mad 785 : AIR 1956 Mad 642 (648) (Pt C) (Pr 18) (DB).

——Art. 245 — Unconstitutionality of legislation.

It is an accepted doctrine of constitutional law that every presumption must be made in favour of the constitutional validity of a statute and the onus would, therefore, be on the plaintiff to establish facts showing that the restrictions are unreasonable. 32 Pat 198 : AIR 1954 Pat 346 (345) (Pt G) (Pr 8) (DB).

——Art. 245 —Presumption as to constitutionality of enactment.

The presumption is always in favour of the constitutionality of an enactment, and the burden is upon him who attacks it to show that there has been a clear transgression of the constitutional principles. AIR 1953 Pat 65 (70) (Pt B) (Pr 8) (DB).

——Art. 245 — Constitutionality of Statute — Presumption — Burden of proof.

It is well settled that there is always a presumption with respect to the validity and constitutionality of a law and it is for those who attack its vires to establish their contention. ILR (1961) 1 Punj 283 : 62 Punj LR 916 : AIR 1961 Punj 24 (28) (Pt E) (Pr 14) (DB).

——Art. 245 — There is always a presumption of constitutionality in favour of a Statute. 1960 CIS (IJ) 8 : 62 Pun LR 241 : AIR 1960 Punj 523. (526) (Pt E) (Pr 11).

14 (c). Law void in part.

——Art. 245 — Doctrine of severability — Scope and extent — Rules for construction in applying doctrine summarised. R. M. D. Chamarbaugwala v. Union of India, (1957) 2 MLJ (SC) 76 : 1957 SCJ 593 : (1957) MLJ (Cri) 547 : (1957) 2 An WR 76 : AIR 1957 SC 628 (633) (Pt F) (Pr 12).

——Art. 245 — Ss. 4 and 6 of Prize Competition Act are severable — Assuming that S. 6 is arbitrary and unconstitutional, validity of S. 4 and the corresponding penal sections is not affected. See Ibid, Pre. 1964 (2) Cri LJ 632 : AIR 1964 All 572.

——Arts. 245 and 246 — Unconstitutionality of legislation — Principle of severability — Interpretation of statutes. See Ibid, Pre. AIR 1962 All 521 (DB).

——Art. 245 — Constitutionality of statute — Doctrine of severability — Part of law void — Effect. See Ibid, Art. 13. 1955 Cri LJ 623 : AIR 1955 All 193 (DB).

——Art. 245 — Ultra vires — Test of severability — Correct test of severability is to ascertain whether after the invalid portions of the statute in question are deleted a different law is created. Abdur Rahim v. Joseph A. Pinto, 52 Cri LJ 1333 : ILR (1951) Hyd 1 : AIR 1951 Hyd 11 (35, 36) (Pt H) (Pr 114) (FB).

[Overruled on another point in AIR 1953 Hyd 33 (FB).].

——Art. 245 — Validity of legislation — Part of Act defective — Effect of.

Defective character of a part of the statute would not, by itself, affect the validity of the rest of it. AIR 1955 Pepsu 129 (133) (Pt F) (Pr 24) (DB).

——Art. 245 — Validity — Whole statute not an invalid piece of legislation — Vice of excessive delegation from which S. 5 suffered originally has been effectively removed by Amending Act, 19 of 1952. See Sales Tax — East Punjab General Sales tax Act (46 of 1948) (as amended by Act 19 of 1952), S. 5. AIR 1963 Punj 549 (DB).

——Art. 245 — Punjab Passengers and Goods Taxation Act (16 of 1952) (as amended by Punjab Act (21 of 1952), Ss. 3, 4, 8, 9 and 10 — Act is not ultra vires — Sections 3, 4, 8 and 9 are valid — S. 10 is invalid. See Ibid, Art. 19 (1) (g). AIR 1955 NUC (Punj) 1887 (DB).

14 (d). Who can question the constitutionality of a statute.

——Arts. 245, 246 and 254 — Unconstitutionality of legislation — State cannot plead unconstitutionality of its own statutes before Courts. See Ibid, Preamble. 1962 (2) Cr LJ 33: AIR 1962 Cal 338 (DB).

——Art. 245 — Statute — Constitutionality —Who can question — Nagpur Improvement Trust Act (36 of 1936).

One who has claimed the benefit of a statute cannot afterwards assail its validity. Where certain persons allow the Collector to take possession of their property and feeling dissatisfied with the compensation awarded by him proceed under the provisions of the Nagpur Improvement Trust Act and appear before the Tribunal to have the compensation enhanced and succeed to a certain extent in having the compensation increased, they cannot afterwards question the validity of the Nagpur Improvement Trust Act: 124 US 581: 244 US 407, Rel. on. 1951 Nag LJ 463: ILR (1951) Nag 818: AIR 1951 Nag 90 (93, 94) (Pt F) (Pr 22) (DB).

——Art. 245 — Bihar Sales Tax Act (19 of 1959), S. 20-A — Validity — Dealer has no right to challenge its validity on ground of violation of Art. 19 (1) (f) of the Constitution — S. 20-A is valid and intra vires the State Legislature. See Ibid, Art. 19 (1) (f). 1965 BLJR 431: AIR 1966 Pat 54 (DB).

ARTICLE 246

SYNOPSIS

(Constitution of India, Art. 246.)

1. Scope.
2. Retrospective effect.
3. Limitation on legislative powers.
4. "Exclusive power".
5. Interpretation of legislative entries — General principles.
6. Interpretation of legislative entries—Conflict of jurisdictions.
7. Doctrine of pith and substance.
8. Doctrine of occupied field.
9. Colourable legislation.
10. Scope and extent of legislative powers.
See also Ibid, Art. 245.
(a) Legislative entries denote fields of legislation and not powers of legislation.
(b) Power to legislate retrospectively.
(c) Legislative competence of Parliament.
(d) Legislative competence of State Legislature.
(e) Concurrent List.
11. Constitutional validity of statutes — Test of.
See also Ibid, Art. 245.
12. Constitutionality of Acts — Illustrative cases.
See also Ibid, Art. 245.
13. Presumption of constitutionality.
14. Delegation of legislative functions.
See also Ibid, Art. 245.
15. Territorial limits of legislative power.
16. Extra-territorial operations.

1. Scope.

●——Art. 246 and Sch. 7, List I, Entry 94 and List III, Entry 45 — Scope —Inquiries for the purpose of any of the matters in Lists.

Entry 45 in List III, which is the Concurrent List, speaks, inter alia of 'inquiries . . . for the purpose of any of the matters in List II or List III'. Under Art. 246 read with this entry, Parliament as well as the Legislature of a State may make a law with respect to 'inquiries for the purpose of any of the matters in List II.' The law to be made by the appropriate Legislature with respect to the two legislative entries viz., List I, Entry 94 and List III, Entry 45 may cover inquiries into any aspect of the matters enumerated in any of the lists mentioned therein and is not confined to those matters as mere heads of legislative topic. The words 'for the purposes of' indicate that the scope of the inquiry is not necessarily limited to the particular or specific matters enumerated in any of the entries in the list concerned but may extend to inquiries into collateral matters which may be necessary for the purpose, legislative or otherwise of those particular matters. Therefore, the inquiry which may be set up by a law made under these two entries, is in its scope or ambit not limited to future legislative purposes only. 59 Bom LR 769, Reversed. Ram Krishna Dalmia v. Justice S. R. Tendolkar, 1959 SCJ 147: 1958 SCA 754: (1959) 1 An WR (SC) 67: (1959) 1 MLJ (SC) 67: 61 Bom LR 192: 1959 SCR 279: AIR 1958 SC 538 (544, 545) (Pt B) (Pr 6).

——Art. 246 — Scope — Arts. 245 and 246 deal with competence of various legislatures to make laws in future — Laws already made are not covered by provisions of Arts. 245 and 246. See Constitution of India, Art. 372. AIR 1958 All 126.

——Art. 246 —Scope of — Arts. 123, 246 and 248 — Effect of. See Administration of Evacuee Property (Chief Commissioners Provinces) Ordinance (12 of 1949). AIR 1957 All 561 (DB).

——Art. 246 — Object and scope — Article defines respective spheres of States and Union in matter of legislation — Intention is not that State Legislation should not be inconsistent with Constitution. AIR 1955 NUC (All) 2681.

——Arts. 246, 372 — Essential Supplies (Temporary Powers) Act (1946), Section 1—Validity of Act — Transfer of Central subject to State list — Effect — Art. 246 which distributes legislative powers between Parliament and State legislature, has nothing to do with laws already made and if those laws are not contrary to any provisions of the Constitution. 1951 All LJ 441: 1951 All WR (HC) 638: 1951 All Cri R 163: 52 Cri LJ 1474: AIR 1951 All 816 (817) (Pt A) (Pr 7) (DB).

——Art. 246— Scope and effect — Validity of Police Act (1861). See Police Act (1861), S. 1. AIR 1958 Cal 365.

●——Art. 246 — Scope — Ordinance promulgated by authority competent at the time — Subsequent distribution of power — Authority losing competency as a result — Validity of Ordinance — If affected — Art. 246 is irrelevant to validity of such laws. See Jammu and Kashmir Constitution Act, SM 1996 (1949), S. 5. 1958 Cr LJ 885: AIR 1958 J and K 29 (FB).

——Arts. 246, 245 and 277 — (Sales Tax — Travancore-Cochin General Sales Tax Act (1125), Pre.) — "Continued to be levied" — Levy of sales tax in respect of works contract.

In view of specific provision of Art. 277 such a tax can continue to be levied after the commencement of Constitution irrespective of partition of legislative power effected by Art. 246 and entries in three lists of Seventh Schedule. 1957 Ker LJ 380: (1957) 8 STC 347: 1957 Ker LJ 349: ILR (1957) Ker 462: AIR 1957 Ker 146 (150) (Pt C) (Prs 13, 15) (DB).

[Overruled in AIR 1958 SC 560.]

——Arts. 246 and 372 — Scope — Indore Stamp Act Adaptation Act — Validity — (Indore Stamp Act Adaptation Act (5 of 1950, S. 1).)

Per Dixit, J.:— Art. 246 deals with the power of Parliament and the State Legislature to enact laws after 26th January, 1950. It has nothing to do with the operation of laws already enacted. That is dealt with by Art. 372. Under that Article and the Explanation I to it, Act No. V of 1950 which received the assent of the Rajpramukh on 24th November, 1949, but became operative from 29th January, 1950, is a law continuing in force after the commencement of the Constitution. The Act in its applicability to bills of exchange is not, therefore, ultra vires, the State Legislature because of Art. 246. ILR (1956) Madh Bha 339: Madh BLR 1956 (Civil) 597: 1956 Madh BLJ 740: AIR 1956 Madh B 177 (178) (Pt A) (Pr 2) (DB).

2. Retrospective effect.

——Art. 246 — Retrospective effect — Hyderabad Jagir (Commutation) Regulation (25 of 1359-F), S. 4 (1) (c), (2)— Validity — (Hyderabad (Abolition of Jagirs) Regulation (69 of 1359-F), S. 6 (4) — Validity).

The Constitution cannot be interpreted retrospectively, and any enactment inconsistent with its provisions is not void in the sense that it never existed. Art. 246 of the Constitution should be similarly construed. The two Hyderabad Regulations 25 and 69 of 1359-F having been passed before the inauguration of the Constitution, any decision on the unconstitutionality of their provisions, which is given after 26th January, 1950, should guard against the Constitution of India being given retrospective effect. Case-law relied on. ILR (1954) Hyd 783: AIR 1954 Hyd 227 (228, 229, 232, 233) (Pt B) (Prs 2, 18, 20) (DB).

● ——Art. 246 — Scope whether retrospective.

Arts. 245 and 246 restrict the State legislature's competence to legislate, but they are clearly prospective in their application and do not affect what was done before they came into force. They need not, therefore, be referred to while considering the validity of a State Legislation made before the passing of the Constitution. See Ibid, Art. 245. 52 Cri LJ 1140: AIR 1951 Nag 58 (FB).

——Arts. 246, 245 and 372 — Retrospective effect. See Ibid, Art. 245. 1957 Cri LJ 540: AIR 1957 Punj 91.

3. Limitation on legislative powers.

● ——Arts. 246, 14, 19 and 304 (b) — Legislative power of Legislature — Taxing statute — Limitation and restriction imposed on Legislature to enact limitation prescribed by Arts. 14 and 19 and reasonableness prescribed by Art. 304 (b) can be considered by Court.

Taxing statutes are not beyond the pale of the constitutional limitations prescribed by Arts. 19 and 14 of the Constitution and the test of reasonableness prescribed by Art. 304 (b) is justiciable. The quantum of tax levied by the taxing statute, the conditions subject to which it is levied, the manner in which it is sought to be recovered, are all matters within the competence of the Legislature, and in dealing with the contention raised by a citizen that the taxing statute contravenes Art. 19 Court would naturally be circumspect and cautious. Where for instance it appears that the taxing statute is plainly discriminatory, or provides no procedural machinery for assessment and levy of the tax or, that it is confiscatory, Courts would be justified in striking down the impugned statute as unconstitutional. In such cases, the character of the material provisions of the impugned statute is such that the Court would feel justified in taking the view that, in substance, the taxing statute is a cloak adopted by the Legislature for achieving its confiscatory purposes. Rai Ramkrishna v. State of Bihar. (1964) 1 SCA 413: ILR 42 Pat 796: (1964) 1 SCR 897: (1964) 2 SCJ 749: (1963) 50 ITR 171: AIR 1963 SC 1667(1673) (Pt E) (Pr 12).

● ——Art. 246—Scope—Sch. 7, List 1, Entry 54 and List II, Entry 23 — Legislative power of State —If subject to List I, Entry 54 — Declaration of Parliament — Effect of.

The jurisdiction of the State Legislature under List II, Entry 23 is subject to the limitation imposed by the latter part of that Entry. If a Central Act has been passed which contains a declaration by Parliament as required by Entry 54, and if the said declaration covers the field occupied by the impugned Act the impugned Act would be ultra vires, not because of any repugnance between the two statutes but because the State Legislature had no jurisdiction to pass the law. The limitation imposed by the latter part of Entry 23 is a limitation on the legislative competence of the State Legislature itself. The relevant provisions of the Constitution are prospective and unless a declaration is made by Parliament after the Constitution came into force, it will not satisfy the requirements of Entry 54. Hingir-Rampur Coal Co., Ltd. v. State of Orissa, (1961) 2 SCR 537: (1961) 1 SCA 210: AIR 1961 SC 459 (469, 470, 472) (Pt C) (Prs 23, 33).

● ——Art. 246 — 'Void in Art. 13 (1)', meaning of — Effect of declaration of voidness of statute — Declaration of unconstitutionality brought about by lack of legislative power, effect of — Authority conferred by Arts. 245 & 246 to make laws subjectwise in different legislatures is qualified by declaration made in Art. 13 (2) — That power can only be exercised subject to prohibition contained in Art. 13 (2). See Ibid, Art. 13 (1). 1955 Cri LJ 215: AIR 1955 SC 123.

● ——Art. 246 — Nizam's Powers — (President's Removal of Difficulties Order, 212-A (2)).

After the Constitution came into force and prior to the setting up of a duly constituted legislature in the Hyderabad State, the legislative authority undoubtedly vested in Nizam — Nizam as Rajpramukh had under the Constitution, Art. 385 and President's Removal of Difficulties Order 212-A (2) power to legislate but in conformity with Art. 246 and the lists and fundamental rights. Ameerunnissa Begum v. Mahboob Begum. ILR (1953) Hyd 98: 1953 SCR 404: 1953 SCA 565: 1953 SCJ 61: AIR 1953 SC 91 (93) (Pt A) (Pr 9).

● ——Art. 246 — Legislative power of Parliament how far limited. See Ibid, Art. 245 (1). 51 Cri LJ 1383: AIR 1950 SC 27.

● ——Arts. 246 and 265—Constitutional limitations — Retrospective validation taxing laws — Constitutionality — State Act imposing cess, under the U. P. Sugarcane Cess (Validation) Act (Central Act IV of 1961), declared void ab initio by Supreme Court on ground of incompetency of State Legislature — Power of Parliament to enact retrospective validation taxing laws — Parliament passing Act merely declaring action taken under State law as valid, without furnishing authority of law required for it— Act invalid on ground of incompetency. AIR 1965 All 420 (423 to 425, 428, 429, 432) (Pt B) (Prs 9 to 14, 16 to 19, 32 to 38, 43, 45) (FB).

● ——Arts. 246, 245 — Limitations on legislative powers — Competency to enact confiscatory or expropriatory legislation — (Punjab Consolidation of Land Proceedings (Validation) Act (6 of 1954), Ss. 3 and 4). See Ibid, Art. 245. AIR 1959 Punj 8 (FB).

[Overruled on another point in AIR 1959 SC 519.]

● ——Art. 246 — Scope of — Legislative power conferred on Parliament as well as the State legislature is subject to provisions of Constitution — To say that State legislature had power to pass a legislation under entry 56 of list II does not mean that it can pass any law under the entry ignoring other provisions of Constitution. Automobile Transport Rajasthan Ltd. v. State of Rajasthan, ILR (1957) 7 Raj 794: 1957 Raj LW 456: AIR 1958 Raj 114 (119) (Pt C) (Pr 20) (FB).

4. "Exclusive power".

——Art. 246 — 'With respect to' — Meaning.

The expression "with respect to" is of wide import and any legislation can be made so long as it is with respect to the subject-matter of a particular entry (provided of course it is not inconsistent with the other provisions of the Constitution). 1952 All LJ 52: AIR 1952 All 88 (89) (Pt B) (Pr 4) (DB).

——Art. 246, Sch. 7 — "Fees' and 'Tax" — Legislative competence — Residuary power with regard to taxation is in Union — Levy of tax as ancillary or incidental to subjects specified in the lists in Sch. 7. See Ibid, Art. 265. AIR 1959 Andh Pra 398 (DB).

——Art. 246 — Legislative competency of Military Governor of Hyderabad to make Regulation. See Hyderabad Sales of Motor Spirit Taxation Regulation (24 of 1358-F), S. 1. AIR 1959 Andh Pra 225 (DB).

——Art. 246 — Adjustment of boundaries between Foreign States — Limitations to the exercise of executive power — Sanction of Parliament — Exclusive power of Parliament. See Ibid, Art. 226. AIR 1959 Cal 506.

——Art. 246 and Sch. 7, List 2 and Entry 18 — Power to legislate with respect to transfer of agricultural land — Does not include power to levy tax in respect of such transfer. AIR 1958 SC 468, Rel. on. (1962) 45 ITR 66: 1961 Ker LT 859: ILR (1961) 2 Ker 528: 1961 Ker LJ 1324: AIR 1962 Ker 97 (102, 103) (Pt B) (Prs 27, 28, 29) (DB).

——Arts. 246 (4) and 254 — Scope — Part C State Law — Repugnancy with Central law — Effect—State Act void. See Ibid, Art. 240. AIR 1961 Madh Pra 216 (DB).

——Arts. 246, 245 — Interpretation of legislative entries — Liberal construction — Doctrine of incidental and ancillary power — Scope of — When can be invoked. See Ibid, Art. 245. AIR 1963 Mad 116.

[Overruled on another point in AIR 1964 SC 922.]

——Art. 246 — State Legislature — Duties and powers of.

If the State Legislature has power to enact a certain piece of legislation, it need not move the Centre and the Parliament to pass it. 1959 Cri LJ 731: 1958 Mad WN 161: ILR (1958) Mad 452: 1958 Mad LJ (Cri) 591: (1958) 2 Mad LJ 123: AIR 1959 Mad 261 (267) (Pt D) (Pr 16) (DB).

——Art. 246 — Doctrine of implied powers — Ancillary and subsidiary matters.

None of the items in Lists in Sch. VII is to be read in a narrow or restricted sense; each general word should be held to extend all ancillary and subsidiary matters which can fairly and reasonably be said to be comprehended in it. AIR 1941 FC 16 Foll. ILR (1956) Mad 785: AIR 1956 Mad 642 (649) (Pt D) (Pr 19) (DB).

● ——Arts. 246 and 261 and Sch. 7, List 2, Entry 3, List 3, Entries 12 and 13 — Foreign judgments — (Civil Procedure Code (1908), S. 13).

It is open to a State Legislature to define "foreign judgments" and how they are to be enforced within its State subject to any legislation by the Parliament. Article 261 (2) empowers only the Parliament to determine the manner in which judicial proceedings whether of the Union or of a State are to be proved and are to be made effective while entries 12 and 13 of the Concurrent List give similar power to the States. Gaurilal Gurdev Das v. Jugal Kishore Sharma, ILR (1958)Punj 1211: 61 Punj LR 418: AIR 1959 Punj 265 (268, 269, 270) (Pt B) (Prs 11, 14) (FB).

——Arts. 246 (3) and 304 (b) Proviso — Scope—Validity of S. 3, T. C. Public Safety Measures Act—(T. C. Public Safety Measures Act (5 of 1950), S. 3) — T. C. Paddy (Acquisition and Movement) Control Order, (1950).

Tested in the light of its pith and substance or its true nature and character the subjects dealt with under S. 3, Public Safety Measures Act do not come under item 42 of List 1 or under item 33 of List 3 of Schedule VII but they really come under items 26 and 27 of List II which is the State List. It follows therefore that under Cl. 3 of Art. 246 of the Constitution the Legislature of the State was competent to enact the impugned section.

But merely because the subjects dealt with are those within the exclusive jurisdiction of the State Legislature, it cannot be said that proviso to Cl. (b) of Art. 304 is inapplicable to any legislation relating to such subjects. Art. 246 cannot be taken to exhaustively deal with all the limitations on the powers of Parliament and the State Legislatures in matter of enacting laws in relation to the subjects enumerated in the Lists assigned to the respective Legislatures.

Apparently the provisions of cl. (b) of Art. 304 might appear to be in conflict with the exclusive power conferred on the State Legislature under Cl. (3) of Art. 246. But really there is no conflict or repugnancy between the provisions contained in Cl. (3) of Art. 246 and Cl. (b) of Art. 304. The exclusive power conferred by Cl. (3) of Art. 246 is not taken away by the Proviso to Cl. (b) of Art. 304.

Exclusive power is not the same as absolute power. The expression 'exclusive power' has been used in Cl. (3) of Art. 246 in contradistinction with similar exclusive powers conferred on Parliament in respect of matters enumerated in the Union List and also the power which the Parliament or the State Legislature may exercise in respect of matters enumerated in the Concurrent List. The Proviso to Cl. (b) of Art. 304 has only specified the manner in which the exclusive power of legislation conferred on the State Legislature under Cl. (3) of Art. 246 should be exercised. Art. 304 merely supplements, qualifies and controls the power conferred by Cl. (3) of Art. 246. These two Articles have to be read and construed together for the purpose of determining the validity of the impugned section of Public Safety Measures Act, 1950 (5 of 1950).

Since at no stage of the enactment of the measure the sanction of the President as contemplated by the Proviso to Cl. (b) of Art. 304 had been obtained and since the Proviso to Cl. (b) of Art. 304, since it was only subsequent to the moving of a bill for the enactment of a measure like the one contained in S. 3 of the Public Measures Act, 1950 without the previous sanction of the President, Section 3 of the Public Safety Measures Act, 1950 (Act V of 1950) has to be declared illegal and void. The mere fact that the bill relating to the Act was originally introduced on a date prior to the date of the Constitution will not save the Act so far as S. 3 is concerned from the operation of the Proviso to Cl. (b) of Art. 304, since it was only subsequent to the coming into force of the Constitution that the bill in its final form as redrafted by the Select Committee was introduced and moved in the State Legislature.

Consequently the Paddy (Acquisition and Movement) Control Order, 1950, having been issued by the State in exercise of the powers derived from S. 3 of the Public Safety Measures Act, 1950, is also devoid of legal sanction behind it and is void. 1954 Cr LJ 63: 1953 Ker LT 735: ILR (1953) Trav.-Co. 1073: AIR 1954 Trav.-Co. 34 (37, 38) (Pt B) (Prs 4, 6) (DB).

5. Interpretation of legislative entries —General principles.

● —— Art. 246 — Interpretation of entries in legislative lists — Principles should be construed in widest amplitude. See Assam Local Self-Government Act (25 of 1953), S. 62. AIR 1965 SC 1561.

● ——Art. 246 — Interpretation of legislative entries. See Wealth Tax Act (1957), S. 3. AIR 1965 SC 1387.

● ——Arts. 246, 265, Sch. 7 (general) — Interpretation of Entries in Sch. 7 — Rules as to — Should be widely construed — Power to levy tax — Includes all subsidiary powers — Interpretation of Statute.

Entries in the three Lists in the Seventh Schedule which confer legislative competence on the respective Legislatures to deal with the topics covered by them must receive the widest possible interpretation; and so it would be unreasonable to read in the Entry any limitation.

It is also well settled that when a power is conferred on the Legislature to levy a tax, that power itself must be widely construed; it must include the power to impose a tax and select the articles or commodities for the exercise of such power; it must likewise include the power to fix the rate and prescribe the machinery for the recovery of the tax. This power also gives jurisdiction to the legislature to make such provisions as in its opinion, would be necessary to prevent the evasion of the tax. In imposing taxes, the legislature can also appoint authorities for collecting taxes and may prescribe the procedure for determining the amount of taxes payable by any individual; all these provisions are subsidiary to the main power to levy a tax. However, all this is subject to the condition that even tax statutes have to satisfy the test of reasonableness prescribed by Cl. (6) of Art. 19 and the fundamental right of equality before law guaranteed by Art. 14 as well as the test prescribed by Art. 301. Khyerbari Tea Co. Ltd., v. State of Assam, (1964) 5 SCR 975: (1964) 2 SCA 319: AIR 1964 SC 925 (935) (Pt M) (Pr 19).

● ——Arts. 246, 245 and Pre. — Interpretation of Constitution — Legislative entry — General words of wide amplitude — Narrow construction out of place — Interpretation of statutes. See Ibid, Preamble. AIR 1962 SC 1563.

● ——Art. 246 and Sch. VII — Interpretation of legislative entries.

In the interpretation of the scope of items in the legislative lists in Sch. VII the widest possible amplitude must be given to the words used and each general word must be held to extend to ancillary or subsidiary matters which can fairly be said to be comprehended in it. Chaturbhai M. Patel v. Union of India, 1960 SCJ 224: 1960 All LJ 262: (1960) 1 SCA 425: (1960) 2 SCR 362: AIR 1960 SC 424 (428, 429) (Pt C) (Pr 11).

● ——Art. 246 — Legislative Lists — Interpretation of. See Interpretation of Statutes. AIR 1959 SC 459.

● ——Art. 246 — Legislation by State to implement directive principles — Legislation cannot override fundamental rights — Principle of harmonious construction to be followed. See Ibid, Art. 13, Part III. AIR 1958 SC 956.

● ——Art. 246 — Interpretation of legislative entries. See Government of India Act (1935), Sch. 5, List 2, Entry 48. AIR 1958 SC 560.

● ——Art. 246 and Sch. VII — Entries in lists — Interpretation of.

The entries in the lists of the Sch. VII to the Constitution are heads of legislation which are to be interpreted in a liberal manner comprising within their scope all matters incidental thereto. They are not mutually exclusive. Commissioner of I. T. West Bengal, Calcutta v. Benoy Kumar Sahas Roy, (1957) 32 ITR 466: (1957) SCJ 740: (1957) 2 MLJ (SC) 145: (1957) 2 An. WR (SC) 145: 1958 SCR 101: AIR 1957 SC 767 (772) (Pt A) (Pr 9).

● ——Art. 246 — Entries in Lists of Sch. 7 do not impose implied restrictions on legislative powers.

(Per Patanjali Sastri C. J.): — The entries in the lists of the Seventh Schedule are designed to define and delimit the respective areas of legislative competence of the Union and State Legislatures, and such context is hardly appropriate for the imposition of implied restriction on the exercise of legislative powers, which are ordinarily matters for positive enactment in the body of the Constitution.

The entries in the lists are merely legislative heads and are of an enabling character. Duty to exercise legislative power and in a particular manner cannot be read into a mere head of legislation. State of Bihar v. Kameshwar Singh, ILR 31 Pat 565: 1953 SCA 53: 1952 SCR 889: 65 Mad LW 527: 1952 SCJ 354: 1952 SCJ 427: 1952 SCJ 442: AIR 1952 SC 252 (264, 272) (Pt O) (Prs 13, 43).

● ——Art. 246 — Government of India Act (1935), S. 100 — Principles governing interpretation of Legislative Lists — None of the items in each List is to be read in a narrow or restricted sense. If there is conflict between an entry in list 2 and an entry in list 1, an attempt should be made to see whether the two entries cannot be reconciled so as to avoid a conflict of jurisdiction. State of Bombay v. F. N. Balsara, 1951 SCJ 478: (1951) 2 Mad LJ 141: 53 Bom LR 982: 1951 SCR 682: 52 Cri LJ 1361: AIR 1951 SC 318 (322) (Pt B) (Pr 7).

——Art. 246 — Interpretation of legislative entries.

The perusal of the various entries in the several lists shows that they start with words of general conception followed by terms with meanings which are comprehended in the general terms. The additional words do not in any way restrict the scope of the general terms but clarify the range and the object of legislation contemplated as comprised in the opening words. Each word in an entry or each entry in list should not be so read as excluding or reducing the content of the other especially when they confer powers on the same Legislature. The words in an entry may overlap but that does not mean that they exclude the other.

In construing words in a constitutional enactment vesting legislative power, a very liberal construction would be put upon them so that they may have effect in their widest amplitude. A Constitution should not be construed in a narrow or a pedantic sense. (1959) 1 Andh WR 347: 1959 Andh LT 419: ILR (1959) Andh Pra 34: AIR 1959 Andh Pra 461 (463, 464) (Pt B) (Prs 7, 13) (DB).

——Art. 246 and Sch. VII Lists — Interpretation.

The Lists in Sch. VII enumerated broad categories and the entries in the list are to be given large and liberal interpretation. The items in the lists are not to be interpreted in a narrow and pedantic sense. They are to be given meaning of widest amplitude. every general word should be held to extend to all ancillary and subsidiary matters which fairly and reasonably can be said to be comprehended in it. (1961) 41 ITR 80: AIR 1960 Assam 76 (83) (Pt C) (Pr 12) (DB).

● ——Art. 246 and Sch. 7 — Interpretation of lists — Principles.

In interpreting the legislative lists a broad and comprehensive interpretation is to be given and the lists are not to be interpreted in pedantic and narrow sense. There are overlappings also in the lists.

None of the items in the lists is to be read in a narrow or restricted sense, and each general word should be held to extend to all ancillary or subsidiary matters which can fairly and reasonably be said to be comprehended in it. AIR 1941 FC 16 and AIR 1959 SC 544, Rel. on. Ajoy Kumar Mukherjee v. Local Board of Barpeta. AIR 1959 Assam 221 (224, 225) (Pt B) (Prs 5, 6) (SB).

——Art. 246, and Sch. 7, List 1, Entries 43, 44, 85, List 2; Entry 32 and List 3, Entries 10, 28, 7 — Interpretation of — Bombay Public Trusts Act (29 of 1950), Ss. 2 (13) and 18 (1) — Act is intra vires of State Legislature — Society registered under Societies Registration Act (1860) — Not a corporation or quasi-corporation but an unincorporated society contemplated by List 2, Entry 32 — Can be registered under Section 18 (1), Bombay Public Trusts Act even if its objects are not confined to State of Maharashtra. See Bombay Public Trusts Act (29 of 1950), S. 2 (13). AIR 1962 Bom 12.

——Art. 246 and Sch. 7, List — Interpretation of — Principles governing.

The principles governing the interpretation of the entries in the three lists in the Seventh Schedule of the Constitution are as follows:

(1) In construing words in a constitutional enactment conferring legislative power the most liberal construction should be put upon them. This principle would equally apply to the construction of the items in the three lists. (2) Where under the Constitution there are two complementary powers each expressed in precise and definite terms, there is no justification for giving a broader interpretation to one power rather than to the other. (3) An attempt must always be made to reconcile two different legislative powers so as to avoid a conflict. (4) When the validity of a legislation is challenged on the ground that though purporting to deal with a subject in one list it touches also on a subject in another list, the impugned statute may be examined in the light of the rule evolved by the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council to ascertain its 'pith and substance' or its 'true nature and character' for the purpose of determining whether it is legislation with respect to matters in this list or in that list. ILR (1961) Bom 281: 63 Bom LR 379: AIR 1962 Bom 12 (15, 16) (Pt A) (Pr 6).

——Art. 246, Sch. 7, Lists — Construction of entries in — Principles of — (Constitution of India, Pre.) — (Interpretation of Statutes — Constitution).

It is a well settled principle of construction of various entries in the Seventh Schedule to the Constitution that as far as possible an attempt must be made to reconcile entries in the Union List, the State List and the Concurrent List and that the Court must avoid attributing to the Constituent Assembly an intention of bringing about a conflict between the powers of the State Legislatures and Parliament. ILR (1954) Bom 544: 56 Bom LR 105: AIR 1954 Bom 254 (255) (Pt A) (Pr 6) (DB).

——Arts. 246, 254, Sch. 7, List I, Entry 52; List 2; Entries 24, 25, List 3 Entry 42 — Oriental Gas Company Act (15 of 1960) — Validity — If conflicts with Union Act 65 of 1951.

The meaning of an entry in the legislative list is to be ascertained with reference to the context in which it has been used. Entry 25, 'Gas and Gas Works' in List 2 should not have any meaning which conflicts with 'Industries' in List 1, Entry 52 and List 2 Entry 24. The two entries should be harmonised to avoid any construction which will render any entry nugatory or ineffective. AIR 1947 FC 1, Rel. on. The taking over of Oriental Gas Co., under State Act 15 of 1960 is within the field of 'requisition' under Entry 42 in List 3. It is within the field of legislation under Entry 'Gas and Gas Works' in Entry 25, List 2, also because it is requisition of Oriental Gas Co., which is an undertaking of gas works for the supply of gas. The Parliament Act of 1951 and the State Act of 1960 do not come into any conflict. Even if it be assumed that the impugned legislation be one which incidentally trenches on any production aspect, it will be sufficiently justified and valid by reason of the pith and substance doctrine that the legislation is in true character and purpose with regard to gas and gas works and the trenching, if any, is merely ancillary. Even if there was any repugnancy between the two Acts under Art. 254 of the Constitution the enactment having received the assent of the President is a valid legislation. AIR 1956 SC 676 and (1883) 9 AC 117 and (1880) 7 AC 96 and 1930 AC 111 and (1949) 2 Mad LJ 80: AIR 1949 PC 190, Rel. on. 65 Cal WN 545: AIR 1961 Cal 267 (278, 279, 280) (Pt C) (Prs 27, 29, 32, 34).

[Reversed on another point in AIR 1962 SC 1044.]

——Art. 246 and Pre — Interpretation of Constitution — Legislative lists — Entries in—Literal construction. See Ibid, Preamble. AIR 1959 Cal 222.

——Art. 246 — Interpretation of Statutes — Legislative list. See Interpretation of statutes. AIR 1956 Hyd 79.

——Art. 246 and Sch. 7 — Legislative Lists — Interpretation of — Principles.

One of the principles of interpretation of legislative lists in the Constitution is that none of the entries in the lists is to be read in a narrow or restricted sense and that each general word should be held to extend to all ancillary or subsidiary matters which can fairly and reasonably be comprehended in it. The entries in the Lists in constitutional enactments should be given their fullest and widest effect and should not be interpreted in a narrow or pedantic sense. The power to legislate on gentral subjects extends to ancillary matters also. The resort to residuary power should be the very last refuge and it is only when all the categories in the three Lists are absolutely exhausted, that one can think of falling back upon a non-descript. 1961 Ker LT 859: (1962) 45 ITR 66: ILR (1961) 2 Ker 528: 1961 Ker LJ 1324: AIR 1962 Ker 97 (100) (Pt A) (Prs 14, 15) (DB).

●——Art. 246 — Legislative entries — Interpretation of — General principles.

The items in a legislative list in a Constitution should be read and understood in the full sense of the terms used so as to give them the widest scope permissible by the context in which these terms have been used. Such general words should be held to extend to all ancillary or subsidiary matters which can fairly and reasonably be said to be comprehended in it. The entries in the Seventh Schedule set up a machinery of Government and are not mere acts of a legislature subordinate to the Constitution. AIR 1941 FC 16 and AIR 1955 SC 367, Rel. on. Kochupennu Kochikka v. Kochikka Kunjipennu, ILR (1960) Ker 734: 1961 Ker LT 275: AIR 1961 Ker 226 (228, 229, 230) (Pt C) (Pr 4) (FB).

——Art. 246, Schedule 7 List 2, Entry 54 — Madras General Sales Tax Act (9 of 1939), Sections 2 (g) and 2 (n) (as amended by Act 1 of 1959) — Validity — Incorporated club providing refreshments to its members — Held, there is no sale — Assessment to sales tax on turnover relating to refreshments supplied by club to its members is invalid.

While interpreting the provisions of entries in our Constitution, reference can be made to the corresponding entry in the Government of India Act, 1935. AIR 1954 SC 459 and AIR 1933 PC 16, Rel. on.

Entry 54 in List 2 of the Seventh Schedule to the Constitution authorises a State Legislature to impose a tax either on the sale or on the purchase of goods. That would show that no tax can be imposed unless there has been a transaction of sale, namely, a transfer of property in the goods from one person to another for a price. There is no constitutional restriction as to the levy of sales tax even on casual sales but it is essential that the legislation should impose tax only on sales and not on other transactions.

In reality distribution by a club to its members of goods will not be a sale within the meaning of the Madras General Sales Tax Act, but it is deemed to be such by virtue of the operation of the word 'deemed' in the Explanations of Section 2 (g) and S. 2 (n) of the Act. If the effect of the deeming provision in the Explanations were to bring to tax, transactions which are not sales, the provision will be invalid as beyond the powers of the State Legislature.

So long as no outsider has an interest in an incorporated club which runs only for its members, there is an identity of interest between the club and the members. The club may be a juristic entity capable of holding property. But when it purchases articles for the consumption of its members and supplies the same to them against payment, no element of sale is involved in the transaction. The distinction between an unincorporated members' club and an incorporated one is that in the former case the distribution made by the club to one of its members is a release by all the members in favour of a joint owner who takes the goods. In the case of an incorporated club which exists only for the purpose of providing amenities to its members, the supply of articles by it to a member will tantamount to delivery by an agent or trustee to the principal or beneficiary. In such a case also there will be no transfer of ownership by a person absolutely entitled to the property to the one who acquires title to the property on such transfer.

The Cosmopolitan Club, Madras, is a social recreation club, started originally, as an unincorporated association. Long afterwards in the year 1934, it was registered under Section 26 of the Companies Act as a non-profit earning institution. Its object as disclosed in the Memorandum of Association is mainly to promote and facilitate social intercourse, discussions amongst its members, etc. The Club maintains an establishment for preparing and supplying to its members refreshments. The preparations are made within its precincts at the direction of a Committee, and they are supplied to the members at a price fixed by the Committee. When, therefore, the refreshments are distributed to individual members against payment, the club will be only discharging its duty to the members as their mandatory agent. In such a case there can be no element of transfer of ownership by one absolute owner to another person. There can be no sale of the goods so as to attract the provisions of the Sale of Goods Act. The circumstance that a small margin of profit results occasionally in such a transaction can only be regarded as incidental to the transaction, as it is not always possible to fix the price of refreshments with exactitude. That cannot obviously convert the transaction into one of sale. It follows that the club cannot be regarded as a dealer, nor can the supply of refreshments to its members be regarded as a sale within the meaning of the Madras General Sales Tax Act. The assessment to sales tax on the turnover relating to refreshments supplied by the Club to its members is therefore invalid. AIR 1958 SC 560; AIR 1954 Mad 1130; AIR 1953 SC 274; AIR 1953 Ori 23: AIR 1954 SC 459; (1882) 8 QBD 373; 1915 (1) KB 172; (1900) 82 LT 352; 1940 (1) KB 576 & AIR 1954 Mad 1144, Rel. on; 1948 AC 405, Disting. AIR 1952 Mad 814, Approved. 76 Mad LW 704: (1963) 14 STC 1030: 1964 Mad WN 56: AIR 1964 Mad 63 (67 to 70 and 72 to 76) (Pt D) (Prs 9, 10, 15, 16, 20, 39, 45, 51) (DB).

——Art. 246 — Legislative lists, entries in — Construction — Liberal construction should be put upon words used. AIR 1961 Mad 146.

●——Art. 246 and Sch 7 — Legislative lists — Interpretation.

Words used in the Seventh Schedule should be construed in their widest sense as denoting only subject-matter of legislation. C. N. Subramania Iyer v. N. Dharmalingha Padayachi, ILR (1958)

Mad 932: 1959 Mad WN 1: (1959) 1 MLJ 1: AIR 1958 Mad 608 (615) (Pt B) (Pr 24) (FB).

——Arts. 246. 245, Sch. 7, List 2, Entry 54 — Tax on sale of goods — Sales — Interpretation of — Principle of constitutional interpretation—(Sales Tax — Madras General Sales Tax Act (9 of 1939), S. 2 (h), Expln. (1)). See Ibid, Sch. 7, List 2, Entry 54. AIR 1958 Mad 561.

[Reversed on another point in AIR 1965 SC 1082.]

——Arts. 246, 245 and Pre — Legislative lists — Entries in — Scope of — Rules of construction stated — Interpretation of statutes. See Ibid, Preamble. AIR 1962 Mys 269 (DB).

——Arts. 246, 245 and Pre — Entries in legislative lists relating to power of taxation — Some recognised rules of construction stated. See Ibid, Preamble. AIR 1962 Mys 269 (DB).

——Art. 246 — Interpretation of legislative entries — General principles.

In interpreting an entry in a list conferring legislative powers, that construction which has most beneficial amplitude must be adopted. AIR 1941 FC 16; AIR 1955 SC 58; AIR 1955 SC 367 and AIR 1957 SC 768, Rel. on. 36 Mys LJ 73: ILR (1957) Mys 423: AIR 1958 Mys 102 (107) (Pt C) (Pr 24) (DB).

——Art. 246, Sch. 7, List 2, Items 3 and 66 — Mysore Court-fees (Amendment) Act (IX of 1954) — Validity — (Interpretation of Statutes).

The Mysore Legislature was fully competent under List 2, Item 3 of Sch. 7 to pass the Mysore Court-fees (Amendment) Act, 1954, by which it raised court-fees in respect of certain matters including a petition for a writ.

Item 66, List 2, Sch. 7 cannot be construed as taking away the right given in Item 3 of the same List. Such construction is obviously unreasonable as Item 66 would then have to be treated as destructive of Item 3 and such construction leading to "absurdity" is not permissible and is opposed to the well recognized principles of Interpretation of Statutes.

'Fees' in Item 66 could only mean fees other than court-fees as the latter has already been expressly provided for in Item 3. 34 Mys LJ 178: ILR (1954) Mys 255: AIR 1954 Mys 161 (162) (Pt C) (Pr 3) (DB).

——Arts. 246, 245 and Sch. 7, Lists — Entries in Lists to be liberally interpreted so as to include ancillary matters. (1964) 9 Fac LR 362: (1965) 1 Lab LJ 656: ILR (1964) 2 Punj 767: AIR 1964 Punj 513 (514) (Pt B) (Pr 6) (DB).

●——Art. 246 (1) and Sch. 7, Lists — Interpretation of Legislative lists — Principles.

Entries in Legislative Lists are given a broad and comprehensive interpretation. In construing the words in a constitutional enactment conferring legislative power the most liberal construction should be put upon the words so that the same may have effect in their widest amplitude. AIR 1955 SC 58, Rel. on. Moreover, the various entries in the Lists are not powers of legislation but fields of legislation. AIR 1952 All 88, Rel. on.

The words "with respect to" occurring in Section 100 sub-section (1), of the Government of India Act, 1935, and also in Art. 246 (1) of the Constitution are of wide import as they simply mean "with reference to" or "with regard to." Thus, the legislative field is extensive and the items of legislation include not merely the main purposes but also all ancillary and subsidiary matters which can fairly, and reasonably be said to fall within the scope of a particular entry. AIR 1941 FC 16, Rel. on. Punjab Distilling Industries, Ltd., Khasa v. Commissioner of Income-tax, Simla, (1963) 48 ITR 288 : ILR (1962) 2 Punj 170 : 64 Punj LR 504: AIR 1962 Punj 337 (342) (Pt C) (Pr 9) (FB).

——Arts. 246, 245, Pre — Legislative list—Items in —Interpretation. See Ibid, Preamble. AIR 1960 Punj 669.

●——Art. 246, Sch. 7 — Rule of construction.

The wording of the various items in the seventh Schedule must not be construed too strictly. The items in the List are not to be read in a narrow or restricted sense. AIR 1941 FC 16, Rel. on. Bhagirath Ramchand v. State of Punjab, 56 Punj LR 1: AIR 1954 Punj 167 (171) (Pt F) (Pr 13) (FB).

——Art. 246 and Schedule 7 — Interpretation of Lists — (C. P. Code (1908), Pre.).

Allocation of subjects in the three lists is not on basis of scientific definition but is by way of simple enumeration of broad categories and hence the entries in the lists should be given a large and liberal interpretation. In interpreting the Constitution wide meaning must be given to words which confer power on any Legislature, to legislate on certain topics and within the ambit of the words, so as to give the most sovereign power to the Legislature. AIR 1939 FC 1, Foll. 1953 Cri LJ 1786: 1953 Ker LT 482: AIR 1953 Trav-Co. 540 (540, 541) (Pt B) (Pr 4).

6. Interpretation of legislative entries—Conflict of jurisdictions.

●——Art. 246 — Words in legislative entries must receive wide interpretation. See Income-tax Act (1922), S. 2 (6-A) (e). AIR 1965 SC 1375.

●——Art. 246 — Land cess — Nature of tax — It is tax on lands within entry 49 and not tax on mineral rights within entry 50 of State list in the Constitution — Sections 78 and 79, do not stand repealed after passing of Central Act (53 of 1948), or Central Act (67 of 1957)—There is no question of overlapping between the two. See Madras District Boards Act (14 of 1920), Section 78. AIR 1965 SC 177.

●——Art. 246, Sch. 7, List 1, Entry 66 and List 2 Entry 11 — Admission to Medical and Engineering colleges — State Government has power to prescribe machinery and criteria for admission.

Subba Rao, J. (Delivering the majority judgment)— An order issued by the State Government appointing selection committees for admissions to the Medicial and Engineering colleges in the State and directing the committees to add to the marks secured by the candidates at P. U. C. examination the marks awarded by them for the interviews and to prepare a fresh order of merit on the basis of the total marks so arrived at does neither encroach on the field covered by Entry 66 of List 1, nor contravene the provisions of the Mysore University Act and hence cannot be struck down as invalid.

The State Government has power to prescribe a machinery and also the criteria for admission of qualified students to Medical and Engineering colleges run by the Government and with the consent of the management of the Government aided colleges, to the said colleges also.

If the law made by the State by virtue of Entry 11 of List 2 of the Seventh Schedule to the Constitution makes impossible or difficult the exercise of the legislative power of the Parliament under the entry "co-ordination and determination of standards in institutions for higher education or research and scientific and technical institutions" reserved to the Union, the State law may be bad. This cannot obviously be decided on speculative and hypothetical reasoning. If the impact of the State law providing for such standards on Entry 66 of List 1 is so heavy or devastating as to wipe out or appreciably abridge the Central field, it may be struck down. But that is a question of fact to be ascertained in each case. It is not disputed that the State Government would be within its rights to prescribe qualifications for admission to colleges so long as its action does not contravene any other law. AIR 1963 SC 703, Rel. on.

It is true that under Section 23 of the Mysore University Act, 1956, the Academic Council shall have the power to prescribe the conditions for admission of students to the University and, in exercise of its power, it has prescribed, percentage of marks which a student shall obtain for getting admission in medical or engineering colleges. But the orders of the Government do not contravene the minimum qualifications prescribed by the University. Once it is conceded, that the State Government can run medical and engineering Colleges, it cannot be denied the power to admit such qualified students as pass the reasonable tests laid down by it. This is a power which every private owner of a College will have, and the Government which runs its own Colleges cannot be denied that power. Hence the order cannot be said to contravene the provisions of Section 23 of the Mysore University Act also.

Mudholkar, J. (Contra)— Where any law of the State legislature seeks to vary academic standards for admission to institutions of the kind referred to in Entry 66 of List 1 its action has a direct bearing upon that entry and the power in that regard is excluded from the purview of Entry 11 of List 2. It will be for the Court to consider in each case whether what is being sought to be done by a State legislature will have a direct impact upon Entry 66 of List 1. By requiring the selection committee to add to the marks secured by the candidates at the P. U. C. examination the marks awarded by the selection committee for the interviews and prepare a fresh order of merit on the basis of the total number of marks so arrived at, the State would be quite clearly interfering with the standards for admission laid down by the University. Where the question of co-ordination and determination of standards in certain institutions like a medical college is concerned the power is vested in Parliament and even though the Parliament may not have exercised that power the State Legislature cannot step in and provide for the determination and co-ordination of standards. It is not only where the State law makes it impossible or difficult for Parliament to exercise its legislative power under Entry 66 that the State law would be bad but the validity of the State law would depend upon whether it prejudicially affects the co-ordination and determination of standards and if it does so that is enough to invalidate the legislation.

Thus where a law in pith and substance is one which will directly affect Parliament's power to co-ordinate and determine standards in the institutions comprised in Entry 66 of List 1 it will be directly in conflict with it and the extent or force of such conflict will make no difference. Further as the competent legislature had conferred the power of prescribing the conditions for admission of students to the University on the academic Council by enacting Section 23 of the Mysore University Act the State was not entitled to encroach upon that power by its executive act. Though under Art. 162 the executive power was co-extensive with the power of the legislature to legislate that executive power cannot be exercised in derogation of a law made by the competent legislature. AIR 1951 All 257 (FB), Rel. on; (S) AIR 1955 SC 549, Expl. Chitralekha v. State of Mysore. (1965) 1 SCA 132: (1964) 6 SCR 368: AIR 1964 SC 1823 (1830, 1832, 1839, 1841, 1842) (Pt B) (Prs 7, 8, 14, 34, 36, 39).

● ——Arts. 246, 254, Sch. 7, List 2, Entry 11 and List I, entries 63, 64, 65 and 66 and List III, entry 25 — Scope and interpretation of — Use of expression "Subject to" in List 2, entry 11 — Implication of — Power to legislate with respect to medium of instruction — Extent of powers of State Legislature and Union — Gujarat University Act (50 of 1949), S. 4 (27) Proviso (as amended by Act 4 of 1961) and S. 38-A — Provisions are not ultra vires of State Legislature. AIR 1962 Guj 88 (FB), Reversed.

Per Majority :— The proviso to cl. 27 of S. 4 of the Gujarat University Act as amended by Act 4 of 1961 and S. 38-A are not invalid and ultra vires the State Legislature. AIR 1962 Guj. 88 (FB), Reversed.

The extensive power vested in the Provincial Legislatures to legislate with respect to higher, scientific and technical education and vocational and technical training of labour, under the Government of India Act is under the Constitution controlled by the five items in List I (Entries 63 to 66) entry 25 of List III mentioned in item 11 of List II, Items 63 to 66 of List I are carved out of the subject of education and in respect of these items the power to legislate is vested exclusively in the Parliament. Use of the expression 'subject to' in item 11 of List II of the Seventh Schedule clearly indicates that Legislation in respect of excluded matters cannot be undertaken by the State Legislatures. AIR 1961 SC 459, Rel. on.

Power of the State to legislate in respect of education including Universities must to the extent to which it is entrusted to the Union Parliament, be deemed to be restricted. If a subject of legislation is covered by items 63 to 66 even if it otherwise falls within the larger field of 'education including Universities', power to legislate on that subject must lie with the Parliament. Item 11 of List II and item 66 of List I must be harmoniously construed. The two entries undoubtedly overlap; but to the extent of overlapping, the power conferred by item 66, List I must prevail over the power of the State under Item 11 of List II. The power to legislate in respect of primary or secondary education is exclusively vested in the States by item No. 11 of List II, and power to legislate on medium of instruction in institutions of primary or secondary education must therefore, rest with the State Legislatures. Power to legislate in respect of medium of instruction, in so far as it has a direct bearing and impact upon the legislative head of co-ordination and determination of standards in institutions of higher education or research and scientific and technical institutions, must also be deemed by item 66, List I to be vested in the Union.

The State has the power to prescribe the syllabi and courses of study in the institutions named in Entry 66 (but not falling within entries 63 to 65) and as an incident thereof it has the power to indicate the medium in which instruction should be imparted. But the Union Parliament has an overriding legislative power to ensure that the syllabi and courses of study prescribed and the medium selected do not impair standards of education or render the co-ordination of such standards impossible or even difficult. The validity of the State Legislation on University education and as regards the education in technical and scientific institutions not falling within Entry 64 of List I would have to be judged having regard to whether it impinges on the field reserved for the Union under Entry 66. If there be Union legislation in respect of co-ordination and determination of standards, that would have paramountcy over the State law by virtue of the first part of Art. 254 (1); even if that power be not exercised by the Union Parliament a State law trenching upon the Union field would still be invalid.

By the amendment of the proviso to S. 4 (27) the Legislature purported to continue the use of English as the medium of instruction in subjects selected by the Senate beyond a period of ten years prescribed by the Gujarat University Act, 1949. Before the date on which the parent Act was enacted, English was the traditional medium of instruction in respect of all subjects at the university level. By enacting the proviso as it originally stood, the University was authorised to continue the use of English as an exclusive medium of instruction in respect of certain subjects to be selected by the Senate. By the amendment no power to provide an exclusive medium other than the pre-existing medium is granted. If the University have no power to prescribe an exclusive medium, the enactment of S. 38-A which prescribes penalties for failing to carry out directions relating to the media of instruction will doubtless be not invalid.

Per Subba Rao, J.:—Entry 66 of List I must be construed on the assumption that the regional languages would be the media of instruction in all the universities and if so construed the law fixing the standards for co-ordination cannot displace the medium of instruction. Entry 11 of List II takes in the medium of instruction and it is not comprehended by the phraseology of entry 66 of List I of the Seventh Schedule to the Constitution. It follows that the State Legislature can make a law empowering the University to prescribe a regional language as the exclusive medium of instruction. Gujarat University v. Shri Krishna Ranganath Mudholkar, (1964) 1 SCJ 504 : 1963 Supp (1) SCR 112 : (1963) 4 Guj LR 450 : (1963) 2 SCA 26 : AIR 1963 SC 703 (714 to 718, 720 to 724) (Pt C) (Prs 23 to 26, 27, 30, 32, 43, 44, 48, 49).

●——Art. 246 — Interpretation of legislative entries — Conflict of jurisdictions —Rules of interpretation in such case — Attempt should be made to harmonize apparently conflicting entries.

In the matter of construing entries in the Lists given in Sch. VII of the Constitution the following rules of interpretation are now well settled. The power to legislate is given to the appropriate Legislatures by Art. 246 of the Constitution. The entries in the three Lists are only legislative heads or fields of legislation. It is also settled that widest amplitude should be given to the language of the entries. But some of the entries in the different lists may overlap and sometimes may also appear to be in direct conflict with each other. It is then the duty of the Court to reconcile the entries and every attempt should be made to harmonize the apparently conflicting entries not only of different Lists but also of the same List and to reject that construction which will rob one of the entries of its entire content and make it nugatory. AIR 1939 FC 1 and AIR 1951 SC 69, Rel. on. Calcutta Gas Company (Proprietary), Ltd. v. State of West Bengal, (1963) 1 SCJ 106 : 1962 Supp (3) SCR 1 : (1962) 2 SCA 147 : AIR 1962 SC 1044 (1049, 1050) (Pt C) (Pr 8).

●——Arts. 246, 245, Part III (Gen.), Part IV (Gen.)— Legislation by State to implement directive principles — Legislation cannot override fundamental rights — Principle of harmonious construction to be followed. See Ibid, Art. 13, Part III (Gen.). AIR 1958 SC 956.

●——Art. 246 (2) — Matter falling within one or other list of Sch. VII.

The decision of the problem whether a legislation comes within an entry of one list or an entry of another list always involves two questions one of the interpretation of the entries of the two lists and the other of what the legislation purports to do. As regards the construction to be placed upon the entries in the rival lists it is to be assumed that the Union and the State Lists do not conflict and every attempt should be made to avoid a conflict. If necessary, the meaning given to one entry should be restricted in order to avoid overlapping. The meaning given to a general power in one entry may be restricted to give sense and efficacy to a power given by way of exception under an entry of an other list. At the same time general language ought not to be cut down by far-fetched and impertinent limitations. The words "with respect to" mean the whole field of legislation. Case-law, Ref. 1954 All LJ 477 : ILR (1954) 2 All 191 : 1954 All WR (HC) 529 : 1954 Cr LJ 1485 : AIR 1954 All 728 (731) (Pt B) (Pr 10) (DB).

[Overruled on another point in AIR 1955 All 269.]

●——Art. 246 and Sch. VII, Lists — Interpretation — Conflicts in Lists — Which to prevail.

Where the three lists in Sch. VII of the Constitution come in conflict, the general principle is List I has priority over Lists 3 and 2 and List 3 has priority over List 2. 62 Cal WN 405 : (1958-59) 14 FJR 330 : (1958) 2 Lab LJ 61 : AIR 1958 Cal 373 (376, 377) (Pt B) (Pr 15).

●——Arts. 246, 327 and 328, List I, Entry No. 72 and List II, Entry No. 37 — Scope of— (Representation of the People Act (1951)—Competency to question election to State Legislature).

The power of the State Legislature to make a law on the subject of Elections to Legislatures of States is subordinate to the Parliament's power. The expression "in so far as provisions in that behalf is not made by Parliament' used under Art. 328 and the words 'subject to the provision of any law made by Parliament' occurring in Entry 37 of List II in Seventh Schedule only mean that the Parliamentary Statute would have preference over a State law in case of repugnancy and that whenever a law is made by the State Legislature in exercise of its legislative power under Entry 37 of State List, that law will be subject to the provision of a Parliamentary Statute made in exercise of its legislative power under Entry No. 72 of the Union List. It is therefore not correct to say that the Tribunal appointed under the Representation of the People Act, 1951, is not competent to try a petition calling in question an election to the State Legislature. ILR (1954) Madh Bha 440 : Madh BLR 1954 Civ 140; Madh BLJ (1954) HCR 578 : AIR 1954 Madh B 111 (112) (Pt B) (Pr 3) (DB).

●——Arts. 246, 225, 200, Sch. 7, List I, Entry 78, List 2, Entry 2, List 3, Entries 1, 2, 46 — Code of Criminal Procedure (Madras Amendment) Act —

— Validity — If ultra vires the State Legislature —Power to transfer cases pending before Presidency Magistrate given to Sessions Judge, Madras is not invalid — (Criminal P. C. (1898), S. 528 (1) (c)).

Item 3 of List 2 gave the State Legislature power to legislate regarding the Constitution and organisation of all Courts except the Supreme Court and the High Court. That Parliament has got powers to enact legislation for the Constitution and organisation of the High Courts, under item 78 of List 1, will not take away the powers of the State Legislature given under item 3 of list 2 and items 1, 2 and 46 of List 3, to constitute a Sessions Court for Madras. See Code of Criminal Procedure (Madras Amendment) Act (Madras Act 34 of 1955). AIR 1959 Mad 261.

——Art. 246 (3), Sch. VII, List II, No. 36 and List I, Nos. 1 and 2 — Validity of Bihar Land Reforms Act (30 of 1950).

Merely because the Bihar Act 30 of 1950 affects the land comprised in Ghatwali tenures, or merely because the Act has the indirect effect of abolishing semi military tenure, it is not correct to argue that the Act is legislation "with respect to" items 1 and 2 of the Union List. The Act deals in pith and substance with item 36 of the State List and the Act would be constitutionally valid though it incidentally trenches on matters reserved for Union Legislature. It is not a material consideration in such a case to what extent the Union field is invaded by the impugned statute. 8 Comn. LR 410; AIR 1951 Pat 91 (SB); AIR 1947 PC 72 & AIR 1952 SC 252, Rel. on. 1957 BLJR 165 : 1956 Pat LR 562 : ILR 36 Pat 15 : AIR 1957 Pat 270 (274, 275) (Pt E) (Prs 5, 7) (DB).

7. Doctrine of pith and substance.

●——Art. 246 — Pith and substance, doctrine of — When applicable. See Interpretation of statutes — Pith and substance, doctrine of. AIR 1961 SC 232.

●——Art. 246 — Legislative competence — Doctrine of pith and substance — Doctrine of incidental powers — Principles.

In every case where the legislative competence in regard to a particular enactment is challenged with reference to the entries in the various lists it is necessary to examine the pith and substance of the Act and if the matter comes substantially within an item in the Central List it is not deemed to come within an entry in the Provincial list even though the classes of subjects overlap in many respects. It is within the competence of the Central Legislature to provide for such matters. 1930 AC 111 and 1947 AC 33 and 1937 AC 863 and (S) AIR 1955 SC 25, Rel. on. Chaturbhai M. Patel v. Union of India, 1960 SCJ 224 : 1960 All LJ 262 : (1960) 1 SCA 425 : (1960) 2 SCR 362 : AIR 1960 SC 424 (428) (Pt A) (Pr 10).

●——Art. 246 — Constitutional document — Construction of — Pith and substance of Ordinance — Ordinance does not fall under 'Defence' mentioned in Schedule to Instrument of Accession. See Jammu and Kashmir Enemy Agents Ordinance (No. 8 of S. 2005), S. 3. 1960 Cr LJ 126 : AIR 1960 SC 1.

●——Art. 246 — Indian Legislatures — Plenary powers of legislation — Entries in legislative lists — Interpretation — Rule of pith and substance. See Ibid, Art. 245. 1959 Cr LJ 660 : AIR 1959 SC 544.

●——Art. 246, Sch. VII, List II, Items 18, 36 — Rajasthan Land Reforms and Resumption of Jagirs Act (6 of 1952) — Validity.

Resumption and acquisition connote two different legal concepts. While resumption implies that the person or authority which resumes the property has pre-existing rights over it, acquisition carries no such implication and in general while the effect of resumption is to extinguish the interests of the persons whose property is resumed, that of acquisition is to vest that interest in the acquirer. To determine whether the impugned Act is one for acquisition of jagirs or for their resumption, we must see what the pith and substance of the legislation is, the name given to it by the Legislature not being decisive of the matter.

The right to resume jagirs was founded on grant and regulated by general law. To exercise that right, there was no need to enact any legislation. But the resumption for which the Act provides is in substance, acquisition nothwithstanding that it is labelled as resumption.

The award of compensation was consistent only with the taking being an acquisition and not with its being a resumption in accordance with the terms of the grant or the law applicable to it, for in such cases, there is no question of any liability to pay compensation. The rehabilitation grant was in addition to the compensation amount. Reading the provisions of the Act as a whole it is abundantly plain that what was meant by resumption was only acquisition. Indeed, if the Act purported to be one for acquisition of jagirs, its provisions could not have been different from what they are. The legislation falls also under Entry No. 18. But there being an Entry No. 36 specifically dealing with acquisition, and in view of the nature of the legislation it falls under that Entry. AIR 1941 FC 16, Ref. Amarsinghji v. State of Rajasthan, (1955) 2 SCR 303 : 1955 SCA 766 : (1955) SCJ 523 : AIR 1955 SC 504 (518, 519, 520) (Pt D)) (Prs 23, 26, 27, 28, 30).

●——Art. 246 — Constitutional Law — Doctrine of pith and substance.

The doctrine of pith and substance postulates, for its application, that the impugned law is substantially within the legislative competence of the particular Legislature that made it, but only incidentally encroached upon the legislative field of another Legislature. The doctrine saves this incidental encroachment if only the law is in pith and substance within the legislative field of the particular Legislature which made it. State of Bombay v. Narottamdas Jethabhai, 1951 SCJ 103 : 53 Bom LR 402 : 1951 SCR 51 : AIR 1951 SC 69 (96) (Pt D) (Pr 93).

——Art. 246 — Interpretation of entries in Sch. VII—Doctrine of pith and substance.

Where it is found that the action of a Legislature in making a law specifically falls under any particular entry of a list in Sch. VII then it is not necessary to speculate and find whether or not the action of the Legislature can fall under some other entry as well. Entries are not like water-tight compartments: so that there is often discernible a little overlapping. Further where there is a specific entry which covers a particular piece of legislation it is not possible to bring into play the doctrine of pith and substance to bring a piece of legislation within the ambit of an entry other than the one that specifically applies to the legislation. ILR (1961) 1 All 287 : 1961 All LJ 4 : 1961 All WR (HC) 77 : AIR 1961 All 320 (320, 321) (Pt B) (Pr 5).

[Overruled on another point in AIR 1962 All 299.]

——Art. 246 — Doctrine of pith and substance. See Evacuee Interest (Separation) Act (64 of 1951), S. 10 (a) (iii). AIR 1957 All 561 (DB).

——Art. 246 (2) — Pith and substance of enactment.

The pith and substance or the true nature and character of an Act is to be ascertained for the purpose of determining whether it is with respect to matters in this list or that list. ILR (1954) 2 All 191 : 1954 All LJ 477 : 1954 All WR (HC) 529 : 1954 Cr LJ 1485 : AIR 1954 All 728 (732) (Pt C) (Pr 15) (DB).

[Overruled on another point in AIR 1955 All 269.]

——Art. 246 — Hyderabad Regulation 24 of 1358-F is not repealed by provisions contained in the two Central Acts — Determination of character of legislation — Pith and substance. See Essential Supplies (Temporary Powers) Act (1946) (as amended by Act 52 of 1950), S. 17 (4). AIR 1959 Andh Pra 225 (DB).

——Art. 246 — Rule of 'pith and substance' — Scope of. See Bar Councils Act (1926), S. 8 (2) (b). AIR 1958 Andh Pra 63 (DB).

——Arts. 246, 245 — Bombay Prevention of Hindu Bigamous Marriages Act (25 of 1946) — Validity.

The whole Act deals with the subject of marriage and the words "either or both the contracting parties to such marriage are domiciled in this province" merely describe the class of persons, to whom the provisions of the Act are made applicable. The Act cannot be regarded as a legislation on the subject of domicile. ILR (1955) Bom 1039 : 57 Bom LR 827 : 1955 Cr LJ 1564: AIR 1955 Bom 439 (442) (Pt C) (Pr 19) (DB).

[Overruled on another point in AIR 1958 Bom 68 (FB) and AIR 1960 SC 1329.].

——Art. 246 — Scope — Validity of Act — Test of pith and substance. See Forward Contracts (Regulation) Act (1952), S. 1. AIR 1939 Cal 89 (DB).

——Art. 246, Sch. 7, List 2, Items 1, 36 — Defence of Hyderabad Regulation (1352-F) —Rules under — R. 66-A — Validity — (Interpretation of Statutes — Pith and substance rule) —(Civil P. C. (1908), Pre.) See Defence of Hyderabad Regulation (1352-F). AIR 1954 Hyd 121.

●——Art. 246 — Doctrine of pith and substance — Validity of J. and K. Enemy Agents Ordinance — (Jammu and Kashmir Constitution Act, Sm. 1966 (1949), S. 5).

In order to examine the question whether the J. and K. Enemy Agents Ordinance legislated on the subject of defence and, therefore, was beyond the power of His Highness, its pith and substance have to be looked into in order to ascertain its true nature and character. The nature and character of the Ordinance shows that two matters have been dealt with namely, (1) keeping in view the heinous character of the offence a special criminal law has been enacted, and (2) special Courts have been created to try those offences. The mere fact that the civil authority may take the aid of the Army does not affect the quality of the legislation. There is no connection between the Ordinance and the ordinary concept of defence.

It must be held that the Ordinance was validly enacted by the Rules under S. 5 of the Constitution of Jammu and Kashmir obtaining at the time of its promulgation. Rehman Shagoo v. The State of Jammu and Kashmir, 1958 Cr LJ 885 : AIR 1958 J and K 29 (33, 34) (Pt B) (Prs 14, 16, 17, 19 to 21) (FB).

——Art. 246 — Pith and substance — Doctrine of.

Where the legislative competence of a legislature in regard to a particular enactment is challenged with reference to the entries in the various lists, it is necessary to examine the pith and substance of the Act and if the matter comes substantially within an item in one List, it is not deemed to come within an entry in any other List even though the classes of subjects looked at singly overlap in many respects. AIR 1960 SC 424, Foll. 1960 Ker LJ 869: 1960 Ker LT 820: (1960) 2 Ker LR 219 : AIR 1961 Ker 111 (112) (Pt B) (Pr 3) (DB).

——Art. 246 and Sch. VII, List I, Entry 54 and List 2, Entry 18 — Competence of Parliament to enact law questioned — Rule of construction — Pith and substance — Doctrine of —Mineral Concession Rules, 1960 — Rules are covered by List I, Entry 45 and not by List 2, Entry 18.

Where the legislative competence of Parliament to enact a law, which empowers the making of R. 41 (1) (iv) of the Mineral Concession Rules 1949 (now R. 27 (1) (d) of the Rules of 1960), is challenged on the ground that it encroaches on a field covered by the State List, the doctrine of pith and substance is the usual test applied. The rule, in substance and effect provides for compensation for mining operations carried on over the surface area of land. That being so, it is within the expression "regulation of mines and mineral development" occurring in Entry 54 of List 1 of Sch. 7 to the Constitution of India. No doubt, to some extent it trenches upon the field covered by "land" in Entry 18 of List 2, but this is merely incidental and ancillary to the purpose or the object of the Mines and Minerals (Regulation and Development) Act, 1957, which is the regulation of mine and the development of minerals. If the rule, while subserving the purpose of the Act, incidentally affects a matter outside its authorised sphere, it cannot be regarded as bad. AIR 1961 SC 232 and AIR 1955 SC 25, Rel. on. ILR (1964) Madh Pra 516 : 1963 MPLJ 274 : 1963 Jab LJ 294 : AIR 1963 Madh Pra 213 (215) (Pt B) (Pr 6).

——Art. 246 — Notice under S. 20 of Madras Estates (Abolition and Conversion into Ryotwari) Act on 13-3-1951 — Effect of coming into force of Constitution — Act does not deal with inter-State Commerce — Act is not ultra vires — Pith and substance. See Tenancy Laws — Madras Estates (Abolition and Conversion into Ryotwari) Act (26 of 1948), S. 20. AIR 1954 Mad 291 (DB).

——Art. 246— Doctrine of pith and substance.

The topic underlying the provisions of the Act may in one view of the matter fall within the powers of the Centre and on another within the powers of the Federal units. When this happens, it is usual to examine the pith and substance of the impugned legislation and to see whether the pith and substance appropriately falls within this entry or that in the legislative lists. AIR 1941 FC 47; AIR 1947 PC 60; AIR 1947 FC 34 and AIR 1939 FC 1, Rel. on. 1956 Nag LJ 716 : 1956 MPLJ 156 : ILR (1956) Nag 618 : AIR 1956 Nag 268 (270) (Pt A) (Pr 9) (DB).

——Art. 246 — Rule of pith and substance — (Government of India Act (1935), S. 100).

A Court must look to the pith and substance of the legislation in order to determine under which List of the Government of India Act, 1935 and in rspect to which item it comes. AIR 1953 Pat 65 (70) (Pt C) (Pr 8) (DB).

——Art. 246, Sch. 7 List 3, Items 1 and 3 — Rule of pith and substance —Applicability.

Per Sarjoo Prasad J.:— The term "pith and substance" is not a term of art but a term of convenience, and there is no reason why the rule cannot be applied to a case where the two fields of legislations such as criminal law and preventive detention though distinct and separate, yet come under the same list (viz., the concurrent list), though in regard to certain incidental matters a legislation which in pith and substance deals with a particular field may casually encroach upon a different subject-matter. 51 Cri LJ 1251: ILR 29 Pat 410: AIR 1950 Pat 332 (346) (Pt H) (Pr 54) (DB).

●——Art. 246 — Rajasthan Land Reforms and Resumption of Jagirs Act (6 of 1952), S. 1 (as amended by Rajasthan Act 13 of 1954) — Object of Act—How determined — Courts have to see pith and substance of the Act to find out whether it is an Act for purposes of acquisition or merely for resumption of jagir lands — Act intended for acquisition of jagirs. See Tenancy Laws — Rajasthan Land Reforms and Resumption of Jagirs Act (6 of 1952), (as amended by Rajasthan Act 13 of 1954), S. 1. AIR 1954 Raj 291 (FB).

8. Doctrine of occupied field.

——Arts. 246 and 254 — The question of occupied field is absolutely irrelevant when the Court is concerned with Lists I and II and not with the Concurrent List. ILR (1959) Andh Pra 1340: 1960 An LT 22: (1960) 38 ITR 93: (1960) 1 Andh WR 153: AIR 1960 Andhra Pra 115 (119) (Pt B) (Pr 23) (DB).

——Art. 246 — Doctrine of occupied field — Test of repugnancy. See Ibid, Art. 254 (2). 1953 Cri LJ 1602: AIR 1953 Bom 371 (DB).

●——Art. 246 —Displaced Persons (Compensation and Rehabilitation) Act (1954), S. 30—Validity — Conflict between 'existing Indian law' (namely, Land Improvement Loans Act, 1883 and Agriculturists' Loans Act, 1884) and Central Act (namely, 1954 Act) — Central Act prevails — Doctrine of occupied field, applicability. See Displaced Persons (Compensation and Rehabilitation) Act, (1954), S. 30. AIR 1961 Punj 341 (FB).

9. Colourable legislation.

●——Art. 246 — Colourable legislation — Doctrine of fraud on power.

When a Court says that a particular legislation is a colourable one, it means that the Legislature has transgressed its legislative powers in a covert or indirect manner, it adopts a device to outstep the limits of its powers. AIR 1953 SC 375 and AIR 1959 SC 308, Rel. on. P. Vajravelu Mudaliar v. Special Deputy Collector for Land Acquisition W. Madras. (1965) 2 SCA 356: (1964) 2 SCJ 703: (1964) 2 Mad LJ (SC) 173: (1964) 2 Andh WR (SC) 173: AIR 1965 SC 1017 (1025) (Pt D) (Pr 16).

●——Art. 246 — Defence of India Act, 1962, S. 3 (2) (15) (i) — Not colourable legislation because of existence of Preventive Detention Act (3 of 1960). Makhan Singh v. State of Punjab, 1964 (1) Cri LJ 269: (1964) 2 SCA 663: AIR 1964 SC 381 (401, 402) (Pt E) (Pr 40, 43).

●——Arts. 246 and 265 —U. P. Large Land Holding Tax Act (31 of 1957) — Constitutional validity — Act is not a colourable piece of legislation. See U. P. Large Land Holding Tax Act (31 of 1957). AIR 1962 SC 1563.

●——Arts. 246, 245 and 265 — Taxing statute can be challenged as colourable legislation — Circumstances to be proved before such challenge can succeed.

Though the validity of a taxing statute cannot be challenged merely on the ground that it imposes an unreasonably high burden, it does not follow that a taxing statute cannot be challenged on the ground that it is a colourable piece of legislation and as such, is a fraud on the legislative power conferred on the legislature in question. If it is shown that the Act which purports to be a taxing Act is a colourable exercise of the legislative power of the Legislature, then that would be an independent ground on which the Act can be struck down.

The conclusion that a taxing statute is colourable would not and cannot normally be raised merely on the finding that the tax imposed by it is unreasonably high or heavy, because the reasonableness of the extent of the levy is always a matter within the competence of the Legislature. Where the Legislature has merely adopted a device and a cloak to confiscate the property of the citizen taxed, that is a separate and independent ground for striking down the Act. Raja Jagannath Baksh Singh v. State of Uttar Pradesh, (1963) 1 SCR 220: 1962 All WR (HC) 649: (1962) 2 SCA 679: (1962) 46 ITR 169: 1962 All LJ 799: AIR 1962 SC 1563 (1572, 1573) (Pt I) (Prs 21, 22).

●——Arts. 246, 245, 31 (2), Sch. 7, List 2 Item 18; List 3, Item 42 — Kerala Agrarian Relations Act (4 of 1961) — Validity — Act is not a colourable piece of legislation on the ground of being a device to take money from landowners.

The Kerala Agrarian Relations Act has been passed under legislative powers vested in the State Legislature under item 18 of List II and Item 42 of List III of the Seventh Schedule. It is clear from the provisions contained in Chapters II and III of the Act that the main purpose of the Act is to do away with intermediaries and to fix a ceiling and give the excess land, if any, to the landless or those who hold land much below the ceiling. The main provisions of the Act therefore, are clearly within the legislative competence of the State Legislature. The compensation due to the landowner or the person from whom excess land is acquired is what is provided in S. 52 and S. 64. The adequacy of that compensation cannot be challenged in view of Art. 31 (2).

Rule 161 (a) (i) and (ii) and R. 161 (b) (i) and (ii) of the Rules framed under S. 80 in so far as they take in persons not affected by the Act are ultra vires of the provisions of S. 80 and must be struck down on that ground. But the rules which have been actually framed will not affect the provisions of S. 80. Therefore, even the apparent result of the difference between Ss. 45 and 52 and Ss. 64 and 72 is taken away by the constitution of the fund under S. 80. The Act cannot be struck down as a colourable piece of legislation which is beyond the competence of the State Legislature. 1953 SCJ 592: AIR 1953 SC 375, Rel. on. Karimbil Kunhikonan v. State of Kerala, 1962 Supp (1) SCR 829: 40 Mys LJ 17: (1962) 2 SCA 1: (1962) 1 SCJ 510: (1962) 1 Mad LJ (SC) 213: (1962) 1 Andh WR (SC) 213: 1962 Ker LT (SC) 42: (1962) 1 Ker LR 67: 1962 Ker LJ 59: AIR 1962 SC 723 (727, 728, 729) (Pt B) (Prs 5, 7, 8).

●——Art. 246 — Assam Fixation of Ceiling on Land Holdings Act (1 of 1957) — Act falls within the protection of Art. 31-A of the Constitution — It is also not a colourable piece of legislation — Hence it is constitutionally valid. See Tenancy Laws—Assam Fixation of Ceiling on Land Holdings Act (1 of 1957). AIR 1962 SC 137.

●——Art. 246 — S. 22, Vindhya Pradesh Abolition of Jagirs and Land Reforms Act (11 of 1952) — Validity — Act is not a colourable piece of legislation. See Tenancy Laws — Vindhya Pradesh Abolition of Jagirs and Land Reforms Act (11 of 1952), S. 22. AIR 1960 SC 796.

●——Art. 246, Sch. 7, List 2, Entry 18 —Bombay Tenancy and Agricultural Lands (Amendment) Act (13 of 1956) — Validity.

Bombay Act XIII of 1956 affected the relation between landlord and tenant, provided for the transfer and alienation of agricultural lands, aimed at land improvement and was broadly stated a legislation in regard to the rights in or over land or categories specifically referred to in Entry 18 in List II of the Seventh Schedule to the Constitution. The impugned Act being within the legislative competence of the State Legislature no question as to its being a piece of colourable legislation can arise. Sri Ram Ram Narain Medhi v. State of Bombay, 1959 SCJ 679 : (1959) 2 Andh WR (SC) 1 : (1959) 2 MLJ (SC) 1 : 1959 SCA 491 : 61 Bom LR 811 : (1959) 1 SCR (Supp) 489 : AIR 1959 SC 459 (463, 472, 473) (Pt A) (Prs 11. 14, 43).

●——Art. 246 — Colourable legislation — Motives of legislature — How far relevant.

The legislature can only make laws within its legislative competence. Its legislative field may be circumscribed by specific legislative entries or limited by fundamental rights created by the Constitution. The legislature cannot over-step the field of its competency, directly or indirectly. The Court will scutinize the law to ascertain whether the legislature purports to make a law which, though in form appears to be within its sphere, in effect and substance, reaches beyond it. If, in fact, it has power to make the law, its motives are irrelevant. AIR 1953 SC 375 : 1953 SCJ 592, Rel. on. Gullapalli Nageswara Rao v. Andhra Pradesh Road Transport Corporation, 1958 Andh LT 1014 : (1959) 2 Andh WR (SC) 156: 1959 SCJ 967 : (1959) 2 MLJ (SC) 156 : (1959) 1 SCR (Suppl) 319 : AIR 1959 SC 308 (315, 316) (Pt A) (Pr 7).

●——Art. 246 — Colourable legislation.

The doctrine of colourable legislation is relevant only in connection with the question of legislative competency. AIR 1953 SC 375, Foll. Raja Bhairebendra Bhup v. State of Assam, 1956 SCA 736 : 1956 SCJ 543 : 1956 SCR 303 : AIR 1956 SC 503 (512) (Pt G) (Pr 21).

●——Art. 246 and Sch. 7, List 3, Entry 42 — Orissa Estates Abolition Act (1952), S. 37 — Validity cannot be challenged on ground that it is a piece of colourable legislation. See Tenancy Laws — Orissa Estates Abolition Act (1 of 1952), S. 37. AIR 1953 SC 375.

●——Art. 246 — Madras Estates Land Act (1908), S. 168-A (as amended by Orissa Act 19 of 1947) — Validity — No question of any colourable exercise of legislative powers. See Tenancy Laws — Madras Estates Land Act (1 of 1908), S. 168-A (as amended by Orissa Act, 19 of 1947). AIR 1953 SC 375.

●——Arts. 246, 245 — Colourable legislation — (Civil P. C. (1908), Pre.). See Interpretation of Statutes. AIR 1953 SC 375.

●——Art. 246 — Colourable piece of legislation — Validity.

(Per Mahajan, J. :) Legislation ostensibly under one or other of the powers conferred by the Constitution but in truth and fact not falling within the content of that power is merely colourably constitutional but is really not so. (1878) 3 AC 1090, (1862) 7 AC 829, Rel. on; (1899) AC 626, Ref.

(Per Mukherjea J.) :— When a legislature has a limited or qualified power and has got to act within a sphere circumscribed by legislative entries, the question, whether in purporting to act under these entries, it has, in substance, gone beyond them and has done certain things which cannot be accomplished within the scope of these entries, is really a question affecting the competency of the legislature. In such cases, although the legislation purports to have been enacted under a particular entry, if it is really outside it, it would be void.

(Per Das J.) :— The failure to comply with the constitutional condition for the exercise of legislative power may be overt or it may be covert. When it is overt, we say the law is obviously bad for non-compliance with the requirements of the Constitution, that is to say, the law is 'ultra vires'. When, however, the non-compliance is covert, we say that it is a fraud on the Constitution, the fraud complained of being that the Legislature pretends to act within its power while in fact it is not so doing. State of Bihar v. Kameshwar Singh, ILR 31 Pat 565 : 1952 SCR 889 : 1953 SCA 53 : 65 Mad LW 527 : 1952 SCJ 354 : 1952 SCJ 427 : 1952 SCJ 446 : AIR 1952 SC 252 (277, 280, 292) (Pt H) (Prs 61, 84, 108).

——Art. 246 — Andhra Pradesh General Sales Tax (Second Amendment) Act (2 of 1959) — Not a colourable legislation. See Sales Tax — Andhra Pradesh General Sales Tax (Second Amendment) Act (2 of 1959). AIR 1964 Andh Pra 266 (DB).

——Art. 246 — Andhra Inams Assessment Act, 1955 — Validity — Act is not colourable legislation. See Andhra Inams (Assessment) Act (17 of 1955), S. 3. AIR 1960 Andh Pra 461 (DB).

——Arts. 246, 31, 19 (1) (g), 19 (6) (as amended by 4th Amendment 1955) — Acquisition — Transfer of ownership or right to possession is essential — Mere deprivation of property is not acquisition — Colourable legislation what is —Fraud on Constitution — Motor Vehicles Act (1939 as amended by Act 100 of 1956) Chap. IV-A, S. 68G — If colourable legislation — Right to carry on occupation extinguished — Whether unconstitutional — Whether Parliament has circumvented limitations on its powers by indirect method — (Motor Vehicles Act (1939 as amended by Act 100 of 1956), Chap. IV-A, S. 68-G. See Ibid, Art. 31. AIR 1959 Andh Pra 292.

——Art. 246 — Doctrine of colourable legislation — Scope.

The doctrine of colourable legislation has no application where there is ample legislative competence and the Legislature has proceeded to legislate on a field assigned to it under the Constitution. If the legislature concerned has constitutional authority to pass a law in regard to a particular subject, it is not for the Courts to divine and scrutinise the policy, which led to the enactment; but where in purporting to legislate on a particular field of legislation, the Legislature has done something which lies beyond the ambit of its authority, the doctrine of colourable legislation or legislative incompetence can be invoked to declare the provision ultra vires. 1953 SCJ

592 : AIR 1953 SC 375 and AIR 1956 SC 503 : 1956 SCJ 543, Rel. on.

A colourable legislation simply means a legislation which while transgressing constitutional limitations is made to appear as if it were quite constitutional. The doctrine of colourable legislation also does not involve any question of bona fides or mala fides on the part of the legislature. The whole doctrine resolves itself into the question of competency of a particular legislature to enact a particular law. AIR 1959 Assam 147 (152, 153, 157) (Pt E) (Prs 7, 16) (DB).

● ——Art. 246 — Scope—Assam State Acquisition of Zamindaries Act (1951) — Validity — Not a colourable legislation. See Tenancy Laws — Assam State Acquisition of Zamindaries Act (18 of 1951), S. 4 (2). ILR (1956) 8 Assam 379 (FB).

——Art. 246 — West Bengal Estates Acquisition Act (1 of 1954), S. 5-A — Sub-s. (3) is not a colourable piece of legislation. See Tenancy Laws — West Bengal Estates Acquisition Act (1 of 1954), S. 5-A. ('62) 66 Cal WN 405.

——Art. 246 — Sales Tax —Hyderabad General Sales Tax (Third Amendment) Act (27 of 1952), S. 1 — Third Amendment Act is not colourable. See Sales Tax — Hyderabad General Sales-tax (Third Amendment) Act (27 of 1952), S. 1. AIR 1954 Hyd 50.

——Art. 246 — Kerala Luxury Tax on Tobacco (Validation) Act 1964 is not colourable exercise of power. See Kerala Luxury Tax on Tobacco (Validation) Act (9 of 1964), Preamble. 1965 Ker LJ 337 : 1965 Ker LT 418 : AIR 1966 Ker 46.

——Art. 246 — Madhya Pradesh Abolition of Cash Grants Act (16 of 1963) — Not colourable legislation — Motive of legislature is irrelevant.

The Madhya Pradesh Abolition of Cash Grants Act is not a colourable piece of legislation. The fact that in enacting the legislation, the State legislature desired to discontinue the cash grants paid to certain class or classes of persons, while preserving the grants of others, can at the most be the motive which impelled the legislature to place the Act on the statute book. The motives which impelled the legislature to pass the legislation are irrelevant and have no bearing on the question whether the Act is or is not a piece of colourable legislation, provided the legislature is competent to pass the Act : AIR 1953 SC 375 and AIR 1959 SC 308 and AIR 1962 SC 458. Foll. 1964 Jab LJ 527 : 1964 MPLJ 874 : AIR 1965 Madh Pra 77 (82) (Pt B) (Pr 8) (DB).

——Art. 246 — M. P. Minimum Wages Fixation Act (1962) — Validity of the Act — It is not a piece of colourable legislation on ground that it adopts definitions given in Central Act — Legislature was competent to enact the Act — Motive is irrelevant. See M. P. Minimum Wages Fixation Act (1962), Pre. AIR 1964 Madh Pra 45.

——Art. 246 (3) and Sch. 7, List 2, Entry 54 — Colourable Legislation — Section 11 (1) of Madras Commercial Crops Markets Act as amended in 1955, S. 11 (1) — Validity.

Article 246 (3) read with Entry 54 of List 2 in the 7th Schedule to the Constitution confers plenary powers on the State Legislature to impose a tax on the sale of goods. Section 11 (1) of the Madras Commercial Crops Markets Act, 1933, as amended in 1955, has the effect of levying an additional sales tax in regard to commercial crop or crops. The Legislature having the power and there being no question of its trespassing on the legislative power of another State or the Union of India, no question of colourable legislation can at all arise. 1953 SCJ 592 : AIR 1953 SC 375, Foll. 1960 Mad WN 734 : (1960) 1 Mad LJ 298 : 72 Mad LW 752 : ILR (1960) Mad 171 : AIR 1960 Mad 160 (163) (Pt A) (Pr 9).

——Art. 246 — Colourable legislation — Act within competence of legislature — Motive cannot be questioned. See Ibid, Art. 245. AIR 1964 Mys 240 (DB).

——Art. 246 — Bona fides of Legislature.

Where the bona fides of a Legislature as such and not of any individual is involved, the absence of bona fides and the presence of a positive intention which is said to have a relevance on the validity of the legislative enactments is not a matter that can be decided on mere balance of probabilities. The mala fides so alleged must be strictly proved to the hilt and beyond any reasonable doubt. Like an accused in a criminal case the State should get the benefit of doubt. ILR 1953 Cut 71 : AIR 1953 Orissa 185 (211, 226, 227) (Pt Q) (Prs 60, 98) (DB).

——Art. 246 — Collateral purposes or motives of Legislature.

If the primary purpose of the statute is to raise revenue for the purpose of the State, collateral purposes or motives of a Legislature in levying a tax of a kind within the reach of its lawful power are matters beyond the scope of judicial enquiry. But if the taxing statute is so arbitrary as to compel the conclusion that it does not involve an exertion of the taxing power but constitutes in substance and effect the direct exertion of a different and forbidden power as for example, the confiscation of property it may be held to be invalid. 195 U. S. 56; 172 U. S. 443, Foll. ILR 1953 Cut 71 : AIR 1953 Orissa 185 (221) (Pt S) (Pr 82) (DB).

——Art. 246 — Licence renewal fees under Factories Act (1948) — Whether colourable disguise for imposition of tax. See Delhi Factories Rules (1950), R. 7. ('65) 67 Pun LR 819 (DB).

——Art. 246 — Doctrine of colourable legislation —Whether the Delhi Land Reforms Act (1954) (as amended by Amendment Act 4 of 1959) is a colourable piece of legislation.

The whole doctrine of colourable legislation is based upon the maxim that you cannot do indirectly what you cannot do directly. AIR 1953 SC 375 and AIR 1962 SC 723, Foll.

Where it was not disputed that the legislature could directly pass a law, such as the Amendment Act of 1959 by which the Delhi Land Reforms Act of 1954 became applicable to the Town Extension Scheme Area in question, entitling the tenants to be declared Bhumidars which may ultimately result even in the compensation, payable under the Land Acquisition Act being diverted to them, it could not be said that the Amendment Act was any colourable exercise of legislative powers. In such a case it could not be said that the legislature was trying to achieve indirectly what it could not do directly. ILR (1965) 2 Punj 419.

——Arts. 246, 245 — Doctrine of colourable legislation — Scope and extent of — Payment of Wages (Punjab Amendment) Act (15 of 1962) — Not a colourable piece of legislation.

The doctrine of colourable legislation implies that the legislature cannot over-step the field of its competence, directly or indirectly, and that the Court would scrutinize the law to ascertain whether the legislature by device purports to make a law which though in form appears to be within its sphere, in effect and substance, reaches beyond it. The Payment of Wages (Punjab Amendment) Act (15 of 1962), cannot be deemed to be a piece of colourable legislation because considering its effect and substance the State legislature was well within its power to enact the impugned Act. (1964) 9 Fac LR 362 : (1965) 1 Lab LJ 656 : ILR (1964) 2 Punj 767 : AIR 1964 Punj 513 (515) (Pt D) (Pr 8) (DB).

——Arts. 246, 245 —Doctrine of colourable legislation — Test of colourable legislation — S. 19-E of Punjab Act (10 of 1953) and S. 32-KK of Pepsu Act (13 of 1955) —Not a colourable legislation.

The doctrine of colourable legislation really postulates that legislation attempts to do indirectly what it cannot directly do. The test of colourable legislaion is an attempt on the part of the legislature to legislate on a matter beyond its competency while putting it forward as if it is a legislation within its competency. The doctrine of colourable legislation has relation to legislative competence and where the legislation is within the constitutional competence of the legislature, it cannot be assailed as being colourable, whatever the reasons behind it. AIR 1962 SC 137 and AIR 1962 SC 458, Rel. on.

Since S. 19-E of Punjab Act (X of 1953) and S. 32-KK of Pepsu Act (XIII of 1955) are not beyond the competence of the State Legislature and the Legislature has not held back the reason for their enactment, they cannot be said to be colourable pieces of legislation. 65 Pun LR 105: ILR (1963) 1 Punj 500 : 1963 Cur LJ 22 : AIR 1963 Punj 319 (327) (Pt F) (Pr 16) (DB).

●——Art. 246, Seventh Schedule, List II, Item 56 — Colourable legislation — Tax on goods carried over certain roads — Tax is valid under Seventh Schedule List II, item 56—Fact that part of tax is expended on improvement of roads does not make tax illegal.

Where the tax is imposed under S. 30 of the Punjab District Boards Act on goods carried over certain roads, item 56 of List II, clearly authorises the imposition of such a tax. It is in no sense a tax on roads although it has to be paid by those persons who transport goods along these roads. The mere fact that some of the revenue accruing as a result of this particular tax will be spent for the maintenance of the roads in question cannot make the tax illegal or dishonest or colourable. After the proceeds of the tax go into the general revenue of the District Board the proceeds thereafter have no necessary link with the maintenance of the roads. Mangal Ram Roshanlal v. Punjab State. ILR (1962) 2 Punj 118 : 64 Punj LR 342 : AIR 1962 Punj 350(353) (Pt B) (Pr 5) (FB).

10. Scope and extent of legislative powers.

(a) Legislative entries denote fields of legislation and not powers of legislation.

(b) Power to legislate retrospectively.

(c) Legislative competence of Parliament.

(d) Legislative competence of State Legislature.

(e) Concurrent List.

10. Scope and extent of legislative powers.

●——Art. 246, Seventh Schedule, List 1, Entry 54 —List 2, Entry 23 — Orissa Mining Areas Development Fund Act (27 of 1952) — Validity — Orissa Mining Areas Development Fund Act (27 of 1952) is superseded by Mines and Minerals (Regulation and Development) Act (1957) — Notice of demand made on 1st August, 1960 under Orissa Act, 27 of 1952, for fees accruing prior to 1st June, 1958, is however, valid and amount can be recovered notwithstanding disappearance of Orissa Act. AIR 1962 Orissa 24, Reversed.

'Subject' to the provisions of List I the power of the State to enact legislation on the topic of 'mines and mineral development' is plenary. To the extent to which the Union Government had taken under 'its control' 'the regulation and development of minerals' under Entry 54 of List I, so much was withdrawn from the ambit of the power of the State Legislature under Entry 23 of List II and legislation of the State which had rested on the existence of power under that entry would, to the extent of that 'control', be superseded or be rendered ineffective. The Central Act, 67 of 1957, covered the entire field of mineral development, that being the 'extent' to which Parliament had declared by law that it was expedient that the Union should assume control. The terms of S. 18 (1) of that Act laid a duty upon the Central Government 'to take all such steps as may be necessary for the conservation and development of minerals in India' and 'for that purpose the Central Government may, by notification, make such rules as it deems fit'. There is express provision for the power to levy a fee under S. 13 of the Central Act of 1957, apart from the implication arising from S. 25. AIR 1961 SC 459, Foll.

Repugnancy arises when two enactments both within the competence of the two Legislatures collide and when the Constitution expressly or by necessary implication provides that the enactment of one Legislature has superiority over the other then to the extent of the repugnancy the one supersedes the other. Having regard to the terms of S. 18 (1) of the Central Act, 67 of 1957, it appears clear that the intention of Parliament was to cover the entire field and thus to leave no scope for the argument that until rules were framed, there was no inconsistency and no supersession of the State Act 27 of 1952. Therefore, it would not be correct to say that until rules were framed under S. 18 of the Central Act 67 of 1957, the Central Act would not cover the field and the Orissa Act, 27 of 1952, would continue to operate in full force. AIR 1956 SC 676, Disting.

In order that a fee may validly be imposed the subject-matter or the main head of legislation in connection with which the fee is imposed must be within legislative power. It is a prerequisite for the valid imposition of a fee that it is in respect of a 'matter in the list'. If by reason of the declaration by Parliament the entire subject-matter of 'conservation and development of minerals' has been taken over for being dealt with by Parliament, thus depriving the State of the power which it theretofore possessed it would follow that the 'matter' in the State List is, to the extent of the declaration, subtracted from the scope and ambit of Entry 23 of the State List. There would, therefore, after the Central Act, 67 of 1957, be 'no matter in the List' to which the fee could be related in order to render it valid. Hence it could not be said that even if the Union could levy any fee under the Central Act, 67 of 1957, it would not affect or invalidate the Orissa Act, 27 of 1952, imposing a fee for a similar purpose. AIR 1962 Orissa 24, Affirmed.

The principle on which the saving clause in S. 6 of the General Clauses Act, is based is that every later enactment which supersedes an earlier one or puts an end to an earlier state of the law is presumed to intend the continuance of rights accrued and liabilities incurred under the superseded enactment unless there were sufficient indications —express or implied —in the later enactment designed to completely obliterate the earlier state of the law. The entire theory underlying implied repeals is that there is no need for the later enactment to state in express terms that an earlier enactment has been repealed by using any particular set of words or form of drafting but that if the legislative intent to supersede the earlier law is manifested by the enactment of provisions as to effect such supersession, then there is in law a repeal notwithstanding the absence of the word 'repeal' in later statute. As the legislative intent to supersede the earlier law is the basis upon which the doctrine of implied repeal is founded there can be no incongruity in attributing to the later legislation, the same intent which S. 6 presumes where the word 'repeal' is expressly used. As the liabillity to pay the fee which was the subject of the notices of the demand made on 1st August, 1960, under the Orissa Act, 27 of 1952, had accrued prior to 1st June 1958, when the Central Act, 67 of 1957, came into force these notices were valid and the amounts due thereunder could be recovered notwithstanding the disappearance of the Orissa Act 27 of 1952, by virtue of the superior legislation of Act, 67 of 1957, by the Union Parliament. AIR 1962 Orissa 24, Reversed. AIR 1951 SC 128, Disting.; (1830) 6 Bing 576 and (1829) 9 B. and C. 750, Rel. on. State of Orissa v. M. A. Tulloch and Co. 30 Cut LT 80: 1964 SCD 111 : AIR 1964 SC 1284 (1286, 1287, 1289, 1290, 1291, 1292, 1293, 1294, 1295) (Prs 5, 11, 12, 15, 16, 20, 21).

●——Art. 246 — Scope and extent of legislative power — Law passed making its provision retrospective — Effect of retrospective operation changing character of legislative compelence. See Ibid, Art. 19 (1) (f). AIR 1963 SC 1667.

●—— Art 246 and Sch 7, List 2 — Power to validate laws declared by Courts to be invalid.

The legislative power conferred on the Legislature includes the subsidiary or the auxiliary power to validate laws which have been found to be invalid. If a law passed by a Legislature is struck down by the Courts as being invalid for one infirmity or another, it would be competent to the appropriate Legislature to cure the said infirmity and pass a validating law so as to make the provisions of the said earlier law effective from the date when it was passed. AIR 1941 FC 16 Foll. Rai Ramkrishna v. State of Bihar. (1963) 50 ITR 171 : (1964) 1 SCA 413 : ILR 42 Pat 796 : (1964) 1 SCR 897: (1964) 2 SCJ 749: AIR 1963 SC 1667 (1673) (Pt C) (Pr 10).

●——Art. 246 — Minimum Wages Act (1948), Ss. 5, 2 (h), 20 and 21 — Notification under S. 5— Bombay Government Notification No. MWA 1557 J dated 11th June, 1958 — Bidi industry — Notification fixing revised minimum rates of wages of workers and also laying down manner in which employer should pay for discarded bidis — Validity — Powers of Industrial Tribunal under Industrial Disputes Act and powers of State Government under Minimum Wages Act — Distinction — Power of State Government to prescribe minimum rates of wages or to revise them does not include power to vary other terms of contract — Doctrine of implied power cannot be invoked. See Minimum Wages Act (1948), S. 5. AIR 1962 SC 486.

●——Art. 246, Sch. 7, List 2 Entries 18, 19 and 49 — Relative scope—'Forests' —State Legislature cannot impose tax on forests in absence of express power — Land in entry 49 includes land on which forest stands — Taxation on land on which forest stands is permissible and legal under entry 49 — Entry 49 and entry 18 deal with entirely different subjects — Per A. K. Sarkar, J. Kunnathat Thathuni Moopil Nair v. State of Kerala. (1961) 2 SCJ 269 : (1961) 2 SCA 125 : 1961 Ker LT (SC) 11 : 1961 Ker LJ 143 : (1961) 3 SCR 77 : AIR 1961 SC 552 (564) (Pt C) (Pr 35).

●——Art. 246 — Powers of State Legislature to legislate — Extent of, See Ibid, Art. 31-A AIR 1955 SC 540.

●——Art. 246 — Preventive detention — Power of Parliament to enact law, See Ibid, Art. 22. 51 Cri LJ 1383 : AIR 1950 SC 27.

●——Art. 246 — Scope of the power of legislation. See Tenancy Laws — U. P. Zamindari and Land Reforms Act (1 of 1951). AIR 1951 All 674 (FB).

——Arts. 246, 265, 245, 248 Schedule 7 — 'Fees' and 'Tax' — Legislative competence — Residuary power with regard to taxation is in Union — Levy of tax as ancillary or incidental to subjects specified in the Lists in Sch. 7. See Ibid, Art. 265. AIR 1959 Andh Pra 398 (DB).

——Arts. 246, 245 — Legislation — Meaning of— Power of Legislature to adopt and extend measures enacted by another Legislature — (Andhra State Act (30 of 1953), Ss. 53, 54) — (States Reorganisation Act (1956), Ss. 119, 120). See Sales Tax — Madras Sales of Motor Spirit Taxation (Andhra Pradesh Extension and Amendment Act) (5 of 1958). AIR 1959 Andh Pra 237.

●——Art. 246 (3) and Sch. 7, List 2, Entry 45— Legislature functioning within its sphere — No fetters on its legislative powers.

Per Sarjoo Prosad, C. J.: The Legislature of the State if otherwise competent to do so, has power to impose land revenue on the estates. This imposition does not amount to any derogation from the grants, because the executive Government of the country cannot by its administrative acts impose any fetters on the legislative powers of the State.

Per Ram Labhaya, J.: No grant whether with or without consideration can affect the legislative power of the State, nor can any legislative Act bind the same or the succeeding Legislatures. (1931) 1 Ch 169 (187). Rel. on. Girijananda v. State of Assam. AIR 1956 Assam 33 (38, 47) (Pt E) (Prs. 10, 46) (SB).

——Art. 246 — Regulation of mines and mineral development — Powers of Union and State — Scope of — Power of taxation. See Ibid, Sch. 7, List 1, Entry 54. AIR 1959 Cal 222 (DB).

●——Art. 246 — Law in respect of prerogative — Duly constituted Legislative authority can make laws affecting prerogative — Per Ansari J. Ahmad-U-Nisa Begum v. State. ('52) ILR (1952) Hyd 595: AIR 1952 Hyd 163 (167) (Pt B) (Pr 10) (FB).

●——Arts. 246, 154, 238 — Under Art. 154, the executive powers of the States are vested in the Governors and Art. 162 extends them to all matters with respect to which the legislatures of the States have powers to make laws. These according to Cls. (2) and (3) of Art. 246 are those which are enumerated in Lists 2 and 3 of Sch. 7.

Per Ansari and Reddy JJ.: Where a Statute empowers doing of certain things, which might before have been done by virtue of prerogative, the latter is abrogated so long as the statute is operative. Ahmad-Un-Nissa v. State, ILR (1952) Hyd 595: AIR 1952 Hyd 163 (168, 184) (Pt C) (Prs 14, 74) (FB).

●——Art. 246 — Scope — Membership of Legislative Assembly — Reservation of seats for scheduled castes — Restriction on membership by addition of Proviso to S. 22, Jammu and Kashmir Representation of the People Act, 1957 — Right to stand as a candidate for election to Legislative Assembly from a constituency other than that of voter is creation of Statute and it is open to Legislature to impose reasonable restriction on those rights—No violation of fundamental right. See Constitution of Jammu and Kashmir, S. 51. AIR 1957 J and K 40 (FB).

●——Art. 246 — Taxing law — Extent of operation of State Legislature. See Ibid, Art. 245. AIR 1959 Ker 182 (FB).

——Arts. 246 (4), 286 — Article does not mean that the powers of Part C States legislatures are left unobstructed. Merely from the fact that Parliament possessed legislative power over Part C. States and that Art. 286 did not impose any limitation on the legislative power of Parliament it does not follow that the power of a Part C State's Legislature should be held to be untrammelled. 1964 MPLJ 836: (1964) 15 STC 841: 1965 Jab LJ 85: AIR 1965 Madh Pra 11 (15) (Pt C) (Pr 11) (DB).

——Art. 246 (2) and (3) — Madhya Pradesh Agricultural Produce Markets (Validation) Act, 1962 (12 of 1962), S. 3—Madhya Pradesh Agricultural Produce Markets (Validation) Ordinance (2 of 1962) — Both enactments purporting to validate executive action taken under statutes are not incompetent — Legislature has plenary powers to make laws regarding matters covered by entry in legislative list of Constitution — Such validation is ancillary to legislative power. See Madhya Pradesh Agricultural Produce Markets (Validation) Act, 1962 (12 of 1962), S. 3. AIR 1965 Madh Pra 6 (DB).

——Art. 246 (2) and (3) — Madhya Pradesh Agricultural Produce Markets (Validation) Act (12 of 1962), S. 3—Madhya Pradesh Agricultural Produce Markets (Validation) Ordinance, 1962 (2 of 1962) — Section 3 is sufficient to validate past acts or things done — Not essential to amend impugned statute — Legislature has plenary powers to make laws regarding matters covered by entry in legislation of Constitution — Both enactments purporting to validate execution action taken under statute are not incompetent. See Madhya Pradesh Agricultural Produce Markets (Validation) Act (12 of 1962), S. 3. AIR 1965 Madh Pra 6 (DB).

——Art. 246 — Taxing Law — Power of Legislature to pass validating Act. See Madhya Bharat Taxes on Income (Validation) Act (1954). AIR 1959 Madh Pra 195 (DB).

——Art. 246 and Sch. 7, List 3, Entries 10 and 28 — Power of State Legislature to legislate with regard to religious institutions treating them as public trust.

No doubt, two or more entries can provide the power to make laws on a topic not included in any single entry, but the limit of each entry is fixed by the words used. Even if the widest meaning be put upon entry No. 10, it cannot be gainsaid that the existence of a trust alone gives the power to legislate upon trusts. Religious institutions may be controlled in ways other than by making them into trusts when they are not. If the argument be carried to its logical extreme, then incompatible entries like trade unions or electrical undertakings could be used with entry No. 10 to designate and include in the definitions of 'trust' trade unions and electrical undertakings. ILR (1957) Madh Pra 599: 1958 MPLJ 611: 1958 MPC 586: 1958 Jab LJ 713: AIR 1958 Madh Pra 362 (365) (Pt C) (Pr 16) (DB).

——Arts. 246 (3), 277 and 266—Power of State Legislature — (Madras Commercial Crops Markets Act (20 of 1933) (as amended by Madras Act 33 of 1955), Ss. 11 (1) and S. 13).

Even before the commencement of the Constitution of India, the Provincial Legislature had under the provisions of the Government of India Act and after the commencement of the Constitution under Arts. 246 (3) read with Art. 277, has power to enact measures to enable a local authority to raise funds by taxation. The levy of taxes under S. 11 (1) for the purpose mentioned in S. 13 of the Madras Commercial Crops Markets Act is a local tax within the competence of the State Legislature. Being a local tax it will not form part of the Consolidated Fund of the State envisaged in Art. 266 of the Constitution, the reason being that under the Statute itself the funds collected have been allocated to the local authority. (1960) 1 Mad LJ 298: 72 Mad LW 752: 1960 Mad WN 734: ILR (1960) Mad 171: AIR 1960 Mad 160 (164, 165) (Pt D) (Prs 12, 13).

——Art. 246 — Banking Companies Act, 1949, S. 45-B — Validity — Extension of territorial limits of original civil jurisdiction of High Court — It is within plenary powers of Parliament under Art. 246 read with items 43 and 95 of list 1 of Sch. 7. See Banking Companies Act (1949), S. 45-B. AIR 1958 Mad 279.

——Art. 246 — Scope — Sale in course of inter-State trade — Power of Parliament to directly enact legislation. See Art. 286 (2). AIR 1957 Mad 368 (DB).

——Art. 246 — Powers of Legislatures are not unrestricted. See Government of India Act, (1935), Ss. 99 and 100. AIR 1956 Mad 642 (DB).

——Art. 246 — Powers of State Legislature to enact laws — Extent of. See Ibid, Art. 245. AIR 1952 Mad 613 (DB).

——Arts. 246, 245 and 14 — Extent of legislative powers — Right to except from operation of law particular class of persons — Classification must be reasonable — Equality between persons—Interpretation of — Mysore House Rent and Accommodation Control Act (30 of 1951), S. 20 is not unconstitutional. See Ibid, Art. 14. (1963) 1 Mys LJ 444.

——Art. 246 — Scope of power to legislate.

The power to legislate on any topic includes all necessary and incidental powers to make the legislation effective and prevent its frustration. ILR (1956) Nag 157: AIR 1956 Nag 1 (5) (Pt B) (Pr 28) (DB).

——Art. 246 — Power of State Legislature to impose limitation on right of appeal. See Ibid, Art. 245. AIR 1955 Nag 99 (DB).

●——Art. 246 — State Legislature — Whether acts as agent of Parliament — Delegatus non potest delegare — Applicability of.

Per Special Bench — The maxim delegatus non potest delegare has no application to sovereign legislative bodies under the written Constitution. Within the limits of their jurisdiction the State Legislatures have plenary powers. The conferment of the power on the State Legislatures to make laws for the State and for State purposes in relation to matters enumerated in the lists of the seventh schedule is not in any sense to be exercised by delegation from or as agents of the Parliament. Within these limits of subjects and area the State Legislatures are supreme and have the same authority as the Parliament: 9 App Cas 117; 5 Ind App 178, Rel. on.

The Bihar Land Reforms Act (30 of 1950), though it leaves by its provisions contained in S. 32 (2) read with S. 43 (1) (p) a fairly wide discretionary power to the State Govt. in the matter of form and manner of compensation, settles the legislative policy, lays down the limits of the discretion but confides to the State Govt. certain powers to carry out the details of the objects of the enactment. The Act is not, therefore, invalid on the ground of delegated legislation. Maharajadhiraj Sir Kameshwar Singh v. State of Bihar, ILR 30 Pat 454: AIR 1951 Pat 91 (100, 113, 128, 129) (Pt P) (Prs 13, 59, 112, 113) (SB).

●——Art. 246—Affirmative or negative power of Legislature to legislate.

Per Das J.— The power of the Legislature to legislate on a subject, particularly in a written, federal Constitution where there must be a nice balance of jurisdiction, can be looked at from two points of view — affirmative and negative. The conferment of the power is the affirmative aspect; a restraint or restriction on the exercise of the power is the negative aspect. The limitation on the power of legislation may arise by reason of restrictions imposed within the entry which confer the powers; and when the question of exceeding such a restriction arises, it is relevant to consider the true nature and character of the legislation. Maharajadhiraj Sir Kameshwar Singh v. State of Bihar, ILR 30 Pat 454: AIR 1951 Pat 91 (117, 118) (Pt Q) (Pr 74) (SB).

——Arts. 246, 245 — Legislative competence of Parliament — There cannot be any question of conflict between several entries — Rajasthan Gram and Barley (Regulations of Distribution) Order 1964 is issued by State Government as delegate of Central Government — Order falls under Section 3 (2) (d) of Essential Commodities Act — Order is within ambit of authority delegated to State Government.

When there is a conflict between two provisions in two Legislative Lists, the problem of interpretation really arises as the Courts have to define the boundaries of different legislatures and for dealing with such a problem doctrine of pith and substance has been evolved. But these considerations do not arise where one has to deal with the question of legislative competence of the Parliament. The various entries which empower the Parliament to legislate are in that situation taken to be supplementary to each other. In such a case there is really no conflict between the several entries. Therefore, even if it were held that the Essential Commodities Act was primarily an Act passed under Entry 33 of the concurrent list it cannot be argued that its provisions cannot affect inter-State trade, if in reality they do affect it. It is not necessary for a competent legislature to indicate as to under what legislative entry it is making the law but it is for the Courts to look at the subject-matter and then reach the conclusion whether it is in the legislative field assigned to that legislature.

Powers under Cls. (a), (b), (d), (e), (f), (h) and (j) of sub-section (2) of S. 3 of the Essential Commodities Act have been delegated to the State Government but the powers under Cls. (c) and (g) thereof have not been delegated. Section 3 (1) of the Essential Commodities Act confers the powers on the Central Government. By virtue of S. 5 of the Act the Central Government is authorised to delegate its powers to State Govt. When the State Government is thus acting as a delegate of the Central Government, specially when such delegation has been permitted by the law made by Parliament itself, the Court cannot predicate that the State Government has, in any manner, acted in its own legislative field or executive sphere of its own as State Government in issuing the Rajasthan Gram and Barley (Regulation of Distribution) Order 1964. Therefore, the Order cannot be judged as a State made law or as an executive act of itself. Moreover the preamble of the Order clearly shows that it was issued with the concurrence of the Central Government. In that situation the action of the State Government in issuing the Order with the concurrence of the Central Government was to all intents and purposes the action of the Central Government. The Order has been made for the purpose of maintaining available supplies of gram and barley. It could thus appropriately fall under Cl. (d) of Section 3 (2) of the Essential Commodities Act as it was obviously made with the purpose of conserving supplies of the essential commodities within Rajasthan so that they could be available for distribution in Rajasthan. It was just incidental that some kind of restrictions resulted on the export of commodities outside Rajasthan. In making the Order with the concurrence of the Central Government, the State Government has acted within the ambit of authority delegated to it. AIR 1951 SC 318, Disting. AIR 1939 FC 1, Rel. on. 1965 Raj LW 498: ILR (1965) 15 Raj 684: AIR 1966 Raj 105 (108, 109, 110) (Pt A) (Prs 11, 12, 13, 15) (DB).

——Art. 246 — Enforcement of Police Act in Rajasthan after coming in force of the Constitution — Validity — Police Act held validly enforced in Rajasthan. See Ibid, Art. 372 (1). AIR 1957 Raj 28 (DB).

10 (a). Legislative entries denote fields of legislation and not powers of legislation.

——Art. 246 — Entries in Lists in Seventh Schedule — Scope of.

The various entries in the Lists I to III are not powers of legislation but fields of legislation. Where one entry is made subject to another entry, all that it means is that out of the scope of the former entry a field of legislation covered by the latter entry has been reserved to be specially dealt with by the appropriate legislature. 1952 All LJ 52: AIR 1952 All 88 (89) (Pt C) (Pr 4) (DB).

●——Art. 246, Sch. 7 — Entries in lists do not lay down conditions subject to which power is to be exercised.

The entries in the three lists define the fields for legislative action, or in other words the subjects in respect to which the appropriate legislature can legislate. They do not prescribe the conditions subject to which the power is to be exercised.

Although the subjects dealt with in three legislative lists are not always set out with scientific precision, and instances will be found of overlapping, it is clear that a legislature empowered to legislate, on a subject included within particular list, will sustain its power whether it is derived from one entry or from more than one entry. Raja Surya Palsingh v. U. P. Government, ILR (1952) 2 All 46: 1951 All LJ 365: 1951 RD (HC) 122: 1951 AWR (HC) 317: AIR 1951 All 674 (678, 679) (Pt B) (Prs 9, 16) (FB).

10 (b). Power to legislate retrospectively.

●——Art. 246 and Sch. VII, List 2—Power conferred on Legislature can be exercised both prospectively and retrospectively.

The legislative power conferred on the appropriate Legislatures to enact law in respect of topics covered by the several entries in the three Lists can be exercised both prospectively and retrospectively. Where the Legislature can make a valid law, it may provide not only for prospective operation of the material provisions of the said law, but it can also provide for the retrospective operation of the said provisions. Rai Ramkrishna v. State of Bihar. (1964) 1 SCA 413: ILR 42 Pat 796: (1964) 1 SCR 897: (1964) 2 SCJ 749: (1963) 50 ITR 171: AIR 1963 SC 1667 (1673) (Pt B) (Pr 10).

■——Art. 246 — Competency of Legislature — Retrospective Laws — Action taken under law which is void because of its contravention of fundamental rights — Legislature can pass law retrospectively validating such action. See Ibid, Art. 245. AIR 1962 SC 1753.

——Art. 246 — Retrospective levy of tax. See Sales Tax — Madras General Sales Tax Act (9 of 1939), S. 3 (as amended in 1955). AIR 1958 Andh Pra 538 (DB).

——Art. 246 — Power to legislate retrospectively.

Within the frame-work of Art. 246 of the Constitution, the Central and State Legislatures have respectively exclusive powers to make laws with respect to any matters enumerated in Lists I, II and III in the Seventh Schedule. In the plenitude of that power, subject of course to certain constitutional limitations, the Parliament or State Legislature would be within the ambit of their competence if they deem fit to legislate retrospectively. ILR (1956) Hyd 58: AIR 1956 Hyd 35 (38) (Pt D) (Pr 16) (DB).

——Art. 246 — Power of Parliament to pass retrospective legislation for Madhya Bharat — General Clauses Act (1897), S. 6. See Ibid, Art. 20. AIR 1952 Madh Bha 181 (DB).

——Art. 246 — Power of Parliament to legislate retrospectively. See Ibid, Art. 245. AIR 1957 Mad 368 (DB).

10 (c). Legislative competence of Parliament.

●——Art. 246 — Validity of Ss. 2 (6-A) (e) and 12 (1-B) of Income-tax Act (1922) — Provision is within legislative competence of Parliament. See Income-tax Act (1922), S. 2 (6-A) (e). AIR 1965 SC 1375.

●——Art. 246 — Scope — Sch. 7, List 3; Entries 21 and 35 — Motor Vehicles Act (1939), (as amended by Act C of 1956), Chap. IV-A — If ultra vires.

Chapter IV-A, Motor Vehicles Act, could competently be enacted by the Parliament under Entry 21 read with Entry 35 of the Concurrent List of the Constitution. Its provisions, therefore, are not ultra vires the powers of Parliament. AIR 1960 SC 1073, Foll. J. Y. Kondala Rao v. Andhra Pradesh State Road Transport Corporation. (1963) 1 Mad LJ (SC) 111: 1963 1 Andh WR (HC) 111: 1963 Mad LJ (Cri) 226: (1963) 1 SCJ 539: (1961) 1 SCR 642: AIR 1961 SC 82 (86) (Pt A) (Prs 6, 7).

●——Art. 246 — Scope — Central Excises and Salt Act — Validity — Act is within legislative competence of Central Legislature under List 1, Item 45, Government of India Act, 1935 — Incidental encroachment on item 27 or 29 of List II does not affect its validity. See Central Excises and Salt Act (1944), S. 6. AIR 1960 SC 424.

——Art. 246 — Finance Act (1951), S. 7 — Competency of Parliament to enact — As the tax imposed by S. 7 of the Finance Act (1951) was admittedly not a tax mentioned in List II or III of the Constitution, the power of Parliament to impose it could be challenged successfully only on the ground that it was incompetent to do so but it could be difficult to substantiate the claim in view of the clear terms of Item 97 of List 1 of the Constitution. See Finance Act (1951), Section 7. AIR 1957 All 84.

——Art. 246, Sch. 7, List I, Entries 82, 86, List 2 Entry 46 — Scope of — Tax on income and tax on net wealth — Distinction — Tax on net wealth, part of which springs from agricultural income — Imposition by Parliament — Constitutionality — Parliament whether commits trespass on field covered by List 2, Entry 46 — Wealth Tax Act (1957), Ss. 2 (m) and 3 — Constitutional validity.

A tax on income of a person may be deemed to be a levy on his receipts during a specified period, very often after making due allowance for expenses incurred by him. The agricultural income of a person is that which is received by him by way of rent or revenue in respect of land used for agricultural purposes or that which is derived by him from such land as a result of agricultural operations or both and may be in cash or in kind.

A tax on agricultural income would fall within Entry 46 in the State List, while a tax on other categories of income would fall within Entry 82 in the Union List. A tax on income is on that which is received; a tax on net wealth is on that which accumulates. At a given point of time, a tax on net wealth may fall in part on what was originally received and had accumulated and it may fall on the same person as the tax on income does; but the two are different. The prohibition in Art. 246 of the Constitution, is against a trespass by one legislature on a field reserved for another. The issue of trespass has to be adjudged on the doctrine of pith and substance of the impugned tax.

Applying it to the Wealth Tax Act, 1957, there is no doubt that Parliament had committed no trespass whatever on the State field of legislation in imposing a tax on net wealth, part of which may have sprung from agricultural income. This applies not only to agricultural produce like paddy stored by the assessee in their granary, but also to arrears of rent which had accrued due from their tenants. AIR 1932 PC 138, Rel. on. ILR (1961) 2 Ker 368: 1961 Ker LJ 1046: 1961 Ker LT 905: (1962) 13 STC 277: AIR 1962 Ker 110 (115) (Pt B) (Pr 9) (DB).

——Art. 246 — Scope of — Animals and Birds in captivity — Sale of — Levy of tax — Competence of Parliament. See Sales Tax — Central Sales Tax Act (1956), S. 2 (d). AIR 1960 Ker 360.

——Art. 246 — Sales Tax Law Validation Act (1956) — Validity — Parliament held did not transgress its powers under Art. 286 (2). See Sales Tax — Sales Tax Law Validation Act (1956), Section 2. AIR 1957 Mad 368 (DB).

——Art. 246 and Sch. 7, List 3, Entry 2 — Amendment of Criminal Procedure Code — (Representation of the People Act (1951), Section 138).

It is open to the Parliament to amend the Criminal Procedure Code, though the State also may introduce its own special amendment. For an amendment of the Criminal Procedure Code it is not necessary that an Act as such to amend the Criminal Procedure Code must be introduced. It may be introduced in any of the Acts of Parliament by introducing a suitable provision in that Act. Since the Parliament has power to amend the Criminal Procedure Code and has power to introduce a provision like Section 138 of Act 43 of 1951, that section has all the force of amending the Cr. P. Code in respect of all offences which fall within the Indian Penal Code. The amendment introduced by Section 138, Representation of the People Act is quite valid. (1954) 1 Mad LJ 653: 1954 Mad WN 253: 1954 Cri LJ 1126: AIR 1954 Mad 704 (705) (Pt B) (Pr 2).

——Art. 246, Sch. 7, List 1, Entry 86 and List 2, Entry 49 — 'Assets' in Entry 86 includes land as well — Wealth Tax Act (1957), Section 1 — Act is within legislative competence of Parliament under List 1, Entry 86.

The Wealth-Tax Act is within the legislative competence of the Parliament under Sch. 7, List 1, Entry 86 of the Constitution of India. The word 'assets' in that entry includes land as well and therefore, land other than agricultural land comes within the scope of that entry. Entries in the seventh Schedule being topics of legislation will have to be given the widest possible connotation. AIR 1962 Mys 269, Dist. 1963 Mys LJ (Sup) 365 : (1963) 48 ITR 472 : AIR 1963 Mys 111 (111, 112) (Pt A) (Pr 2) (DB).

10 (d). Legislative competence of State Legislature.

●——Art. 246 — Bihar Sales Tax Act (XIX of 1947), Sections 4 (1) and (2) (g) second Proviso as amended by Act (6 of 1949) — Validity of — Provisions held well within legislative competence of the legislature of province of Bihar. See Sales-Tax — Bihar Sales Tax Act (19 of 1947), S. 4 (1). AIR 1958 SC 452.

●——Art. 246, Sch. 7, List 1, Item 52, List 2, Items 24 and 27 and List 3, Item 33 — Scope— 'Industry' — Meaning — U. P. Sugarcane (Regulation of Supply and Purchase) Act (24 of 1953) — If intra vires — (Words and Phrases — 'Industry').

Production, supply and distribution was within the exclusive sphere of the State Legislature, subject to Entry 33 of List 3. The amendment of Entry 33 of List 3 by the Constitution (Third Amendment) Act, 1954, only enlarged the scope of that Entry without in any manner whatever detracting from the legislative competence of Parliament and the State Legislatures to legislate in regard to the same. It was only after this amendment of Entry 33 of List 3 by the Constitution (Third Amendment) Act, 1954, that foodstuffs including edible oilseeds and oils came to be included within that List and it was possible to legislate in regard to sugarcane, having recourse to Entry 33 of List 3. Save for that sugarcane, being goods, fell directly within Entry 27 of List 2 and was within the exclusive jurisdiction of the State Legislatures. Production, supply and distribution of sugarcane being thus within the exclusive sphere of the State Legislatures, the U. P. State Legislature would be competent to legislate in regard to the same and the impugned Act would be intra vires the State Legislature.

The raw materials would be goods which would be comprised in Entry 27 of List 2. The process of manufacture or production would be comprised in Entry 24 of List 2 except where the industry was a controlled industry when it would fall within Entry 52 of List 1 and the products of the industry would also be comprised in Entry 27 of List 2 except where they were the products of the controlled industries when they would fall within Entry 33 of List 3. This being the position, it cannot be said that the legislation which was enacted by the Centre in regard to sugar and sugarcane could fall within Entry 52 of List 1.

A comparison of the terms of U. P. Sugar Factories Control Act (1 of 1938) with those of the U. P. Sugarcane (Regulation of Supply and Purchase) Act, goes to show that the impugned Act merely confined itself to the regulation of the supply and purchase of sugarcane required for use in sugar factories. There was no question whatever of its trenching upon the jurisdiction of the Centre in regard to sugar industry which was a controlled industry within Entry 52 of List 1 and the U. P. Legislature had jurisdiction to enact the law with regard to sugarcane and had legislative competence to enact the U. P. Sugarcane (Regulation of Supply and Purchase) Act. Tika Ramiji v. State of Uttar Pradesh. 1956 SCJ 625: 1956 SCA 979: 1956 All WR (HC) 657: 1956 SCR 393: AIR 1956 SC 676 (690, 691, 695, 696, 697) (Pt A) (Prs 18, 24, 25).

●——Arts. 246, 32, 245—Orissa Hindu Religious Endowments Act (2 of 1952 as amended in 1954), S. 79-A — Validity — Such a provision is within competence of legislature — Section 79-A is not open to challenge on ground of legislative incompetence —(Orissa Hindu Religious Endowments Act (2 of 1952 as amended in 1954), S. 79-A). See Ibid, Arts. 226 and 32. AIR 1956 SC 432.

●——Arts 246 (3), 146 (3), 229 (3) and 265; Sch. 7, List 1, Items 77 and 96: List 2, Entries 3 and 66; List 3, Entry 47 — Court-fees Act (1870), Section 4 and Sch 2: Art. 1, Cl. (e) (U. P. Amendment) — Court-fee imposed by — Tax or fee.

Per Full Bench:— The provisions of S. 4 and Sch. 2, Art. 1 (e), Court-fees Act as amended by the Court-fees (U. P. Amendment) Act (10 of 1959) are within the legislative competence of the State Legislature and are valid.

Per Mootham, C. J. :— The levy imposed by the impugned provisions on writ petitions under Art. 226 is a fee and not a tax and comes within the purview of Entry 3 of List 2 in Sch. 7 and is within the legislative competence of the State Legislature by virtue of Art. 246 (3).

The distinction between a fee and a tax drawn by Supreme Court is summarised in AIR 1954 SC 282, AIR 1954 SC 388 and AIR 1954 SC 400. But the definition of fee to be found in the Supreme Court cases is not intended to be exhaustive. The provisions of Art. 146 (3) and Art. 229 (3) show that there exists another class of imposition, also called a fee in the Constitution, which differs from the type of fee which the Supreme Court had under consideration. Though the fees realised under the Court Fees Act are not appropriated for any specific purpose but form part of the general revenues of the State it would fall within the expression 'fee' in the Constitution. Khacheru Singh v. S. D. O., Khurja. ILR (1960) 1 All 429 : 1960 All LJ 170: 1960 All WR (HC) 137: AIR 1960 All 462 (463 to 466) (Pt B) (Prs 5, 10, 11, 12, 21, 26) (FB).

●——Arts. 246 and 245, Sch. 7, List 2, Entry 49 — U. P. Large Land Holdings Tax Act (XXXI of 1957), Ss. 3 (1) Proviso and 5 — Tax is on holding and not on annual value — Act comes under List 2, Entry 49.

Looking to the whole of the Act the tax under the Act is clearly a tax on the holding and not on the annual value or the capitalised value of the land and the annual value is only the measure of the tax. Even if it be assumed that the annual value is the capitalised value of land, the capitalised value is only the basis and not the object of taxation. The State legislature was fully competent to have passed the impugned Act because of Entry No. 49 of the State List. Oudh Sugar Mills, Ltd. v. State of U. P., ILR (1960) 1 All 487: 1959 All LJ 754: 1959 All WR (HC) 544 (2): AIR 1960 All 136 (143, 144, 145, 146) (Pt C) (Prs 16, 26, 29) (FB).

——Art. 246 — Adopting law made by another Legislature.

A State Legislature has power to make laws with respect to only those matters that are exhaustively enumerated in Lists 2 and 3 and has no power whatsoever to make laws with respect to any matter that cannot be found in them. A State Legislature has no residuary powers at all. Adoping a law made by another Legislature is not a matter to be found in Lists 2 and 3. Therefore, no law made by a State Legislature can be justified on the ground that though it is not with respect to any of the matters dealt with in Lists 2 and 3, it is simply adopting a law validly made by another Legislature.

If a Legislature cannot do anything directly, it cannot do it indirectly; if a State Legislature cannot directly enact a law with respect to a certain matter, it cannot do so indirectly by simply adopting a law made with respect to it by another Legislature. ILR (1954) 2 All 191: 1954 All LJ 477: 1954 All WR (HC) 529: 1954 Cri LJ 1485: AIR 1954 All 728 (733, 734) (Pt E) (Pr 20) (DB).

[Overruled on another point in AIR 1955 All 269.]

●——Arts. 246, 245—Property held under Crown grant in U. P. — Legislation for acquisition — U. P. Legislature has exclusive jurisdiction for enacting legislation for its acquisition for public purpose — Section 3, Crown Grants Act, 1895, does not impose restrictions on the powers of Provincial Legislature. 73 IA 123, Rel. on. Surya Palsingh v. U. P. Government, 1951 ALJ 365: 1951 RD (HC) 122: 1951 All WR HC 317: ILR (1952) 2 All 46: AIR 1951 All 674 (692) (Pt T) (Prs 96, 97) (FB).

——Arts. 246 (3), 225, 226, Sch. 7, List 2, Entry 3 — High Court prescribing court-fee for proceedings before it in original jurisdiction — Powers of State legislature in this respect — Court-fee on writ petitions. See Ibid, Art. 225. AIR 1957 Andh Pra 123 (DB).

——Arts. 246, 245 — Legislative competence. See Tenancy Laws — Assam Fixation of Ceiling on Land Holdings Act (1 of 1957). AIR 1959 Assam 147 (DB).

——Arts. 246 and 265 and Sch. 7, List 2, Entries 59, 66 and 28 — Markets — Legislation on tolls and fees — Validity of Section 140, Assam Municipal Act — (Municipalities — Assam Municipal Act (1 of 1923), S. 140).

Entry No. 28 of List 2 Seventh Schedule of the Constitution gives power to the State Legislature to legislate on markets while Entries Nos. 59 and 66 of that list give power to legislate on tolls and fees respectively. Hence it cannot be said that there is no legislative competence to enact Section 140 of the Assam Municipal Act.

Section 140 of the Assam Municipal Act itself gives power to the Board to charge rents, tolls and fees for the right to expose goods for sale in the shops, stalls and standings therein. The Board when it gives the use of the stalls and shops, and further permits the shop-keepers to exercise rights to expose their goods for sale in the municipal market and in consideration therefor charges fees and utilises the same for maintenance it is not levying a tax on the shop-keepers. It is not necessary for it to show that every pie it realised as a fee is spent for the maintenance of the market to show that only a fee is collected. AIR 1958 Assam 156 (158, 159) (Pt B) (Prs 5, 6) (DB).

——Arts. 246 (3), 372 (1) and 266 and Sch. 7, List 2, Entry 3— Court-fees Act (1870), S. 6 — Government of India Act (1935), Ss. 292 and 100 (3) and Sch. 7, List 2, Item 1 — Effect of constitutional provisions is that Court-fees Act though originally a Central Act, is now Act of State Legislature — State Legislature alone has exclusive power to legislate in respect of court-fees payable in that particular State. See Court Fees Act (1870), S. 6. AIR 1960 Bom 96.

——Art. 246 — C. P. and Berar Sales Tax Act (21 of 1947), S. 2 (g) — Sale of goods — Building contracts — No sale of materials to owner — Competency of State legislature — Contractor not liable to pay tax — (Sale of Goods Act (1930), S. 4). See Sales Tax—C. P. and Berar Sales Tax Act (21 of 1947), S. 2 (g). AIR 1959 Bom 236.

——Art. 246 (3) and Sch. 7, List 2, Entry 18 — 'Land' — Bombay Tenancy and Agricultural Lands (Amendment) Act (13 of 1956) — If ultra vires.

Under Art. 246 (3) of the Constitution read with List II of the Seventh Schedule, the State Legislature has the power under Entry No. 18 to legislate in the matter of land "that is to say, rights in or over land — including the relation of landlord and tenant". Legislation in connection with land tenures including the relation of landlord and tenant or in connection with transfer and alienation of agricultural land may be enacted by the State Legislatures and that power must encompass legislation to restrict or even extinguish subsisting rights in land.

Hence, the contention that the State Legislature had no power to enact legislation providing for statutory purchase of land by tenants in occupation of lands belonging to the landlords cannot be accepted. AIR 1947 PC 72, Rel. on. 59 Bom LR 616: AIR 1957 Bom 252 (259, 260) (Pt B) (Prs 16, 17) (DB).

[Overruled on another point in AIR 1959 SC 459.]

——Art. 246 — Government of India Act (1935), Sch. 7, List 2, Item 31 — Bombay Prohibition Act (25 of 1949), S. 1 —Bombay Prohibition Act is competently legislated in respect of medicinal preparations.

As the word 'liquor' in entry 31 in List 2 of Sch. 7, Government of India Act included medicinal preparations containing alcohol the Bombay Legislature had legislative competence to legislate in respect of medicinal preparations containing alcohol. AIR 1956 Bom 304 (308, 309) (Pt A) (Pr 8).

●——Art. 246 — Power of Bihar Legislature to amend Bengal Settled Estates Act, 1904.

The Bengal Settled Estates Act applies by its own force to the State of Bihar because sub-s. (2) of S. 1 of that Act provides that it extends to the State of West Bengal and Bihar and to that part of the State of Orissa which on the 9th day of March, 1904, was included in Bengal. The Bihar Legislaure is accordingly competent to modify or amend such portions of the Bengal Settled Estates Act as it thinks fit. The Bihar Land Reforms Act is within the legislative competence of the Bihar Legislature because the subject dealt with, is within the State List of the Constitution of India. Consequently the sovereign Legislature in exercise of its plenary power can amend a pre-existing law on the same subject. Maharaja Probirendra Mohun Tagore v. State of Bihar. ILR (1960) 2 Cal 556 : AIR 1959 Cal 767 (771, 772) (Pt C) (Pr 12) (SB).

■ ——Arts. 246 and Sch. 7, List 2, Entry 18 — Bengal Settled Estates Act, Ss. 10 and 29 — Interest of life tenant under — Bengal Act is not indivisible unit —Bihar Legislature has plenary power to legislate with regard to land in Bihar— Validity of Bihar Land Reforms Act cannot be challenged— (Tenancy Laws — Bihar Land Reforms Act (Bihar Act 30 of 1950), S. 1)). See Bengal Settled Estates Act (Bengal Act 3 of 1904), S. 10. AIR 1959 Cal 767 (SB).

——Arts. 246 (3) and 366 (1) and Sch. 7, List 2, Entry 46 — Legislation on matter of taxation in respect of agricultural income — Exclusive right of State — S. 7 (1), Bengal Agricultural Income-tax Act — Constitutional validity — (Bengal Agricultural Income-tax Act (IV of 1944), Ss. 7, 2 (14) and (16) and 4).

That State Legislature has the exclusive right to legislate on the matter of taxation in respect of agricultural income. But, since the words 'agricultural income' are defined in Art. 366 (1), the State Legislature cannot, of its own motion, extend the meaning of agricultural income, thereby extending its own jurisdiction.

For the purpose of computing the agricultural income of an assessee under the Bengal Agricultural Income-tax Act what is to be considered is receipt actual or constructive. The income of the assessee is the income in respect of the produce of the whole land irrespective of what is taken by the bargadar as his share. Since the receipt of the bargadar is to be computed as receipt by the owner of income, S. 7 (1) cannot be held to be unconstitutional, because in that event it cannot be established that the Agricultural Income-tax Act by proviso to S. 7 (1) or by any other provision increases the jurisdiction of the Legislature which it does not possess. AIR 1958 Cal 585 (586, 591, 592, 593) (Pt B) (Prs 3, 12, 16).

——Art. 246, Sch. 7, List 1, entries 77, 78, 95, List II, Item 365 — Calcutta City Civil Court Act (31 of 1953) — Validity of.

While 'jurisdiction and powers' of the Supreme Court have been expressly included in Entry 77 of List I, these words have been deliberately left out in Entry 78 of the same List, in respect of the High Courts. The omission is not supplied by Entry 95 because that Entry only enables jurisdiction and powers to be given in respect of the matters enumerated in List 1. The State Legislature being the appropriate body to legislate in respect of administration of justice, and to invest all Courts within the State including the High Court with general jurisdiction and powers in all matters civil and criminal, it must follow that it can invest a High Court with such general jurisdiction and powers (including territorial and pecuniary jurisdiction) and also take away such jurisdiction and powers from the High Court. So far as the Calcutta City Civil Court is concerned, Act 21 of 1953 is not ultra vires the powers of the State Legislature. 61 Cal WN 630 : ILR (1958) 1 Cal 576 : AIR 1957 Cal 534 (543, 544) (Pt B) (Prs 24, 25).

——Art. 246 — Scope of provincial orders.

West Bengal Food Stuffs Anti-Hoarding Order 1951, Notification No. 2817 D. C. S., dated 27-2-1946, under the Bengal Rationing Order, 1943, Notification No. 2818 D. C. S., dated 27-2-1946, and West Bengal Food Grains (Movement Control) Order, 1951, were within the scope and ambit of the legislation permissible to West Bengal Government and in pith and substance the orders issued dealt exclusively with provincial matters. AIR 1953 SC 83, Foll. 58 Cal WN 659 : 1954 Cr LJ 1722 : AIR 1954 Cal 591 (600) (Pt J) (Pr 29) (DB).

——Art. 246 and Sch. 7, List 2, Item 54 — Sale of goods — Works contract — (Hyderabad General Sales Tax Act (14 of 1950), Ss. 2 (c), (e), (g), (k), (m), (n). 3 and 4).

Tax on sale of goods must necessarily be a tax imposed at the time of sale of goods. Where therefore, under a works contract a person undertakes to build a particular building or to make a particular thing, the materials involved in the building or making of the finished product, are not the subject-matter of a sale because there is no agreement to sell the materials nor is the price of goods fixed nor is there a passing of the title in these goods as such, except as part of the building or the thing in which they are embedded. AIR 1954 SC 459, Foll.; (1955) 6 STC 93 (Nag) Dissented from. ILR (1956) Hyd 162 : (1956) 7 STC 423 : AIR 1956 Hyd 79 (86, 87) (Pt D) (Prs 19, 20) (DB).

■ ——Art. 246 (3)—Power of State Legislature to enact law conferring power on division Benches to hear appeals against orders of single Judge passed under Art. 226 — Kerala High Court Act (5 of 1959), S. 5 — Constitutionality — State Legislature held competent to pass the Act and the Act is valid. See Ibid, Art. 225. AIR 1961 Ker 96 (FB).

——Arts. 246 (2) and 246 (3) — Madhya Pradesh Agricultural Produce Markets (Validation) Act, 1962 (XII of 1962), S. 3 — Madhya Pradesh Agricultural Produce Markets (Validation) Ordinance (II of 1962) — Enactments validating action which is struck down by judgment — Not open to challenge though it renders judgment to have no legal effect — Legislature competent to enact laws within limits framed by Constitution. See Madhya Pradesh Agricultural Produce Markets (Validation) Act 1962 (XII of 1962), S. 3. AIR 1965 Madh Pra 6 (DB).

——Arts. 246 (2) and 254 (1) — Scope — Minimum Wages (Madhya Pradesh Amendment and Validation) Act (23 of 1961) is within legislative competence of State legislature — Principal Act and Validation Act both co-exist in M. P. subject to Art. 254 (2). See Minimum Wages (Madhya Pradesh Amendment and Validation) Act (23 of 1961). AIR 1962 Madh Pra 342 (DB).

——Arts. 246, 245, 286 — Development of sales-tax law in India traced — State of law in pre-Constitution and post-Constitution periods — Competency of State Legislature pointed out — C.P. and Berar Sales Tax Act (21 of 1947), S. 2 (g), Expl. II —Sales Tax Laws Validation Act (1956). See Ibid, Art. 245. AIR 1962 Madh Pra 225 (DB).

——Art. 246, Schedule 7, List 2, Entries 46, 49— S. 65 (4) Madras Agricultural Income Tax Act (V of 1955) — Provision not beyond legislative competence.

It cannot be said that there is no competency for the State Legislature to enact a tax on the mere holding of property. As regards the power to tax agricultural income, Entry 46 of List II of the Constitution confers a specific power, and that entry reads, "Taxes on agricultural income". Entry 49, "Taxes on lands and buildings" is sufficiently wide to enable the State Legislature to levy tax even on holdings of agricultural lands. S. 65 (4) of the Madras Agricultural Income-tax Act cannot be challenged as being ultra vires and beyond the powers of legislation of the State. So long as the impugned Act is not ultra vires or unconstitutional the subject is bound by that provision and cannot get out of it by merely calling the legislation clumsy or awkward. ILR (1964) 2 Mad 312 : 77 Mad LW 422 : 1964 Mad WN 351 : AIR 1964 Mad 556 (560) (Pt C) (Pr 9) (DB).

——Arts. 246, 245, Sch. 7, List 2, Entry 54 — Subsidiary and ancillary legislation — Competency of State Legislature to enact law for forfeiture by State of sales-tax illegally collected — Madras General Sales Tax Act (9 of 1939), S. 8-B (2) (as amended by Madras Act 1 of 1957)— Amendment is intra vires and valid. See Ibid, Sch. 7, List 2, Entry 54. AIR 1963 Mad 116.
[Overruled in AIR 1964 SC 922.]

——Art. 246, Sch. 7, List 2, entry 18 — Madras Land Revenue Surcharge Act (19 of 1954) and Madras Land Revenue (Additional Surcharge) Act (30 of 1955) — Validity.

A surcharge of land revenue would also partake the character of land revenue and should be deemed to be an additional land revenue. The effect of the two Acts (Act 19 of 1954 and Act 30 of 1955) would be, to increase the land-revenue payable by a landholder to the extent of the surcharge levied.

It would not be open to the Government to increase the assessment during the period covered by a settlement which would ordinarily be good for 30 years. But that could not, however, prevent the legislature from increasing the assessment by an enactment. Both under the Government of India Act of 1935 as well as under the Constitution, the State Legislature possess full powers to levy a tax in regard to agricultural lands. Act 19 of 1954 and Act 30 of 1955 being passed by the legislature could not, therefore, be assailed. 72 Mad LW 536 : (1959) 2 Mad LJ 344 : ILR (1959) Mad 1073 : AIR 1960 Mad 543 (545, 546, 547) (Pt A) (Prs 5, 8, 9).

——Art. 246 (3), Sch. 7, List II, Entry 18 — 'Tenant' — Ex-tenant — If tenant — (Tenancy Laws — Madras Cultivating Tenants Protection Act (25 of 1955, as amended by Act 14 of 1956)— Madras Cultivating Tenants (Payment of Fair Rent) Act (24 of 1956) — Validity).

The term 'tenant' in item 18 List II of the Seventh Schedule of the Constitution includes an ex-tenant. It follows that the circumtsance that the Acts impugned, viz., Madras Acts 25 of 1955 and 24 of 1956 confer rights on persons who were let into possession on tenancy agreements but who continue after the expiry of the terms of their tenancy would not take the Acts beyond the scope of Art. 246 (3) and item 18 of list II of the Seventh Schedule of the Constitution. C. N. Subramania Iyer v. Dharmalinga Padayachi, 1959 Mad WN 1 : ILR (1958) Mad 932 : (1959) 1 MLJ 1 : AIR 1958 Mad 608 (615) (Pt C) (Pr 24) (FB).

——Art. 246 (3) and Sch. 7, List 2, Entry 54 — Power of State Legislature to make laws —Power to impose tax on sale of goods —Madras General Sales Tax Act (1939) (as amended by Madras Act 8 of 1955), S. 3 (1-A) — Validity — Levy of provisional assessment — (Sales tax — Madras General Sales Tax Act (IX of 1939) (as amended by Madras Act 8 of 1955), S. 3 (1-A)).

It cannot be said that the provisional assessment levied under S. 3 (1-A), Madras General Sales-tax Act, as amended by Madras Act VIII of 1955, is not in truth a tax on the sale of goods falling within entry 54 of the State List but a tax on an anticipated sale. The words of entry 54 designate the centre and not the circumference of the power. If, therefore, the impugned provision has relevance to or connection with the subject assigned, it would be within the State legislative power. Again every legislative power carries with it authority to legislate in relation to acts, matters and things the control of which is found necessary to effectuate its main purpose and carries with it power to make laws governing matters that are incidental or ancillary to the subject-matter. If a tax liability is certain to arise a provision designed to ensure that this shall not be evaded is clearly within the power to enact a law with respect to taxes on the sale of goods. 1957 Mad WN 229 : (1957) 8 STC 127 : 70 Mad LW 100 : (1957) 1 Mad LJ 321 : ILR (1957) Mad 493 : AIR 1957 Mad 325 (330) (Pt C) (Prs 23, 24) (DB).

——Art. 246 and Sch. VII, List II, Entry 54 — Legislative competence — Power to validate illegal assessments.

It is well settled that the power to validate illegal assessments made by executive authorities is incidental to the power to levy the tax. AIR 1941 FC 16 : (1940) 3 FLJ (FC) 97 : (1941) 1 MLJ (Sup) 65 (FC) and 59 Clr 150, Rel. on. 1956 Mad WN 180 : ILR (1956) Mad 1123 : 69 Mad LW 75: (1956) 7 STC 105 : (1956) 1 Mad LJ 339 : AIR 1956 Mad 298 (300) (Pt C) (Pr 13) (DB).

——Arts. 246 and 258 — Disposal of applications for import licence — State Government constituting committee including State Government Officer who was acting as sponsoring authority under Import and Export (Control) Act — Order constituting committee amounted to encroachment upon exclusive jurisdiction of Union Government and sponsoring authority ought to have exercised its own individual judgment. See Ibid, Art. 226. AIR 1965 Mys 143 (DB).

——Art. 246 — Mysore Village Offices Abolition Act — Act does not contravene Constitution of India — Abolition of village offices, is within competence of State Legislature. See Mysore Village Offices Abolition Act (14 of 1961), S. 2 (1) (n). AIR 1964 Mys 84 (DB).

——Art. 246 (2) — Government of India Act (1935), S. 100 — Municipalities — Khandwa Municipality (Validation of Tax) Act (16 of 1941), S. 1 — Legislative competence of Provincial Legislature and its power.

In India the Legislature is competent to put an end to the finality of a decision of a Court and reopen a past controversy and even to pass validating Acts. And in this view the Provincial Legislature has not transgressed its limits in enacting the Khandwa Municipality (Validation of Tax) Act (16 of 1941). AIR 1944 FC 1, Foll. 1956 Nag LJ 321 : ILR (1956) Nag 83 : AIR 1956 Nag 167 (171) (Pt C) (Pr 24) (DB).

——Arts. 246 and 286 (1) — Sales tax —Orissa Sales Tax Act (14 of 1947), S. 5 (2) (a) (ii) — Validity — Condition in certificate of registration broken by registered dealer-purchaser — Proviso— Legislative competency.

Where an assessee-petitioner being a registered dealer purchases articles mentioned in the certificate of registration from another registered dealer with the undertaking that the articles are to be resold in Orissa, then on account of this undertaking he is exempt from paying sales tax. But this exemption is a conditional one and it is so provided in S. 5 (2) (a) (ii) itself that if the condition is broken, the prices of goods so utilised shall be included in the taxable turnover of the purchasing registered dealer. There is no Constitutional bar for making such a provision in the Act itself. Where conditional deductions are allowed on the undertaking in the purchasing dealer's certificate of registration, the Legislature is within its jurisdiction to make a provision that on the breach of such an undertaking the purchasing dealer is liable to pay the tax on the basis of the sale which took place with the aforesaid undertaking. O. J. C. No. 253 of 1954 (Orissa). Foll. AIR 1955 SC 786 and (1955) 6 STC 255 (Nag). Disting. ILR (1956) Cut 478: (1956) 7 STC 645 : 22 Cut LT 208 : AIR 1956 Orissa 145 (146) (Pt A) (Pr 4) (DB).

——Art. 246 — Tenancy Laws — Bihar Land Reforms Act (30 of 1950), S. 3 (i) — Notification under No. 5327 — L. R./Zam D/- 10-5-1955 vesting the properties in the former State of Seraikella in the State of Bihar — Validity —Notification held was not outside jurisdiction of Bihar Legislature. See Tenancy Laws — Bihar Land Reforms Act (30 of 1950), S. 3 (i). AIR 1963 Pat 475 (DB).

——Art. 246 (3). Sch. 7, List 2, Entry 11 — Validating law — Power of State Legislature to enact.

The State Legislature is competent to pass validating legislation. The power of the State Legislature to promulgate legislation with regard to subject-matter of Education (Sch. 7, List 2, Entry 11) includes the ancillary or subsidiary power to validate doubtful executive action on the same subject: AIR 1941 FC 16. Foll. The legislation contained in S. 9 of the Bihar High Schools (Control and Regulation of Administration) Act (13 of 1960) which speaks of executive orders made before the commencement of the Act and expressly validate such executive orders of the State Government in regard to High Schools is constitutionally valid. The Bihar Legislature is competent to enact such legislation under Art. 246 (3) of the Constitution. ILR 40 Pat 635 : 1961 BLJR 100 : 1961 Pat LR 6 : AIR 1961 Pat 274 (274, 275, 276) (Prs 4, 5) (DB).

——Arts. 246 (3), 286 (1) (a), Explanation, Sch. 7, List 2, Entry 54 — Scope of —Inter-State sales — Tax on, by consuming State — Source of legislative competency. See Ibid, Art. 286 (1) (a), Expl. AIR 1957 Pat 288.

——Arts. 246 (3), 286 and Sch. 7 List 2 Entry 54 — Government of India Act (1935), S. 100 (3) and Sch. 7 — List 2 Entry 48 — "For a province or any part thereof" — Constitutional authority of Provincial Legislature to tax sale transaction. See Government of India Act (1935), S. 100 (3). AIR 1956 Pat 92.

——Arts. 246, 286 and Sch. 7, List 1, Entry 84 and List 2, Entry 54 — Government of India Act (1935), S. 100 and Sch. 7 List 1 Entry 45 and List 2 Entry 48 — Sales-tax and excise tax — Competence of provincial legislature. See Government of India Act (1935) S. 100. AIR 1956 Pat 92.

——Art. 246; Sch. 7, List 3, Item 10—S. 58 of Bihar Waqfs Act is not ultra vires — Section does not interfere with or abridge any of fundamental rights guaranteed by Constitution — State Legislature was quite competent to legislate about trusts and trustees within State of Bihar. See Bihar Waqfs Act (8 of 1948), S. 58. AIR 1955 Pat 470.

●——Art. 246 —Bihar Land Reforms Act (1950), Pre. — Subject-matter of Act whether within legislative powers of State. See Tenancy Laws — Bihar Land Reforms Act (30 of 1950). AIR 1951 Pat 91 (SB).

——Arts. 246, 22 (7) — Preventive detention legislation — Powers of State — Successive legislations. See Ibid, Art. 22 (7). 51 Cri LJ 1251: AIR 1950 Pat 332 (DB).

——Art. 246 (3) — Punjab Passengers and Goods Taxation Act (16 of 1952), S. 3 (3), Proviso — Validity — It was within legislative and territorial competence of State to enact Punjab Act (16 of 1952). See Punjab Passengers and Goods Taxation Act (16 of 1952), Proviso to S. 3 (3). AIR 1954 Punj 264 (DB).

●——Art. 246 and Sch. 7, List 2, Item 18—Scope.

All the provisions of the Punjab Security of Land Tenures Act are concerned with rights in or over land, land tenures, the relation of landlord and tenant and collection of rents and the Act therefore clearly falls under Item 18, List 2, Sch.7. Bhagirath Ram Chand v. State of Punjab, 56 Punj LR 1: AIR 1954 Punj 167 (171) (Pt E) (Pr 13) (FB).

——Art. 246 (3) and Sch. 7, List 2, Entry 1 — Power to legislate measures relating to public safety — (Public safety — T. C. Public Safety Measures Act (V of 1950) — (Words and Phrases — "Public Order" and "Public Safety").

"Punjab Order" in the State List must be interpreted to include "public safety" in its relations to maintenance of public order both of them being interdependent. Consequently the State legislature was competent to pass the T. C. Public Safety Measures Act (V of 1950) which as seen from its preamble was intended to provide for public order as well though styled as "The Public Safety Measures Act". 1953 Cr LJ 1786: 1953 Ker LT 482: AIR 1953 Trav-Co. 540 (540, 541) (Pt A) (Pr 4).

——Art. 246 — Travancore-Cochin High Court (Amendment) Act (1 of 1952), Pre. — Act is within competency of State legislature in view of Entry No. 3 in State List and Entry No. 13 in concurrent list. See Travancore Cochin High Court (Amendment) Act (1 of 1952). AIR 1953 Trav Co. 53 (DB).

10 (c). Concurrent List.

——Art. 246 — Order of Governor commuting death sentence confirmed by High Court — Validity — Mandamus directing State to execute death sentence — Cannot be issued under Art. 246 (2) — Parliament and Legislature of State both have power to make laws in respect of matters specified in concurrent list — Legislature of U. P. is therefore entitled to make law in respect of offence under S. 302, Penal Code. See Ibid, Art. 226. 1962 (1) Cr LJ 241 : AIR 1962 All 151.

——Art. 246 — Concurrent List — Exclusive power of Parliament — State cannot make laws.

The power of a State to make laws with respect to any of the matters enumerated in Sch. 7, List 3 is subject to the exclusive power of Parliament, if it has any, to make laws with respect to the same matters. If Parliament has the exclusive power, a State cannot make laws even if the matters are enumerated in List 3. ILR (1954) 2 All 191: 1954 All LJ 477: 1954 All WR (HC) 529: 1954 Cr LJ 1485: AIR 1954 All 728 (730, 731) (Pt A) (Pr 9) (DB).

[Overruled on another point in AIR 1955 All 269.]

——Art. 246, List II Entry 36, List III, Entry 42 — U. P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act (1951), S. 1 — Validity of Act — Absence of provision for compensation — Effect — No Parliamentary legislation under Entry 42 of List III — State Legislature could enact under Entry 42 of List III in respect of property acquired that compensation shall be paid in bonds or even that there shall be no compensation. See Tenancy laws — U. P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act (1 of 1951), S. 11. AIR 1952 All 88 (DB).

●——Art. 246 (2), Sch. 7, List III — Concurrent List — Underlying principle — (Government of India Act (1935), S. 99, Sch. 7, List III).

The principle which is underlying the scheme of the Constitution is that the Central Legislature had overriding powers with regard to subjects in the concurrent list. Laws dealing with the subjects mentioned in List III can be passed by the different State Legislatures, but it is always open to the Central Legislature to step in and to put on the statute book a law bringing about uniformity all over the country. The State v. Narayandas Mangilal Dayame, 59 Bom LR 901: 1958 Cr LJ 161: ILR (1957) Bom 880: AIR 1958 Bom 68 (70, 71) (Pt A) (Pr 3) (FB).

——Art. 246 — Validity of Press (Objectionable Matters) Act — Trespass upon the field of another Legislature — Concurrent List — Rules of construction. See Press (Objectionable Matters) Act (1951), S. 3 (5). 1954 Cr LJ 1549: AIR 1954 Bom 508 (DB).

——Arts. 246 (2), 254 — Existing laws on matters in Concurrent List — Power of Parliament to repeal or amend not restricted.

By virtue of Art. 246 (2) the power to repeal or amend 'existing laws' on matters in the concurrent list resides both in Parliament and in the State Legislatures whether the law in question be one made by the Centre or a Province or an Indian State. The exercise of that power by a State Legislature is subject to the restrictions in Art. 254 but that article places no restriction on its exercise by Parliament. Hence by enacting S. 5 (b) of the Hindu Minority and Guardianship Act (1956) the Parliament was competent to repeal S. 10 (2) of Travancore Nayar Act (II of 1100). (1961) 1 Lab LJ 68: 1960 Ker LT 1127: 1961 Ker LJ 29: ILR (1961) 1 Ker 430: AIR 1961 Ker 154 (154, 155) (Pt B) (Pr 4).

——Art. 246, Sch. 7, List 3, Entry 18, List III, Entry 5 — Hindu Succession Act (1956), S. 14 — Validity — Rights of Hindu female over land — Section entrenches on Entry 18 of State List — But being legislation under Entry 5 of List 3 is valid. See Hindu Succession Act (1956), S. 14. AIR 1960 Punj 666.

——Arts. 246, 245, Sch. 7, List 3, Entry 22 — Industrial Tribunal constituted under S. 7 of Industrial Disputes Act — Rajasthan Industrial Tribunal (Constitution and Proceedings) Validating Act (1959) enacted by Rajasthan State Legislature and received assent of the President — The State Act must prevail over the provisions of the Industrial Disputes Act in the State of Rajasthan and the legality of the proceeding pending before the Industrial Tribunal constituted under the Industrial Disputes Act cannot be assailed. See Ibid, Art. 245. AIR 1963 Raj 22.

11. Constitutional validity of statutes — Test of.

●——Art. 246 — Vires of Act — Test — Court is not restricted to pleadings of State — Court will consider whether validity can be sustained under any provisions of Constitution. Burrakur Coal Co. Ltd. v. Union of India, (1961) 2 SCA 523: 1961 SCD 432: (1961) 1 SCR 44: (1962) 2 SCJ 216: AIR 1961 SC 954 (962, 963) (Pt F) (Pr 25).

●——Arts. 246, 245 and 13, 31 (before Constitution (Fourth Amendment) Act, 1955) — Effect of provisions — Distinction between clauses (1) and (2) of Art. 13 — Power of legislature to make laws in regard to entries in Seventh Schedule whether circumscribed by Part III of Constitution — Law made in excess of power whether ab initio void — Doctrine of eclipse when can be invoked — U. P. Transport Service (Development) Act — Validity of, whether to be tested on basis of Constitution (Fourth Amendment) Act, 1955 — (U. P. Transport Services (Development) Act (9 of 1955), S. 1). See Ibid, Art. 13. AIR 1959 SC 648.

●——Arts. 246, 48, 245 and Schedule VII, List II, entry 15—Statutes enacted under—Validity—Test—(Bihar Preservation and Improvement of Animals Act (2 of 1956), Preamble) — (U. P. Prevention of Cow Slaughter Act (1 of 1956), Preamble) — (C. P. and Berar Animal Preservation Act (52 of 1949), (as amended by M. P. Acts 23 of 1951 and 10 of 1956), Preamble). See Ibid, Art. 48. AIR 1958 SC 731.

●——Arts. 246, 245 — Constitutional validity of statutes—Tests. See Ibid, Art. 245. AIR 1957 SC 699.

●——Arts. 246, 254 — Government of India Act (1935), Ss. 107, 100, Sch. 7, List 2, Items 2 and 31 and Sch. 7, List 3, Items 2 and 5 — Provincial legislation — Test of repugnancy with Central legislation — Effect of incidental encroachment into field reserved for Centre — (Madras Prohibition Act (10 of 1937), Ss. 4 (2) and 28 to 32) — (Interpretation of Statutes — Vires of Acts — Civil P. C. (1908), Pre.) See Government of India Act (1935), S. 107. AIR 1957 SC 297.

●——Arts. 246 and 13 — Part of law void — Effect.

(Per Mahajan and Chandrasekhara Aiyar JJ.): Where some provisions of an Act are 'ultra vires', the question whether the Statute as a whole must be pronounced to be 'ultra vires,' depends upon the question whether what remains is so inextricably bound up with the part declared invalid that what remains cannot independently survive, or, as it has sometimes been put, whether on a fair review of the whole matter it can be assumed that the legislature would have enacted at all that which survives without enacting the part that is 'ultra vires'. If the offending provisions of the Act are not so inextricably bound up with the part that is valid, the whole Act cannot be pronounced to be 'ultra vires'. State of Bihar v. Kameshwar Singh, ILR 31 Pat 565: 1952 SCR 889: 1953 SCA 53: 65 Mad LW 527: 1952 SCJ 354: 1952 SCJ 427: 1952 SCJ 446: AIR 1952 SC 252 (277, 296) (Pt I) (Prs 62, 137).

●——Art. 246 — The constitutionality of a statute passed by a competent legislature cannot be challenged on the ground that the law made is not reasonable or just. (Per Mahajan J.) State of Bihar v. Kameshwar Singh, ILR 31 Pat 565: 1952 SCR 889: 1953 SCA 53: 65 Mad LW 527: 1952 SCJ 354: 1952 SCJ 427: 1952 SCJ 446: AIR 1952 SC 252 (278) (Pt K) (Pr 71).

——Arts. 246, 245, 13 and Preamble— Unconstitutionality of legislation—Principle of severability — Interpretation of statutes. See Ibid, Preamble. AIR 1962 All 521 (DB).

——Art. 246 — Vires of Act — Considerations. See Ibid, Art. 245. AIR 1960 Andhra Pra 115 (DB).

——Art. 246 — Validity of Act questioned — Duty of Court — Tests. See Ibid, Art. 245. AIR 1959 Andhra Pra 398 (DB).

●——Art. 246 — Constitutionality of State Acts — Test of — General principles.

In determining whether an Act of a Legislature exceeds the Legislative bounds, one has to apply the pith and substance rule namely, examine not only the form but also the substance of the Act, its nature and character. If in substance and form the legislation falls within the legislative field assigned to it, then the Act cannot be questioned merely because incidentally it affects or overlaps some other fields of legislation as well.

Courts of law should, as far as it is reasonably practicable, incline in favour of upholding the constitutionality of a legislation.

When the main object and intention of the statute is quite clear the mere unskilfulness or ignorance of the draftsman cannot reduce the statute into a nullity. Rules of grammar have to yield to common-sense.

As a general rule a Court of law is not authorised to supply a cause omissus or to alter the language of a statute for the purpose of supplying a meaning.

The provisions of the Constitution should not be cut down by a narrow and technical construction; it should be given a large and liberal interpretation. Raja Bhairabendra Narayan Bhup v. The State of Assam, ILR (1956) 8 Assam 379 (FB).

●——Art. 246 — Constitutionality of an Act — Test of.

In deciding about the validity of an impugned legislation, the real test is whether in pith and substance, the Act falls under authorised legislative field. If it does, then the mere fact that incidentally or in its ancillary effect it trenches upon some other legislative fields also will not invalidate the legislation. AIR 1951 SC 318 and AIR 1954 SC 119, Rel. on. Case-law Ref. H. P. Barua v. State of Assam. AIR 1955 Assam 249 (252) (Pt A) (Pr 2) (SB).

[Reversed on another point in AIR 1961 SC 232.]

——Arts. 246, 245, 19, 13 and Pre. — Bombay Prohibition Act (1949), Ss. 24A, 6A, 59A, 139(d), 12, 13, (as amended by Act 26 of 1952) — Bombay Spirituous Medicinal Preparations (Sales) Rules, 1954, Rr. 2, 3 — Act if imposes reasonable restrictions on consumption of spirituous medicinal preparations — Determination under S. 6A — Effect — Tests for reasonableness — Act ultra vires due to incompetence of legislature and invalid due to inconsistency with Part III of Constitution — Effect — Validity of Act on latter ground has to be judged by subsequent amendments, notifications, etc. — (Constitution of India Preamble, Arts. 13, 19, 245 and 246) — Interpretation of Statutes — Vires — Tests). See Bombay Prohibition Act (25 of 1949) (as amended by Act 26 of 1952), S. 24-A. AIR 1958 Bom 181.

——Art. 246 (3) — State Legislation — Tests of validity. See Ibid, Art. 245. AIR 1956 Bom 1 (DB).

[Reversed on another point in AIR 1957 SC 699.]

——Arts. 246, 13, 254 and Pre — Unconstitutionality of legislation — State cannot plead unconstitutionality of its own statutes before Courts. See Ibid, Preamble. 1962 (2) Cri LJ 33: AIR 1962 Cal 338 (DB).

●——Art. 246 — Interpretation of statutes — Question of validity of statute — Duty of Court — (Civil P. C. (1908), Pre.). See Interpretation of Statutes. AIR 1952 Cal 740 (SB).

——Arts. 246, 372, 245 — "Subject to the other provisions of this Constitution" — Sales Tax Act validly passed before Constitution — Distribution of power in seventh Schedule not the test of its validity — (Sales Tax — Travancore-Cochin General Sales Tax Act (1125), S. 1). See Ibid, Art. 372. AIR 1957 Ker 146 (DB).

[Overruled in AIR 1958 SC 560.]

——Art. 246 — Validity of Act — Government of India Act — If can be referred to.

While considering whether a certain Act of State Legislature is within its legislative powers the Court can consider the items of legislative lists in the Government of India Act, 1935.

The fact that to support the validity of an Act reliance is placed on both the Government of India Act and the Constitution, does not show that the Act is invalid. 1958 Mad WN 161: ILR (1958) Mad 452: (1958) Mad LJ (Cri) 591: (1958) 2 Mad LJ 123: 1959 Cr LJ 731: AIR 1959 Mad 261 (265, 266) (Pt B) (Pr 13) (DB).

●——Arts. 246, 245 and Sch. 7 — Constitutional validity of enactment — Proper method of approach. See Ibid, Art. 245. AIR 1958 Mad 608 (FB).

——Art. 246 — Constitutional validity of Act — Tests — Validity of Coorg Agricultural Income-tax Act. See Ibid, Art. 245. AIR 1958 Mys 102 (DB).

——Art. 246 — Test in deciding validity of Act.

It is well settled that what may be called the mere object or motive of a legislative measure, is not by itself an invalidating circumstance. It is not the purpose of a statutory enactment but the constitutional effect and operation of the enactment which determines its validity. In judging the validity of a legislative scheme, what is material to be considered is the purpose or object or the effect in the sense of the function of the impugned legislative provision, that is to say, the operation of the Act, and not the purpose or the effect or the object in the sense of motive. 76 Com LR 1 (186) : 1940 AC 838, Ref. ILR 1953 Cut 71 : AIR 1953 Orissa 185 (211, 214) (Pt R) (Prs 61, 65) (DB).

——Art. 246 — Combined operation of two or more Acts.

It is only where the combined operation of two or more Acts, which form part of a scheme, invades constitutional limitations by way of legislative competence that one or the other or both become constitutionally void and not where the said Acts are, all taken together, within the competence of the same legislative authority, unless it is clearly made out that some other kind of constitutional limitation is infringed thereby. 1942 AC 41 : 1931 AC 310, Discussed.; 1939 AC 116, Expl. ILR 1953 Cut 71 : AIR 1953 Orissa 185 (213) (Pt T) (Pr 65) (DB).

——Art. 246 — Bihar Mica Act, 1947 (10 of 1948) — Validity — If repugnant to Mica Control Order — Test. See Bihar Mica Act (1947) (10 of 1948), S. 6 (6). AIR 1958 Pat 496 (DB).

12. Constitutionality of Acts — Illustrative cases.

Acts held ultra vires.

●——Art. 246 — Scope — Bihar Land Reforms Act (1950) — Validity of — Ultra vires. See Tenancy laws — Bihar Land Reforms Act (30 of 1950), S. 1. AIR 1961 SC 189.

●——Arts. 246, 248, Sch. 7, List 2, Entry 54 — Bengal Finance (Sales Tax) Act (6 of 1941)

(as extended to Delhi), Ss. 2 (b), (d), (g), (h), (i) — Provisions in Act imposing tax on building contracts, ultra vires the Province of Bengal extended to Delhi by notification — Legality — Part C States (Laws) Act (1950), S. 2 — Scope — (Part C States (Laws) Act (1950), S. 2). See Sales Tax — Bengal Finance (Sales Tax) Act (6 of 1941) (as extended to Delhi), S. 2 (b). AIR 1958 SC 682.

——Art. 246 — Scope — U. P. Administration of Evacuee Property Ordinance — Validity — U. P. Ordinance 1 of 1949 was ultra vires the Governor — Ordinance not validated by Government of India (Third Amendment) Act. See U. P. Administration of Evacuee Property Ordinance (1 of 1949). AIR 1957 All 561 (DB).

——Art. 246 (2), Sch. 7, List 1, Entry 78 and List 3, Entry 26 — Indian Bar Councils (U. P. Amendment) Act, 1950, falls within Sch. 7, List 1, Entry 78 — Act is ultra vires — (Bar Councils (U. P. Amendment) Act (24 of 1950), S. 1).

The provision in Entry 78 of List 1 is by way of an exception to Entry 26 of List 3. The power conferred by Entry 26 of List 3 is general but since there is a power conferred by Entry 78 of List 1 with respect to persons entitled to practise before the High Courts, the general power must be read subject to that power and a legislation with respect to Advocates must be held to come within Entry 78 of List 1 regardless of whether it comes within Entry 26 of List 3 or not. Thus, the Indian Bar Councils (U. P. Amendment) Act, 1950, is a legislation with respect to persons entitled to practise before High Courts in Entry 78 of List 1. Hence the U. P. Amendment Act is ultra vires the U. P. State Legislature. ILR (1954) 2 All 191: 1954 All LJ 477: 1954 All WR (HC) 529: 1954 Cri LJ 1485: AIR 1954 All 728 (732. 734) (Pt D) (Prs 16, 22) (DB).

[Overruled on another point in AIR 1955 All 269.]

——Arts. 246, 225, Sch. 7, List 1, Entry 78 and List 2, Entry 3 — High Court Judges (Conditions of Service) Act (28 of 1954), S. 23-A — Order under, by President — Calcutta High Court (Vacation) Order, 1960 — Validity — Subject-matter of S. 23-A falls within Sch. 7, List II, Entry 3 and not under Sch. 7, List 1, Entry 78 — S. 23-A and Order thereunder are ultra vires — 'Administration of justice' and 'Constitution and Organisation of Courts" — Interpretation of. See High Court Judges (Conditions of Service) Act (1954), S. 23-A. AIR 1961 Cal 545.

——Art. 246 — Bombay Sales Tax Act (3 of 1953), S. 26 (3) — Validity — Allotment of goods of firm amongst partners on its dissolution — Absence of money consideration — Not a sale within Section 4, Sale of Goods Act — S. 26 (3) in so far as it treats it as a sale for purposes of taxation is ultra vires of powers of State Legislature under Sch. 7, List 2, Entry 54. See Sales Tax — Bombay Sales Tax Act (3 of 1953), S. 26 (3). AIR 1965 Guj 60 (DB).

●——Art. 246, Sch. 7, List 1, Entry 66, List 2, Entry 11 — Proviso to Section 4 (27) of Gujarat University Act (L of 1949), (substituted by Act IV of 1961) — Validity — Provision encroaches on field of List 1, Entry 66 and is ultra vires State Legislature — Statutes 207 and 209 are also void. AIR 1952 SC 252, Disting. AIR 1961 SC 459, Rel. on. Shri Krishna Rangnath Mudholkar v. Gujarat University, (1962) 3 Guj LR 204: AIR 1962 Guj 88 (103, 106, 110, 111, 112, 113, 114, 115, 122) (Pt B) (Prs 32, 37, 42, 43, 44, 45, 46, 63) (FB).

[Reversed in AIR 1963 SC 703.]

——Art. 246 and Sch. 7, List 2, Item 54 — Hyderabad General Sales Tax Act (14 of 1950), S. 2 (m), Explu. 1 (i) and R. 5 (3) — Validity — (Hyderabad General Sales Tax Act (14 of 1950), S. 2 (m), and Rule 5 (3)).

The basis of Rule 5 (3) is that the artificial determination of the price of goods cannot be said to square with the powers given by the Constitution to levy a tax on the 'sale of goods'. Expln. (1) (i) to Sec. 2 (m), Hyderabad General Sales Tax Act, 1950, and Rule 5 (3) of the rules made thereunder are ultra vires. ILR (1956) Hyd 162: (1956) 7 STC 423: AIR 1956 Hyd 79 (82) (Pt A) (Pr 9) (DB).

——Arts. 246, 245, 372 — Cochin Abkari Act (1 of 1077 M. E.), Ss. 69, 29 — Validity — There is conflict between S. 69 read with Section 29 of the Act and Arts. 245 (1) and 246 (3) of the Constitution — G. O. Ms. 253/63 Rev. dated 25-3-63 is illegal and has to be struck down. See Ibid, Art. 372. AIR 1965 Ker 8.

——Art. 246 — Travancore-Cochin Public Safety Measures Act (5 of 1950), Section 3 — Validity — Section is ultra vires for lack of sanction of President under Art. 304 (b), Proviso — Art. 304, control Art. 246 — Art. 304 (b), Proviso does not affect validity of repeal under S. 73 of the Act — Repeal under Section 73 is valid — As Section 3 of the Act is void notifications issued under it are also invalid and cannot continue under Section 73 (2)—Suit contracts entered into in February, 1952 not affected by notifications under Essential Supplies (Temporary Powers) Act (1946), also. See Ibid, Art. 304 (b), Proviso. AIR 1964 Ker 92 (DB).

——Art. 246 — Madras Hindu Religious and Charitable Endowments Act (1951), S. 20 — Validity — Provisions held ultra vires — (Madras Hindu Religious Endowments Act (1927) — Validity). See Madras Hindu Religious and Charitable Endowments Act (19 of 1951), S. 20. AIR 1952 Mad 613 (DB).

——Arts. 246, 265 and 276 — City of Nagpur Corporation Act (2 of 1950), Section 114 (2) (d) — Registration fee on heads of cattle sold in corporation area — Whether in nature of tax or fee — Distinction between tax and fee — Imposition is ultra vires and is not saved by Art. 276 (1) — (Government of India Act (1935), S. 142-A (1)). See Municipalities — City of Nagpur Corporation Act (2 of 1950), S. 114 (2) (d). AIR 1956 Nag 152.

●——Arts. 246, 245 — Bihar Land Encroachment Act (31 of 1950) not inconsistent with Criminal Procedure Code. See Criminal P. C. (1898), Section 1 (2) and Ch. 10. AIR 1955 Pat 1 (SB).

——Art. 246 — Control of rents in cantonment areas is within exclusive competence of Parliament — Rajasthan Premises (Control of Rent and Eviction) Act to that extent held ultra vires. See Ibid, Sch. 7, List 1, Entry 3. AIR 1962 Raj 190 (DB).

Acts held not ultra vires.

●——Art. 246 (2) — Acquisition of coal bearing areas vested in State by Union — Provisions are not ultra vires. See Coal Bearing Areas (Acquisition and Development) Act (1957), S. 4. AIR 1963 SC 1241.

●——Art. 246 and Sch. 7, List 2, Entries 18, 45— Punjab Resumption of Jagirs Act (XXXIX of 1957), Section 2 (5) — As inserted by Amendment Act of 1959 — Amendment is intra vires. See Tenancy Laws — Punjab Resumption of Jagirs Act XXXIX of 1957), S. 2 (5). AIR 1962 SC 1305.

■——Art. 246 — Sales Tax — Bihar Sales Tax Act (19 of 1947), Section 2 (c) (as amended by Bihar Act (17 of 1950)) — Validity — Absence of President's assent of amending Act — Validity — Section 2 (c) not affected. See Sales Tax — Bihar Sales Tax Act (19 of 1947), Section 2 (c) (as Amended by Bihar Act (17 of 1950)). AIR 1962 SC 660.

■——Art. 246 — Tenancy Laws — Bihar Land Reforms (Amendment) Act — Validity — Acquisition of right to hold melas on Bakasht lands — Legislation within competence of State legislature — Right being a right in an estate, Act saved by Art. 31-A — Acquisition of right by State held valid. See Tenancy Laws — Bihar Land Reforms (Amendment) Act (16 of 1959), S. 1. AIR 1961 SC 1649.

■——Art. 246, Sch. 7, List 1, Entry 89 and List 2, Entry 56 — Rajasthan Passengers and Goods Taxation Act 1959, S. 3 — Constitutionality — Tax levied by Act is tax on passengers and goods and not on income or on fares and freights — It is not ultra vires. See Rajasthan Passengers and Goods Taxation Act (18 of 1959), S. 3. AIR 1961 SC 1480.

■——Art. 246 — Scope — Orissa Mining Areas Development Fund Act (1952) — Validity — Act held intra vires the State Legislature. See Orissa Mining Areas Development Fund Act (27 of 1952). AIR 1961 SC 459.

■——Art. 246 — Scope — Tax imposed by Section 12-A of Bombay Act 54 of 1948 is valid under Sch. 7, List 2, Entry 62 — Legality. See Bombay Lotteries and Prize Competitions Control and Tax Act (54 of 1948), S. 12-A. AIR 1957 SC 699.

■——Art. 246 — Section 2 (14-a) Income-tax Act, held valid — See Income-tax Act (1922), Sec. 2 (14-A) (as amended by Finance Act (1950)). AIR 1954 SC 158.

■——Art. 246 — Scope — Tax under Act 31 of 1957 is on holding and not on annual value — Act comes under List 2, Entry 49. See Ibid, Art. 245. AIR 1960 All 136 (FB).

——Arts. 246, 245 — Pattadari and Thekadari Abolition Act (10 of 1954) — Validity — Act is intra vires the State Legislature. AIR 1955 NUC (All) 3534 (DB).

——Art. 246 — Hyderabad Tenancy and Agriculturists Act (21 of 1950), Sections 47, 2 and 104 — Section 60 (c), Civil P. C. and Section 47 of Hyderabad Tenancy Act do not occupy the same field — Law of Civil Procedure falls within scope of Entry 13 of List 3 of Sch. 7 — Tenancy law in question is traceable to Entry 18 of List 2 — Section 47 of Hyderabad Tenancy Act,, embracing transfers by operation of law, does not trench upon any of the entries in List 3 — No repugnancy between two Acts — T. P. Act (1882), Sections 2 (d), 5 — Execution sales are 'transfers' as contemplated by Section 47 of Hyderabad Act, 21 of 1950 — Agricultural lands are exempted from attachment in execution — Expression 'other transfers' is not used in restricted sense as in the T. P. Act — Attachment for the purpose of bringing agricultural lands to sale also inhibited. See Civil P. C. (1908), S, 60 (c). AIR 1964 Andh Pra 514 (DB).

——Arts. 246, Sch. 7, List 1, Item 86 — 'Individuals' — Meaning of — Includes Hindu undivided family — Wealth Tax Act (1957), S. 3 — Validity — Section 3 is intra vires. (1961) 1 Andh WR 272: 1961 Andh LT 291: AIR 1961 Andh Pra 355 (357, 358) (Pt A) (Prs 10, 12, 16, 21, 22) (DB).

——Art. 246, Sch. 7, List 2, Entries 18, 49, 47 and 63 — Gift Tax Act (1958) — Validity — Act is valid.

The Gift Tax Act is intra vires even in so far as it affected transfer of agricultural land. Entry 18 of List 2 does not take away the power of the Parliament to pass an enactment imposing tax in respect of land.

A gift tax would not come within the purview of Entry 47 of List 2. Tax on gift of agricultural lands cannot be brought under entry 63 of List 2 also. The occasion for the levy of the duty is the execution of a document and is unconnected with the actual transfer of property, whereas the impugned statute seeks to impose a tax on the transfer of both movable and immovable properties whether by means of an instrument or not. ILR (1959) Andh Pra 1340: 1960 An LT 22: (1960) 38 ITR 93: (1960) 1 Andh WR 153: AIR 1960 Andh Pra 115 (116, 117, 118, 119) (Pt A) (Prs 4, 7, 10, 14, 18, 21, 22) (DB).

——Art. 246 — Bombay Prohibition Act (25 of 1949), Section 129-A — Constitutionality — Section is not ultra vires. Art. 31 (2) of Constitution. See Prohibition — Bombay Prohibition Act (25 of 1949), Section 129-A. 1964 (2) Cri LJ 523: AIR 1964 Bom 253 (DB).

——Arts. 246, 245 — Bombay Prevention of Hindu Bigamous Marriages Act (25 of 1946) — Act is valid — It cannot be regarded as legislation on subject of domicile. See Ibid, Art. 245. 1955 Cri LJ 1564: AIR 1955 Bom 439 (DB).

[Overruled on another point in AIR 1958 Bom 68 (FB).]

——Arts. 246 and 254, Sch. 7, List 1, Item 53, List 2, Items 5 and 6 — West Bengal Fire Services Act (18 of 1950) — Validity — Petroleum Act, 1934 — Scope.

The Fire Services Act is in pith and substance an Act which comes within the subject-matter of items 5 and 6, certainly item 6 in list 2, 7th Schedule of the Constitution. The Petroleum Act, 1934, if it comes under the Union List, can only come under Item 53 and the subject-matter thereof is not identical with Items 5 and 6 in the State List. Even if the State Act makes an incidental encroachment upon the Central Act it is not rendered invalid thereby. Even if the provisions overlap, there is no repugnancy between the two Acts, because by its own premises the Petroleum Act, 1934 is not meant to be exclusive but is supplementary to, and contemplates the existence of, State Acts relating to the storage of petroleum. Therefore, there is no repugnancy. For the same reasons the argument of 'occupied field' also fails. AIR 1960 Cal 219 (225) (Pr 18).

——Arts. 246, 245 — Calcutta City Civil Court Act (21 of 1953) — Validity of — If ultra vires.

As the State Legislature can confer general jurisdiction upon the City Civil Court or take away similar jurisdiction from the High Court, the mere fact that there is an incidental encroachment upon any central subject will not make the law invalid. Thus, because promissory note is a central subject, it does not prevent the Stage legislature from investing the City Civil Court with the jurisdiction and powers to try suits based on promissory notes within pecuniary limits which have been fixed. It is not therefore, correct to say that Act (21 of 1953) is beyond the competence of the West Bengal Legislature and as such ultra vires. AIR 1951 SC 69 and AIR 1947 PC 60, Foll. ILR (1958) 1 Cal 576: 61 Cal WN 630: AIR 1957 Cal 534 (545) (Pt C) (Pr 27).

——Art. 246, Sch. 7, List 1, Entry 17 and List 3, Entry 27 — West Bengal Land Development and Planning Act (1948) — Validity — Act held within competence — Government of India Act (1935), Sch. 7, List 1, Entry 17 and List 2, Item 9. See West Bengal Land Development and Planning Act (21 of 1948). AIR 1952 Cal 679.

——Arts. 246 and 248 (2) — Gift Tax Act (1958) — Act is intra vires of Parliament by virtue of Art. 248 (2) read with Entry 97 of List 1. See Gift Tax Act (1958). AIR 1962 Ker 97 (DB).

——Art. 246 — Madhya Bharat Sthan Niyantran Vidhan of S. Y. 2006 (15 of 1950) — Validity of so far as it extended to Mhow — Held not "ultra vires'. See Houses and Rents — Madhya Bharat Sthan Niyantran Vidhan of S. Y. 2006. AIR 1953 Madh Bha 5 (DB).

——Art. 246 — Madhya Pradesh Tendu Patta (Vyapar Viniyaman) Niyamawali Sanshodhan Adhyadesh (1965), (Ordinance No. 3/65), S. 3 — Constitutional validity — Ordinance is not invalid. See Madhya Pradesh Tendu Patta (Vyapar Viniyaman) Niyamavali Sanshodhan Adhyadesh (1965), (Ordinance No. 3/65), S. 3. 1965 MPLJ 994: AIR 1966 Madh Pra 110 (DB).

——Art. 246 — Tax, meaning of — Tax not a levy for service — M. P. Motor Vehicles (Taxation of Passengers), Act, 1959, was not ultra vires the State legislature. See Ibid, Art. 226. 1962 MPLJ (Notes) 79.

——Arts. 246, 254, Sch. 7, List 1, Entry 59; List 3, Entry 19 — Scope — Section 9 (a), Opium Act (1878) (as amended by Madhya Bharat Act 15 of 1955) — Validity.

Entry 59 in List 1 of Sch. 7 is not exhaustive in regard to opium. Actually the control by licence or otherwise of the possession, and storage and sales within the country of the opium is governed by Entry 19 of the concurrent list. The Madhya Bharat Opium Act XV of 1955 amends the provisions of Indian Opium Act not in regard to matters mentioned in Entry 59 of List 1, but in regard to some others. It was also reserved for the President's consideration under Art. 254 (2) as it was an amendment by the State Legislature of the provisions in the existing law on the subject in the concurrent list. Hence the Madhya Bharat amendment is not ultra vires. 1961 MPLJ 1379: 1962 Jab LJ 491: ILR (1960) Madh Pra 1090: (1961) 1 Cri LJ 92: AIR 1961 Madh Pra 13 (14) (Pt A) (Pr 4).

[Overruled on another point in AIR 1963 Madh Pra 337.]

——Art. 246 — State Legislature not stating provisions of law under which it enacted Act — Validity of Act — (Code of Criminal Procedure (Madras Amendment) Act (Madras Act 34 of 1955)).

An enactment, if valid under the Constitution will not become ultra vires, because the Legislature does not state its authority for passing that particular piece of legislation or the purpose for which it passes it.

The Madras Act 34 of 1955, is not ultra vires because it does not state under which of the powers conferred on the State Legislature by the Constitution whether Item 3 of List 2 or Items 1, 2, 46 of List 3 was it being enacted. 1958 Mad WN 161: ILR (1958) Mad 452: 1958 Mad LJ (Cri) 591: (1958) 2 Mad LJ 123: AIR 1959 Mad 261 (266, 267) (Pt C) (Pr 15) (DB).

——Art. 246 — Provisions of Sections 28 to 32 of Madras Prohibition Act are not repugnant to existing law and are not invalid on that ground. See Madras Prohibition Act (10 of 1937), Ss. 28 to 32. 1954 Cri LJ 1521: AIR 1954 Mad 993 (DB).

——Arts. 246, 286 — Madras Commercial Crops Markets Act (20 of 1933), Ss. 6, 6-A—Validity of the Act—Regulates buying and selling within a State — Bearing on export outside State only incidental — Does not control inter-State commerce and hence not ultra vires State Legislature. See Madras Commercial Crops Markets Act (20 of 1933), S. 6. ILR (1961) Mys 951.

——Art. 246 — Orissa Cotton Cloth Control Order (1948), Cl. 5 — Is not ultra vires as amounting to a second delegation of powers vested in State Government by virtue of notification No. 73 (1) T. A. of 1946 issued by Central Government under S. 4, Essential Supplies Temporary Powers Act, 1946. See Orissa Cotton Cloth Control Order (1948), Cl. 5. AIR 1953 Orissa 233.

——Art. 246 — Tenancy Laws — Madras Estates Land Act (1908) (as Amended in Orissa), S. 168-A — Validity.

Sections 168-A and 117 (2), inserted into the Madras Estates Land Act by the Madras Estates Land (Orissa) Amendment Act 1947, are valid and are not open to objection as regards their validity either on the ground of their being invalid delegated legislation or on the ground of their purporting to vest in the State Government or the Collector arbitrary or discriminatory powers. See Tenancy Laws — Madras Estates Land Act (1 of 1908), (as Amended in Orissa), S. 168-A. AIR 1953 Orissa 185 (DB).

——Arts. 246 and 276 — Municipalities — Bihar and Orissa Municipal Act (7 of 1922), Section 82 (1) (f) and Sch. IV — Constitutional validity — Professional tax — Imposition of — Provision not ultra vires — State Legislature — Falls under Item 60 of List 2 and not under Item 86 of List 1 of Sch. 7 of the Constitution. See Municipalities — Bihar and Orissa Municipal Act (7 of 1922), S. 82 (1) (f). AIR 1962 Pat 465 (DB).

——Art. 246 (3) — Bihar Sales Tax Act, S. 2 (g) (as amended by Act 6 of 1949) — Section 2 (g) is valid — (Government of India Act (1935), Section 100 (3) and Sch. 7, List 2, Item 48). See Sales Tax — Bihar Sales Tax Act (as amended by Act 6 of 1949), S. 2 (g). AIR 1956 Pat 178.

——Art. 246, Sch. 7, List 2, Entry 35, List 3, Entries 10 and 28 — Bihar Land Reforms Act (1950) — Act is constitutionally valid. See Tenancy Laws — Bihar Land Reforms Act (30 of 1950). AIR 1953 Pat 337 (DB).

——Art. 246 — Bihar Land Reforms Act (1950) — Legislation falls under Entry 36 of List 2 and is not ultra vires though it incidentally trenches upon matters reserved for Union legislature. See Tenancy Laws — Bihar Land Reforms Act (30 of 1950) — Preamble. AIR 1953 Pat 105 (DB).

●——Art. 246 — Bihar Finance Act (1950), Section 12 — Tax imposed by Part 3 is intra vires of Bihar Legislature. See Bihar Finance Act (17 of 1950), S. 12. AIR 1952 Pat 359 (SB).

●——Arts. 246, 19, 23, 14, Part 13 — Bihar Finance Act (1950), Part 3 — Validity — Provisions of, do not contravene Arts. 14, 19, 23 or of Part 13 of the Constitution. See Bihar Finance Act (17 of 1950), Part 3. AIR 1952 Pat 359 (SB).

——Art. 246 — Administration of Evacuee Property Act (1950), S. 12 — Section held not ultra vires. See Administration of Evacuee Property Act (21 of 1950), S. 12. AIR 1952 Pepsu 12.

——Art. 246 — Subject-matter of legislation viz., Payment of Wages Act (1936), S. 6 (as amended) falls within Entry 24 of List 3 in Sch. 7 of the Constitution and is intra vires the State legislature. See Payment of Wages Act (1936), Section 6 (as Amended by Punjab Act 15 of 1962). AIR 1964 Punj 513 (DB).

——Arts. 246, 254 and 265, 13 and Sch. 7, List 1, Item 49 — Punjab Urban Immovable Property Tax Act (17 of 1940) — Not ultra vires the Constitution. See Punjab Urban Immovable Property Tax Act (17 of 1940). AIR 1963 Punj 354 (DB).

——Arts. 246 and 254 and Sch. 7, List 2, Item 1 and List 3, Item 14 — Section 9, Punjab Security of the State Act — Validity — (Punjab Safety — Punjab Security of the State Act (12 of 1953), S. 9) — (Contempt of Courts Act (1952), S. 3).

In interpreting an Act the Court has to consider what the pith and substance of the Act is. The pith and substance of Section 9, Punjab Security of the State Act deals primarily with the question of public order and not with the question of contempt. Contempt of the type punishable under S. 9 is not the same kind of contempt as is punishable under Central Act 32 of 1952. The two offences are wholly different and both the enactments can stand together without being considered repugnant to one another. The entire provisions of section 9 fall within the ambit of Entry 1, List 2 and therefore, there is nothing repugnant in this section to the Central Act 32 of 1952. Provisions contained in Section 9 of the Act, being within the competence of the State legislature by virtue of Item 1 of List 2, the section is valid and intra vires. 58 Punj LR 259: 1956 Cri LJ 1015: ILR (1956) Punj 1146: AIR 1956 Punj 169 (169, 170, 171, 172) (Prs 5, 8, 10, 11, 13, 17) (DB).

●——Art. 246 — Validity of Rajasthan Act (6 of 1952) — Act not ultra vires of the State Legislature. See Rajasthan Land Reforms and Resumption of Jagirs Act (6 of 1952), S. 1. AIR 1954 Raj 291 (FB).

——Arts. 246, 245, 363, Sch. 8, List 2, Item 42 — Pensions Act (1871) — Extension of, to Saurashtra — Act is intra vires and cannot be impugned as being in violation of any clause of Saurashtra Covenant.

State pensions are included in 'the State list in the Sch. 7 as Entry 42 and therefore, the Saurashtra Legislature had jurisdiction to enact the Pensions Act. That being so the Act cannot be impugned only because it is in violation of any clause of the Covenant. The moment the appellant takes shelter under the Covenant the dispute must be regarded as one arising out of the Covenant and ceases to be justiciable by virtue of the provisions of Art. 363 of the Constitution. 9 Sau LR 284: AIR 1956 Sau 119 (120) (Pt B) (Pr 6) (DB).

13. Presumption of constitutionality.

●——Art. 246 — Assam Taxation (on Goods carried by Road or on Inland Waterways) Act (10 of 1961), S. 3 — Validity — Burden of proof — Presumption of constitutionality. See Assam Taxation (on Goods Carried by Road or on Inland Waterways) Act (10 of 1961), S. 3. AIR 1964 SC 925.

——Art. 246 — Interpretation of Statutes — Presumption that legislature knows its limits. See Interpretation of Statutes. AIR 1952 Bom 16 (DB).

——Art. 246 — Presumption in favour of legislature — Presumption in favour of Constitutionality of enactment. See Ibid, Art. 245. 1960 Cri LJ 223: AIR 1960 J and K 15 (DB).

——Arts. 246, 245 and Pre. — Unconstitutionality of Legislation — Presumption of constitutionality of a statute. See Ibid, Preamble. AIR 1962 Mys 269 (DB).

14. Delegation of legislative functions.

●——Art. 246 — State legislature cannot confer higher power on municipal bodies than it has under the Constitution — Rule against excessive delegation of legislative powers equally applies in case of municipal bodies. See Ibid, Art. 245. AIR 1965 SC 1107.

●——Art. 246 — Delegation — Notification, dated 11th December, 1956, by Central Government appointing enquiry commission — Validity. See Commissions of Inquiry Act (1952), S. 3. AIR 1958 SC 538.

——Art. 246 — Houses and Rents — U. P. Temporary Control of Rent and Eviction Act (1947), S. 3 — Authorization of District Magistrate to grant permission whether amounts to delegation of legislation. See Houses and Rents — U. P. Temporary Control of Rent and Eviction Act, 3 of 1947, S. 3. AIR 1952 All 624 (DB).

——Art. 246 (1) — Central Government can validly delegate, under Art. 258 (1) read with Arts. 73 (1) and 246 (1), its functions under S. 7, Explosive Substances Act, to State Governments — Consent given by Governor of State under S. 7 for prosecution under Act after delegation is not open to challenge. See Ibid, Art. 258 (1). AIR 1962 Andh Pra 322.

——Art. 246 and Sch. 7, List 2, Item 5 — Madras Village Panchayats Act (10 of 1950), S. 112 — Rules framed under — Constitution of — Election Commissioner to hear election disputes — Validity.

(1) Section 112 of the Madras Village Panchayats Act, 1950, confers on the State Government the power to make rules governing the Constitution of tribunals for the decision of election disputes. (2) It is only a legislative enactment or a rule having statutory authority that can constitute a Court or invest a Judge with authority to determine matters outside his ordinary jurisdiction. (3) The creation of an authority distinct from a Court is not a legislative function. (4) The Election Commissioner constituted under the rules framed under the Madras Village Panchayats Act, 1950, is not a Court stricto senso but he performs the functions assigned to him as a persona designata. (5) The conferring of power to frame rules relating to the decision of election disputes on the State Government does not amount to excessive delegation or abandonment of legislative power. (6) The legislative practice in India supports the validity of this type of legislation.

Thus, the rules framed by the Government under S. 112 (2) (1) constituting the Election Commissioner to hear election disputes under the Madras Village Panchayats Act, 1950, are intra vires and valid. (1955) 1 Mad LJ 201, Foll. (1955) Andhra WR 754: 1955 Andhra LT (Civil) 532: AIR 1957 Andh Pra 393 (403) (Pt A) (Prs 71, 72).

——Art. 246 — Delegation of legislative power, when allowed.

While the Legislature cannot abdicate its general law-making powers it may authorise others to do things which it might properly do, but which it cannot conveniently or properly perform. It is not every grant of power by the Legislature involving the exercise of discretion and judgment that amounts to a delegation of legislative power. A legislative body may, after declaring a policy and after fixing a primary standard confer upon the executive or administrative officers the power to prescribe the administrative rules and regulations to promote the purpose and spirit of the legislation and to carry it into effect; and the action of the Legislature in giving such rules and regulations the force and effect of laws does not violate the constitutional inhibition against delegating the legislative function. 1955 Andh WR 754: 1955 Andhra LT (Civil) 532: AIR 1957 Andh Pra 393 (402, 403) (Pt D) (Pr 69).

●——Art. 246 — Delegation of authority to frame rules — Effect on validity of Act. See Tenancy Laws — Assam State Acquisition of Zamindaries Act (18 of 1951), S. 11 (iv). ILR (1956) 8 Assam 879 (FB).

——Arts. 246 (3) and 276 — S. 73 Bombay Municipal Boroughs Act empowering municipal borough to levy profession tax — Discretion of municipality in fixing rate is not uncontrolled — There is no excessive delegation. See Municipalities — Bombay Municipal Boroughs Act (18 of 1925), S. 73. 67 Bom LR 286: ILR (1965) Bom 552 : 1965 Mah LJ 513 : AIR 1966 Bom 15 (DB).

——Arts. 246, 245, 258 and 13 — "Law in force" Meaning — Nature and scope of power of entrustment under Art. 258 (1) — Legal effect of notification or order issued in exercise of that power — Notifications under Art. 258 (1), entrusting Commissioners of divisions of Bombay State, functions of Central Government under Land Acquisition Act — Notifications are "laws in force' within Section 87 and survive after bifurcation of Bombay State into States of Maharashtra and Gujarat — Land Acquisition Act (1894), Ss. 3, Cl (c), 4 and 6. See Bombay Reorganization Act (11 of 1960), S. 87. AIR 1963 Guj 80.

——Arts. 246 (3), 245, 277 and Sch. 7, List. 2, Item 5 — Assam Municipal Act (15 of 1957), Sections 68 (1) (a), 80 — Validity — Power of fixing percentage of tax — Does not amount to delegation of legislative power — Sections not ultra vires the Constitution. See Municipalities — Assam Municipal Act (15 of 1957), S. 68 (1) (a). AIR 1962 Manipur 28.

——Arts. 246 and 162 — Scope — States Reorganisation Act (1956), S. 115 (5) — Validity of — Section 115 (5) does not contravene Constitution— Delegation by Central Government of its powers — Extent of. See States Reorganisation Act (1956), S. 115 (5). AIR 1961 Mys 210 (DB).

——Art. 246 — Essential Supplies (Temporary Powers) Act (1946), S. 3 — Delegation of power under S. 3 to Central Government is constitutional. See Essential Supplies (Temporary Powers) Act (24 of 1946), S. 3. 1953 Cri LJ 481 : AIR 1953 Nag 58 (DB).

——Arts. 246, 245 — Government of India Act (1935), S. 99 — Power to delegate essential legislative functions. See Govt. of India Act (1935), S. 99. 1953 Cri LJ 481 : AIR 1953 Nag 58 (DB).

——Arts. 246, 245 — Section 78 of the Bengal Irrigation Act — Validity — It was open to the legislature to leave it to State Government to determine water rate from time to time — S. 78 of Act, cannot be said to amount to an abdication of legislative function. Bengal Irrigation Act (3 of 1876), S. 78. See Ibid, Art. 245. AIR 1956 Pat 482 (DB).

——Art. 246 —Bihar Finance Act (1950), Part 3 — Is not unconstitutional by reason of delegation of legislative function. See Bihar Finance Act (1950), Part 3. AIR 1952 Pat 359.

●——Art. 246 — Essential Supplies (Temporary Powers) Act (1946), S. 3 — Validity — Delegated legislation. See Essential Supplies (Temporary Powers) Act (1946), S. 3. 1952 Cri LJ 710 : AIR 1952 Pat 220 (SB).

●——Art. 246 — S. 30, Punjab District Boards Act — Validity — Section is not invalid on, ground of abdication by State Legislature of its essential legislative function.

The first limitation, which is inherent in S. 30, Punjab District Boards Act is that a tax can be imposed by the District Board only for the purposes of the District Boards Act. The second limitation, which is expressly stated, is that the power of the District Board to impose a tax does not exceed the power of the State Legislature in the same matter, and there is then the factor of control also clearly expressed that the imposition of a tax is to be effective only with the previous sanction of the State Government. Then there is a further limitation in proviso (b) to S. 30 of the Act which debars a District Board from imposing a tax on any property subject to local rate. In the face of these clear limitations and guiding principles, it is idle to suggest that by enacting section 30 the State Legislature has set up a parallel legislature or that the State Legislature has abdicated its essential legislative function. Section 30 of the Punjab District Boards Act does not offend against the rule of excessive delegation of legislative function. AIR 1959 SC 586, Rel. on. Mangal Ram Roshanlal v. Punjab State, ILR (1962) 2 Punj 118 : 64 Punj LR 342 : AIR 1962 Punj 350 (352, 353) (Pt A) (Pr 4) (FB).

——Art. 246 — Order under S. 3, Essential Supplies (Temporary Powers) Act (1946), by Rationing Controller — Delegated legislation. See Essential Supplies (Temporary Powers) Act (1946) S. 3 (Before amendment in 1950). AIR 1953 Punj 1.

——Art. 246 — Delegation of legislative powers to executive.

The power conferred upon the executive for regulating the acquisition of paddy and payment of compensation for it under Paddy (Acquisition and Movement) Control Order (1950), cannot amount to delegation of legislative powers which confer upon the executive, arbitrary powers of action in view of the wellknown rules that have to be observed by the executive in carrying out the responsible duties imposed upon them with regard to the acquisition of paddy and the payment of compensation for it. ILR (1951) TC 655: AIR 1952 Trav-Co 455 (458) (Pt D) (Pr 17) (DB).

15. Territorial limits of legislative power.

●——Arts. 246, 245 and Sch. 7, List 3, Entry 28 — Bihar Hindu Religious Trusts Act (1951), Ss. 3, 2 (1); 1 (2) — Applicability of S. 3 — Validity of Act — Principle of territorial nexus — Trust property outside Bihar affected — Act not invalid on ground of extra-territoriality—(Interpretation of Statutes). See Bihar Hindu Religious Trusts Act (1 of 1951), S. 3. AIR 1959 SC 1002.

——Art. 246 (3) — Bombay Prevention of Hindu Bigamous Marriages Act (25 of 1946), S. 4 (b) — Validity.

The Act (25 of 1946) has been made applicable to marriages, contracted outside the State of Bombay, either or both the contracting parties to which are domiciled in the State. There is sufficient territorial connection between such marriages and the Bombay State which is provided by a party to the marriage possessing the domicile of the Bombay State. In enacting S. 4 (b) the Legislature cannot therefore, be said to have exceeded the territorial limits of its powers. It is therefore, a law for the province, which the Provincial Legislature was competent to enact.

Case-law discussed. 1955 Cri LJ 1564 : ILR (1955) Bom 1039 : 57 Bom LR 827 : AIR 1955 Bom 439 (444, 445) (Pt D) (Prs 28, 31, 32, 33) (DB).

[Overruled in AIR 1958 Bom 68 (FB) and considered in AIR 1960 SC 1329.]

——Art. 246 — Power of State to tax, intra-state and inter-state sales — Contract of sale concluded in another State — Goods delivered in Madras — Liability for taxation under Madras General Sales Tax Act — (Sales Tax — Madras General Sales Tax Act (9 of 1939), Ss. 3 and 22). See Ibid, Art. 245 (1). AIR 1953 Mad 116 (DB).

16. Extra-territorial operations.

●——Arts. 246, 248 — Extra-territorial operation — If legislation with extra-territorial operation is within competence of Union, it is equally within competence of State — "Extra-territorial operation" connotes firstly laws in respect of acts or events which take place inside State but have operation outside State and secondly laws with reference to nationals of State in respect of their acts outside State — In former sense, laws are strictly speaking intra-territorial and it is within competence of Parliament and State to enact such laws — Expression in Art. 245 (2) is to be understood in latter sense — (Per Venkatarama Ayyar J.). See Ibid, Art. 248. AIR 1955 SC 661.

●——Arts. 246, 245, 286 — Sales Tax Legislation operating on non-resident persons — Validity considered — (Per Venkatarama Ayyar J., in dissentient judgment). See Ibid, Art. 245. AIR 1955 SC 661.

——Art. 246 — Income-tax (Amendment) Act (33 of 1954), S. 2 — Income-tax Act (1922), S. 34 (1-A) to (1-D) — Constitutionality — Act is within legislative competence of Parliament —Has no extra-territorial operation and cannot be challenged on that ground. See Ibid, Art. 245 (2). AIR 1960 Cal 619 (DB).

ARTICLE 247

——Arts. 247 and 32 (3) — Words 'any other Court' in Art. 32 (3) when read along with Art. 247 can only mean any Court other than a High Court. See Ibid, Art. 226. 1952 Cri LJ 660 : AIR 1952 Bhopal 1.

——Arts. 247, 245, 246, 248 to 255 — Arts. 245 to 255 deal with respective powers of Union Parliament and State Legislatures and the subjects assigned to each of those legislatures with reference to legislation — Scheme of distribution of legislative powers. See Ibid, Art. 245. AIR 1958 Mad 403.

ARTICLE 248

●——Art. 248 — Himachal Pradesh Legislative Assembly (Constitution and Proceedings) Validation Act (56 of 1958) Ss. 3 and 4 — Constitutional validity. See Ibid, Art. 240. AIR 1960 SC 1008.

●——Arts. 248, 246, Sch. VII, List II, Entry 54 — Bengal Finance (Sales Tax) Act (6 of 1941) — (as extended to Delhi), Ss. 2 (b), (d), (g), (h), (i) — Provisions in Act imposing tax on building contracts, ultra vires the Province of Bengal extended to Delhi by notification — Legality — Part C States (Laws) Act (1950), S. 2 — Scope. See Sales Tax — Bengal Finance (Sales Tax) Act (6 of 1941) (as extended to Delhi)), S. 2 (b). AIR 1958 SC 682.

●——Art. 248, Sch. VII, List I, Entries 86 and 97 — Wealth Tax Act (1957), S. 3 — Validity — Imposition of Wealth tax on Hindu undivided family is ultra vires. (Majority view). See Wealth Tax Act (1957), S. 3. AIR 1961 All 487 (FB).

——Arts. 248, 123, 245 and 246 — Administration of Evacuee Property (Chief Commissioners Provinces) Ordinance (12 of 1949) — Validity. See Administration of Evacuee Property (Chief Commissioners Provinces) Ordinance (XII of 1949). AIR 1957 All 561 (DB).

——Arts. 248, 265, 245, 246 and Schedule VII — 'Fees' and 'Tax' — Legislative competence — Residuary power with regard to taxation is in Union — Levy of tax as ancillary or incidental to subjects specified in the Lists in Sch. VII. See Ibid, Art. 265. AIR 1959 Andh Pra 398.

——Art. 248 (1) — Bombay Court-fees Act (XXXVI of 1959), Sch. I, Art. 16 — Levy imposed is neither tax nor fee in the strict sense — It is within legislative competence of the State under Sch. VII, List II, Entry 3. See Bombay Court Fees Act (XXXVI of 1959), Sch. 1, Art. 16. AIR 1962 Bom 106 (DB).

——Arts. 248, 245 (2), 246 and Sch. VII, List I, Item 82 — Income-tax (Amendment) Act (33 of 1954), S. 2 — Income-tax Act (1922), S. 34 (1-A) to (1-D) — Constitutionality — Act is within legislative competence of Parliament — Has no extra-territorial operation and cannot be challenged on that ground. See Ibid, Art. 245 (2). AIR 1960 Cal 619 (DB).

——Art. 248 — Adjustment of boundaries between Foreign States — Limitations to the exercise of executive power — Sanction of Parliament. See Ibid, Art. 226. AIR 1959 Cal 506.

——Arts. 248 (2), 246, and Sch. 7, List I, Entry 97 and List II, Entries 18 and 47—Gift-tax Act (18 of 1958) — Act is intra vires of Parliament by virtue of Art. 248 (2) read with Entry 97 of List I. See Gift Tax Act (1958). AIR 1962 Ker 97.

——Art. 248 — Power of Parliament to pass retrospective legislation for Madhya Bharat. See Ibid, Art. 20. AIR 1952 Madh B 181 (DB).

——Art. 248 and Sch. VII, List 1, Entry 97 — Sugarcane Cess (Validation) Act (1961), Ss. 3 and 2 (b) — Validity of Act — Scope and effect of S. 3 — Parliament competent to legislate— Act held not colourable in character. See Sugarcane Cess (Validation) Act (1961), S. 3. AIR 1964 MP 118.

——Art. 248 — Gift Tax Act (1958), S. 1 — Validity of Act — Tests — Taxing powers under the Constitution — Tax on gifts of agricultural land— Subject fully within Entry 97 of List I, read with Art. 248 and not covered by Entries 18 and 47 of List II — Act held valid. See Gift Tax Act (1958), S. 1. AIR 1963 Mad 419 (DB).

——Arts. 248, 14 and Sch. 7, List 1, Entries 82, 97 — Income-tax Act (1922) (as amended by Finance Act of 1955), Ss. 2 (6-A) (e) and 12 (1-B) — Loans advanced by controlled company to its share-holder — Legislation bringing such amounts to tax as income — Ss. 2 (6-A) (e) and 12 (1-B) are within legislative competence of Parliament — Legislation does not offend Art. 14. See Ibid, Sch. 7; List 1, Entry 82. AIR 1961 Mad 146.

——Art. 248 — Legislative lists — Entries in — Construction — Schedule VII, List I, Entry 82 — 'Income'. See Income-Tax Act, Ss. 2 (6-A) (c) and 12 (1-B). AIR 1961 Mad 146 (DB).

——Art. 248 — Scheme of Distribution of Legislative powers pointed out. See Ibid, Art. 245. AIR 1958 Mad 403.

——Arts. 248 and 246 — Government of India Act (1935), Ss. 100 and 104 — Legislative entries in Sch. VII — Scope of S. 104. See Ibid, Art. 246. AIR 1956 Mad 642.

——Art. 248, Sch. 1, List I, Item 97; List III, Item 47 — Bihar Hindu Religious Trusts Act (1 of 1951), S. 70 — Validity.

The contribution made under S. 70 of the Bihar Hindu Religious Trusts Act is in the nature of a fee and not in the nature of a tax and the State Legislature was competent to enact this provision. It is true that there is the element of compulsion in the payment of the fee and it is also true that the fee is not uniform; there is no relationship between the amount of the fee and the services rendered. But the main consideration in such a case is whether the contribution goes to swell the public revenue. The contribution imposed under section 70 does not go to the consolidated fund of the State of Bihar. Under the Act the authorities may be raising revenue from the trustees of religious endowments under S. 70 but the levy is not made for any Government purpose but for the limited specified purpose laid down in S. 70, viz., for defraying the expenses incurred in the administration of the Act. AIR 1952 Mad 613, Disting. AIR 1953 Bom 242, Rel. on. 32 Pat 1148 : AIR 1954 Pat 266 (276) (Pt K) (Pr 20) (DB).

●——Art. 248 — Bihar State Management of Estates and Tenures Act (21 of 1949), S. 1 — Act, validity of. See Bihar State Management of Estates and Tenures Act (21 of 1949), S. 1. AIR 1950 Pat 392 (SB).

——Art. 248 — Gift-Tax Act (1958) — Validity— Tax on gift of agricultural land — State legislature not competent to make laws for levy of tax on transfers and alienations of agricultural land — Gift-tax Act (1958), held not ultra vires powers of Parliament. See Ibid, Sch. VII, List I, Entry 97. AIR 1965 Punj 65 (DB).

ARTICLE 249

——Art. 249 — Scheme of distribution of legislative powers pointed out. See Ibid, Art. 245. AIR 1958 Mad 403.

ARTICLE 250

——Art. 250 (1) — Proclamation of emergency — Effect on legislative powers of Parliament. See Ibid, Art. 353. 1964 (1) Cr LJ 662 : AIR 1964 Cal 279 (DB).

——Art. 250 — Scheme of distribution of legislative powers pointed out. See Ibid, Art. 245. AIR 1958 Mad 403.

ARTICLE 251

——Art. 251 — Scheme of distribution of legislative powers pointed out. See Ibid, Art. 245. AIR 1958 Mad 403.

——Art. 251 — Inconsistency between Central Act and State Act. See Tenancy Laws — Madras Estates (Abolition and Conversion into Ryotwari) Act (XXVI of 1948), S. 20. AIR 1954 Mad 291 (DB).

——Art. 251 — Scope and applicability of — Orissa Mining Areas Development Funds Act (XXVII of 1952) — Act is impliedly repealed on the passing of the Central Act, the Mines and Minerals (Regulation and Development) Act (LXVII of 1957) — Interpretation of Statutes — Implied repeal — Drafting of rule making clauses — Enumeration of particular heads — Scope — S. 18 (2) of Central Act (LXVII of 1957) is not restrictive of powers conferred by sub-S. (1) of S. 18. See Orissa Mining Areas Development Funds Act (XXVII of 1952). AIR 1962 Orissa 24 (DB).

[Reversed in AIR 1964 SC 1284.]

ARTICLE 252

●——Art. 252, 7th Schedule, List II, Items 34 and 62 — Resolutions by State Legislatures surrendering control and regulation of prize competitions to the Parliament — Power to tax betting and gambling cannot be said to have been surrendered to Parliament.

The Central Act, Prize Competitions Act (1955) adopted by the Mysore Legislative Assembly is with respect to betting and gambling under Entry 34, of List II of the 7th Schedule and the taxing sections of the Mysore Lotteries and Prize Competitions Control and Tax Act (XXVII of 1951) as amended by Act XXVI of 1957 are with respect to tax on betting and gambling under Entry 62 of List II of the 7th Schedule. As by passing the resolution the State Legislatures did not surrender their power of taxation it cannot be said that Cl. (2) of Art. 252 of the Constitution was violated by the amendment of the Mysore Act; nor can it be said that in reality it was a piece of colourable legislation by an indirect attempt to amend the Central Act and a new method of control was devised by imposing a penalty under the name of tax. AIR 1957 SC 699, Dist. M/s. R. M. D. C. (Mysore) Private, Ltd. v. State of Mysore, (1962) 1 SCA 546 : (1962) 3 SCR 230 : (1962) 2 SCJ 620 : AIR 1962 SC 594 (598, 599, 600) (Pt A) (Prs 12, 14, 15).

——Arts. 252 (2) and 212 (2) — Protection under Art. 212 (2) — Nature of — Immunity under Art. 252 (2) — When available. See Ibid, Art. 212 (2). ILR (1957) Bom 218.

——Art. 252— Estate Duty Act (XXXIV of 1953), S. 5 (2) — Scope — Death of a person prior to the publication of notification under section 5 (2) — Estate duty on agricultural lands — Not leviable — Reference under section 64 (1) of the Act.

The power to legislate with respect to estate duty on agricultural lands is vested in the Legislature of the State where the property is situate. But Art. 252 of the Constitution makes provision whereby Parliament can make laws in certain circumstances. To entitle Parliament to so legislate the Legislatures of more than one State should pass a resolution. It would be open to the other States to adopt that legislation by merely passing a resolution of their Legislatures.

If under the terms of an enactment the State is brought within its ambit only from a particular date (e. g., date of publication of notification under S. 5 (2) of the Act), the Central Act adopted would have operation only from that date with respect to the State so adopting.

There is nothing in the Act to make the operation of the Act retrospective either by express words or necessary implication to a date earlier than the date of the publication of the notification under S. 5 (2). It must follow that the duty will be leviable in regard to the agricultural lands of a deceased only in case of his death after the publication of the notification by the Central Government under S. 5 (2), that is 11th June, 1955. (1960) 1 MLJ 385 : ILR (1960) Mad 687 : 73 Mad LW 236: (1960) 38 ITR (ED) 1: AIR 1960 Mad 305 (308) (Prs 14, 15, 16) (DB).

——Art. 252 — Scheme of distribution of Legislative powers pointed out. See Ibid, Art. 245. AIR 1958 Mad 403.

ARTICLE 253

——Art. 253 — Agreement for avoidance of double taxation in India and Pakistan, Art. IV —Absence of legislation by Parliament regarding implementation of agreement — Power of Court to interpret it. See Income-tax Act (1922), S. 49-A. 69 Cal WN 640.

——Art. 253 — Adjustment of boundaries between foreign States — Limitations to the exercise of executive power — Sanction of Parliament. See Ibid, Art. 226. AIR 1959 Cal 506.

——Art. 253 — Scheme of distribution of legislative powers pointed out. See Ibid, Art. 245. AIR 1958 Mad 403.

●——Art. 253 — S. 7 of Abducted Persons (Recovery and Restoration) Act (1949) — Validity See Ibid, Art. 19 (1) (d) (e) (f) (g) and (6). 1952 Cri LJ 1313 : AIR 1952 Punj 309 (FB).

ARTICLE 254

SYNOPSIS

(Constitution of India, Art. 254.)

1. Scope and applicability.
2. Repugnancy of State law to law made by Parliament.
3. Repugnancy of State law to "existing law".
4. "Law made by Parliament".
5. Law made by legislature of a State.
6. Order by State Governor.
7. Existing law.
8. "With respect to one of the matters enumerated in the Concurrent List".
9. "Repugnancy", meaning of.
10. Proof of repugnancy.
11. Effect of repugnancy.
12. Repeal by implication.
13. President's assent (Clause (2)).
14. Proviso to Clause (2).

1. Scope and applicability.

●——Art. 254 — J. and K., Big Landed Estates (Abolition) Act (17 of 2007) — Applicability — Art. 254 does not apply. See Tenancy laws — J. and K. Big Landed Estates (Abolition) Act (XVII of 2007). AIR 1959 SC 749.

●——Art. 254 — Scope and applicability.

Article 254 (1) lays down a general rule. Clause (2) is an exception to that Article and the proviso qualifies the exception. Deep Chand v. State of U. P., 1959 SCA 377: 1959 SCJ 1069: ILR (1959) 1 All 293 : (1959) 2 SCR (Suppl) 8 : AIR 1959 SC 648 (664, 665) (Pt C) (Pr 28).

——Art. 254 — Applicability.

It applies only when there is inconsistency between Central and State Acts. (1962) 1 Lab LJ 309 : (1961) 3 Fac LR 92 : AIR 1961 All 321 (324) (Pt A) (Pr 8).

—Art. 254 (2) — Applicability and scope —Laws in force on date when Constitution took effect — Art. 254 (2) will not apply.

Art. 254 (2) only contemplates laws being made by the Legislature of the State subsequent to the inauguration of the Constitution and has no application to laws in force on the date the Constitution took effect. 1955 An LT (Cri) 205.

——Art. 254 — Unconstitutionality of legislation — State cannot plead unconstitutionality of its own statutes before Courts. See Ibid, Pre. 1962 (2) Cri LJ 33 : AIR 1962 Cal 338 (DB).

——Art. 254 — Scheme of distribution of legislative powers.

Articles 245 to 255 deal with the respective powers of the Union Parliament and the State Legislatures and the subjects assigned to each of those legislatures with reference to legislation. See Ibid, Art. 245. AIR 1958 Mad 403.

——Art. 254 — Domicile and citizenship of Indian Union — Indian domicile does not do away with concept of subsidiary domicile of the constituent State — In the matter of minority, succession and marriage such State domicile has relevance — Conflict between State Laws and Laws made by Parliament relating to these matters have to be resolved on principles of private international law. See Ibid. Art. 5. (1965) 1 Mys LJ 577 : AIR 1966 Mys 100 (DB).

——Art. 254 — Applicability — Art. 254 can only apply if there is legislation by Parliament in regard to some of those matters enumerated in list I or in list III of 7th Schedule. See Ibid, Art. 13. 1951 Cri LJ 1081 : AIR 1950 Pat 265 (DB).

2. Repugnancy of State law to law made by Parliament.

●——Art. 254 — Sections 29 and 30 of the Road Transport Corporation Act, 1950 not repugnant to S. 3 of the Income-tax Act, 1922.

There is no repugnancy between Ss. 29 and 30 of the Road Transport Corporation Act, 1950 and S. 3 of Income-tax Act, 1922 and hence on that ground it cannot be suggested that the Act of 1950 should prevail over the Income-tax Act of 1922. Hence the claim of the Road Transport Corporation that Ss. 29 and 30 of the State Act do not contemplate payment of income-tax by the Corporation and, therefore, no such tax can be levied on its income is without force.

Every year a fresh Finance Act is passed and it is by virtue of such Finance Act that income-tax is assessed from year to year and hence the argument that the Road Transport Corporation Act is later in point must fail.

It is true that Ss. 29 and 30 do not contemplate the payment of income-tax. But it is hardly necessary for the Act to make provision that tax, if chargeable, would be paid. In fact the Companies Act does not make such specific provision though no one can suggest that there is repugnancy between the provisions of Companies Act and the Income-tax Act. Andhra Pradesh State Road Transport Corporation v. I. T., Officer, B. I. B. Ward, Hyderabad, (1964) 7 SCR 17 : (1964) 52 ITR 524 : (1964) 34 Com-Cas 473 : (1964) 1 ITJ 738 : (1964) 2 MLJ (SC) 33 : (1964) 2 Andh WR (SC) 33 : (1964) 2 SCJ 167 : AIR 1964 SC 1486 (1494) (Pt B) (Pr 22).

●——Art. 254 (1)— Repugnancy between Prize Competitions Act (1955) and Mysore Act (XXVII of 1951) — Effect of Mysore Amending Act (XXVI of 1957).

The inconsistency between the Central Act, Prize Competitions Act (1955) and the Mysore Lotteries and Prize Competitions Control and Tax Act (XXVII of 1951) would operate on that portion of the Mysore Act which became repugnant to Ss. 4 and 5 of the Central Act as to prohibition of prize competitions and licensing of prize competitions, e.g., S. 8 of the Mysore Act and consequently that portion of S. 12 (1) (b) of the Mysore Act which deals with taxes in respect of prize competitions for which a licence had been obtained under S. 8 might be said to have become void and not the rest. Therefore, by the omission of words 'for which a licence had been obtained" under S. 8, the rest of the clause would be valid. The effect of the Mysore amending Act XXVI of 1957 is that the abovementioned words were deemed to have been omitted as from 1st April, 1956, the day when the Central Act came into force and the rest of Clause (b) is not repugnant to any of the provisions of the Central Act. AIR 1959 SC 648, Rel. on. M/s. R. M. D. C. (Mysore), Private, Ltd. v. State of Mysore, (1962) 1 SCA 546 : (1962) 2 SCJ 620 :

(1962) 3 SCR 230: AIR 1962 SC 594 (600, 601) (Pt C) (Pr 16).

●——Arts. 254 and 13 (1) — Motor Vehicles (Amendment) Act whether wholly repugnant to provisions of U. P. Transport Service (Development) Act — Section 6, General Clauses Act — Effect of — (Motor Vehicles (Amendment) Act (1956), S. 1)— (U. P. Transport Service (Development) Act (IX of 1955), S. 1) — (General Clauses Act (1897), S. 6).

Presumably, Parliament with a view to introduce a uniform law throughout the country passed the Amending Act inserting Chapter IV-A in the Motor Vehicles Act, 1939. It is manifest that the Amending Act occupies the same field under the State Act after the Amending Act and therefore to that extent the State Act must yield its place to the Central Act. But the same cannot be said of the schemes framed under the U. P. Act before the Amending Act came into force. What is void under Art. 254 (1) is not the entire Act but only to the extent of its repugnancy with the law made by Parliament. Therefore under Art. 254 (1) the law under the U. P. Act subsists to support the schemes framed thereunder and it becomes void only in respect of schemes framed under the Central Act.

While under Art. 13 (1) all the pre-Constitution laws, to the extent of their inconsistency with the provisions of Part III, are void, under Art. 254 (1) the State Law to the extent of its repugnancy to the law made by Parliament is void. If the pre-Constitution law exists for the-post-Constitution period for all the past transactions, by the same parity of reasoning, the State law subsists after the making of the law by Parliament, for past transactions. In this view, both the laws can co-exist to operate during different periods. Deep Chand v. State of U. P., 1959 SCA 377: 1959 SCJ 1069: ILR (1959) 1 All 293: (1959) 2 SCR (Suppl.) 8: AIR 1959 SC 648 (667, 668, 669) (Pt F) (Prs 31, 32, 33, 34, 35, 36).

——Art. 254 and Sch. VII, List III, Entry 13 — C. P. Code (1908), S. 102 — Amendment by U. P. Act (XXIV of 1954) and by Central Act (LXVI of 1956) — Central amendment prevails over State amendment — Suit for recovery of Rs. 1,700 filed in 1956 — Decree passed after 1-1-1957 — Second appeal and not revision lies — AIR 1961 All 320, Overruled. ILR (1962) 1 All 657: 1961 All LJ 996: 1961 All WR (HC) 761: AIR 1962 All 299 (300) (Pr 3) (DB).

——Art. 254 (1) — Scope — U. P. Sugarcane Cess Act (XXII of 1956), S. 3 (1) — Validity — (U. P. Sugarcane Cess Act (XXII of 1956), S. 3 (1)) — (Industries Development and Regulation Act (1951), S. 9).

It cannot be said that as S. 3 (1) of the impugned Act is repugnant to S. 9 of Act (LXV of 1951) and it is void under Art. 254 (1) of the Constitution. The field of sugarcane is not covered by Act (LXV of 1951) as amended by Act (XXVI of 1953) and the legislative powers of the State Legislature in regard to sugarcane are not affected by it in any manner. AIR 1956 SC 676, Foll. AIR 1957 All 159 (165) (Pt F) (Pr 27) (DB).

——Art. 254 — Tenancy Laws — U. P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act (1951), S. 1 — Validity of Act — Repugnancy with Land Acquisition Act, 1894. See Tenancy Laws — U. P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act (1 of 1951), S. 1. AIR 1952 All 88 (DB).

——Art. 254 — Madras General Sales Tax Act (9 of 1939), S. 2 (h) Explanation 2 — Validity — Explanation not repugnant to Sale of Goods Act (1930) — No question of repugnancy under S. 107 of Government of India Act (1935), arises. See Sales Tax — Madras General Sales-tax Act (9 of 1939), S. 2 (h); Explanation 2. AIR 1960 Andh Pra 203.

——Art. 254 — Motor Vehicles Act (1939), S. 48-A (Mad) — If void on ground of repugnancy to S. 48 (3) (xxi). See Motor Vehicles Act (1939), S. 48-A (Mad). AIR 1959 Andh Pra 476.

——Arts. 254 and 372 — Motor Vehicles Act (1939) (as amended by Act 100 of 1956), Chapter IV-A, S. 68-B — Whether void being repugnant to Art. 372 — Whether overrides Chap. IV — Whether a fetter on future legislation. See Motor Vehicles Act (1939 as amended by Act 100 of 1956), Chap. IV-A. AIR 1959 Andh Pra 292.

——Art. 254 — Repugnancy — Essential Supplies (Temporary Powers) Act (1946) and Madras Essential Articles Control and Requisitioning (Temporary Powers) Act (XIV of 1946) — If inconsistent with each other.

While the Central enactment provides for the production, supply and distribution of certain commodities including edible oils, the Madras Legislation referred to essential articles of different kind which are listed in the schedule annexed to the enactment. The two enactments do not operate over the same territory. In such a situation, there can be no question of there being repugnancy between the two enactments and one prevailing over another. 1958 Andh LT 598.

——Art. 254 (2) — Lay off compensation — Application under S. 33-C by workers employed by textile mill in Vidarbha region after extension of C. P. and Berar Act to textile industries in that region — Maintainability. See Industrial Disputes Act (1947), Ch. V-A. AIR 1963 Bom 189 (DB).

——Art. 254 — S. 8 — Validity — Forward Contracts (Regulation) Act (1952).

As the Notification applying S. 15 of the Forward Contracts (Regulation) Act (1952) to Cotton was issued long after the suit contracts violating the provisions of S. 8 of the Bombay Forward Contract Control Act (LXIV of 1947) were entered into, the Central Act could not apply to the suit contracts and hence S. 8 of the Bombay Act could not be held to be repugnant to the provisions of the Central Act. (Held further that though S. 29 of the Forward Contracts (Regulation) Act (1952) provided for repeal of corresponding laws in the State, the question whether and to what extent that provision would affect the provisions of the Bombay Forward Contracts Control Act did not fall to be considered in the present case). ILR (1960) Bom 600: 62 Bom LR 277: AIR 1960 Bom 532 (534, 541) (Pt D) (Prs 8, 22) (DB).

——Art. 254 — Essential Supplies (Temporary Powers) Act (24 of 1946), (as amended by Acts 19 of 1949 and 52 of 1950), S. 7 — Bombay Essential Supplies (Temporary Powers) and the Essential Commodities and Cattle (Control) Enhancement of Penalties) Act (36 of 1947), S. 2 — Repugnancy in Central and State Acts on same matter — (Government of India Act, 1935, S. 107 (2)). See Essential Supplies (Temporary Powers) Act (XXIV of 1946) (as amended by Acts XIX of 1949 and LII of 1950), S.7. 1953 Cri LJ 1602: AIR 1953 Bom 371 (DB).

——Art. 254 (2) — Repugnancy — West Bengal Land Development and Planning Act (XXI of 1948) and Land Acquisition Act (1894) — No repugnancy between two Acts — Even if repugnancy is assumed S. 2 of State Act will prevail, only to the extent of amendment introduced by West Bengal Land Development and Planning (Amendment) Act, 1955.

The provisions in the West Bengal Land Development and Planning Act, 1948, are in no way inconsistent with or repugnant to the Land Acquisition Act, 1894. The field of operation of the State Act though having certain common features, namely, provisions relating to acquisition of land, is considerably different from the field of operation of the Land Acquisition Act. There is no conflict between the provisions of the two statutes. On the other hand, the provisions of the State Act are complementary to the provisions of the Central Act.

The basic, principle of repugnancy is that there must be a conflict between the two Acts and it cannot be said that such a conflict arises by reason of the absence of a provision in the Central Act similar to that provided in S. 9 of the State Act. On the other hand, it is clear that the State Act is making a provision regarding disposal of land, a question on which the Central Act is silent, and for that reason, the doctrine of repugnancy has no application.

Both the Acts are pre-Constitution Acts. The State Act was amended by the West Bengal Land Development and Planning (Amendment) Act, 1955, but the only amendment made to S. 2 of of the Act was that the following Clause was inserted therein, namely; 'but does not include a purpose of the Union'. It was this amendment which was reserved for the consideration of the President and received his assent and not the entire Act, which is a pre-Constitution Act. It cannot, therefore, be contended that the Act in is entirely, or at any rate S. 2 of the Act should prevail over the Central Act within the State. 69 Cal WN 801 : AIR 1966 Cal 359 (360, 361, 363) (Prs 5, 9, 18) (DB).

——Art. 254 — Oriental Gas Company Act — Validity. See Ibid, Art. 246. AIR 1961 Cal 267.

——Art. 254 — West Bengal Fire Services Act (XVIII of 1950) — Validity. See Ibid, Art. 246. AIR 1960 Cal 219.

——Art. 254 — Conflict between State Legislature and Parliament — Harmonious construction.

Where possible, a construction which harmonises statutes within the respective legislative competence of the State Legislature and Federal Parliament to the one that creates a conflict or repugnancy should be preferred. 62 Cal WN 406: (1958-59) 14 FJR 330 : (1958) 2 Lab LJ 61 : AIR 1958 Cal 373 (376, 377) (Pt C) (Pr 15).

——Arts. 254, 240, 246 (4) — Government of Part C States Act (1951), Ss. 21 and 22 — Part C State Law — Repugnancy with Central law — Effect — "Pith and substance" rule — Applicability — State Act is void. See Ibid, Art. 240. AIR 1961 Madh Pra 216 (DB).

——Art. 254 — Conflict between Central and State laws — Efforts should be made to reconcile them. See Interpretation of Statutes. (1964) 1 Mad LJ 191 : AIR 1965 Mad 54 (DB).

●——Art. 254 — S. 48-A, Motor Vehicles Act (Mad. Amendment) — Validity — Should not be construed as a power to vary the route as if it is a condition of permit.

Per Ramachandra Iyer, C. J. and Jagadisan, J.: If it is necessary to refer to Art. 254 of the Constitution, and to decide the question of constitutional validity of S. 48-A of the Motor Vehicles Act (Madras Amendment) it would fall within Art. 254 (1) and become infirm as against S. 48 as amended by the Central Act C of 1956. It is however, preferable to adopt the golden mean and to hold that S. 48-A operates to the extent to which it can operate as regards conditions of permit recognised and provided for under Central Act. The power of the Transport authority to vary the conditions of the permit contained in S. 48-A of the Act would enable the authority only to alter the enumerated conditions specified in S. 48 (3) (as amended in 1956) and which may be embodied in the permit; but this power should be correlated only to such conditions as the authority can validly include under the present enactment and should not be construed as a power to vary the route as if it is condition of a permit. AIR 1959 Andh Pra 476, Rel. on. S. V. Natesa Mudaliar, Proprietor, S. L. N. S. Transport, Kancheepuram v. Sri. Dhanapal Bus Service (Private), Ltd., Kancheepuram. ILR (1964) 1 Mad 288 : (1964) 2 Mad LJ 23 : AIR 1964 Mad 136 (144) (Pt C) (Pr 14) (FB).

——Art. 254 — Sections 35 and 36 of Madras Aliyasanthana Act, 9 of 1949 — Provisions are not void as being repugnant to law made by Parliament viz., Ss. 7 (2) and 30 of Hindu Succession Act — So long as S. 7 (2) of the Succession Act permits testamentary disposition of undivided interest fact that Aliyasanthana Act permits someone else to transform that interest which was undivided at one stage into divided interest by making a claim for partition would not be a justification for deducing a repugnancy between the two Acts. See Madras Aliyasanthana Act (9 of 1949), S. 35. (1963) 2 Mys LJ 552.

——Art. 254 (1) — Ss. 18, 19, 33 and 37 (3) of the Orissa Act 1 of 1952— Banking Companies Act (1949), Ss. 45-A, 45-B — Inconsistency between — Effect. See Banking Companies Act (1949) (as amended in 1953), S. 45-A. AIR 1954 Orissa 186.

●——Art. 254 — Act ousting jurisdiction of civil Court. See C. P. Code (1908), S. 4. AIR 1955 Pat 1 (SB).

——Arts. 254, 19 and 26 — Travancore-Cochin Hindu Religious Institutions Act (15 of 1950), S. 66 (vi) — Section 66 of the Act does not offend Articles 19, 26 and 254 of the Constitution. See Ibid, Art. 19. AIR 1956 TC 19.

——Art. 254 — Repugnancy between S. 7, C. P. Code and S. 20, T. C. Act (XXII of 1951) — S. 20 is void to that extent.

When there is an apparent conflict or repugnancy between the provision contained in section 7 of the Code of Civil Procedure which is a Central Act and the saving clause as to revision contained in section 20 of the Civil Courts Act which is an Act passed by the State Legislature, the provision contained in the Central Act has to prevail and the provision in the law made by the State Legislature, has to the extent of such repugnancy, to be ignored as being void, under Art. 254 of the Constitution. 1952 Ker LT 538 : AIR 1953 Trav-Co 41 (43) (Pt C) (Pr 4) (DB).

——Art. 254 — Repugnancy — Test — Industrial Disputes Act, 1947.

The Industrial Disputes Act 14 of 1947 passed by the Central Legislature (as amended by Act 48 of 1950) has replaced the Travancore-Cochin Industrial Disputes Act 16 of 1950. The inference would seem fairly, clear that the Central Parliament intended to make its legislation upon the subject of industrial disputes exhaustive so as to exclude any State legislation upon that subject. The result is that Central Act prevails. Hence the Central Act governs the industrial disputes in the State of Travancore-Cochin. Case-law Ref. ILR (1951) Trav-Co 458 : 1951 KLT 121 : AIR 1951 Trav-Co 203 (207) (Pt A) (Pr 15).

3. Repugnancy of State law to "existing law".

●——Art. 254 (2) — Bombay Prohibition Act (XXV of 1949), Ss. 66 (1) (b) and (2), 129-A and 129-B — Scheme of —Trial of offence under Section 66 (1) (b) — Report of Chemical Examiner in cases not covered by S. 129-A — Admissibility in evidence under S. 150, Criminal P. C. — Ss. 129-A and 129-B how far repugnant to provisions of S. 510, Criminal P. C. See Bombay Prohibition Act (XXV of 1949), S. 66 (1) (b). (1963) 2 Cr LJ 418 : AIR 1963 SC 1531.

●——Art. 254 (2) — Municipalities — Orissa Municipal Election Validation Ordinance (1 of 1959), S. 5 — Section not repugnant to any existing law. See Municipalities — Orissa Municipal Election Validation Ordinance (1 of 1959), S. 5. AIR 1962 SC 945.

●——Art. 254 — Vindhya Pradesh Abolition of Jagirs and Land Reforms Act (XI of 1952), S. 37 — Validity. See Tenancy Laws — Vindhya Pradesh Abolition of Jagirs and Land Reforms Act (XI of 1952), S. 37. AIR 1960 SC 796.

●——Arts. 254 (2), 245, Sch. 7, List 3, Item 13 —Bihar Hindu Religious Trusts Act (1 of 1951), Ss. 2 (1), 3, 4 (5), 28, 29 — Baidyanath temple in Bihar is public trust — Act applies to the temple — Act is not bad on ground of extra territorial operation because it takes trusts in Bihar out of purview of S. 92, Civil P. C. — AIR 1954 Pat 262, Reversed — (Civil P. C. (1908), S. 92). See Bihar Hindu Religious Trusts Act (1 of 1951), S. 2 (1). AIR 1959 SC 1073.

●——Art. 254 — Effect of incidental encroachment into field reserved for Centre — Constitutionality of Ss. 4 (2) and 28 to 32, Madras Prohibition Act. See Government of India Act (1935), S. 107. 1957 Cri LJ 409 : 1957 SCJ 216 : (1957) MLJ (Cr) 88 : (1957) 1 MLJ (SC) 59 : (1957) 1 An WR (SC) 59 : AIR 1957 SC 297.

●——Art. 254 (2) — U. P. Civil Laws (Reforms and Amendment) Amendment Act (9 of 1963), S. 2 — Amendment Act of 1963 is not invalid— Order of Chief Justice transferring appeal to District Judge for administration purposes is judicial order — Legislature can validate such order by amending Act even if order was not valid prior to amendment — Civil P. C. (1908), Ss. 4 and 24 — High Court Rules and Orders — Allahabad High Court Rules of Court (1952), Ch. V, R. 1.

The U. P. Civil Laws (Reforms and Amendment) Amendment Act, 1963, is not invalid and the order of transfer of a First Appeal by the High Court to the District Judge, though passed before the Amendment Act received the assent of the Governor and was published in the U. P. Gazette, is valid since after its publication and confers jurisdiction on the District Judge to hear and dispose of the appeal : 1963 ALJ 515, Ref. to.

Clause 2 of Art. 254, Constitution, comes into operation only if there exists a repugnancy and not if the State Legislature has merely made a law on a matter on which there already existed a law made by the Parliament or there was an existing law. Repugnancy as contemplated by the Article does not necessarily mean contradiction by implication. Where an Act passed by the Parliament or the existing law permits the coexistence of another enactment having inconsistent provisions, it cannot be said the law is repugnant to the law made by the Parliament or the existing law as the case may be. Special law prevails over the general law, and consequently, the special law shall be applicable to matters covered by that law, while the general law to other matters.

With regard to the transfer and hearing of appeals there exists no specific provision to the contrary in Civil P. C. Consequently the State Legislature could make a law even though in variation of the provisions of Civil P. C. by conferring special jurisdiction or power on any authority. AIR 1941 FC 16 and AIR 1942 FC 27, Rel. on.

The Courts cannot restrict the scope of general words on supposed intention of the Legislature which does not appear from enactment itself. Thus the special jurisdiction or power contemplated by S. 4 Civil P. C. could be conferred on any Court including the Civil Court. Hence, if the District Judge had not under the provisions of Civil P. C. the power to hear a case the special law could confer on him such jurisdiction.

Section 2 of the Amendment Act of 1963 was not repugnant to S. 24 Civil P. C., nor was it repugnant to the Bengal, Agra and Assam Civil Courts Act. Hence, no assent of the President was necessary before the law could be valid and enforceable.

It is true that, under S. 3 (1) of the Act of 1954 appeals already instituted before the High Court had to be heard by the High Court and such appeals could not be transferred to District Judges for hearing. But after the passing of the Amendment Act of 1963 the effect of Sub-section (1) disappeared as soon as the High Court passed an order of transfer under sub-section (1-A).

The order of transfer passed on an application of a party is a judicial order and, consequently, a similar order passed on an administrative grounds shall also be a judicial order.

Further, the rules of the Allahabad High Court have been framed by the Judges of the Court and consequently, any order passed in accordance with the rules can be deemed to be in fact as an order of the High Court. Hence, under R. 1, Chapter V of Rules of 1952 the Chief Justice could reserve to himself the power to pass an order of transfer and, therefore, the order of the Chief Justice could not be declared invalid simply because it was passed by him and not by any other Judge of the High Court. 1964 All LJ 980.

——Art. 254 — U. P. Sales Tax (Validation) Act (15 of 1958), S. 4 — S. 4 comes into conflict with the provision of Civil P. C., which is a law enacted by the Centre and must on that account be held to be void in view of Art. 254. See Ibid, Art. 226. AIR 1959 All 557.

——Art. 254 (1) — Scope — Madras Commercial Crops Markets Act, 1933 — If void as being repugnant to Cocoanut Committee Act (1944). See Madras Commercial Crops Markets Act. AIR 1961 Andh Pra 138.

——Art. 254 — Hyderabad Regulation XXIV of 1358-F is not repealed by provisions contained in the two Central Acts — Determinations of character of legislation — Pith and Substance. See Essential Supplies (Temporary Powers). Act (1946) (as Amended by Act LII of 1950), S. 17 (4). AIR 1959 Andh Pra 225 (DB).

——Art. 254 (1) — Validity — S. 4 (1), Proviso of Madras Hindu (Bigamy Prevention and Divorce) Act — Not repugnant to S. 494, I. P. C. See Madras Hindu (Bigamy Prevention and Divorce) Act (VI of 1949), S. 4 (1), Proviso. 1955 Cri LJ 1233 : AIR 1955 Andhra 181.

——Art. 254 — Madras Prohibition Act (10 of 1937), S. 4 (1) (a) — Dangerous Drugs Act (1930), Ss. 8, 39 — Possession of Ganja — No inconsistency between Central Act and Madras Act — Assuming that, there is inconsistency, Madras Act will prevail over earlier Central Act.

Under Art. 254 (1) any provision of law made by a State Legislature in respect of the subjects included in the Concurrent List so long as it is not repugnant to any provision of a central legislation is valid.

There is really no repugnancy between the provisions of the Madras Prohibition Act in regard to ganja and the Dangerous Drugs Act. Even assuming that there is any repugnancy between the two Acts, by reason of S. 2 of the Madras Prohibition (Supplementary) Act, 1941, which had received the assent of the Governor-General, the Madras Act of 1937 will prevail as against the earlier Central Law (Dangerous Drugs Act). Art. 254 (2) would be inapplicable in such case. AIR 1941 Mad 533, Disting. 1955 An LT (Cri) 205.

——Art. 254 — Sales tax legislation — Imposition of Sales tax in respect of — Validity of transactions where property passed outside State — Pre-Constitution period — Assessment and realisation after Constitution. See Sales Tax — Assam Sales Tax Act (XIV of 1947), S. 2 (12). AIR 1960 Assam 116 (DB).

——Art. 254 — Repugnancy of State Law to existing law. See Government of India Act (1935), S. 107. 1960 Cr LJ 317: AIR 1960 Assam 37 (DB).

——Art. 254 (2) — Effect of S. 8, Bombay Act LXIV of 1947 — Does not remove prohibitions imposed by Central legislation — Forward contracts, dated 26th February, 1952, and S. 3 held illegal. See Bombay Forward Contracts Control Act (LXIV of 1947), S. 8. AIR 1955 Bom 35 (DB).

——Art. 254 — Legislation by incorporation — Cotton fabrics declared goods of special importance — Imposition of sales tax under S. 5 (1), of Bengal Act VIII of 1944, in excess of 2 per cent laid down in S. 15, of Central Act, was ultra vires, till the time the former section was amended to conform with latter section. See Sales Tax — Bengal Finance (Sales tax) Act (8 of 1941), S. 5 (1), (as it stood prior to its amendment by Act XIII of 1959). AIR 1965 Cal 203.

——Art. 254 (2) — Trial before City Sessions Court in West Bengal — S. 269 (4) Cri P. C. not applicable — Amendment by W. B. Act. XXVI of 1956, is valid. See Cr. P. Code (1898), S. 269 (4). 1964 (1) Cr LJ 30: AIR 1964 Cal 30 (DB).

■ ——Art. 254 — Hyderabad Legal Practitioners Act (6 of 1318 F), S. 3 — Civil P. C. (1908), O. 3, R. 1 — S. 3 is not good law either on the ground that it is an unreasonable restriction and also is void being inconsistent with O. 3, R. 1. See Hyderabad Legal Practitioners Act (6 of 1318 F.), S. 3. AIR 1951 Hyd 140 (FB).

——Art. 254 — Travancore-Cochin Vehicles Taxation Act and Companies Act, 1913 — No conflict between two Acts — Former is not hit by Art. 254 — (Travancore-Cochin Vehicles Taxation Act (XIV of 1950) Preamble). 1958 Ker LJ 413: 1958 Ker LT 631: ILR (1958) Ker 666: 1958 Mad LJ (Cr) 813: AIR 1958 Ker 398 (399) (Pt B) (Pr 14) (DB).

——Art. 254 — Scope of — Motor Vehicles Act (1939), S. 64 (2) (as inserted by Madras Act XXXIX of 1954) and S. 64-A (as inserted by Central Act C of 1956) — Repugnancy in State Act, S. 64 (2) (Madras) and Central Act, (S. 64-A) — (Motor Vehicles Act (1939), Ss. 64 (2) (Mad) and 64-A).

Sub-section (2) of S. 64 introduced by Madras Act (XXXIX of 1954) is not repugnant to S. 64-A inserted newly by Central Act (C of 1956) and is therefore not void under Art. 254 (1) of the Constitution. It is quite possible for the Tribunal appointed under S. 64 and the State Transport Authority to function concurrently as revisional authorities under S. 64 (2) (Mad) and S. 64-A respectively, the former over both the regional and the State Transport Authorities and the latter over the Regional Transport Authorities, and hence test of harmonious co-existence and simultaneous obedience is satisfied.

The Act does not say that the revisional jurisdiction is to be exercised only by the State Transport Authority or give any indication that no other remedy than an appeal under S. 64 or a revision under S. 64-A is open to an aggrieved party. AIR 1956 SC 676; 1956 SCJ 625 and AIR 1930 Cal 628, Rel. on. The existence of concurrent powers of revision in two different authorities does not necessarily lead to conflicts and difficulties. It is quite apparent that the Tribunal constituted under S. 64 which has powers of revision over both the State and the Regional Transport Authorities is the superior authority. That apart, administrative difficulties in the actual working of the two provisions is no ground for holding that they are mutually repugnant and if such difficulties do actually exist it is for the appropriate Legislature to resolve them by repealing one or the other of the provisions. 1957 Ker LJ 565: 1957 Ker LT 685: (1957) Mad LJ (Cri) 652: AIR 1958 Ker 19 (21) (Pt A) (Prs 3, 4, 5).

——Art. 254 — Scope — Notificaton under S. 3 (2), M. P. Official Languages Act — Validity — Not repugnant to any provision under Civil Procedure Code or Criminal Procedure Code or to Art. 254 of the Constitution. See M. P. Official Languages Act (1950), S. 3 (2). AIR 1959 Madh Pra 208 (DB).

——Art. 254 —Madras Children Act (4 of 1920) — Rules under S. 44, R. 7 — Offence committed by juvenile — Exclusively triable by Court of Session — Jurisdiction of Juvenile Court to try accused not taken away by S. 29-B, Criminal P. C. — Procedure to be followed by Juvenile Court is that laid down for summons cases — Procedure does not contravene Art. 14, Constitution of India — See Madras Children Act (4 of 1920) — Rules under, S. 44, R. 7. AIR 1960 Mad 308.

——Art. 254 — Provisions of Ss. 28 to 32 of Madras Prohibition Act are not repugnant to existing law. See Madras Prohibition Act (X of 1937), Ss. 28 to 32. 1954 Cr LJ 1521: AIR 1954 Mad 993 (DB).

——Art. 254 (1) — S. 4 (2), Madras Prohibition Act, is not repugnant to Evidence Act. See Madras Prohibition Act (X of 1937), S. 4 (2). 1954 Cr LJ 1521: AIR 1954 Mad 993 (DB).

——Art. 254 — Bombay Agricultural Debtors Relief Act (28 of 1939), S. 52 — Validity — No repugnancy with S. 48, C. P. Code. See Debt Laws — Bombay Agricultural Debtors Relief Act (XXVIII of 1939), S. 52. AIR 1961 Mys 259.

——Art. 254 (2) — Repugnancy — Essential Supplies (Temporary Powers) Act (1946) — Orissa Essential Articles Control and Requisitioning (Temporary Powers) Act (1950) (XII of 1951), S. 8 — No repugnancy between two Acts. ILR (1956) Cut 374: 22 Cut LT 375: 1956 Cr LJ 1334: AIR 1956 Orissa 194 (198) (Pt E) (Pr 14) (DB).

——Art. 254 — Scope — Bihar Shops and Establishments Act, 1953 (VIII of 1954), S. 26 (2) — Validity — If repugnant to existing law. See Bihar Shops and Establishments Act (1953) (VIII of 1954), S. 26 (2). AIR 1958 Pat 442 (DB).

——Art. 254, Sch. 7, List 3, Item 7 — S. 78, Bengal Irrigation Act — Validity — (Bengal Irrigation Act (III of 1876), S. 78)

The determination of the water rate is not a matter of contract between the parties; it is an exercise of statutory power and, therefore, no question of repugnancy between S. 78 on one side and the provisions of the Indian Contract Act on the other arises. 1956 BLJR 383: AIR 1956 Pat 482 (488) (Pt G) (Pr 13) (DB).

■——Art. 254 — Bihar Land Encroachment Act (XXXI of 1950) — Validity — [Limitation Act (1908) Ss. 28, 29].

Provisions of Bihar Land Encroachment Act are certainly repugnant to the provisions of the Limitation Act, inasmuch as they completely ignore the law of limitation which prevails in this country. Limitation being the result of a statute law, no exemption or deviation from it can be recognised except what the statute itself provides, and in the impugned Act no exemption whatsoever is provided.

If the title of the public in the so-called public land has been extinguished by efflux of time, then that title cannot be revived when the Act does not expressly lay down that notwithstanding what is contained in the law of limitation, that title stands revived. The repugnancy to the Limitation Act is therefore apparent and real, and limitation is to be found in item No 13 of List 3 of the Seventh Schedule. Even though the Amending Act, by which the opening words "subject to the provisions of any law for the time being in force" in S. 2 (ii) were deleted, had received the assent of the President, that is immaterial if the parent Act in which we find the artificial definition of 'public property' and the stringent provisions of Ss. 3, 4, 5, 6 and 9 had not received the President's assent.

Art. 254 (2) of the Constitution will be fully applicable, and it will not be open to the Collector to evict any man who has perfected his title to the subject-matter of the dispute by being in possession of it for a period of twelve years. Brij Bhukan v. S. D. O., Siwan, 33 Pat 690: 1954 BLJR 513: AIR 1955 Pat 1 (27, 28, 29, 30) (Pt V) (Prs 19, 20) (SB).

■——Art. 254 — Bihar Land Encroachment Act (XXXI of 1950) not inconsistent with Cr. P. Code. See Cr. P. Code (1898), S. 1 (2), and Ch. X. AIR 1955 Pat 1 (SB).

——Arts. 254, 246, Sch. 7 List II, Item 1 and List III, Item 14 — S. 9, Punjab Security of the State Act — Validity — (Public Safety — Punjab Security of the State Act (12 of 1953), S. 9) — (Contempt of Courts Act (1952), Ss. 3, 4). See Ibid, Art. 246. 1956 Cri LJ 1015: AIR 1956 Punj 169 (DB).

——Art. 254 (1) — S. 2, E. P. Act, XLVIII of 1948 if inconsistent with provisions of Evacuee Property Act. See East Punjab Requisitioning of Immovable Property (Temporary Powers) Act (XLVIII of 1948), S. 2 (as amended by E. P. Act XI of 1951). AIR 1954 Punj 241 (DB).

——Arts. 254 (1), 366 (10) — Government of Part C States Act (1951), S. 43 (1) — Section 43 (1) is void — Repugnancy of State law to existing law — (Weekly Holidays Act, 1942) — See Ajmer Shops and Commercial Establishments Act (4 of 1956), S. 43 (1). AIR 1959 Raj 257.

■——Art. 254 — Repugnancy between two State laws.

Repugnancy has to be founded on the impossibility of co-existence. The new grounds of disqualification added in S. 66 of the Travancore- Cochin Hindu Religious Institutions Act, 1950 will certainly affect persons convicted by a criminal Court of offences involving moral turpitude and the members of the Legislature, but that does not necessarily mean that the two new grounds of disqualification are anything more than an addition or supplement to the four that already existed in the Cochin Hindu Religious Institutions Act (1 of 1081) when the Constitution came into force. P. M. Bramadathan Nambooripad v. Cochin Devaswom Board, 1955 Ker LT 516: ILR (1955) TC 741: AIR 1956 Trav-Co 19 (23) (Pt H) (Pr 17) (FB).

■——Arts. 254, 14 and 21 — Sales tax — Travancore Cochin General Sales Tax Act (1125), Ss. 19 and 21 — S. 21 is not ultra vires the Constitution, Criminal P. C., or Evidence Act — Gist of offence under S. 19 (b) is not validity of assessment, but is non-payment of tax within time — Thus there is no violation of Art. 14 or Criminal P. C., or Evidence Act — Criminal P. C. and Evidence Act apply to trial of offence under S. 19 — Ambit of offence is not thereby enlarged — AIR 1954 Mad 833, Diss. from. See Ibid, Art. 14. 1955 Cri LJ 1289: AIR 1955 Trav-Co. 220 (FB).

4. "Law made by Parliament".

■——Art. 254 — Conflict between S. 15, Payment of Wages Act and S. 54, Bombay Co-operative Societies Act — To the extent that S. 54 of the Co-operative Societies Act imposes a bar on a proceeding being instituted under S. 15 of the Payment of Wages Act, it is repugnant — The provision in the Central Act (Payment of Wages Act) prevails — Application under S. 15 of the Payment of Wages Act — Not barred by S. 54 of the Bombay Act — Employee has either remedy. Farkhundali Nannhay v. V. B. Potdar, (1962) 4 FLR 22: (1962-63) 23 FJR 79: ILR (1962) Bom 1: 63 Bom LR 985: (1962) 1 Lab LJ 51: 1962 Nag LJ 106: AIR 1962 Bom 162 (165) (Pt C) (Pr 10) (FB).

——Art. 254 — Vindhya Pradesh Abolition of Jagirs and Land Reforms Act (11 of 1952), S. 6 (g) — Transfer of Property Act (1882), S. 58 — Part C States (Laws) Act, 1950 — Conflict between provisions of S. 6 (g) of Abolition Act and S. 58 T. P. Act — Section 6 (g) not void after amendment of S. 22, Government of Part C States Act, in 1954 — "Law made by Parliament in S. 22, Explanation, as it stood prior to its amendment in 1954 — Part C States (Laws) Act 1950, extending Transfer of Property Act to Vindhya Pradesh, whether covered. — See Government of Part C States Act (1951) (as amended in 1954), S. 22. AIR 1961 Madh Pra 216.

——Art. 254 — Part C States (Laws) Act (30 of 1950), S. 2 — Scope — Central Government not empowered to amend or modify Central Act already in force in Part C States — It also cannot achieve that result by extending law prevailing in Part A State which has modified or amended Central Act — Provisions of S. 35, Stamp Act (1899) as modified by S. 5, Indian Stamp (East Punjab Amendment) Act (27 of 1949) cannot be extended to Delhi. See Part C States (Laws) Act (1950), S. 2. AIR 1965 Punj 279 (DB).

——Art. 254 — Rajasthan Premises (Control of Rent and Eviction) Act (17 of 1950) (as amended by Act 37 of 1957), S. 2 (1) and (2) — Control of rents in cantonment areas is within exclusive competence of Parliament — Act to that extent held ultra vires. See Ibid, Sch. VII, List 1, Entry 3. AIR 1962 Raj 190 (DB).

5. Law made by legislature of a State.

●——Arts. 254, 366 (22), Sch. VII, List II, Entry 18 — Orissa Private Lands of Rulers (Assessment of Rent) Act (XIII of 1958), S. 2 (h) — Definition of Ruler in S. 2 (h) — Inconsistency with definition in Art. 366 (22) — Does not render Orissa Act invalid — Subject-matter of Act is different and is covered by Entry 18 of List II.

The definition of the word 'Ruler' prescribed by S. 2 (h) of the Orissa Act is wider than that prescribed by Art. 366 (22). The dependants of the Ruler and his relatives are not included in the latter definition, though they are expressly included in the former. But the definition prescribed by Art. 366 is intended for the purpose of interpreting the articles in the Constitution itself unless the context otherwise requires and so the argument that the definition of the word 'Ruler' prescribed by the Act is inconsistent with the definition prescribed by Art. 366 (22), has really no substance or meaning. Besides, it is fallacious to assume that the Act has made any provision in respect of Rulers as such. What the Act has purported to do is to authorise the levy of assessment and rent in respect of lands situated in Orissa, these lands are the private lands of the Rulers as defined by S. 2 (h) and so, there is no doubt that the whole object of defining the word 'Ruler' is to specify and describe the lands in respect of which the operative provisions of the Act would come into play. Once it is conceded, as it must be, that the Orissa Legislature was competent to pass the Act under Entry 18 of List II of the Seventh Schedule, it is idle to suggest that the method adopted by the Act in describing the lands which are made liable to pay assessment, introduces any infirmity in the Act itself. Therefore, the contention that the definition of the word 'Ruler' is inconsistent with Art. 366 (22) and that makes the whole Act void is without any substance. Rani Ratnaprova Devi v. State of Orissa. 1964 SCD 892: 30 Cut LT 525: (1964) 6 SCR 301: AIR 1964 SC 1195 (1199, 1200) (Pt B) (Pr 13).

●——Arts. 254, 246, Sch. 7, List II, Entry 11 and List 1, Entries 63, 64, 65 and 66 and List III Entry 25 — Scope and interpretation of—Use of expression "Subject to" in List II, Entry 11 — Implication of — Power to legislate with respect to medium of instruction — Extent of powers of State Legislature and Union — Gujarat University Act (50 of 1949), S. 4 (27) Proviso (as amended by Act 4 of 1961) and S. 38 A — Provisions are not ultra vires of State Legislature — AIR 1962 Guj 88 (FB), Reversed. See Ibid, Art. 246. AIR 1963 SC 703.

——Art. 254 — U. P. Sales Tax Act (XV of 1948), S. 2 (h) — Validity. See Sales Tax — U. P. Sales Tax Act (XV of 1948), S. 2 (h). AIR 1964 All 284.

——Art. 254 — Applicability — Memorandum of appearance by standing counsel — Stamp duty — Art. 254 applies to a law made by the Parliament, which the Parliament is competent to enact. Matters of court-fee occur as item No. 3 in List II in Sch. 7 which is within the exclusive jurisdiction of a State. See Civil Procedure Code (1908), O. 27, R. 9. AIR 1960 All 588.

——Art. 254 — Tenancy Laws — U. P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act (1 of 1951), S. 1. Act not invalid. See Tenancy Laws — U. P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act (1 of 1951), S. 1. AIR 1952 All 88 (DB).

——Art. 254 (2) — Constitutionality of Madras Civil and Village Courts (Amendment) Act (XVI of 1951). See Madras Civil and Village Courts (Amendment) Act (XVI of 1951), S. 1. AIR 1959 Andh Pra 3 (DB).

——Art. 254 (2) — Scope and effect of — Validity of Ss. 13 and 14, Assam State Road Transport Act See Assam State Road Transport Act (XXX of 1954), S. 13. AIR 1957 Assam 139 (DB).

——Arts. 254 (1), 367 (2) — "Law made by the Legislature of a State" — Bombay Forward Contracts Control Act (LXIV of 1947).

Essential Supplies (Temporary Powers) Act (1946), though a pre-Constitution legislation, was adopted by the Parliament after the coming into force of the Constitution. The provisions of the Act read with the Cotton Control Order (1950) issued under S. 3 of the Act and the Notification issued by the Textile Commissioner on 16-7-1953 under Cl. 6 of the Cotton Control Order (1950) relaxing the prohibition placed on contracts in cotton would be 'a law made by Parliament' within the meaning of Art. 254 (1): AIR 1954 SC 465, Foll. The expression 'a law made by the Legislature of State' in Art. 254 (1) and Art. 367 (2) refers to a post-Constitution law. The question of repugnancy between a law made by a Provincial Legislature, before the Constitution and a law made by Parliament cannot be decided under Art. 254: AIR 1954 SC 311, Foll. AIR 1956 Madh B 199, Rel. on.; AIR 1955 Bom 35 and AIR 1954 SC 752, Dist. Provision in Cl. 21 of the Adaptation of Laws Order (1950) cannot confer on the Court any power to construe Art. 254 with a view to bringing an Act passed by the Provincial Legislature before the Constitution within the four corners of Art. 254. 'State Act' in Cl. (59) of S. 3 of the General Clauses Act (1897) does not mean an Act passed by a Provincial Legislature before the Constitution though the Legislature is continued as the Legislature of the State after the Constitution. Hence, the Bombay Forward Contracts Control Act (LXIV of 1947) cannot be held to be "a law made by the legislature of a State" within the meaning of Art. 254 (1); and therefore S. 8 of the Bombay Act cannot be held to be void and inoperative on the ground of the same being repugnant to the Notification issued by the Textile Commissioner on 16-7-1953. ILR (1960) Bom 600: 62 Bom LR 277: AIR 1960 Bom 532 (535 to 539) (Pt A) (Prs 10, 12 to 15, 17) (DB).

——Art. 254 — Houses and Rents — West Bengal Premises Tenancy Act (XII of 1956), Ss. 16 (2) and 30 (5) — Constitutional validity —Provisions are not ultra vires. See Houses and Rents — West Bengal Premises Tenancy Act (XII of 1956), S. 16 (2). ('62) 66 Cal WN 757.

——Arts. 254 and 245 — (Government of India Act (1915), S. 79)— Power of local Legislature to make law — Extent of its extra-territorial jurisdiction. See Ibid, Art. 245. AIR 1956 Cal 216 (DB).

——Art. 254 — Repugnancy. See Tenancy Laws— Jammu and Kashmir Big Landed Estates (Abolition) Act (2007), Preamble. AIR 1953 J and K 25 (DB).

——Art. 254 — M. B. Muafi and Inam tenants and sub-tenants Protection Act — Validity. See Tenancy Laws — M. B. Muafi and Inam Tenants and Sub-tenants Protection Act (XXXII of 1954), S. 4. AIR 1957 Madh B 63 (DB).

——Arts. 254, 245, 246, Sch. 7, List I, Entry 59, List III, Entry 19 — Section 9 (a), Opium Act (1878), as amended by Madhya Bharat Act (15 of 1955) — Validity — Provision is governed by Sch. 7, List III, entry 19 and is intra vires

State Legislature. See Ibid, Art. 245. AIR 1961 MP 13.

[Overruled on another point in AIR 1963 MP 337.]

——Art. 254 — Industrial Disputes (Madras Amendment) Act (12 of 1949), S. 5 — Validity — Government of India Act (1935), S. 107. See Industrial Disputes Act (1947), S. 5. 1952 Cri LJ 744 : AIR 1951 Mad 191 (DB).

——Art. 254 — Applicability — Conditions for — Mysore Police Act (5 of 1908), S. 40 — Not invalid on ground of repugnancy with S. 144 Criminal P. C.

The validity of S. 40, Mysore Police Act cannot be challenged on ground of repugnancy with S. 144 Criminal P. C. For invoking Art. 254 of the Constitution the competing provisions of law must be with respect to one of the matters enumerated in the concurrent list and there must be repugnancy between them, neither of these conditions are satisfied.

Whereas the subject of criminal procedure is a concurrent subject being entry 2 in the Concurrent List, the topics dealt with in the Mysore Police Act are exclusively State subjects, viz., public order and police set out in the first two entries in the State List. There is or may be a certain amount of overlapping between the ideas covered by S. 144 of the Code of Criminal Procedure and S. 40 of the Mysore Police Act. But, then, so long as such a law is in its pith and substance one within the exclusive competence of a State Legislature, such overlapping as there may be between any of its provisions and S. 144 of the Code of Criminal Procedure may not amount to any such extensive encroachment into a field which is not its own as to render the law invalid or incompetent. 1962 Mys LJ (Supp) 411.

——Art. 254 — Law made by Parliament and State Law — Repugnancy in — Bombay Village Panchayats Act falls under Sch. VII, List II, Entry 5 and not under List III, Entry 2 — Art. 254 cannot apply. See Ibid, Sch. VII, List II, Entry 5. 1961 (2) Cr LJ 789 : AIR 1961 Mys 257 (DB).

——Art. 254. Sch. 7, List 2, Entries 54, 64, 65 — Mysore Sales Tax Act, S. 22 — Constitutional validity — S. 22 is not ultra vires of Art. 14 of Constitution or Criminal P. C. — (Criminal P. C. (1898), Ss. 1 (2), 5) — AIR 1954 Mad 833, Diss. from. See Sales Tax — Mysore Sales Tax Act Act (46 of 1948), S. 22. AIR 1958 Mys 143.

●——Art. 254 (1) — Mysore Chief Court Act, S. 15 (3) — Validity. See Ibid, Art. 225. AIR 1955 Mys 65 (FB).

——Art. 254 — Bihar Sales Tax Act (IX of 1959), S. 20A — Validity — Dealer has no right to challenge its validity on ground of violation of Art. 19 (1) (f) of the Constitution — S. 20-A is valid and intra vires the State legislature. See Ibid, Art. 19 (1) (f). AIR 1966 Pat 54 (DB).

——Art. 254 — Sales Tax — Bihar Sales Tax Act (11 of 1947), S. 2 (c)—Validity. See Sales Tax—Bihar Sales Tax Act (XI of 1947), S. 2 (c). AIR 1953 Pat 87 (DB).

[Reversed on another point in AIR 1955 SC 661.]

——Arts. 254, 13, 246, 265 and Sch. 7, List II, — Punjab Urban Immovable Property Tax Act (1940), Ss. 1 and 3 — Not ultra vires the Constitution. See Punjab Urban Immovable Property Tax Act (XVII of 1940). AIR 1963 Punj 354 (DB).

——Art. 254 (1), Sch. VII, List II, Item 3, List III, Item 13 — Conflict between existing law and law made by State Legislature — Rajasthan Civil Courts Law (Extension) Act (II of 1957) falls under List II, item 3 of the Sch. VII and not under List III, item 13 — Does not conflict with Ajmer Courts Regulation (IX of 1926) — Is intra vires—Rajasthan Civil Courts Laws (Extension) Act (II of 1957) — Ajmer Courts Regulation (IX of 1926).

The purpose and the object of the Rajasthan Civil Courts Laws (Extension) Act (II of 1957) extending Rajasthan Civil Courts Ordinance (VII of 1950) to Ajmer area of the State was to bring the Courts existing in the Ajmer area in line with the pattern which stood established in the rest of this State. Therefore, in its pith and substance the legislation fell within item No. 3 of the State list and, had essentially nothing to do with item No. 13 of the Concurrent List, though some of the matters provided thereunder might appear slightly to trench upon the field of item No. 13 of the Concurrent list also. There was thus no question of any real conflict between the "existing law" and Act IX of 1926 as applicable to the former State of Ajmer. Art. 254 did not adversely affect the Act of 1957 and the same was perfectly constitutional and intra vires of the Legislature of the State. AIR 1951 SC 69 : AIR 1959 SC 544 : AIR 1957 SC 297, Rel. on. ILR (1960) 10 Raj 1678.

——Art. 254 (1), Sch. VII, List II, Item 3 — Rajasthan Premises (Control of Rent and Eviction) Act (1950), S. 22 — Validity — (Civil P. C. (1908), S. 100). See Houses and Rents — Rajasthan Premises (Control of Rent and Eviction) Act (17 of 1950), S. 22. AIR 1954 Raj 252.

——Art. 254 (1) — Applicability. See Houses and Rents — Rajasthan Premises (Control of Rent and Eviction) Act (XVII of 1950), S. 6. AIR 1954 Raj 252 (DB).

——Art. 254, Sch. 7, List II, Item 3 and List III, Item 13 — Repugnancy — S. 12 (4) of Saurashtra Act (XXII of 1951) not void on ground of repugnancy to provisions of Civil Procedure Code — (Houses and Rents — Saurashtra Rent Control Act (XXII of 1951), S. 12 (4)) — (Civil Procedure Code (1908), S. 4 (1) and O. 11, R. 21).

Section 12 (4) of Saurashtra Act imposes upon tenants the obligation to deposit in Court such amount as may appear to the Court to be reasonably due as arrears. The pith and substance of the Act is within the State's legislative competence and is listed as item 3 in the State List. This provision is in the interest of the landlord and its validity cannot be questioned. The impugned clause as well as other procedural provisions should be regarded as adjunct to the primary object of the Act and within the legislative competence of the State Legislature. The impugned penal clause is saved by S. 4 (1), Civil Procedure Code and no exception can be taken to it on the ground that it is repugnant to any of the provisions of the Civil Procedure Code and is hit by Art. 254 (1) of the Constitution. AIR 1942 FC 27 : AIR 1950 FC 59 and AIR 1954 Pat 97, Applied. 9 Sau LR 199 : AIR 1956 Sau 58 (61, 62) (Pt C) (Pr 6) (DB).

——Art. 254 — Applicability to Part C States — Repugnancy between Government of Part C States Act and Parliamentary legislation — Effect — V. P. Act XI of 1953 is not void under Art. 254 (1)—(Tenancy Laws — V. P. Abolition of Jagirs and Land Reforms Act (XI of 1953), Ss. 1 and 37 — Government of Part C States Act (1951), Sections 21, 22).

In Art. 254 (1) the words used are "the Legislature of a State". The heading neither of the part nor of the Chapter contains any indication of a restriction of the general meaning; part XI is called 'the relation between the Union and the States obviously including those in Part C. Further, the very fact that Art. 254 (2) expressly refers to a Part A or B States shows that the general statements in the first clause was meant to include Part C States as well.

Under Ss. 21 and 22 of the Act XLIX of 1951 no repugnant legislation on a concurrent subject can at all be made by a Part C legislature; it will have to go to the Parliament itself. In the event of repugnancy to existing law on a concurrent subject the State enactment will be void.

If the State legislation supplements and does not in effect repeal, then if even it is on the same concurrent subject there is no repugnancy.

Held, that there was no repugnancy between the U. P. Abolition of Jagirs and Land Reforms Act, 1953 and any of the Parliamentary legislation and hence the Act was not void under Art. 254 (1).

Held, further that inasmuch as S. 37 of the U. P. Act XI of 1953 makes the decision of the Land Reforms Commissioner final subject only to an appeal provided by S. 32 and ousts the jurisdiction of Civil Courts, it contravenes provisions of S. 9 C. P. Code, and is to that extent ultra vires the U. P. State legislature under S. 22 of the Government of the Part C. States Act, 1951. AIR 1954 Vin P 24 (28, 30, 31) (Pt E) (Prs 21, 22, 37).

6. Order by State Governor.

——Art. 254 (2) — Law made by Legislature of State — Orissa Iron and Steel Products (Control of Prices and Distribution) Order (1951).

If statutory rules and orders are validly made in exercise of the powers conferred by a statute, they for all practical purposes have the same effect as if enacted in that statute. Hence the Orissa Order is a law made by the Orissa Legislature for the purpose of Art. 254 (2). ILR (1956) Cut 374 : 22 Cut LT 375 : 1956 Cr LJ 1334 : AIR 1956 Orissa 194 (197) (Pt B) (Pr 10) (DB).

7. Existing law.

●——Art. 254 — Mysore House Rent and Accommodation Control Order (1948), Cls. 9 (1), 16 — Applicability — Effect of application of T. P. Act to Mysore State — Order saved as existing law under Art. 372 and not affected by repugnancy under Art. 254 of the Constitution — Non-compliance with Cls. 9 (1) and 16 — Affects power of Court to execute decree for possession. See Houses and Rents — Mysore House Rent and Accommodation Control Order (1948), Cl. 9 (1). AIR 1961 SC 272.

——Art. 254 — 'Existing law.'

The 'existing law' contemplated by Art. 254 includes a State enactment. 1955 Ker LT 516 : ILR (1955) TC 741 : AIR 1956 Trav-Co 19 (23) (Pt G) (Pr 15) (DB).

8. "With respect to one of the matters enumerated in the Concurrent List."

●——Art. 254, Sch. 7, List 3, Item 22 — Rajasthan Industrial Tribunal (Constitution and Proceedings) Validating Act (1959), S. 2 — Tribunal originally constituted under S. 7 of Industrial Disputes Act, before its amendment in 1956 — Reference made between 10-3-1957 and 15-4-1959 — Effect of passing of validating Act — Constitution of Tribunal and reference validated by S. 2 — Act is validly enacted and prevails in Rajasthan — Industrial Disputes Act (1947) (as amended in 1956), S. 7-A. See Rajasthan Tribunal (Constitution and Proceedings) Validating Act (1959), S. 2. AIR 1964 SC 444.

●——Art. 254 — Scope — Repugnancy between Central Act and Provincial Act — Provincial Act to prevail. See Government of India Act (1935), S. 107 (2). AIR 1961 SC 823.

●——Art. 254 (2) — U. P. Sugarcane (Regulation of Supply and Purchase) Act (XXIV of 1953) — If repugnant to Industries (Development and Regulation) Act (LXV of 1951) (as amended by Act (XXVI of 1953) and to Essential Commodities Act (X of 1955).)

The articles or class of articles relatable to the scheduled industry, in S. 18-G, Industries (Development and Regulation) Act (LXV of 1951) (as amended by Act XXVI of 1953) were finished products and not raw materials for the manufacture or production of the articles or class of articles in the scheduled industry. Sugarcane which is the raw material for the manufacture or production of sugar could, therefore, not be included in the category of the article or class of article relatable to the sugar industry. Section 18-G therefore, did not cover the field of sugarcane and the Central Government was not empowered by the introduction of S. 18-G by Act XXVI of 1953 to legislate in regard to sugarcane. The legislative powers of the Provincial Legislatures in regard to sugarcane were not affected. The field was clear for the operation of State legislation and there was no repugnancy at all between Act LXV of 1951 and the U. P. Sugarcane (Regulation of Supply and Purchase) Act (XXIV of 1953).

Similarly, there is no repugnancy whatever between the provisions of the Essential Commodities Act (X of 1955) and the impugned Act and the Rules framed thereunder as also the U. P. Sugarcane Regulation of Supply and Purchase Order, 1954 do not trench upon the field covered by Act X of 1955. There being no repugnancy at all, therefore, no question arises of the operation of Art. 254 (2) of the Constitution and no provision of the impugned Act and the Rules made thereunder is invalidated by any provision contained in Act LXV of 1951 as amended by Act XXVI of 1953 or Act X of 1955 and the Sugarcane Control Order, 1955, issued thereunder. Tika Ramji v. State of Uttar Pradesh, 1956 SCA 979 : 1956 SCR 393 : 1956 All WR (HC) 657 : 1956 SCJ 625 (SC) : AIR 1956 SC 676 (700, 701, 702, 703, 704) (Pt C) (Prs 34, 36).

●——Art. 254 (2) — Principle embodied in.

The important thing to consider with reference to Art. 254 (2) is whether the legislation is "in respect of the same matter". If the later legislation deals not with the matters which formed the subject of the earlier legislation but with other and distinct matters though of a cognate and allied character, then Art. 254 (2) will have no application. The principle embodied in S. 107 (2), Government of India Act 1935 and Art. 254 (2), Constitution of India is that when there is legislation covering the same ground both by the Centre and by the Province, both of them being competent to enact the same, the law of the Centre should prevail over that of the State. Zaverbhai v. State of Bombay, 1954 SCJ 851 : 1954 Cr LJ 1822 : 1954 SCA 1295 : 1955 All WR (Sup) 1 : 1955 SCR 799 : 57 Bom LR 589 : AIR 1954 SC 752 (757) (Pt B) (Pr 8).

●——Art. 254 (2) — Legislation by Parliament and State "in respect of the same matter' — Rule of construction — (Essential Supplies (Temporary Powers) Act (1946) (as amended by Act LII of 1950), S. 7) — (Bombay Essential Supplies (Temporary Powers) and the Essential Commodities and Cattle (Control) (Enhancement of Penalties) Act (XXVI of 1947), S. 2.).

Section 7 of the Essential Supplies (Temporary Powers) Act, 1942 is a comprehensive Code covering the entire field of punishment for offences under the Act graded according to the commodities and to the character of the offence. The subject of enhanced punishment that is dealt within the Bombay Essential Supplies (Temporary Powers) and the Essential Commodities and Cattle (Control) (Enhancement of Penalties) Act (XXXVI of 1947) is also comprised in the Essential Supplies (Temporary Powers) Act, 1946 (as amended by Act LII of 1950), the same being limited to the case of hoarding of foodgrains. Hence S. 7 of the Central Act is a Legislation in respect of the same matter as Bombay Act XXXVI of 1947.

The question of punishment for contravention of orders under the Essential Supplies (Temporary Powers) Act both under Bombay Act XXXVI of 1947 and under Central Act LII of 1950, constitutes a single subject-matter and cannot be split up. On this principle rests the rule of construction relating to statutes that "when the punishment or penalty is altered in degree but not in kind, the later provision would be considered as superseding the earlier one". (1937) 1 KB 518, Foll. Majority view in AIR 1953 Bom 371. Affirmed. Zaverbhai v. State of Bombay, 1954 SCJ 851 : 1954 Cr LJ 1822 : 1954 SCA 1295 : 1955 All WR (Supp) 1 : 1955 SCR 799 : 57 Bom LR 589: AIR 1954 SC 752 (757, 758) (Pt C) (Prs 9, 10).

——Art. 254 and Sch. VII, List 3, Entry 13 —C. P. Code (1908), S. 102 — Amendment by U. P. Act XXIV of 1954 — Scope and effect of.

The State amendment made in 1954 to S. 102, C. P. Code, by U. P. Act (XXIV of 1954) is not in any manner affected by the amendment made to that section by Parliament in 1956 by Central Act LXVI of 1956. Hence, so far as the State of Uttar Pradesh is concerned, no second appeal lies in any suit of the nature cognizable by Courts of Small Causes when the amount or value of the subject-matter of the original suit does not exceed Rs. 2,000. ILR (1961) 1 All 287 : 1961 All LJ 4 : 1961 All WR (HC) 77 : AIR 1961 All 320 (321) (Pt A) (Pr 10).

[Overruled in AIR 1962 All 299.]

●——Art. 254 (2) — Repugnancy between State and Central Legislation. See U. P. Industrial Disputes Act (XXVIII of 1947), S. 3. AIR 1954 All 538 (FB).

[Reversed on another point in AIR 1961 SC 420.]

——Art. 254 — The question of occupied field is absolutely irrelevant when the Court is concerned with Lists I and II and with the concurrent List. See Ibid, Art. 246. AIR 1960 Andh Pra 115 (DB).

——Art. 254, Sch. 7, List 3, Entry 5—In order to attract this Article, the pre-condition is, the law must be with respect to "one of the matters enumerated in the concurrent list." See Tenancy Laws — Hyderabad (Abolition of Jagirs) Regulation (1358, Fasli), S. 21 (2). 1960 Andh LT 1 (DB).

——Art. 254 (2) — Applicability.

If any subject falls within any of the items catalogued in List III, Art. 254 (2) comes into play. (1959) 1 Andh WR 161 : ILR (1958) Andh Pra 740 : AIR 1959 Andh Pra 3 (6) (Pt B) (Pr 11) (DB).

——Art. 254 (2) — Topic outside purview of subjects catalogued in List III — Conflict between State and Central enactments.

In regard to matters included in the State list, even if there is any inconsistency between the Provincial and Central enactments, the former will supersede the latter. The conflict must exist with respect to an existing law within the concurrent list. If the topic is outside the purview of the subject catalogued in List III, the Provincial statute does not yield to the Central one; on the other hand, it takes effect in spite of the conflict between the two. ILR (1958) Andh Pra 740 : (1959) 1 Andh WR 161 : AIR 1959 Andh Pra 3 (6) (Pt E) (Pr 14) (DB).

——Arts. 254 (2) and 246 — Doctrine of occupied field — Test of repugnancy.

As far as our Constitution is concerned, the doctrine of occupied field cannot be applied, if that doctrine means that if Parliament legislates on a particular subject and thereby occupies the field, the State Legislature is completely debarred from legislating on the same subject. The very fact that a particular subject is in the Concurrent List means that both Parliament and the State Legislature are entitled to legislate with regard to that subject. Therefore, Parliament cannot exclude or oust the State Legislature merely by legislating on any particular subject. Our Constitution clearly recognises, the right of both Parliament and the State Legislature to legislate concurrently with regard to a subject mentioned in the Concurrent List, and, therefore, the doctrine of repugnancy to be applied in India is not so stringent as would be applied in other countries where the constitutional position is different. The repugnancy that has got to be found is the repugnancy in the actual provisions of the two laws and not with regard to the subject-matter of the two laws. Therefore, the proper test is whether effect can be given to the provisions of both the laws or whether both the laws can stand together. If effect cannot be given to both the laws and both the laws cannot stand together, then the law made by Parliament must prevail as against the law made by the State Legislature. AIR 1939 FC 74, Rel. on. 37 Com WLR 466: AIR 1953 Pat 14 (FB), Ref. 55 Bom LR 387 : 1953 Cr LJ 1602 : ILR (1954) Bom 117 : AIR 1953 Bom 371 (382) (Pt B) (Pr 34) (DB).

——Art. 254 — Bengal Finance (Sales Tax) Act (1941), S. 2 (b), (d) (g)—Rules under S. 36 (1)—R. 2 — Validity — Building contracts — Nature of — Supply of materials by contractor under lump sum building contract whether amounts to sale of goods. See Sales Tax — Bengal Finance (Sales Tax) Act (VI of 1941) (as amended by Act (XIX of 1954), S. 2 (b). AIR 1957 Cal 283.

——Art. 254 (2)—Government of India Act (1935), S. 107 (2) — Factories Act (1948), Ch. VIII, Bombay Industrial Relations Act, 1946 (11 of 1947), Sch. II; Items 9, 11 — Validity of Bombay Act — Factories Act and Bombay Act occupy different fields and deal with separate subjects — No repugnancy between them — Provisions as to leave with wages in Bombay Act not void for repugnancy. (1964) 5 Guj LR 705 : ILR (1964) Guj 841 : (1965) 1 Lab LJ 567 : AIR 1965 Guj 112 (128, 129) (Pt G) (Pr 22) (DB).

——Art. 254 — Test of repugnancy — City Improvement Board Regulations (Hyderabad), R. 21 — R. 21 is not repugnant to S. 106, T. P. Act or S. 9, Civil Procedure Code.

To attract the application of Art. 254 of the Constitution, it is necessary that both the Central and the State laws should occupy the same field and should be about identical matter. The test of repugnancy is, that it should not be possible for both the laws to stand together, and that obedience to one should necessitate the contravention of the other. The State law, only when it thus impairs or detracts from the operation of the Central Act, and will be void to that extent. If both the laws can be obeyed at the same time there is no repugnancy. R. 21, City Improvement Board Regulation empowers the Superintending Engineer to get a tenant evicted without seeking eviction from the Rent Controller or the Civil Court. This cannot be said to be repugnant to S. 106, T. P. Act, because that section expressly confines its application to cases where there is no 'contract or local law or usage to the contrary'. It cannot be said to be inconsistent either with S. 9, Civil Procedure Code because in that section also suits cognizance of which is either expressly or impliedly barred are exempted. ILR (1955) Hyd 737 : AIR 1956 Hyd 10 (12) (Pt B) (Pr 3) (DB).

——Art. 254 — Hyderabad Jagirdars Debt Settlement Act (XII of 1952) — Validity.

The C. P. Code, does not cover the same field as the Jagirdars Debt Settlement Act, and accordingly the provisions of the Act cannot become void on the ground of repugnancy. ILR (1955) Hyd 510 : AIR 1955 Hyd 194 (200) (Pt D) (Pr 28) (DB).

——Art. 254 — Conditions for application of Article.

The article relates to inconsistencies that may exist between the laws made by Parliament and the laws made by the Legislatures of the State, in respect of a matter which is enumerated in the Concurrent List and it is not applicable in respect of a matter which comes within the scope of State List :AIR 1957 SC 297, Rel. on. 1961 Ker LT 470 : (1961) 2 Ker LR 168 : 1961 Ker LJ 504 : ILR (1961) 2 Ker 340.

——Art. 254 — Pre-Constitution Laws — Bombay Industrial Relations Act (XI of 1947) (as adapted in M. B.), Ss. 27-A, 32, 33 and 97 — Industrial Disputes Act (1947) does not prevail as against State Act — Applicability of Art. 254.

Art. 254 (1) is intended to deal with a case where both the Legislature of a State and the Parliament legislate with respect to one of the matters enumerated in the concurrent list. The Bombay Industrial Relations Act adapted by the Legislature of the United State of Gwalior, Indore and Malwa by Act No. XXXI of 1949, was a pre-Constitution legislation and cannot be held to be law made by the Legislature of a State for the purpose of applying Art. 254. AIR 1954 SC 311, Rel. on. The law made by the Parliament, viz., the Industrial Disputes Act, cannot by using the provisions of Art. 254. Cl. (1) and Cl. (2), override the impugned provisions of the Bombay Industrial Relations Act.

Further, the effect of the impact of Art. 254 (2) of the Constitution is that the provisions of the law made by the State will prevail in State notwithstanding any repugnancy that may exist between that law and the law made by the Parliament. There is no direct conflict between the provisions of the Bombay Industrial Relations Act and the Industrial Disputes Act. 1956 Madh BLJ 826 : Madh BLR 1956 Civil 271 : ILR (1956) Madh B 353: AIR 1956 Madh B 199 (204, 205) (Pt B) (Prs 37, 38-a, 41, 48, 49) (DB).

——Art. 254 — Madhya Pradesh Tendu Patta (Vyapar Viniyaman) Niyamavali Sanshodhan Adhyadesh (1965), (Ordinance No. 3 of 1965), S. 3 — Constitutional validity — Ordinance is not invalid — It deals with a subject specified in the State List (Entry 19) and does not attract Art. 254 of the Constitution. See Madhya Pradesh Tendu Patta (Vyapar Viniyaman) Niyamavali Sanshodhan Adhyadesh (1965), (Ordinance No. 3/65), S. 3. 1965 MPLJ 994: AIR 1966 Madh Pra 110 (DB).

——Art. 254 — M. B. Official Language Act (LXVII of 1950), S. 2 — Civil Procedure Code (1908), S. 137 (3) — No inconsistency between Official Language Act and Civil Procedure Code — Even assuming some inconsistency, S. 137 (3) will prevail.

The Official Language Act is not a measure enacted solely for the subordinate Courts. It declares Hindi as the official language for all purposes in all the departments of the State of Madhya Bharat. There is no inconsistency between Official Language Act and sub-s. (3) of S. 137, Civil Procedure Code. The Official Language Act does not prohibit the use of English altogether for purposes for which English was being used immediately before the commencement of the Constitution. S. 137 of the Code while recognising Hindi as the language of the Court permits the optional use of English for purposes mentioned in sub-s. (3). Even if it is taken that there is some inconsistency, the provisions of sub-s. (3) of S. 137 will prevail under Article 254 (1) inasmuch as "civil procedure, including all matters included in the Code of Civil Procedure at the commencement of the Constitution" is one of the matters enumerated in the concurrent list. 1957 Jab LJ 22 : 1957 MPC 42 : AIR 1957 MP 1 (4) (Pt C) (Pr 6).

——Art. 254 — Repugnancy of State law to Union law.

Under Art. 254, any question of repugnancy can arise only as between a law made by the Legislature of a State in regard to a matter in the Concurrent List, and a law made by Parliament in regard to the same subject in the Concurrent List; no question of repugnancy under Art. 254, could arise in respect of a law made by the Legislature of a State in regard to a subject falling entirely within the State List and the State Legislature is acting wholly within its powers under the State List. AIR 1947 PC 72, Rel. on. 36 Mys LJ 61 : 1958 Cr LJ 1327 : (1958) 9 STC 714 : 1958 Mad LJ (Cr) 536 : ILR (1958) Mys 74 : AIR 1958 Mys 143 (145) (Pt A) (Pr 6) (DB).

——Art. 254 — Repugnancy — Doctrine of occupied field —Bihar Mica Act, 1947 (X of 1948)— Validity — Act, if repugnant with Mica Control Order. See Bihar Mica Act, 1947 (X of 1948), S. 6 (6). AIR 1958 Pat 496 (DB).

——Art. 254 — 'With respect to one of the matters enumerated in the concurrent list' — Meaning of — State law relating to different subject-matter — Validity — (Administration of Evacuee Property Act (1950), Ss. 4 and 12) — (Houses and Rents — Bihar Buildings (Lease, Rent and Eviction) Control Act (III of 1947), Ss. 4, 5, 8 and 11).

If there is any inconsistency between the law passed by Parliament and the law passed by the State Legislature, the general rule as meant by Cl. (1) is that the law of Parliament shall prevail. Cl. (2) applies only to a case where the law made by the State Legislature with respect to one of the matters in the Concurrent List contains any provision repugnant to the earlier law made by Parliament with respect to the same matter.

Since the Central Act XXX of 1950 as subsequently amended and Bihar Act III of 1947, as subsequently amended, relate to different matters enumerated in the Concurrent List, Art. 254 (2) of the Constitution can have no application.

Held, on facts the provisions of the Bihar Act, viz., Ss. 4, 5, 8 and 11 were repugnant to the provisions of Ss. 4 and 12 of the Central Act and therefore, void to the extent they were repugnant to the provisions of the Central Act. AIR 1953 Pat 14 (FB), and AIR 1953 SC 298, Relied on. 1957 BLJR 520: ILR 36 Pat 606: AIR 1958 Pat 43 (45 to 47) (Pt A) (Prs 3, 4) (DB).

●——Art. 254 — Test of validity of State law — Doctrine of "occupied field" — Its inapplicability.

The doctrine of "occupied field" is where a competent Legislature expressly or impliedly evinces its intention of covering the whole field, that is a conclusive test of inconsistency where another legislature assumes to enter to any extent upon the same field. This doctrine of "occupied field" cannot be invoked to test the validity of a State Law under Art. 254 of the Constitution. In the framework of the Indian Constitution, the concurrent List is not a forbidden field to the State Legislature and the mere fact that the State Legislature has legislated on a matter in the Concurrent List is not enough to attract the mischief of Art. 254. There must be actual repugnancy between such legislation and existing law as required by Art. 254 (1) and then and then only would the existing law prevail to the extent of the repugnancy and not otherwise: 37 Com WLR 466 (489), Rel. on. Mangtulal v. Radha Shyam, 31 Pat 921: 1953 BLJR 151: AIR 1953 Pat 14 (20) (Pt C) (Pr 18) (FB).

——Art. 254 — Motor Vehicles Act (1939), S. 64, Cl. (h) (as added in Punjab) and S. 64-A (inserted by Act C of 1956) — Supervisory power — S. 64 (h) (Punj) and S. 64-A (Parliament) do neither overlap nor are repugnant — They cover different aspects and can co-exist — S. 64-A (Parliament) does not abrogate or repeal by implication S. 64 (h) (Punjab). AIR 1960 Pat 537 and AIR 1958 Ker 19, Rel. on. ILR (1962) 1 Punj 285: AIR 1962 Punj 94 (98, 99) (Pt A) (Prs 7, 9).

●——Arts. 254, 246, 366 (10), Sch. 7, List 2, Item 18 and List 3, Item 27 — Displaced Persons (Compensation and Rehabilitation) Act (1954), S. 30— Validity — Conflict between existing Indian law, (namely, Land Improvement Loans Act, 1883 and Agriculturists Loans Act, 1884), and Central Act (namely, 1954 Act) — Central Act prevails — Doctrine of occupied field, applicability. See Displaced Persons (Compensation and Rehabilitation) Act (1954), S. 30. AIR 1961 Punj 34 (FB).

●——Art. 254 — 'Pith and substance rule' — (Government of India Act (1935), S. 107 (1)).

The pith and substance rule has nothing to do with the questions which arise under S. 107 (1), Government of India Act, 1935, or under Art. 254 of the Constitution. AIR 1945 PC 98 and AIR 1942 FC 27, Rel.on. Velayudhan, In re, (1955) 6 STC 331: 1955 Ker LT 399: 1955 Cr LJ 1289: AIR 1955 Trav-Co 220 (223) (Pt B) (Pr 13) (FB).

——Art. 254 — Industrial Disputes Act (Central) has replaced Travancore-Cochin Industrial Disputes Act — (Industrial Disputes Act (1947) (as amended by Act 48 of 1950), S. 1)—(Travancore-Cochin Industrial Disputes Act (16 of 1950), S. 1.)

According to Art. 254, when there are two competing Statutes relating to a concurrent subject, the statute passed by Parliament has to prevail over the statute passed by the State Legislature. 1951 Ker LT 121, Foll.

The Industrial Disputes Act passed by the Central Legislature as amended by Act 48 (XLVIII) of 1950 and made applicable to the whole of India except the State of Jammu and Kashmir has, therefore, replaced the Travancore-Cochin Industrial Disputes Act which no longer continues to be in force. (1952) 2 Lab LJ 9: AIR 1952 Trav-Co 371 (373, 374) (Pt A) (Pr 6).

9. Repugnancy, meaning of.

●—Art. 254 — Repugnancy between two statutes — Principles for ascertaining.

Repugnancy between two statutes may be ascertained on the basis of the following three principles:

(1) Whether there is direct conflict between the two provisions; (2) Whether Parliament intended to lay down an exhaustive code in respect of the subject-matter replacing the Act of the State Legislature; and (3) Whether the law made by Parliament and the law made by the State Legislature occupy the same field. Deep Chand v. State of U. P., 1959 SCA 377: ILR (1959) 1 All 293: 1959 SCJ 1069: (1959) 2 SCR Supp 8: AIR 1959 SC 648 (665) (Pt D) (Pr 29).

——Art. 254 — 'Repugnancy' — Connotation.

Repugnancy falls to be considered when the law made by Parliament and the law made by the State Legislature occupy the same field because if both these pieces of legislation deal with separate and distinct matters though of a cognate and allied character, repugnancy does not arise. Tika Ramji v. State of Uttar Pradesh, 1956 SCA 979: 1956 SCR 393: 1956 All WR (HC) 657: 1956 SCJ 625: AIR 1956 SC 676 (697) (Pt B) (Pr 26).

——Art. 254 — Motor Vehicles Act (1939), S. 64-A — Section as amended by Mad. Act XX of 1948, is not repugnant to the section as it stands amended by Central Act C of 1956 — Hence it is not repealed and is operative.

Section 64-A of the Motor Vehicles Act as amended by the Madras Act, XX of 1948, is not repugnant to S. 64-A as amended by Central Act C of 1956 and is therefore, not void under Art. 254 (1) of the Constitution. Therefore, it is still operative and is not repealed either expressly or by necessary implication.

A comparison of the two sections does not lead to the inevitable conclusion that the two sections cannot co-exist. There is no incompatibility between these two sections and they do not cover the same field. While the State Act which confers revisional jurisdiction on the State Government is of the wide amplitude, the Central Act which invests the State Transport Authority with powers to revise the orders of the Regional Transport Authority is of limited character. That tribunal could revise the orders of the Regional Transport Authority only if they are found to be improper or illegal.

The question of repugnancy would arise only if the Parliament and the State Legislature were legislating on an identical subject-matter. If the legislation made by the State Legislature operates in one field while the law made by the Parliament operates in another, the question of inconsistency does not at all arise. It is true that the Central Act introduced some important changes in the earlier Act but it does not purport to be an exhaustive code on the subject of Motor Transport. Thus, the Central Act can be regarded as supplementary to the State Act. AIR 1958 Ker ——Art. 254 — Principle of repugnancy when applies — Two statutes of same legislature — Attempt should be to harmonise them — Income tax Act and Road Transport Corporations Act, 1950 — Not inconsistent with each other — Income of Road Transport Corporations — Held subject to income-tax — Income-tax Act (1922), S. 3 — Road Transport Corporations Act (1950), Ss. 3, 4. (1961) 2 Andh WR 393: (1963) 47 ITR 101: AIR 1962 AP 323 (333, 334) (Pt G) (Prs 15, 17) (DB).

19, AIR 1960 Pat 537, AIR 1962 Punj 94 and (1959) 2 Andh WR 332, Rel. on. (1964) 1 Andh LT 282: (1964) 1 Andh WR 280: ILR (1965) Andh Pra 431.

——Art. 254 (1) — Government of India Act (1935), S. 107 (1) — Bombay Industrial Disputes Act (XXV of 1938), S. 2 (3) — Industrial Disputes Act (1947), S. 1 (2) — Enactment of Central Act of 1947 — Effect on Bombay Act XXV of 1938 — Bombay Act not void on ground of repugnancy— Applicability of Bombay Act to cotton textile industry in Ahmedabad area not affected — No fresh notification under Bombay Act XI of 1947 necessary — Bombay Industrial Relations Act, 1946 (XI of 1947), Ss. 2 (3), 2 (4).

The objects of an Act of Parliament and that of a State Legislature may be similar and yet there would be no repugnancy if they supplement each other and can co-exist, if the paramount legislation does not cover the entire field occupied by the State law and is not inconsistent with the latter.

When a party whose case is not hit by the proviso to the sub-section (8) of S. 526 of the Code intimates to the magistrate that he intends to move an application for transfer, it becomes imperative for the magistrate to adjourn the case. In doing so the magistrate does not grant an adjournment under S. 345, Cri P. C., but under S. 526 (8). The only term that can be imposed on such a party is that he can be required to execute a bond, without sureties, of an amount, not exceeding two hundred rupees, that he will make the transfer application within a reasonable time, to be fixed by the magistrate. No other terms such as payment of costs, can be imposed on the party.

The explanation appended to sub-section (9) of S. 526 Cri. P. C. cannot be interpreted to mean that a Court can, while granting adjournment, under sub-section (8), order payment of costs, in exercise of its powers, under S. 344. It simply means that the Court may, even in those cases in which it is not bound to adjourn the inquiry or trial under sub-section (8), grant adjournment in exercise of its powers, under S. 344, for making an application for transfer, if the circumstances of the case constitute a reasonable cause for adjournment within the meaning of that section. If the adjournment is granted under S. 344, then alone, the Court may impose such terms, including the payment of costs, as it may think fit: AIR 1942 Mad 178, Rel. on. AIR 1938 All 112, Diss. from. (1964) 5 Guj LR 705: (1965) 1 Lab LJ 567: ILR (1964) Guj 841: AIR 1965 Guj 112 (122, 123, 124, 125, 126) (Pt B) (Prs 12, 14, 16, 18) (DB).

●——Arts. 254 and 372 — Hyderabad Cr P. Code — If repugnant to (Indian) Cr. P. Code applied to the State by Act (1 of 1951), (Cr. P. Code Amendment Act) — Repeal, if ultra vires — Case pending on the date of enforcement of Act 1 of 1951 — Hyderabad Code, if saved for that case.

The accused in a criminal case pending before the Hyderabad Court contended that a charge cannot be framed when all the prosecution witnesses had not been examined and relied on S. 213, Hyderabad Code. It was overruled because by that time the (Indian) Cr. P. Code, had been applied. The accused applied under Arts. 227 and 228 of the Constitution and raised the following contentions. (1) The repeal of the Hyderabad Code by S. 25 of Act 1 of 1951 was ultra vires. (2) Hyderabad Code, S. 213 is not repugnant to the Cr. P. Code. (3) The provisions of the Hyderabad Code were saved in his case which was pending at the time of enforcement of Act 1 of 1951.

Held: The High Court usually prefers not to express any opinion on a constitutional question when it could rest its judgment on other grounds in the matter before it.

In deciding question of ultra vires the discussion of the questions not necessarily involved in the decision of the point in dispute should be avoided.

Prior to the coming into force of the Constitution all Hyderabad laws were in force in the State. After the date of Constitution 26-1-1950, under Art. 372 read with Art. 254 of the Constitution, the provisions of the State laws repugnant to the corresponding laws of India or which contravene any other provision of the Constitution would be void and the laws of the Parliament will prevail.

Where the State law is superseded by exercise of the legislative power of Parliament the sphere of legislative power of the State so far as regards that subject becomes void. Where therefore the Central Legislature evinced its intention to cover a field exclusively it becomes an "occupied field" and all State laws in respect of that matter are rendered invalid. (AIR 1939 Cal 628 relied).

In such circumstances the Hyderabad Code governing the same subject (Cr. P. Code), would be regarded as repugnant to Cr. P. Code and became void.

The provision of Hyderabad Cr. P. Code, S. 213, is not a substantive right but is only procedural and no person has a vested right in procedure. Pannalal v. Hyderabad State, ILR (1952) Hyd. 684: 1952 Cr. LJ 1740: AIR 1952 Hyd 187 (190, 191) (Pts C, D) (Prs 11, 12, 15) (FB).

——Art. 254 — No conflict or repugnancy between Cl. (2) of S. 43-A as introduced by Madras Amendment in 1954 and Cl. (8) of S. 57 as introduced by Central Legislature. See Motor Vehicles Act (1939), S. 43-A (2) (Mad) (as amended in 1956). AIR 1965 Mad 54 (DB).

●——Art. 254 — Central Act and State Act — Repugnancy or inconsistency in Hindu Succession Act (1956), Ss. 7 (2) and 30 (1) and Madras Aliyasanthana Act, 1949 (Madras Act IX of 1949), S. 36 (3), (4) and (5) — There is no conflict between the provisions of these Acts.

Repugnancy between two sets of provisions contained in enactments must exist in fact and not depend merely on a possibility. Inconsistency which is the same as repugnancy depends upon the intention of the paramount Legislature to express by its enactment completely, exhaustively or exclusively, what shall be the law governing the particular conduct or matter to which its attention is directed. The pith and substance of the matter is to find out whether the law made by Parliament and the law made by the State Legislature occupy the same field or not. AIR 1939 FC 74 and AIR 1956 SC 676 and (1930) 43 CLR 472, Rel. on.

Applying the above test there is no conflict either direct or indirect between the two sets of provisions, namely, S. 36 (3), (4) and (5) of the Madras Aliyasanthana Act, 1949, and Ss. 7 and 30 (1) of the Hindu Succession Act, 1956, Ss. 36 (3), (4) and (5) of Aliyasanthana Act relate to devolution of the shares allotted to divided members, whereas S. 7 (2) and S. 30 (1) of the Hindu Succession Act 1956, relate to the undivided interest of the coparceners, in a family. Sundara Adapa v. Girija, 40 Mys LJ 1: AIR 1962 Mys 72 (77, 79) (Pt F) (Prs 10, 16, 17) (FB).

——Art. 254 (2) — Repugnancy — Iron and Steel (Control of Production and Distribution) Order (1941) — (Orissa Iron and Steel Products (Control of Prices and Distribution) Order (1951), — No repugnancy between two Orders. ILR (1956) Cut 374: 22 Cut. LT 375: 1956 Cr LJ 1334: AIR 1956 Orissa 194 (198) (Pt D) (Pr 13) (DB).

——Art. 254 (2) — Repugnancy — Test of obedience — Inconsistency when one Act is more stringent than other — Iron and Steel (Control of Production and Distribution) Order (1941) — (Orissa Iron and Steel Products (Control of Prices and Distribution) Order (1951) — Orissa Order is not more stringent than Central Order)

The test of obedience which is based on Whybrow's case, (1910) 10 CLR 286, is not the only test for determining inconsistency between two enactments. There may be an inconsistency when both the enactments impose prohibitions against the same act, but one of them is more stringent than the other. It cannot however be said that the Orissa Order is in any way more stringent than the Central Order. ILR (1956) Cut 374: 22 Cut LT 375 : 1956 Cr LJ 1334: AIR 1956 Orissa 194 (198) (Pt F) (Pr 15) (DB).

——Art. 254 (2) — Repugnancy — Iron and Steel (Control of Production and Distribution) Order (1941) — Orissa Iron and Steel Products (Control of Prices and Distribution) Order (1951) — Orissa Essential Articles Control and Requisitioning (Temporary Powers) Act (VII of 1955), S. 18 — Immunity from criminal prosecution given by section does not involve inconsistency between two orders. ILR (1956) Cut 374: 22 Cut LT 375: 1956 Cr. LJ 1334: AIR 1956 Orissa 194 (198, 199) (Pt G) (Pr 17) (DB).

——Art. 254 (1) — Bihar Shops and Establishments Act (VIII of 1954), as amended by Act (XXVI of 1959) — No repugnancy between this Act and Central Acts, XIV of 1947, XX of 1946 and IV of 1936 — No repugnancy within meaning of Art. 254 (1) of Constitution. See Bihar Shops and Establishments Act (VIII of 1954) as amended by Act (XXVI of 1959). AIR 1964 Pat 180 (DB).

——Art. 254 — Motor Vehicles Act (1939), S. 64-A (Central) and S. 64-A (Bihar) — No repugnancy between — Bihar section not repealed by Central section. See Motor Vehicles Act (1939), S. 64-A (Central). AIR 1960 Pat 537 (DB).

——Art. 254 — Constitutional validity of Statutes — Principle of pith and substance. See Representation of the People Act (1951), S. 126. 1957 Cri. LJ 648: AIR 1957 Pat 252 (DB).

●——Art. 254 — Repugnant — Meaning of.

No State law can be repugnant to an Act of the Parliament unless it involves either directly or ultimately a contradictory proposition probably, contradictory duties or contradictory rights. Statutes may do more than impose duties; they may for instance, confer rights; and one statute is inconsistent with another when it takes away a right conferred by that other even though the right be one which might be waived or abandoned without disobeying the statute which conferred it: 20 Com WLR 148; 37 Com WLR 466. Foll. Mangtulal v. Radha Shyam, 31 Pat 921: 1953 BLJR 151: AIR 1953 Pat 14 (22) (Pt E) (Pr 23) (FB).

——Art. 254 (1) — Rajasthan Premises (Control of Rent and Eviction) Act (1950), Ss. 13 (1) (a), 13 (4), 13 (5) (as amended by Rajasthan Act 9 of 1952) — Validity — No conflict between these provisions and Ss. 108 (g) and 114, T. P. Act — Repugnancy when arises — (Transfer of Property Act (1882), Ss. 108 (g), 114) See Houses and Rents — Rajasthan Premises (Control of Rent and Eviction) Act (17 of 1950) (as amended by Rajasthan Act 9 of 1952) S. 13 (1) (a). AIR 1959 Raj 59.

10. Proof of repugnancy.

●——Art. 254 — Necessity of proving direct conflict between State Law and Union Law.

Under Art. 254 there must be direct proof of the conflict established before the Court should conclude that State Legislation is void. Further where a State Law is inconsistent with Union Law it is pro tanto and only pro tanto invalid. It is, therefore, the Court's duty to see if it is possible to compare the two enactments so to speak quantitatively in order that what is excessive or contradictory in the State enactment and nothing more shall be deemed void. Mangtulal v. Radha Shyam, 31 Pat 921: 1953 BLJR 151: AIR 1953 Pat 14 (21) (Pt D) (Pr 19) (FB).

11. Effect of repugnancy.

——Art. 254 (1) — Government of India Act (1935), S. 107 (1) — Acts of Parliament and State Legislature on same subject-matter — Validity of State Act — Test of repugnancy — Effect of repugnancy on State Act — Act not void retrospectively.

Repugnancy falls to be considered when the law made by Parliament and the law made by the State Legislature occupy the same field. The principles on which the repugnancy can be ascertained are : (1) Where there is direct conflict between the two provisions; (2) where Parliament intended to lay down an exhaustive code in respect of the subject-matter replacing the Act of the State Legislature; and (3) Where the Central and the State laws occupy the same field. AIR 1959 SC 648, Rel. on. In case where there is no question of inconsistency, it would become necessary to compare the two statutes to discover whether the two legislatures sought to exercise their powers over the same subject-matter or whether the law enacted by the Parliament was intended to be a complete exhaustive Code, or, in other words, evinced expressly or impliedly an intention to cover the whole field. AIR 1956 SC 676, Rel. on. As regards the effect of repugnancy, the words 'to the extent of the repugnancy' in section 107 (1) and Article 254 (1) are crucial and it is clear that what would become void was not the entire State Act but only to the extent of its repugnancy with the law made by Parliament. Further, when the subject-matter and the period of operation coincide in the two Acts, there would be complete repugnancy and the whole of the State law would become void. But the operation of the Central Act may be entirely prospective leaving the State law to be effective in regard to things already done under the State Act. The principle is that a provision in a Statute that with effect from a particular date an existing law would be void to the extent of the repugnancy has no retrospective effect as in the case of repeal where there is no saving clause or a provision as in the General Clauses Act, and therefore, does not affect pending prosecutions or actions taken under such law. To hold that a prospective declaration that a statute is void affects pending cases or finished transactions is to give it indirectly retrospective operation. Thus whether the State Act is viewed as having become void as a result of repugnancy or as impliedly repealed, the result would be the same and the past transactions would not be affected but would be valid and binding and the Act would subsist for all past transactions and for enforcing all rights and liabilities accrued before the Central Act came into force. (1964) 5 Guj LR 705 : ILR (1964) Guj 841 : (1965) 1 Lab LJ 567 : AIR 1965 Guj 112 (119, 120, 121) (Pt A) (Prs 7, 10) (DB).

● ——Arts. 254 and 311 (2) — Railway Establishment Code (1937), Rr. 1711 and 2043 — Conflict between Railway Establishment Code and Payment of Wages Act — Code prevails — (Payment of Wages Act (1936), Ss. 7 and 10). See Railway Establishment Code (1937), Rule 1711. AIR 1957 Punj 130 (FB).

12. Repeal by implication.

● ——Art. 254—Rule of implied repeal—S. 2 of Bombay Act XXXVI of 1947 cannot prevail against S. 7 of Central Act XXIV of 1946 — (Essential Supplies (Temporary Powers) Act (1946), S. 7)—(Bombay Essential Supplies (Temporary Powers) and the Essential Commodities and Cattle (Control) (Enhancement of Penalties) Act (XXXVI of 1947), S. 2).

On a question under Art. 254 (1) whether an Act of Parliament prevails against a law of the State, no question of repeal arises; but the principle on which the rule of implied repeal rests namely, that if the subject-matter of the later legislation is identical with that of the earlier, so that they cannot both stand together, then the earlier is repealed by the later enactment will be equally applicable to a question under Art. 254 (2) when the further legislation by Parliament is in respect of the same matters as that of the State law. Hence, S. 2 of Bombay Act No. XXXVI of 1947 cannot prevail as against S. 7 of the Essential Supplies (Temporary Powers) Act (XXIV of 1946) as amended by Act LII of 1950. Zaverbhai v. State of Bombay, 1954 SCJ 851: 1954 Cr LJ 1822 : 1954 SCA 1295 : 1955 All WR (Supp) 1 : 1955 SCR 799 : 57 Bom LR 589 : AIR 1954 SC 752 (758) (Pt D) (Pr 11).

——Art. 254 (2), Sch. 7, List I, Item 59 and List III, Item 19 — Drugs Act (1940), Ss. 1 and 2 — Hyderabad Opium and Intoxicating Drugs Act (IV of 1333-F) (as amended by Act XXII of 1953) — Notification under — G. O. Ms. No. 1376, Revenue, dated 5th September, 1962 — Not ultra vires on ground of repugnancy — Drugs Act not exhaustive and self-contained — Extension of, to Andhra Pradesh — No repeal by implication. (1964) 1 Andh LT 285: ILR (1964) Andh Pra 1092: AIR 1964 Andh Pra 430 (435) (Pt A) (Prs 6; 9) (DB).

——Arts. 254, Sch. 7, List 2 Entries 3, 54, 66 — Sales Tax — Assam Sales Tax Rules (1947), R. 74 — Validity — Amendment of Court-Fees Act by addition of Art. 11 (c) in Sch. 2 — Effect — Does not repeal R. 74 by implication — (Court-fees Act (1870), (as amended by Assam Act 8 of 1950), Sch. 2, Art. 11 (c)) — (Government of India Act (1935), Sch. 7, List 2, Item 48). See Sales Tax — Assam Sales Tax Rules (1947), R. 74. AIR 1959 Assam 216.

——Art. 254 — Repugnancy — Principle of implied repeal of prior Act by subsequent Act — Application of.

The principle of implied repeal of a prior Act by a subsequent Act can be invoked only in those cases where the two Acts, by a competent Legislature, are inconsistent or repugnant. In that event the Court might well be invited to hold that the later Act impliedly repealed the earlier. Even in such cases the Court leans against an implied repeal unless the two Acts are so manifestly repugnant to each other that effect cannot be given to both at the same time. Besides special Acts cannot be repealed by general Acts, unless by express or necessary intendment. AIR 1956 Assam 142 (150) (Pt F) (Pr 17) (DB).

(Reversed on another point in AIR 1957 SC 414.)

——Art. 254 — Repugnancy between statutes — Implied repeal — Tests.

There may be inconsistency in the actual terms of the rival statutes. Even though there may be no direct conflict, a State law may become inoperative because Parliamentary legislation is intended to be a complete exhaustive code on the subject with which it deals. Inconsistency between the State and Parliamentary legislation may also arise where two Legislatures seek to exercise their powers over the same subject-matter. If Parliament evidences its intention to cover the whole field, that would be a conclusive test of inconsistency where another Legislature assumes to enter to any extent upon the same field. So also if on the same subject there are two competing Acts and if the provisions of a later Act are inconsistent with, or repugnant to, those of the earlier Act, then the two cannot stand together and the earlier stands impliedly repealed by the later.

Whenever it is sought to establish that there is a repugnancy between two competing statutes which must inevitably result in supersession of one of them, there is always a presumption in favour of the validity of both statutes. Every endeavour has, therefore, to be made to reconcile the two and consider both in such a way as to avoid repugnancy. AIR 1939 FC 74 and AIR 1939 Cal 628 and (1930) 43 CLR 472 and (1926) 37 CLR 466 and AIR 1956 SC 676 and AIR 1959 SC 648, Foll. ILR (1960) Bom 559 : 62 Bom LR 277 : AIR 1960 Bom 532 (540, 541) (Pt C) (Prs 19, 20, 21) (DB).

——Art. 254 — Municipalities — Travancore District Municipalities Act (1116), Sections 286, 287 — Repeal of — Sections impliedly repealed by T. C. Act X of 1125 — Travancore-Cochin Motor Vehicles Act, S. 72. See Municipalities — Travancore District Municipalities Act (1116), S. 286. ILR (1960) Ker 338.

——Arts. 254, 372 — Repeal by implication — Bombay Industrial Relations Act (11 of 1947) (as adapted in M. B.), Section 97 — Does not stand repealed by reason of the enactment of Sections 23, 24 of Industrial Disputes Act — (Interpretation of Statutes) — (Civil P. C. (1908), Pre.). See Ibid, Art. 372. AIR 1956 Madh Bha 199 (DB).

——Art. 254 — Repeal of Acts — Principles relating to — Jhabua State Agriculturists Relief Act — Scope and object of — Not repealed by M. B. Act LXII of 1950. See Debt Laws — Madhya Bharat Money Lenders Act (LXII of 1950), S. 22. AIR 1958 Madh Pra 63.

● ——Art. 254 — Provisions have not ceased to be operative after extension of Indian Evidence Act and Transfer of Property Act to Mysore State — Section 5 not void on ground of repugnancy to above Central Acts — Nor is it impliedly repealed, See Debt Laws — Mysore Agriculturists Relief Act (XVIII of 1928), Section 5. AIR 1965 Mys 54 (FB).

●——Art. 254 — Repugnancy — Implied repeal — Tests — Sections 44-A and 62 (d) added by Motor Vehicles East Punjab (Amendment) Act (XXVIII of 1948) not repugnant to provisions of the Central Act C of 1956.

The provisions of Section 44-A and Cl. (d) of Section 62 added by the Motor Vehicles East Punjab (Amendment) Act (XXVIII of 1948) are not so repugnant to or inconsistent with the provisions of Central Act C of 1956 that they must be deemed to have been impliedly repealed.

The tests may be briefly summarised as under: (1) Whether the provisions of the Punjab Act are wholly incompatible with the later Central Act; (2) whether the two statutes together would lead to wholly absurd consequences; (3) whether the Parliament by enacting Act C of 1956 covered the whole field on the matter or evinced intention to cover the same. AIR 1956 SC 676 and AIR 1954 SC 752, Applied.

There is no conflict between the Central and Punjab Acts, Section 44-A. There is no repugnancy between Cl. (d) of Section 62 of the Punjab Act and the various Clauses of Section 62 of the Central Act as amended by Act C of 1956. Act C of 1956 has not provided anything repugnant to the Punjab Act and there is nothing to show that the Parliament had covered the whole field of legislation on the matter of issuing temporary permits and the purpose for which they could be issued. Whenever any need was felt for the same, the Legislature could aways add to the purposes already provided for the issue of permits of temporary nature. Ambala Ex-Servicemen Transport Co-operative Society, Ltd. v. State of Punjab, 60 Punj LR 515: ILR (1958) Punj 1590: AIR 1959 Punj 1 (6, 7) (Pt B) (Prs 22, 23, 24) (FB).

——Art. 254 — Penal Code (1860), Section 292 — Section 292 is not impliedly repealed by Press (Objectionable Matter) Act (1951) — (General Clauses Act (1897), S. 26) — (Press (Objectionable Matter) Act (1951) — (Interpretation of Statutes — Repeal — Implied repeal — 'Repugnancy' — (C. P. C. (1908) Preamble). See Penal Code (1860), S. 292. AIR 1956 Punj 85.

13. President's assent — (Clause (2)).

——Art. 254 (2) and Item 41 of List III of Sch. VII — Notice issued to petitioners prior to passing of Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act (1951) and declaration made after Act came into force declaring share in sir property as evacuee property — Validity of — U. P. Zamindari Abolition and Land Reforms Act (1951) which was subsequent enactment divesting petitioners of their sir rights had received assent of President — Provisions of subsequent enactment prevalied in spite of provisions of Section 4, Administration of Evacuee Property Act (1950), by reason of Art. 254 (2), of Constitution of India — Notice under Section 7 (1), of the Act though valid when issued could not stand in way of divesting sir rights of petitioners and in absence of sir rights subsequent declaration treating such rights as evacuee property was totally ineffective. 1964 All LJ 696.

——Art. 254 — Inconsistency between State Act and Central Act — Matter in concurrent list — President's assent to State Act—State Act prevails.

The assent of the President had been obtained for the U. P. Industrial Disputes Act and, therefore, if there is any repugnancy between this Act and the Central Industrial Disputes Act, it will be the State Act which would prevail. (1962) 1 Lab LJ 309: (1961) 3 Fac LR 92: AIR 1961 All 321 (324) (Pt B) (Pr 8).

——Art. 254 (2) — U. P. Act XXX of 1953 does not amend C. P. Code, and did not require sanction of President for its validity. See U. P. Board of Revenue (Declaration of Procedure and Validation) Act (XXX of 1953). AIR 1954 All 660 (DB).

——Art. 254 (2), Proviso — Andhra Pradesh General Sales Tax (Second Amendment) Act (2 of 1959) — Act not assented to by President like the Parent Act — Act is not invalid on this ground. See Sales Tax — Andhra Pradesh General Sales Tax (Second Amendment) Act (2 of 1959). AIR 1964 Andh Pra 266 (DB).

——Arts. 254 (2), 366 (10) — Land Acquisition Act (1894), Sections 4, 6, 9 — Amendment of Sections 4, 6 and 9 by Bombay Commissioners of Divisions Act, VIII of 1958 — Validity — Bombay Act having received assent of President the amendments are valid in the State. 67 Bom LR 101: 1965 Mah LJ 290: ILR (1965) Bom 394: AIR 1965 Bom 224 (237, 238) (Pt B) (Pr 32) (DB).

——Art. 254 (2) — Assent of President to State Act is part of legislative power — Notifications dated 9th September, 1963 and 1st October, 1963 issued under Section 3 (1) (a) read with Section 5 (2) and S. 30 (2) respectively — Validity — Notifications are not ultra vires. See Minimum Wages Act (1948) (as Amended by Maharashtra Amendment) Act (3 of 1963), S. 3 (1) (a). AIR 1965 Bom 169 (DB).

——Art. 254(2), Sch. 7, List II, Entries 3, 45; List III, Entry 43 — Bengal Public Demands Recovery (Validation of Certificates and Notices) Act (XI of 1961) — Validity — Act falls under Entries 3 and 45 of State List — Does not fall under Entry 43 of Concurrent List — State Legislature was competent to enact it — Assent of President under Art. 254 (2) was not necessary. AIR 1940 Cal 215, Rel. on. 1962 Cal LJ 210: (1964) 51 ITR 366: AIR 1964 Cal 165 (171, 172) (Pt E) (Prs 14, 15) (DB).

——Art. 254 (2) — Government of India Act (1935), Section 107 (2) — Industrial Disputes Act (1947), Section 1 (2) (as amended in 1950 and 1956) Bombay Industrial Relations Act 1946 (11 of 1947), Section 2 — Amendment of Central Act 14 of 1947 in 1950 and 1956 — Effect on Bombay Act, 11 of 1947 — Amendments not creating repugnancy — Bombay Act not void for want of fresh assent by President. (1964) 5 Guj LR 705: ILR (1964) Guj 841: (1965) 1 Lab LJ 567: AIR 1965 Guj 112 (126, 127) (Pt D) (Pr 19) (DB).

——Art. 254 (2) — Motor Vehicles Act (1939) (as amended by M. P. Act 2 of 1963), Section 68-D (1), Explanation — Validity of — Explanation though limiting right of filing objections to classes of persons therein mentioned is valid as Act has received assent of President under Art. 254 (2) — Constitution of India, Art. 254 (2). See Motor Vehicles Act (1939) (as Amended by M. P. Act 2 of 1963), Section 68-D (1), Explanation. AIR 1965 Madh Pra 196 (DB).

——Art. 254 (2) — City of Bangalore Improvement (Amendment) Act (XIII of 1960), Sections 2, 3 — Introduction of Section 27-A, Parent Act validating retrospectively acquisition of land under Mysore Land Acquisition Act, for purposes of city improvement in contravention of Ss. 14, 15, 16, 17 or 18 or 27 of Parent Act—Provisions are in respect of 'existing law' within meaning of Art. 254(2) —Amendment Act not reserved for assent of President in accordance with proviso to Art. 213 (1) is invalid. See City of Bangalore Improvement (Amendment) Act (XIII of 1960), Section 2. AIR 1962 Mys 218 (DB).

——Art. 254 — Mysore Tenancy Act — Assent of President not obtained — Validity. AIR 1955 NUC (Mys) 5377 (DB).

——Art. 254 (2) — Assent of President under Art. 254 (2) avoids inconsistencies in laws of legislatures. See Municipalities — Orissa Municipal Election Validation Ordinance (1 of 1959), Section 5 (1). AIR 1960 Orissa 46 (DB).

——Art. 254, Sch. VII, List III, Item 42 — Orissa Estates Abolition Act (1 of 1952) — Validity.

The provisions of the Orissa Estates Abolition Act were relatable to Entry 42 of List III even in 1952 when the President gave his assent and hence, by virtue of Art. 254 (2) they would prevail over the corresponding provisions of the Land Acquisition Act. ILR (1957) Cut 299: AIR 1957 Orissa 247 (251) (Pt F) (Pr 19) (DB).

——Art. 254 (2) — Repugnancy between T. P. Act and Orissa Act (1 of 1952) — Effect — (Tenancy Laws — Orissa Estates Abolition Act (1 of 1952), Sections 20 (2) and 28 (3)) — (T. P. Act (1882), Section 67).

Sections 20 (2) and 28 (3), Orissa Estates Abolition Act, 1952 may offend some of the provisions of the Transfer of Property Act regarding the rights of a mortgagee. But the Orissa Act has been assented to by the President and hence would prevail over any provision of the Transfer of Property Act inconsistent with it by virtue of Art. 254 (2) of the Constitution. 20 Cut LT 417: (1954) 24 Com Cas 392: ILR (1954) Cut 504: AIR 1954 Orissa 186 (188) (Pt B) (Pr 9).

●——Art. 254 — Bihar Buildings (Lease, Rent and Eviction) Control Act (3 of 1947) — Act amended by Bihar Buildings (Lease, Rent and Eviction) Control (Amendment) Act, 1951 — Necessity of assent of President to amending Act under Constitution of India, Art. 254 (2). See Houses and Rents — Bihar Buildings (Lease, Rent and Eviction) Control Act (3 of 1947). AIR 1953 Pat 14 (FB).

●——Art. 254 — S. 11 of Bihar Act 3 of 1947 — Bihar Act as extended by Bihar Buildings (Lease, Rent and Eviction) Control (Amendment) Act, 1951, is repugnant to existing law within meaning of Art. 254 (1), Constitution of India — Consent of President not received to Bihar Amending Act of 1951 — Section 11 is void. See Houses and Rents — Bihar Buildings (Lease, Rent and Eviction) Control Act (III of 1947). AIR 1953 Pat 14 (FB).

——Arts. 254, 246, Sch. VII, List III, Entry 22 — Industrial Tribunal constituted under Section 7 of Industrial Disputes Act — Rajasthan Industrial Tribunal (Constitution and Proceedings) Validating Act (1959) enacted by Rajasthan State Legislature and received assent of the President — The State Act must prevail over the provisions of the Industrial Disputes Act in the State of Rajasthan and the legality of the proceeding pending before the Industrial Tribunal constituted under the Industrial Disputes Act cannot be assailed. (1962) 1 Lab LJ 609: 1962 Raj LW 669: ILR (1962) 12 Raj 571: (1963-64) 24 FJR 133: (1962) 5 Fac LR 8: AIR 1963 Raj 22 (24) (Pt C) (Pr 7) (DB).

——Art. 254 — President's assent, if was necessary. See Rajasthan Panchayat (Amendment) Ordinance (15 of 1955). AIR 1956 Raj 107.

——Art. 254 — Code of Civil P. C. (Rajasthan Amendment) Act (Rajasthan Act 20 of 1952), Section 2 — Act inserting Section 48-A in Civil P. C. is valid — Bill had been reserved for assent of the President as required by the Constitution. The Rajpramukh had prepared this bill and reserved it for consideration of the President before 8-3-1953 on which date the Legislature was summoned in Rajasthan — Act is retrospective in operation. See Civil P. C. (1908), S. 48-A (Rajasthan Amendment). ILR (1956) 6 Raj 53.

——Art. 254 — Travancore-Cochin Holdings (Stay of Execution Proceedings) Act (8 of 1950)—Preamble — Cl. (2) of Art. 254 does not apply since the Act is not an Act which was reserved for the consideration of the President and has received his assent. See Debt Laws — Travancore-Cochin Holdings (Stay of Execution Proceedings) Act (8 of 1950) — Preamble. AIR 1953 TC 327.

14. Proviso to Clause (2).

●——Art. 254 (2), Proviso — Scope — Repeal simpliciter.

(Obiter):— There is much to be said for the view that a repeal simpliciter is not within the Proviso to Art. 254 (2). Tika Ramji v. State of Uttar Pradesh, 1956 SCA 979: 1956 SCR 393: 1956 All WR (HC) 637: 1956 SCJ 625: AIR 1956 SC 676 (706) (Pt D) (Pr 40).

●——Art. 254 (2), Proviso — Scope — U. P. Sugarcane (Regulation of Supply and Purchase) Act (XXIV of 1953) and U. P. Sugarcane Regulation of Supply and Purchase Order, 1954 — If repealed by Section 16 of Essential Commodities Act (X of 1955) or by Cl. 7 of Sugarcane Control Order, 1955.

While the proviso to Art. 254 (2) does confer on Parliament a power to repeal a law passed by the State Legislature, that power is, under the terms of the proviso, subject to certain limitations. It is limited to enacting a law with respect to the same matter adding to, amending, varying or repealing a "law so made by the State Legislature" with reference to a matter in the Concurrent List containing provisions repugnant to an earlier law made by Parliament and with the consent of the President. The U. P. Sugarcane (Regulation of Supply and Purchase) Act is a substantive law covering of field not occupied by Parliament, and no question of its containing any provisions inconsistent with a law enacted by Parliament could therefore, arise. To such a law, the proviso has no application and Section 16 (1) (b), Essential Commodities Act (X of 1955) and Cl. 7 (1) of the Sugarcane Control Order, 1955, must, in this view, be held to be void.

The U. P. Sugarcane Regulation of Supply and Purchase Order, 1954, could not be validly repealed by the Central Government as was purported to be done by Cl. 7 of the Sugarcane Control Order, 1955, and that repeal was of no effect with the result that the U. P. Sugarcane Regulation of Supply and Purchase Order, 1954, stood unaffected thereby. The result, therefore, is that there was no repeal of the U. P. Sugarcane (Regulation of Supply and Purchase) Act (XXIV of 1953), or the U. P. Sugarcane Regulation of Supply and Purchase Order, 1954 by Section 16 of Act X of 1955 or by Cl. 7 of the Sugarcane Control Order, 1955. Tika Ramji v. State of Uttar Pradesh, 1956 SCA 979: 1956 SCR 393: 1956 All WR (HC) 657: 1956 SCJ 625: AIR 1956 SC 676 (706, 707) (Pt E) (Prs 40, 41).

●——Art. 254 (2) — Government of India Act (1935), Section 107 (2) — Power of Central Legislature or Parliament to repeal directly Provincial or State legislation enacted with respect to same matter.

Under Section 107 (2), Government of India Act, 1935 the position was that though a law enacted by the Central Legislature and within its competence would override Provincial legislation covering the same field, the Central Legislature had no authority conferred upon it under the Government of India Act to enact a statute repealing directly any Provincial statute. (1896) AC 348, Rel. on.

Art. 254 (2), Constitution of India, is in substance a reproduction of Section 107 (2), Government of India Act, 1935. But by the proviso to Art. 254 (2) the Constitution has enlarged the powers of Parliament and under that proviso, Parliament can do what the Central Legislature could not under Section 107 (2) of the Government of India Act, and enact a law adding to, amending, varying or repealing a law of the State when it relates to a matter mentioned in the Concurrent List. The position then is that under the Constitution, Parliament can, acting under the proviso to Art. 254 (2), repeal a State law. But where it does not expressly do so, even then the State law will be void under that provision if it conflicts with a later "law with respect to the same matter that may be enacted by Parliament." Zaverbhai v. State of Bombay, 1954 SCJ 851: 1954 Cri LJ 1822: 1954 SCA 1295: 1955 All WR (Sup) 1: 1955 SCR 799: 57 Bom LR 589: AIR 1954 SC 752 (756, 757) (Pt A) (Pr 7).

——Art. 254 — Proviso — Power of Parliament — Power of Court to adjudicate upon reasonableness of legislative measure.

Under Art. 254 of the Constitution of India, the Parliament has overriding and plenary powers of legislation and, in exercise of that authority, it could amend, repeal, modify or add to any existing law. If the Legislature is invested with authority to legislate in regard to a particular topic, the Court cannot adjudicate upon the reasonableness of such a measure. ILR (1959) Andh Pra 827: (1959) 1 Andh WR 174: 1959 Cri LJ 300: 1959 Andh LT 294: 1959 MLJ (Cr) 176: AIR 1959 Andh Pra 144 (145, 146) (Pt B) (Prs 6, 16) (DB).

——Art. 254 (2) — Government of India Act (1935), Section 107 — "Further Legislation" — Meaning of —State law repugnant to Central law or existing law — State law prevails until there is further legislation with respect to the same matter by Central Legislature. See Government of India Act (1935), S. 107 (2). 1953 Cri LJ 1602: AIR 1953 Bom 371 (DB).

——Art. 254 (2), Proviso — Scope of—Different from Section 107, Government of India Act, 1935 — (Government of India Act (1935), Section 107).

Whether under the Constitution or under the Government of India Act, the Central Legislature or Parliament had always the power to override any legislation passed by a Provincial or State Legislature provided the subject is dealt with found a place in the Concurrent List. That important principle is reiterated in Art. 254 and the proviso to Cl. (2) merely emphasises that important principle. The departure made by the additional words contained in the proviso to Cl. (2) of Art. 254 is that wider power is conferred upon Parliament directly to tackle State legislation and to amend, vary or repeal State legislation. These additional words in no way restrict the competence of Parliament. ILR (1955) Bom 49: 56 Bom LR 1000: AIR 1955 Bom 35 (37) (Pt A) (Pr 3) (DB).

——Art. 254 — Existing laws on matters in concurrent list — Power of Parliament to repeal or amend not restricted. See Ibid, Art. 246 (2). AIR 1961 Ker 154.

——Art. 254 (2), Proviso — Scope.

Now by the proviso to Art. 254 (2) of the Constitution the powers of the Parliament have been enlarged and under that proviso the Parliament can do what the Central Legislature could not do under Section 107 (2) of the Government of India Act, and enact a law adding to, amending, varying or repealing a law of the State in the circumstances mentioned in the Article. 1957 BLJR 520: ILR 36 Pat 606: AIR 1958 Pat 43 (47) (Pt B) (Pr 5) (DB).

ARTICLE 255

——Art. 255 — Mysore Existing Laws (Construction of References to Values) Act (XII of 1957), Sections 3, 2 — Substitution of Naya Paisas in place of pies in Mysore Sales Tax Act — Effect — Tax expressed in terms of Naya Paisas cannot be challenged as unconstitutional. See Ibid, Art. 212. AIR 1963 SC 589.

——Arts. 255 and 265 — Freedom of trade — Assam Taxation (on Goods Carried by Roads or on Inland Waterways) Act (13 of 1954) — Validity. See Ibid, Art. 301. AIR 1961 SC 232.

——Art. 255 — Previous sanction under Art. 304 (b), Proviso, not obtained — Enactment, if invalid — Subsequent assent — Effect. See Ibid, Art. 304 (b), Proviso. AIR 1960 Andh Pra 234 (DB).

——Art. 255 — States Re-organisation Act, 1956— Distintegration of State of Hyderabad — Constitutional validity. See Ibid, Art. 1. AIR 1957 Andh Pra 734 (DB).

——Arts. 255, 207 and 212 — Governor's recommendation — Bill imposing tax on certain articles introduced without Governor's recommendation — Governor's assent published in Gazette — Defect cured by assent — Act not invalid — Bengal Finance (Sales Tax) (Second Amendment) Act, 1955.

Though there was no recommendation from the Governor for the imposition of tax on bullion and specie under the Bengal Finance (Sales Tax) (Second Amendment) Act, 1955, the assent of the Governor to the Act having been published in the Calcutta Gazette Extraordinary on September 19, 1955, the defect is cured and the Act cannot be said to be invalid on that ground: AIR 1958 Raj 192 (194), Rel. on. 69 Cal WN 273: AIR 1966 Cal 81 (83) (Prs 15, 16).

——Arts. 255, 301 and 304 — Kerala Agriculturists Debt Relief Act (XXXI of 1958), Section 11-A — Constitutional validity — Section is valid and does not infringe Arts. 14, 13, 301 or 304. See Debt Laws — Kerala Agriculturists Debt Relief Act (XXXI of 1958), Section 11-A. AIR 1965 Ker 39 (FB).

——Art. 255 — Scheme of distribution of legislative powers, pointed out. 71 Mad LW 291: (1958) 28 Com Cas 270: AIR 1958 Mad 403 (406) (Pt A) (Pr 5).

[Overruled on another point in 1961 (2) Mad LJ 494.]

——Art. 255 — Previous sanction of President required by Art. 304 (b) not obtained — Assent of President to the Act after it was enacted obtained — Defect cured by Art. 255. See Ibid, Art. 304 (b). AIR 1963 Mys 49 (DB).

——Art. 255 — Scope — Amendment of Section 35 of Land Acquisition Act — Scope and effect of. See Land Acquisition (Bihar Amendment) Act (Bihar Act XI of 1956), Section 4. AIR 1959 Pat 488 (DB).

——Art. 255 — Assent of President to Bill — Should be obtained before it becomes an Act and not after its becoming an Act. See Ibid, Art. 200. 1965 Raj LW 118.

——Art. 255 — Rajasthan Passengers and Goods Taxation Act (18 of 1959), Section 3—Rajasthan Finance Acts amending Section 3 of the Act of 1959 without obtaining assent of the President — Taxes imposed by the amended Act during 1961 and 1962 not valid —Effect of Validating Act of 1964 — Held that Section 4 not only validated the impugned provisions of the Finance Acts but also re-enacted them with retrospective effect — Taxes collected during the period held legal. See Ibid, Art. 304 (b) Proviso. 1965 Raj LW 118.

——Art. 255 — Imposition of octroi duty — Restriction on freedom of trade — Absence of previous sanction of President — Effect. See Municipalities — Rajasthan Town Municipalities Act (XXIII of 1951), Section 59. AIR 1958 Raj 192 (DB).

——Art. 255 — Scope of — Rajasthan Motor Vehicles Taxation Act (11 of 1951), Sections 4 and 11— Validity of. See Rajasthan Motor Vehicles Taxation Act (XI of 1951), Section 4. AIR 1958 Raj 114 (FB).

——Art. 255 — Subsequent assent by President — Sufficiency — Non-compliance with Section 207 — Effect.

It is clear from the provisions of Art. 255 that in cases where the Constitution required that a bill cannot be moved or introduced without the recommendation or previous sanction of the President or the Governor or the Rajpramukh, the Act would not be invalid simply because such a recommendation or a previous sanction is not made, provided subsequent assent is given by that authority. Rajasthan Sales Tax Act received the assent of the President of India on 22nd December, 1954 as published in Rajasthan Gazette, Extraordinary, dated 30th December, 1954. So even if the Court were to find that the bill was not introduced or moved on the recommendation of the Rajpramukh as required by Art. 207 the Court could not hold the Act invalid since it had received the assent of the President of India. (1957) 8 STC 798: 1957 Raj LW 518: ILR (1957) 7 Raj 1035.

ARTICLE 256

——Art. 256 — Exercise of executive power of State — Limitations — Boundary dispute between India and Pakistan regarding Berubari Union No. 12 — "Radclife Award" — Agreement between Prime Ministers of India and Pakistan — Interpretation — Enforcement of agreement — Directive of Central Government to State — Implementation — Writ against State — Agreement if Act of State — Question of cession of territory, if involved in agreement — Jurisdiction of Municipal Courts. See Ibid, Art. 226. AIR 1959 Cal 506.

ARTICLE 258

——Art. 258 — "Law"—Notification by President under Art. 258 (1) of the Constitution held to have force of law—Commissioner appointed under notification under Art. 258(1) could appoint Additional Special Land Acquisition Officer as Collector for purposes of Section 5-A, Land Acquisition Act. See Bombay Re-organisation Act (1960), Section 87. AIR 1964 SC 648.

——Art. 258 (1) — Scope — Provision enables President to entrust to States functions which are vested in Union and not those which are vested in him as President.

Art. 258 (1) enables the President to entrust to the State the functions which are vested in the Union, and which are exercisable by the President on behalf of the Union; it does not authorise the President to entrust to any other person or body the powers and functions with which he is by the express provisions of the Constitution as President invested. The power to promulgate Ordinances under Art. 123, to suspend the provisions of Arts. 268 to 279 during an emergency, to declare failure of the Constitutional machinery in States under Art. 356, to declare a financial emergency under Art. 360, to make rules regulating the recruitment and conditions of service of persons appointed to posts and services in connection with the affairs of the Union under Art. 309 —to enumerate a few out of the various powers—are not powers of the Union Government; these are powers vested in the President by the Constitution and are incapable of being delegated or entrusted to any other body of authority under Art. 258 (1). The plea that the very nature of these powers is such that they could not be intended to be entrusted under Art. 258 (1) of the Sate or officer of the State, and therefore Cl. (1) must have a limited content, proceeds upon an obvious fallacy. Those powers cannot be delegated under Art. 258 (1) because they are not the powers of the Union, and not because of their special character. Jayantilal Amratlal Shodhan v. F. N. Rana, (1964) 5 SCR 294 : (1964) 5 Guj LR 481 : (1964) 2 SCA 284 : AIR 1964 SC 648 (656) (Pt A) (Pr 12).

——Art. 258 (1) — Scope — Powers under, whether of executive character.

Per Majority:— The plea about the placing of Art. 258 in Ch. II of Part XI and the character of the two preceding Articles as indicative of the character of the powers conferred by Art. 258 (1) being executive is not at all decisive: for Cl. (2) of Art. 258, and Cl. (3) of Art. 261, which occur in Ch. II, deal with matters Legislative and judicial.

Per Subba Rao and Wanchoo, JJ.:— Where Chapter II of Part XI dealing with administrative relations deals with matters other than executive functions, it has specifically referred to these other matters which have to be dealt with by law or which are judgments of Courts; otherwise the whole of Chapter II of Part XI is concerned with the executive power of the Union or the State and, therefore, deals with executive functions. When Art. 258 (1) is giving power to the President to entrust his functions to the Government of a State or its officers in relation to any matters to which the executive power of the Union extends, the intention is to entrust only executive functions and no other. The word 'functions' even though it is not qualified by the word 'executive' in Art. 258 (1) must take its colour from what follows and if that is so, functions to be entrusted must be of the same nature as the executive power of the Union. Taking therefore, the language used in Art. 258 (1), it is capable of only one meaning, viz., that it enables the President to ask the State Government or its officers, with its consent, to carry out functions which pertain to the executive power of the Union vesting in him and to no other kind of power. Jayantilal Amratlal Shodhan v. F. N. Rana, (1964) 5 SCR 294 : (1964) 5 Guj LR 481 : (1964) 2 SCA 284 : AIR 1964 SC 648 (663) (Pt C) (Prs 32, 33).

——Art. 258 (1) — Functions of Central Government under Section 7, Explosive Substances Act, (1908), delegated to all State Governments — State Government has jurisdiction to give consent in respect of offence against Act. See Explosive Substances Act (1908), S. 7. 1965 (1) Cri LJ 1 : AIR 1965 All 15 (DB).

——Art. 258 (1) — Notification dated 20th March, 1952, by Central Government under Art. 258 (1)

— Validity. See Land Acquisition Act (1894), S. 3 (ee). AIR 1962 All 208.

——Arts. 258 (1), 73 (1) and 246 (1) — Explosive Substances Act (1908), S. 7 — Central Government can validly delegate, under Art. 258 (1) read with Arts. 73 (1) and 246 (1), its functions under S. 7, Explosive Substances Act, to State Governments — Consent given by Governor of State under S. 7 for prosecution under Act after delegation is not open to challenge — AIR 1960 All 376. considered — Explosive Substances Act (1908), S. 7— Power of consent of Central Government for prosecution under Act — Delegation to State Governments — Valid. 1962 Mad LJ (Cri) 366 : 1962 (2) Cri LJ 318 : (1962) 1 Andh LT 438 : (1962) 1 An WR 396 : AIR 1962 Andh Pra 322 (323) (Pt A) (Pr 26).

—Arts. 258 and Sch. VII, List III, Item 42 — (as amended by Constitution (Seventh Amendment) Act, 1956)— Acquisition of land within State area for purposes of Union — Delegation of power by Central Government to State Government — Validity — Scope of Art. 258 — Notifications under Ss. 4 and 6, Land Acquisition Act issued by State Government — Validity — Land Acquisition Act (1894), Ss. 3 (ee), 4 and 6.

Held, on facts (i) that the delegation made by the Central Government by its Notification, dated 24-3-52 was not invalid. In view of the said delegation the Central Government would include the State Government in the matters of acquisition of land within the State of Assam by virtue of S. 3 (8) (b) of the General Clauses Act. In this view, the notifications under Ss. 4 and 6 of the Land Acquisition Act, could not be challenged as not by appropriate Government.

(ii) The fact that the land was acquired by the State Government for enabling the Central Government to erect a food-grains godown did not necessarily mean that the acquisition was for the Union purpose and that the purpose ceased to be a State purpose: AIR 1955 SC 810, Rel. on. By the amendment of the Constitution in 1956, the distinction between the Union purpose and the State purpose has in effect been abolished. A power has been given to the State Government to acquire land for any purpose which may be regarded as a public purpose so long as the property is within its territorial jurisdiction and the State Government will in such cases also be the appropriate Government within the meaning of S. 3 (ee) of the Land Acquisition Act. The executive power of the Union under Art. 258 extends to acquisition, whether voluntary or in the exercise of its right of eminent domain. It is not limited to acquisition under a contract. It may be that a particular building may be constructed by the Central Government and the food-grains may be stocked by the Central Government, but nonetheless if the food-grains are to be distributed among the inhabitants of the State, it is as much a State purpose as a Union purpose. It is essential for a public benefit in which the State is as much interested as the Central Government. Tinsukia Development Corporation, Ltd. v. State of Assam, AIR 1961 Assam 133 (136, 137, 138, 139) (Pt A) (Prs 4, 5, 7, 9, 10) (FB).

——Art. 258 (1) — Delegation of executive function by Central Government to State Government — Consent by State Government after applying its mind to facts of the case — Consent is legal and valid — Special provision for delegation in Act not necessary. See Explosive Substances Act (1908), S. 7. (1963) 2 Cr LJ 258: AIR 1963 Cal 508 (DB).

——Arts 258, 73, Sch. VII, List I, Items 17 to 19 — Notification No. 4/3-56 (1) —F. I. dated 19-4-58 entrusting power under S. 3 of Foreigners Act to State Government — Validity of.

Where the Central Government by notification No. 4/3-56 F. I, dated 19-4-58 entrusted power under S. 3 of Foreigners Act to State Government that power could be validly entrusted and the notification was not invalid. Under Art. 73 the Executive power of the Union extends to matters with respect to which the Parliament has power to make laws, that is to say, matters included in List I, Schedule VII to the Constitution. Items 17 to 19 of List I cover matters relating to aliens, extradition, admission into and emigration and expulsion from India and passport and visas. These being matters over which the executive power of the Union also extends may be entrusted under Art. 258 of the Constitution by the Central Government to the State Government either conditionally or unconditionally.

Where, therefore, a person who had violated an order validly made against him to leave India, he must face the consequences thereof under the Foreigners Act. In such case, High Court could not interfere with criminal prosecution started against him. 67 Cal WN 206: (1963) 2 Cri LJ 9: AIR 1963 Cal 369 (372, 373) (Pt B) (Prs 12, 15).

——Art. 258 — Power to order foreigner to leave Indian territory — Delegation — Validity of. See Foreigner's Act (1946), S. 3. AIR 1958 Cal 565.

——Art. 258 (1) — "Laws in force" — Entrustment of power under Art. 258 (1) — Nature of — Whether executive in nature. See Bombay Reorganisation Act (XI of 1960), S. 87. AIR 1963 Guj 80 (DB).

——Art. 258 — Foreigners Act, S. 12 — Validity — Delegation — Power of. See Foreigners Act (1946), S. 12. 1961 (1) Cr LJ 516: AIR 1961 Madh Pra 110.

——Arts. 258, 246, 162, 73 and Sch. VII, List I, Entry 41 — Imports and Exports (Control) Act (1947), S. 3 — Imports and Exports (Control) Order (1955), Clauses 8, 9 and 10 — Import Trade Control Policy for April to September, 1963 — Para. 51 — Other remedy open — Disposal of applications for import licence — State Government constituting committee including State Government Officer who was acting as sponsoring authority under Act — Order constituting committee amounted to encroachment upon exclusive jurisdiction of Union Government and sponsoring authority ought to have exercised its own individual judgment — Applications could not be said to have been finally disposed of and remedy by way of appeal against improper rejection of licenses was not adequate and relief could be granted in writ petition. See Ibid, Art. 226. AIR 1965 Mys 143 (DB).

——Art. 258 (1) — Firm discontinuing business — Assessment to income-tax made thereafter — Assessment made on firm in status of unregistered firm — Certificate proceedings — Substitution of partners — Liability of partners — Applicability of Art. 258 (1). See Income-tax Act (1922), S. 41. AIR 1958 Orissa 280 (DB).

——Art. 258 (1) — Fixation of minimum wages— Delegation of powers by Central Government to State Government — Validity of.

Fixation of minimum wages is an executive matter arising in the performance of the executive functions of the State. It is true that a certain procedure is prescribed for fixation of minimum wages. But that in itself does not make the fixation a quasi-judicial matter, and hence it can be delegated by the Central Government to the Government of a State. 1957 Raj LW 95: ILR (1957) 7 Raj 74: AIR 1957 Raj 35 (36) (Pt B) (Pr 8) (DB).

ARTICLE 258-A

——Art. 258-A — Contract for construction work of Hirakud Dam Project — If disqualification for election to Orissa State Assembly. See Representation of the People Act (1951), S. 7 (d). AIR 1959 Orissa 58 (DB).

ARTICLE 259

(Before amendment of 1956)

——Art. 259 (2) (Before amendment of 1956). Arts. 14 and 16 — Grading of Majors of T. C. State Forces by Indian Army Selection Board does not amount to discrimination.

Where after coming into force of the Constitution of India, the Armed Forces of the T. C. State became part of the Armed Forces of the Union of India, the Indian Army Selection Board screened the Officers of the T. C. State Forces and the appellant who was holding the rank of Major was formerly graded as "unacceptable" to the Indian Army and thereafter released from the Army under orders of the President; the gradation by the Selection Board was no discrimination on the ground that the Majors of the Indian Army were not subjected to any selective test after they were commissioned once, and the Major cannot claim the benefits as contemplated by the Indian Army Rules; he cannot also claim damages or compensation, since his release was under orders of the President. The Major has not become entitled to the salary, other emoluments and pension of the Indian Army personnel merely because Art. 259 (2) stated that the Armed Forces of the States would form part of the Armed Forces of the Union. The provision in the Article does not ipso facto enable the members of the State Forces to hold the same ranks in the Armed Forces of the Union. They have to be accepted as conforming to Indian Army standards and have to be absorbed and integrated in the Armed Forces of the Union. Therefore the grading by the Selection Board was no discrimination. The discrimination if it could be called discrimination as between those "acceptable" and those "unacceptable" was inevitable in any selection. Hence the gradation of the Major cannot be challenged on the ground of discrimination inasmuch as there was no further selection in case of Officers of Indian Army when once they have been commissioned. 1964 Ker LJ 700: ILR (1964) 2 Ker 389: 1964 Ker LT 406: AIR 1965 Ker 185 (186, 187) (Pt A) (Prs 5, 6, 8) (DB).

ARTICLE 261

SYNOPSIS

(Constitution of India, Art. 261.)

1. Scope of the article.

2. Clause (2).

3. Clause (3).

(a) Pre-Constitution judgments and decrees.

(b) If retrospective.

See Note 3 (a).

1. Scope of the article.

●——Art. 261 — After integration of State with Indian Union, question whether Court in Akola is foreign Court in relation with Hyderabad State, does not arise, since all Courts in State are Indian Courts — Insolvency Court in Akola adjudicating debtor insolvent — Receiver taking possession of property in Berar and applying to Aurangabad Court for its aid to enable him to take seisin of property in Hyderabad — Aurangabad Court must give aid. See Civil P. C. (1908), S. 13. AIR 1952 Hyd 80 (FB).

●——Arts. 261, 1, 5 and 367 (3) — Scope — Ex parte decree passed by Palghat Court on 3-1-1951 — Executability in Perumbavoor in Travancore after extension of Civil Procedure Code to Travancore-Cochin by Part B States (Laws) Act, 1951 — Civil Procedure Code (1908), Ss. 2 (15), 13 and 44 — (Travancore Civil Procedure Code (1100 ME) S. 2 (5) — (Part B States (Laws) Act, 1951).

An ex parte decree passed after the coming into force of the Constitution, by the Palghat Court which was a foreign Court vis-a-vis the State of Travancore by virtue of the definition in S. 2 (5) Travancore Civil Procedure Code (1100 ME), is incapable of execution in a Court at Perumbavoor. The definition of foreign Court in S. 2 (5), Civil Procedure Code as amended by Act II of 1951 which was extended to the Travancore-Cochin State, cannot be availed of to determine the executability of the decree passed prior to 1-4-1951, inasmuch as the material date for determining the question is the date of the decree and not the date on which execution is sought. AIR 1954 Trav-Co 358 (FB), Rel. on. The destruction of the element of foreignness is effected by the amendments to Civil Procedure Code by Act 2 of 1951 read with Part B States (Laws) Act, 1951. AIR 1954 Mad 1051 and AIR 1955 J and K 5 (FB), Dissented from.

The object of Cl. (3) of Art. 261 is also the same as that of S. 44, Civil Procedure Code and the words 'shall be capable of execution' only mean that the expeditious method of execution by application will be available and that there will be no necessity for an action on the judgment of another State.

Article 1 of the Constitution provides that India shall be a Union of States and that the territory of India shall comprise 'the territories of the States' and the other territories specified therein. It is impossible to say that the creation of a Union of States in this fashion will by itself destroy the element of foreignness as between the Courts of the federating States. AIR 1951 Trav-Co 358 (FB), Rel. on. Variathu Augusthi v. Subramonia Iyer Sesha Iyer, ILR (1957) Kerala 1036: 1957 Ker LT 642: 1957 Ker LJ 633: AIR 1958 Ker 15 (16, 17, 18) (Prs 2, 3, 4, 9, 10, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 21) (FB).

——Art. 261 — Scope and effect — Efficacy of judgment rendered by Criminal Court in former Indian State.

Art. 261 deals with the state of affairs which would arise after the commencement of the Constitution. Neither Cl. (1) nor Cl. (2) purports to give any efficacy to a proceeding or judgment rendered in a former Indian State or the present States. They only deal with the question of proof. No doubt Cl. (3) deals with the question of giving effect to the judgments or orders but they are those rendered by civil Court. No reference is even made in the article to judgments or orders of criminal Courts. ILR (1955) Nag 613: 1955 Nag LJ 498: 1955 Cr LJ 1275: AIR 1955 Nag 236 (237) (Pt A) (Pr 5) (DB).

——Art. 261 — Submission to jurisdiction — Intention of defendant — Submission to be prior to decree — Effect of Art. 261 of Constitution. See Civil P. C. (1908), S. 13. AIR 1955 Nag 103 (DB).

●——Art. 261 — Full faith and credit clause— Effect — (Civil Procedure Code (1908), S. 13).

(Per majority, Gosain, J. Contra) :—

The provisos of Article 261 (1) and (2) are collectively called 'full faith and credit" Clause. Article 261 (1) merely establishes a rule of evidence and does not deal with jurisdiction Sub-clause (2) empowers the Parliament to lay down the rule of evidence and also the effect of the acts, records and judicial proceedings by legislation. This clause authorises the Parliament to legislate on the subject. Section 13 (a), Civil Procedure Code, lays down that a foreign judgment shall be conclusive as to any matter directly decided by it. This provision amply complies with the full faith and credit clause. Section 13 (a), however, further lays down that such a decision shall not be conclusive if the Court rendering the judgment was not competent to do so. The statutory provisions contained in Section 13 (a) of the Code of Civil Procedure as in force, in Pepsu State, in 1951 cannot be said to be in conflict with Article 261 (1) and (2) of the Constitution. Accordingly, it is open to the executing Court to examine under section 13 (a) of the Code of Civil Procedure whether the Courts decreeing the suits were or were not competent to pronounce the judgments in 1951. Gauri Lal Gurdev Das v. Jugal Kishore Sharma, ILR (1958) Punj 1211 : 61 Pun LR 418: AIR 1959 Punj 265 (270, 271, 272) (Pt E) (Prs 17, 18) (FB).

●——Art. 261 — It is prospective and does not apply to decrees passed before 26-1-1950. Laxmichand v. Mst. Tipuri, 1956 Raj LW 129 : ILR (1956) 6 Raj 236 : AIR 1956 Raj 81 (84) (Pt C) (Pr 18) (FB).

——Art. 261 (1) — Applicability.

Article 261 (1) applies only to acts which are valid and good and not to those that are void. Thus, where a permit issued to ply a motor vehicle on a public route is really not a permit at all. As its grant was ultra vires its grantor its issue cannot be "an act" within the meaning of Article 261 of the Constitution. AIR 1953 TC 392 (394) (Pt C) (Pr 10).

2. Clause (2).

●——Arts. 261, 246 and Sch. 7, List 2, Item 3, List 3, Items 12, 13 — Foreign Judgments — (Civil P. C. (1908), S. 13).

It is open to a State legislature to define "foreign judgments" and how they are to be enforced within its State subject to any legislation by the Parliament. Art. 261 (2) empowers only the Parliament to determine the manner in which judicial proceedings whether of the Union or of a State are to be proved and are to be made effective while items 12 and 13 of the Concurrent list give similar power to the States. Gauri Lal Firm v. Jugal Kishore, ILR (1958) Punj 1211 : 61 Pun LR 418 : AIR 1959 Punj 265 (269) (Pt B) (Prs 11; 14) (FB).

3. Clause (3).

(a) Pre-Constitution judgments and decrees.

(b) If retrospective.

See Note 3 (a).

3. Clause (3).

——Art. 261 (3) — Civil P. C. (1908), Ss. 10, 151 — Agreement to litigate in particular Court — Injunction restraining earlier suit filed in another Court can be granted — Injunction can be enforced against party disobeying though residing outside the State. See Civil P. C. (1908), S. 10. 1962 All LJ 464.

——Art. 261 (3) — 'Final judgment'.

Obiter.— It is not easy, to explain the omission of the word 'decree' from Clause 3 of the Article particularly when it has been used in the earlier Arts. 132, 133 and 136. It can however be said that the definition of the word 'judgment' really means a decree as defined by the Civil Procedure Code. It is therefore, possible that the term 'final judgment' was used in Art. 261 (3) to include decrees. Ordinarily, only decrees are capable of execution, not judgments as defined in the Civil Procedure Code. The word 'decree' was probably used in Arts. 132, 133 and 136 only as a matter of abundant caution. AIR 1958 All 775 (786) (Pt G) (Pr 54) (DB).

——Arts. 261 and 1 (3) — Territory of India.

The 'territory of India' as defined in Art. 1 (3) of the Constitution came into existence for the first time on 26-1-1950. Before that date there was nothing which could be considered 'the territory of India' in the sense in which the term has been used in the Constitution. A decree passed before the coming into force of the Constitution, by the Gwalior State Court, cannot therefore, be considered to be a decree passed by a Court situate within the territory of India. AIR 1958 All 775 (786) (Pt H) (Pr 54) (DB).

——Art. 261 (3) — Ex parte decrees by Courts of native State against non-resident foreigners — Execution of — If in accordance with law.

Even under Art. 261 (3) the decrees mentioned therein can be executed only in accordance with law. The law in respect of ex parte decrees passed against non-resident foreigners is that such decrees are to be treated as nullities by the Court of every nation except (when authorised by local special legislation) in the country of the forum from which it was pronounced. If, therefore, an ex parte decree against a non-resident foreigner passed by the Gwalior Court is allowed to be executed at Allahabad, when such objection to its competency is taken, it will obviously be not in accordance with law. AIR 1958 All 775 (787) (Pt J) (Pr 56) (DB).

——Art. 261 (3) — Foreign Court — Submission to jurisdiction — Execution of decree in foreign State — Foreign Court, decree by — No submission to jurisdiction — Decree is a nullity and cannot be executed in India — Country of foreign Court (Gwalior) subsequently becoming part of India — Decree cannot still be executed, since it was a nullity when it was passed. See Civil P. C. (1908), S. 2 (5). AIR 1955 All 490.

●——Art. 261 (3) — Foreigner doing business in territorial jurisdiction of Court through agent— Claim against for breach of contract — Court has jurisdiction to pass ex parte decree against foreigner. See Civil P. C. (1908), S. 20. AIR 1961 Andh Pra 476 (FB).

——Art. 261 — Foreign judgment — Ex parte money decree passed by Madras High Court against resident of Hyderabad State — Decree transferred to Court in Hyderabad now merged in Andhra Pradesh — Decree cannot be executed. See Civil P. C. (1908), S. 13. AIR 1958 Andh Pra 407.

——Art. 261 — Ss. 13 and 38, Civil P. C. — Foreign decree — Its executability — Character and validity of decree how determined — Immunity under Law how far saved by S. 20 of Act, 2 of 1951 — (Civil P. C. (Amendment) Act (2 of 1951), S. 20). See Civil P. C. (1908), S. 13. AIR 1958 Andh Pra 407.

——Art. 261 (3) — Foreign judgment and decree — Judgment of Khosla, J., in AIR 1956 Punj 193 (FB), Dissented from. See Civil P. C. (1908). S. 13. AIR 1958 AP 407.

——Art. 261 — Consent decree creating charge on property situate outside territorial jurisdiction of Court — Decree is lawful — Court has jurisdiction to appoint receiver of such property — Art. 261 under which decrees and orders of Courts of one State are capable of being executed in another State is a complete answer to question of effectiveness of the decree passed. See Civil P. C. (1908), S. 51. AIR 1961 Cal 422.

——Art. 261 (3) — Ex parte decree passed by Bombay High Court against resident of former Hyderabad State — Execution in Hyderabad — Decree can now be executed in Hyderabad — Civil P. C. (1908), S. 2 (5). ILR (1952) Hyd 1030: AIR 1953 Hyd 19 (19, 20) (Prs 4, 5, 6) (DB).

●——Art. 261 (3) — Definition of 'foreign Court' — Repugnancy to Arts. 5 and 261 (3) of Constitution — Ex parte decree passed by Amritsar Court against a State subject on 4th June, 1951 — Decree if executable in State. See Jammu and Kashmir Civil P. C. (10 of 1977, SMT.). (Before Amendment of 2011), S. 44. AIR 1955 J and K 5 (FB).

●——Art. 261 (3) — Decree passed by Court in British India — Decree passed against person not submitting to Court's jurisdiction — Decree can be executed in Courts of Madhya Bharat after 26th January, 1950. See Civil P. C. (1908), S. 2 (5). AIR 1955 Madh B 1 (FB).

——Arts. 261, 1 and 5 — Decree of foreign Court —Ex parte decree in Mysore on 27-7-1950 can be executed in Part A State. See Civil P. C. (1908), S. 2 (5). AIR 1954 Mad 1051.

——Art. 261 (3) — Decree passed after Constitution but in suit instituted before — If executable.

A decree passed subsequent to coming into force of the Constitution, in a suit instituted prior to the date of the Constitution is executable in Courts in India previously considered as foreign. 36 Mys LJ 479: ILR (1958) Mys 273: AIR 1959 Mys 34 (35) (Pr 3).

——Art. 261 — Executable order under S. 488, Criminal Procedure Code, in existence — Second application for maintenance — Maintainability See Criminal P. C. (1898), S. 488. 1958 Cr LJ 1437: AIR 1958 Punj 431.

●——Art. 261 (3) — Effect of — Decree of Bombay High Court — Executability in Saurashtra — Procedure.

Though by reason of Art. 261 (3) of the Constitution, a decree of the Bombay High Court becomes executable in Saurashtra State, it could be executed only in the manner and according to the law in that State where the procedure is by way of suit. Art. 261 (3) cannot be relied on to show that it becomes executable by mere application. Dwarkadas Jethabhai v. Gokaldas Naranji, 5 Sau LR 50: AIR 1952 Sau 90 (91, 92) (Prs 4, 5, 7) (FB).

3 (a). Pre-Constitution judgments and decrees.

●——Art. 261 — Ex parte decree passed by Gwalior Court on 18-11-1948 against resident of Allahabad — Decree is nullity — Decree transferred to Court at Allahabad on 14-9-1951 —Court held could not do so — Court at Allahabad could not execute decree. See Civil P. C. (1908), S. 13. AIR 1962 SC 1737.

——Art. 261 (3) — Retrospective operation —[Interpretation of Statutes).

Every legislation is prima facie prospective unless it is expressly or by necessary implication made to have retrospective operation. This rule of interpretation is applicable for the purpose of interpreting the Constitution also. There is therefore, the initial presumption that Art. 261 (3) has only prospective application. There is nothing in Cl. (3) of the Article either expressly or by necessary implication to show that it was intended to apply to pre-Constitution decrees. AIR 1958 All 775 (786, 787) (Pt I) (Pr 55) (DB).

●——Art. 261, Cl. (3) — Civil P. C. (1908), Ss. 13, 20 — Pre-Constitution personal ex parte judgment by British Indian Court against subject of Hyderabad State — Decree is nullity and not executable after advent of Constitution.

A pre-Constitution judgment in personam pronounced in absentem by a foreign Court against a person who has not submitted himself to the jurisdiction of that Court and which is incapable of execution outside the territorial limits of that Court, is a nullity and if, at the time it was passed, it had no validity as a foreign judgment, it would not acquire new force after Constitution.

Thus, an ex parte decree passed by the erstwhile British Indian Court against a resident of the then Hyderabad State, who had not submitted to the jurisdiction of that Court cannot be executed by the Courts of the Hyderabad State after 26th January, 1950.

Section 20, C. P. Code enables Courts in British India to pass decrees which are capable of execution as domestic judgments. It deals only with matters of domestic concern and prescribes rules for the assumption of territorial jurisdiction by British Indian Courts in causes within their cognizance. As foreign judgments, they have no validity and they are, as it were, non est so far as the area outside the jurisdiction of the adjudicating Court is concerned, if they do not conform to the principles of Private International Law. Such a judgment is an absolute nullity in the international sense.

The material date with reference to which the validity of the judgment is to be tested is the date of making the judgment and not the date when execution is sought.

The Constitution is prospective and not retrospective. In that view, Cl. (3) of Art. 261 would not govern foreign judgments which were void and incapable of execution in Couts outside the territorial domain of the adjudicating Courts before the Constitution came into force. The position that prevailed before is maintained despite the inclusion of the native States in the territory of India.

Article 372 of the Constitution has preserved all the existing laws in the various States before the commencement of the Constitution, unless altered or repealed or amended by a competent legislature. Under S. 8 of the Hyderabad Civil P. C. the Judgment-debtor had a right to challenge foreign judgment, inter alia, on the ground of its being passed without jurisdiction. The right to resist execution of a foreign judgment is a substantive right and it is specially saved by S. 20 of Act 2 of 1951 (Civil Procedure Amendment Act). AIR 1952 Hyd 196 (FB); AIR 1958 Hyd 19; AIR 1953 Hyd 184; AIR 1951 Bom 125 (FB); AIR 1955 MB 1 (FB) and (1959) 2 Mad LJ 822, Dissent from; AIR 1952 Mys 69; AIR 1960 Mys 1; AIR 1954 TC 358; AIR 1955 All 490; AIR 1955 Nag 103; AIR 1954 Cal 67 and AIR 1956 Raj 81

(FB), Foll. Krishna Murthy v. Venkata Rao, ILR (1962) Andh Pra 781: (1962) 1 An WR 272: (1962) 1 Andh LT 399: AIR 1962 Andh Pra 400 (403, 404, 405, 406) (Prs 22, 23, 25, 26, 27, 30, 45) (FB).

——Art. 261 (3) — Scope and effect of.

Clause (3) of Art. 261 of the Constitution provides that final judgments or orders delivered or passed by the Civil Courts in any part of India shall be capable of execution within the territory but notwithstanding this provision the execution of final judgments and orders of the Civil Courts depended upon the provisions of the Civil Procedure Code in force in the respective territories. This is so because the provisions of Clause (3) of Art. 261 are not only prospective, but also specifically make execution of Civil Court decrees and orders subject to the law in force in that territory. AIR 1951 SC 217 and AIR 1951 SC 128, Rel. on. (1958) 2 Andh WR 35: 1958 Andh LT 394: ILR (1958) Andh Pra 891: AIR 1958 Andh Pra 407 (409 to 412) (Pt E) (Pr 3) (DB).

——Art. 261 (3) — Retrospective effect —Decree of former Indian State Court — Executability in India.

The decrees which were inexecutable as being those of a Court in a foreign State according to the law then in force up to the date of the Constitution, have not ceased to be so on account of the changes introduced by the Constitution or by reason of the constitutional definition of "the territory of India." There is no such retrospective effect in any Article of the Constitution including the definition of the "Territory of India" which has the effect of converting what was a foreign judgment before the Constitution into a domestic judgment after the Constitution.

The question is not to be determined by applying the test whether at the time of execution any of the sections of the Civil P. Code applies, but must be determined by the test whether such decrees by their nature of being foreign Court judgments are at all executable and this goes to the very root of their validity and enforceability. The principle that the executing Court does not go behind the decree has always been understood subject to the overriding question of whether the decree is a nullity or not. It is settled law that an executing Court can always refuse to execute a decree which is a nullity.

Held, that the Okhamandal Court in Baroda State when it passed the decree had no jurisdiction against what was then a foreign State of the Dominion of India and as such its decree against the Dominion of India which was a nullity being in breach of the international law, could not be executed in India. AIR 1952 Mys 69, Rel. on. AIR 1951 Bom 190 and AIR 1951 Bom 125, (FB), Disting. Case law referred. ILR (1955) 1 Cal 251: 92 Cal LJ 24: AIR 1954 Cal 67 (71, 72) (Pt D) (Prs 15, 17, 18).

——Art. 261 (3) — Ex parte personal decree by a Court in C. P. against resident of Hyderabad in respect of cause of action arising within jurisdiction — Validity — Decree if can be executed in Hyderabad after coming into force of Constitution. See Civil P. C. (1908), S. 13. AIR 1955 Hyd 184 (DB).

——Art. 261 (3) — Execution of decree passed by Court in Part A State by Court in Part B State.

Article 261 (3) cannot be availed of for the purpose of pressing an application of execution in the territory now forming part of Part B State where the final judgment of which the execution is sought was given by a Court in the territory now forming part of Part A State prior to 26-1-1950. AIR 1951 SC 124, Foll.

Even apart from the provisions of Art. 261 (3) such decrees have not become executable in Courts in Part B States by reason of change in the status of the judgment-debtor from that of a foreigner to that of national of India. AIR 1951 Bom 190, Foll. ILR (1953) MB 312: AIR 1953 Madh B 225 (228, 229) (Pt B) (Prs 44, 56) (DB).

——Art. 261 (3) — Ex parte decree of Bombay High Court in 1946 against resident of former Gwalior State — Execution of decree taken to Gwalior Court after Constitution of India —Decree being a nullity its execution held not maintainable. See Civil P. C. (1908), S. 13. AIR 1962 Madh Pra 276.

——Art. 261 — Ex parte personal decree passed by Calcutta High Court against resident of Mysore State prior to Constitution — Decree is not executable in Mysore State after Constitution. See Civil P. C. (1908), S. 13. AIR 1960 Mys 1 (DB).

——Art. 261 (3) — Scope — If retrospective — Mys. C. P. Code, S. 13 — Decree in Court of Madras against resident of Mysore ex parte before accession of Mysore to Indian Union— Execution in Mysore after the coming into force of Constitution of India — Permissibility.

Execution of a decree for payment of money passed ex parte before the Mysore State acceded to the Indian Union by a Court situated outside that State against a resident of the Mysore State who did not submit to the jurisdiction of the foreign Court can be resisted when such execution is applied for in a Mysore Court after the accession of Mysore to the Indian State and the coming into force of the Constitution of India on 26-11-1950. Art. 261 (3) of the Constitution of India is not retrospective and cannot be given retrospective effect. Art. 261 (3) can relate only to those decrees which are passed after the Constitution came into force. Decrees passed in the Madras Presidency or the Mysore State Courts before these two became parts of the territory of India, as defined in Art. 261 (3) of the Constitution cannot be said, with retrospective effect, to be those of Civil Court in the territory of India.

A decree was passed by a Court in Coimbatore (Madras) ex parte on 28-3-1949, against a person resident in the Mysore State who did not appear and did not submit to its jurisdiction. The decree was subsequently transferred for execution to the Sub-Court at Hassan in the State of Mysore and the execution application was filed on 19-3-1950.

Held, that the status of the defendant to be taken into consideration for deciding the question of executability was at the time of the decree sought to be executed and not at the time of the execution thereof and the decree which was inexecutable in Mysore as that of a Court in a foreign State according to the law in force at the time did not cease to be inexecutable or become executable on account of the changes introduced by the Constitution with respect to status or in the definition of foreign State or of territory of India. AIR 1951 Bom 190; AIR 1951 Bom 125 (FB); AIR 1952 TC 89, Diss.; 19 All 450; 56 All 828; 25 Bom 528, 40 Bom 551; 45 Bom 1228; 22 Cal 222; 9 Lah 455, 26 Mad 544, 17 MLJ 585; 1950 PC 64; AIR 1951 SC 217; AIR 1951 SC 128; 20 Mys CCR 214; 22 Mys CCR 188; 23 Mys CCR 299: 25 Mys CCR 269; 29 Mys CCR 143; 34 Mys

CCR 205; AIR 1941 Mad 688, Ref. ILR (1952) Mys 201 : 30 Mys LJ 69 : AIR 1952 Mys 69 (72 to 75) (Prs 10, 14, 17, 18, 21, 23) (DB).

——Art. 261 (3) — Pre-Constitution decree of native State — Executability. See Civil P. C. (1908), S. 13. AIR 1956 Nag 273.

——Art. 261 (3) — Civil P. C., Preamble, Ss. 2 (5), (6), 43, 44 (before amendments in 1951) — 'Ex parte' decree by Indore Court passed on 17-2-1948 — Execution of decree in Punjab in 1951 — (Interpretation of Statutes — Retrospective effect)— (International Law (Private) — Judgment of foreign Courts. See Civil P. C. (1908), Pre. AIR 1956 Punj 193.

——Art. 261 (3) — Article 261 (3) has no retrospective operation. ILR (1953) 3 Raj 505 : 1953 Raj LW 429 : AIR 1954 Raj 4 (9, 10) (Pt F) (Pr 25) (DB).

●——Art. 261 (3) — Scope — Decree of Bombay High Court passed prior to Constitution — Executability in Saurashtra State after Constitution. See Ibid, Art. 1 (3). AIR 1954 Sau 123 (FB).

●——Art. 261 — Applicability to judgment and orders made before 26-1-1950. See Civil P. C. (1908), S. 13. AIR 1954 Trav-Co 358 (FB).

3 (b). If retrospective.

See Note 3 (a).

ARTICLE 264

——Arts. 264, 295 and Sch. 7, List 2, Item 18— Jagir grants — Variation by executives—Legality — Effect of Constitution on Nizam's Prerogatives. See Ibid, Art. 295. AIR 1956 Hyd 164 (DB).

——Art. 264 (b) (before Constitution (Seventh Amendment) Act of 1956) — Interpretation — Word 'State' used in Art. 286 must be read otherwise than as limited by Art. 264 (b) — Article 286 applies to Part C States also. See Art. 286. AIR 1965 Madh Pra 11 (DB).

ARTICLE 265

SYNOPSIS

(Constitution of India, Art. 265.)

1. Scope.
2. Tax.
(a) Tax and fee — Distinction.
(b) Levy of fee — Validity.
(c) Court-fee.
(d) Licence-fee.
(e) Registration-fee.
(f) Cess and fee.
(g) Toll tax.
3. Authority of law.
(a) Interpretation of taxing statutes.
4. Taxation power and fundamental rights.
(a) Taxation laws not subject to Art. 31.
(b) "Law" means valid law.
(c) Applicability of Art. 19.
(d) Freedom of inter-State trade.
5. Taxation and equality before law.
6. Retrospective taxing law.
7. Double taxation.
8. Remedies for illegal taxation.
9. "Levied or collected."
10. Taxation — Exemption from.
11. Taxation laws—Validity.

1. Scope.

——Art. 265 — Scope and object — S. 22, Madras General Sales Tax Act is in pari materia — Explanation to section if can be read as explanation to definition of sale — Effect of S. 2 — Sales Tax Laws Validation Act. See Sales Tax—Madras General Sales Tax Act (9 of 1939), S. 2 (h). AIR 1958 Andh Pra 109 (DB).

——Art. 265 — Scope and effect of — Power to impose or collect tax — Limits.

Aticle 265 of the Constitution of India provides that no tax shall be levied or collected except by authority of law. The words 'levy' and 'collection" are used in the article in a comprehensive manner and they are intended to include and cover the entire process of taxation commencing from the taxing statute to the taking of the money from the citizen. The Article enjoins that every stage in this entire process must be authorised by law.

The mere fact that an assessment has been made and the aggrieved party has not pursued his remedies under the taxing statute does not by itself make the assessment lawful if the assessment itself is made in pursuance of an ultra vires provision. There is no question of such assessments becoming final under the taxing statute. Where there is a total want of jurisdiction, a mere attempt to usurp jurisdiction can be restrained. 1959 Mad WN 325 : (1959) 2 MLJ 97: (1959) 10 STC 345: 72 Mad LW 446: ILR (1959) Mad 750 : AIR 1959 Mad 382 (386) (Pt A) (Pr 30) (DB).

——Art. 265 — Scope — Madras Act (19 of 1951), S. 76 (5). See Madras Hindu Religious and Charitable Endowments Act (19 of 1951), (as amended by Madras Act (27 of 1954), S. 76 (5). AIR 1960 Mys 18 (DB).

2. Tax.

(a) Tax and fee — Distinction.
(b) Levy of fee — Validity.
(c) Court-fee.
(d) Licence-fee.
(e) Registration-fee.
(f) Cess and fee.
(g) Toll tax.

2. Tax.

●——Art. 265 — Raising of revenue for State and for maintenance of roads and waterways—Whether sufficient — Levy of flat rate of taxation — Not unreasonable restriction. See Assam Taxation (On Goods Carried By Road or On Inland Waterways) Act (10 of 1961), S. 3. AIR 1964 SC 925.

——Art. 265 — State Legislation enacted under S. 79 (1), Government of India Act, 1915 — Constitutionality if can be challenged on ground of want of power under Constitution of India, Competency of State legislature to enact law for levy of fee for water supply by municipality—Tax and fee — Distinction. See Ibid, Art. 372. AIR 1961 All 583.

——Art. 265 — Scope — Contribution payable by employer under Employees' Provident Funds Act — Validity. See Employees' Provident Funds Act (1952), S. 8. 1958 All WR (HC) 501.

——Arts. 265, 245, 246 and 248 — Sch. 7 'Fees' and 'Tax' — Legislative competence — Residuary power with regard to taxation in Union — Levy of tax as ancillary or incidental to subjects specified in the Lists of Sch. 7.

The power to enact a law with respect to a tax on a subject must, to be intra vires, be one relating in fact to that subject. Entry 96 of List 1, Entry 66 of List 2 and Entry 47 of List 3 (Concurrent List) specifically provide for the imposition of fees in respect of any of the matters enumerated in the three lists. The absence of a similar provision in regard to the levy of taxes in respect of any of the matters enumerated in the Lists gives a strong indication that the levy of tax was not meant to be exercised as an ancillary or incidental power. The subjects dealt with in Lists I and II are meant to be exclusive, and all residuary power with regard to taxation is vested in the Union under Entry 97. Where the power of taxation is intended to be conferred on the Union or State, the Lists specify the subjects with regard to which that power can be exercised. (1959) 1 Andh WR 285 : ILR (1959) AP 648 : AIR 1959 Andh Pra 398 (401) (Pt B) (Prs 15, 18, 19) (DB).

——Arts. 265 and 19 — Madras District Municipalities Act (5 of 1920), S. 270 — Tax on persons vending articles on road margins — It is a fee and not tax — Fee held unreasonable and void. See Municipalities — Madras District Municipalities Act (5 of 1920), S. 270. AIR 1957 Andh Pra 103.

●——Arts. 265 and 27 and Sch. 7, List 2, Entry 45 — Assam Land Revenue Regulation (1 of 1886), Chaps. 2 and 3 — Land Revenue is tax and not rent.

Per Ram Labhaya, J. :— There is now a general consensus of opinion that land revenue should be regarded as a tax and not a rent. It is merely a portion of the profits of agriculture compulsorily appropriated by the State without any consideration. It is a tax which is no more than a compulsory exaction of money by the State in the exercise of its sovereign power for public purposes.

All bits of income or profit taken by the State in the exercise of its sovereign powers are in reality taxes, no matter under what name they appear. AIR 1955 SC 298, Rel. on. Girijananda v. State of Assam, AIR 1956 Assam 33 (43, 44) (Pt G) (Prs 35, 36) (SB).

——Art. 265 — Tax — Nature of — Test —Tax on trade — Municipal tax on cotton manufacture levied per bale pressed — Nature of tax. See Ibid, Art. 276. AIR 1958 Bom 487 (DB).

——Art. 265 — Citizen's right to be heard before being taxed — (Municipalities — Bombay Municipal Corporation Act (3 of 1888), S. 169).

It may seem rather ironical, but it is still true, that there is one matter in which every citizen is vitally affected where he is not allowed to be heard, and that is when the Legislature or any duly constituted authority decides to levy tax upon him. Perhaps it is not ironic because the reason is obvious. Although the citizen is not heard directly in his own defence or is not allowed directly to show cause on questions of taxation, the policy underlying taxation is decided by an authority which represents him and therefore he is heard through that representative authority. If the Legislature taxes it is his representatives that are taxing him. If the Municipality taxes again it is his representatives who are taxing him. This may be the philosophic basis of the citizen not being heard. But as far as the law is concerned, it is clear that order to tax under S. 169 being an executive and administrative order there is no right in the petitioners being heard or being allowed to show cause and no rules of natural justice have been violated. 56 Bom LR 1035: AIR 1955 Bom 185 (192) (Pt G) (Pr 12) (DB).

——Art. 265 — Regulation of mines and minerals development — Powers of Union and State — Power of taxation. See Ibid, Sch. 7, List 1 Entry 54. AIR 1959 Cal 222 (DB).

——Art. 265 — Tax includes fees — Scope of Art. 265 — Rule 55 of C. P. and Berar Motor Vehicles Rules — Rule imposing fee in respect of grant and renewal of permit is ultra vires after amendment of S. 68 (2) (g) of Motor Vehicles Act by Amendment Act C of 1956. See C. P. and Berar Motor Vehicles Rules (1940), R. 55. AIR 1965 Madh Pra 232 (DB).

——Art. 265 — Royalty — Payment — Basis and extent of. See Madhya Pradesh Land Revenue Code (2 of 1955), S. 143. AIR 1960 Madh Pra 129 (DB).

——Arts. 265 and 266 — Power of State Legislature. See Ibid, Art. 246 (3). AIR 1960 Mad 160.

——Art. 265 — Power to levy tax — Extent of.

The power to levy a tax extends to the enactment of all incidental provisions for ensuring the collection or preventing the evasion of the tax, or in the case of an indirect tax for facilitating the passing on of the tax to purchasers of goods. 70 Mad LW 770: (1957) 8 STC 690: (1957) 2 Mad LJ 469: ILR (1958) Mad 35: AIR 1958 Mad 158 (168; 169) (Pt E) (Pr 42) (DB).

——Art. 265, Sch. 7, List 1, Item 96, List 2, Item 66, List 3, Item 47 — Levy of fee in course of levy of taxes.

In each of the three lists in Sch. 7, the entry relating to the levy of fees, in List 1, item 96, List 2, item 66 and List 3, Item 47, is to be read as an adjunct to every legislative power including the entries conferring the power to levy particular taxes. This is an indication that the Constitution-makers conceived of fees being leviable in the course of the levy or collection of taxes, and this would include fees for licences. 70 Mad LW 770: (1957) 8 STC 690: (1957) 2 Mad LJ 469: ILR (1958) Mad 35: AIR 1958 Mad 158 (169) (Pt F) (Pr 43) (DB).

——Arts. 265, 14 and Sch. 7, List 2, Entry 54 — Power of Legislature to decide basis of taxation. See Ibid, Art. 14. AIR 1956 Mad 298 (DB).

——Art. 265 — Scope of —Custom requiring one day's free labour to be given to village headman— Validity. See Ibid, Art. 23 (1). AIR 1961 Manipur 1.

——Art. 265 — Amendment converting into tax what is not really tax — Amendment held unconstitutional. See Sales Tax — Mysore Sales Tax Act (25 of 1957), S. 18 (3) (as amended in 1964). AIR 1965 Mys 120 (DB).

——Art. 265 — 'Tax' or 'levy' — Agency Tracts of Ganjam — 'Mamul' — Nature of. See Custom. AIR 1958 Orissa 15 (DB).

——Art. 265 — Royalty on minerals under Bihar Minor Mineral Concession Rules, 1964 — Royalty is not fee but tax within Art. 366 (28). See Ibid, Art. 366 (28). AIR 1965 Pat 491 (DB).

——Art. 265, Sch. 7, List 1, item 54 and Sch. 7, List 2, item 23 — Mines and Minerals (Regulation and Development) Act (1957), Ss. 14, 15 and 13 (1) — Scope of — Rule making power of State Govt. under S. 15 (1) — State Government has authority to impose royalty in respect of minor minerals. AIR 1965 Pat 491 (495; 496) (Pt B) (Pr 8) (DB).

——Arts. 265 and 245 — Tax — Exemption from. See Ibid, Art. 245. AIR 1964 Raj 205 (DB).

——Art. 265 — Exemption from Sales-tax — Cancellation of — Validity. See Sales Tax — (Travancore Cochin) General Sales Tax Act (11 of 1125), S. 6 (1). AIR 1957 Trav-Co. 314 (DB).

2 (a). Tax and fee — Distinction.

●——Art. 265 — Entry 66 — Whether particular levy is tax or fee — Matters to be considered. See Municipalities — Calcutta Municipal Act (33 of 1951), S. 548. AIR 1965 SC 1107.

●——Art. 265 — Fees and tax — Nature and incidence of fee.

A levy in the nature of a fee does not cease to be of that character merely because there is an element of compulsion or coerciveness present in it, nor is it a postulate of a fee that it must have direct relation to the actual services rendered by the authority to each individual who obtains the benefit of the service. If with a view to provide a specific service, levy is imposed by law and expenses for maintaining the service are met out of the amount collected there being a reasonable relation between the levy and the expenses incurred for rendering the service, the levy would be in the nature of a fee and not in the nature of a tax. It is true that ordinarily a fee is uniform and no account is taken of the varying abilities of different recipients. But absence of uniformity is not a criterion on which alone it can be said it is of the nature of a tax. A fee being a levy in consideration of rendering service of a particular type co-relation between the expenditure incurred by the Government and the levy must undoubtedly exist, but a levy will not be regarded as a tax merely because of the absence of uniformity in its incidence or because of compulsion in the collection thereof, nor because some of the contributories do not obtain the same degree of service as others may. Sudhindra Tirtha Swamiar v. Commissioner, Hindu Religious and Charitable Endowments, Mysore. 1963 Supp (2) SCR 302 : (1963) 2 SCA 340 : AIR 1963 SC 966 (974, 975) (Pt F) (Pr 8).

●——Art. 265 — Tax and fee — Distinction — Cess levied for specific services to specified area or class of persons — Nature of — Orissa Mining Areas Development Fund Act (1952), S. 4.

It is true that between a tax and a fee there is no generic difference. Both are compulsory exactions of money by public authorities; but whereas a tax is imposed for public purposes, a fee is levied essentially for services rendered and as such there is an element of quid pro quo between the person who pays the fee and the public authority which imposes it. If specific services are rendered to a specific area or to a specific class of persons or trade or business in any local area, and as a condition precedent for the said services or in return for them, cess is levied against the said area or the said class of persons or trade or business the cess is distinguishable from a tax and is described as a fee. There is, however, an element of compulsion in the imposition of both tax and fee. Whether or not a particular cess levied by a statute amounts to a fee or tax would always be a question of fact to be determined in the circumstances of each case. AIR 1954 SC 282; AIR 1954 SC 400 and AIR 1954 SC 388, Rel. on.

When the Legislature levies a fee for rendering specific services such services may indirectly form part of services to the public in general. If the special service rendered is distinctly and primarily meant for the benefit of a specified class or area, the fact that in benefiting the specified class or area the State as a whole may ultimately and indirectly be benefited would not detract from the character of the levy as a fee. Hingirrampur Coal Co., Ltd. v. State of Orissa, (1961) 2 SCR 537 : (1961) 1 SCA 210 : AIR 1961 SC 459 (464, 465, 466) (Pt A) (Prs 9, 13).

●——Art. 265 — Tax and fee — Distinction. See Ibid, Art. 27. AIR 1954 SC 400.

●——Art. 265 — Distinction between tax and fee. See Ibid, Art. 27. AIR 1954 SC 388.

●——Art. 265 — Distinction between tax and fee. See Ibid, Art. 27. AIR 1954 SC 282.

——Art. 265 — Municipalities — U. P. Municipalities Act, 1916 — (U. P. Act II of 1916), Section 129 — Tax — Difference between tax and fee — Water-tax imposed by Municipality — Restriction on its expenditure — It is still a tax and not fee.

'Tax' means burden of charges imposed by the legislative power of a State on person or property to raise money for public purpose. The expression 'fee' connotes recompense for services rendered. There is an element of quid pro quo in the case of fee. It is not so in the case of tax.

Section 129 (b) of the U. P. Municipalities Act mentions the object of the tax. The element of quid pro quo is absent from this levy. Thus water tax is a tax and not a fee. 1961 All LJ 976: AIR 1962 All 83 (85) (Pt A) (Prs 5, 6) (DB).

——Art. 265 — Tax and fee — Distinction.

A fee is generally defined to be a charge for special service rendered to individuals by some governmental agency. A tax is in the nature of a compulsory exaction of money by a public authority for public purposes, the payment of which is enforced by law, without reference to any special advantage to be conferred upon the payers of the tax.

On the other hand, two elements are essential in order, that a payment may be regarded as a fee. In the first place it must be levied in consideration of certain services and, in the second place, the amount collected must be ear-marked to meet the expenses of rendering these services and must not go to the general revenue of the state to be spent for general public purposes. AIR 1954 SC 282 and AIR 1954 SC 388, Foll. 1958 All Cri R 113: 1958 All LJ 56: 1958 All WR (HC) 131: AIR 1958 All 360 (361) (Pt C) (Prs 11, 12).

——Art. 265, Sch. 7, List 2, Entries 49, 17 and 66 — Municipalities — Hyderabad District Municipalities Act (18 of 1956), Sections 97 (1) (b), 101 and 230 (2) — Levy of general water tax under Section 97 (1) (b) — Difference between tax and fee — Levy is tax not fee, and is valid — Entry 49 applies, not Entries 17 and 66 — Levy of general water-tax — Constitutional validity.

In order to decide whether a particular levy is tax or fee what matters is not the nomenclature given to a particular levy but the purpose for which it is made which is a real test as to the category in which the levy falls.

A general water tax provided for under Section 97 (1) (b) of the Hyderabad District Municipalities Act is designated and classified by the Act as a 'tax' on buildings and lands and as property tax and distinguished from water-fee charged under Section 230 of the said Act, which is designated and classified as fee. The quantum of general water tax is levied on the basis of rateable value of the building or land concerned and not on the basis of the quantity of water supplied and consumed. Section 101 (2) specifically provides that where the water fee payable under Section 230 (2) is not equal to the general water tax, the person concerned can pay the higher of the two. This provision in Section 101 (2) only provides for contingency arising out of the amount of general water tax being different from water fee in quantum but leaves unaffected their individual qualities by way of being property tax (general), water tax or water fee, their basis of valuation and the distinction between the two levies. Such levy under Section 97 (1) (b) is a water tax on lands and buildings and comes under Entry 49 and does not come under Entry 17 and Entry 66 of List 2, Sch. 7, Constitution of India. (1964) Andh LR 402: AIR 1965 Andh Pra 91 (92, 94, 95) (Pt A) (Prs 10, 12, 19) (DB).

——Art. 265 — Distinction between fees and taxes. See Madras Commercial Crops Markets Act (20 of 1933), Section 11. AIR 1959 Andh Pra 398 (DB).

——Art. 265 — Tax and fee — Distinction.

Though both a tax and a fee are different forms in which the taxing power of a State manifests itself, there is a clear distinction between the two and that distinction is maintained by the Constitution. A fee must be levied in consideration of certain services and that it should be set apart or specially appropriated for that purpose, whereas a tax is a common burden for public purposes. A similar levy may be imposed either as a tax or as a fee and it takes the character of a fee or a tax-depending upon the purpose for which it is levied and the manner in which the collections are appropriated. AIR 1952 Mad 764, Rel. on. ILR (1956) Andh Pra 622: 1956 Andhra LT 605: 1956 Andhra WR 616: AIR 1957 Andhra Pra 103 (106) (Pt B) (Pr 17) (DB).

——Art. 265 — Tax or fees — Criterion to decide. See Sales Tax — Assam Sales Tax Rules (1947), Rule 74. AIR 1959 Assam 216 (DB).

——Art. 265 — Tax and fee — Distinction.

The distinction between a tax and a fee is well-known namely, that the tax is levied as part of a common burden and the fee is the payment for a special benefit or privilege. ILR (1959) 1 Cal 140: 62 Cal WN 278: AIR 1958 Cal 203 (208) (Pt I) (Pr 22).

——Art. 265 — Tax and fee — Distinction.

Some of the salient features which are relevant for distinguishing a tax from a fee are:

(1) A tax is a compulsory exaction of money by public authority for public purposes enforceable by law and is not in payment for services rendered. (2) The levy of tax is for the purpose of general revenue. (3) There is no element of quid pro quo between the tax-payer and the public authority. (4) A 'fee' however, is a charge for a special service rendered. (5) The quantum of a tax generally depends upon the tax-payer's capacity to pay, but fees are generally uniform and have no relation to the paying capacity of the licence holder. (6) While there is no limit to the quantum of a tax that can be levied there is limit to the amount of a licence-fee that can be imposed. 59 Cal WN 872, Rel. on. AIR 1959 Cal 45 (48, 49) (Pt A) (Pr 11).

[Overruled on another point in AIR 1963 SC 1811.]

——Art. 265 — Tax and fee. See Sales-tax — Madras General Sales-tax Rules (1939), Rule 6 (4) (a). 1963 Ker LJ 356.

——Art. 265 — Tax and fee — Distinction. See Panchayats — C. P. and Berar Panchayats Act (1 of 1947), Section 42 (1) (c). AIR 1962 Madh Pra 177 (DB).

——Art. 265 — Fees and tax — Distinction. See Pondicherry (Administration) Act (1962), Section 4. 1965 Mad WN 328: ILR (1966) 1 Mad 93.

——Art. 265 — Fee or tax — G. O. 2044 Rev., D/- 30-6-1955 — Validity. See SalesTax — Madras General Sales Tax Rules (1939), Rule 6. AIR 1958 Mad 158.

——Art. 265 — Tax and fee — Distinction. See Municipalities — Madras District Municipalities Act (5 of 1920), Section 321 (2). AIR 1957 Orissa 285 (DB).

2 (b). Levy of fee — Validity.

——Art. 265 — Madras Commercial Crops Market Act — Levy of fees under Section 11 of Madras Commercial Crops Market Act — If dependant on establishment of market or on any services to be rendered. See Madras Commercial Crops Market Act (20 of 1933), Section 11. (1957) 2 Andhra WR 250.

——Art. 265 — Scope — Fee payable under Bengal Excise Act and Rules — Nature and Validity of. See Bengal Excise Act (5 of 1909), Section 27. AIR 1958 Cal 203.

——Art. 265 — Tax and fee — Levy of fee — When amounts to tax — Imposition of tax by exercise of Rule-making power — Permissibility.

In the absence of a quid pro quo a fee should be considered as amounting to a tax and no tax can be introduced by the exercise of a rule-making power. AIR 1961 SC 459, Rel. on. AIR 1958 Mad 158, Dist. ILR (1962) 2 Ker 437.

●——Art. 265 — Tax and fee — Distinction — Cattle sale registration fee — Imposition of, not on basis of services rendered but on basis of purchase price of animal — No co-relation between fee collected and services rendered — Imposition in substance not fee but tax — Imposition is ultra vires powers of Janapad Sabha under Section 89 (d) of C. P. and Berar Local Government Act (38 of 1948). See C. P. and Berar Local Government Act (38 of 1948), Section 89 (d). AIR 1965 Madh Pra 219 (FB).

——Art. 265 — Fees on sale of cattle is tax — Procedure for impost of fees not applicable — Levy of fees is illegal — Right to collect fees transferred — Agreement is illegal and cannot be enforced — Return of benefit — No specific plea — Effect — Benefit received under illegal impost — Party is not estopped. See Municipalities — C. P. and Berar Municipalities Act (2 of 1922), Section 66 (1). AIR 1963 Madh Pra 240 (DB).

——Art. 265 — Scope — Forest road — Restriction on use — Levy of fee —Legality. See Forest Act (1927), Section 25. AIR 1959 Madh Pra 224 (DB).

——Art. 265 — Contribution collected as fees under provision of enactment — Tests to be satisfied. See Ibid, Art. 27. AIR 1956 Mad 491 (DB).

——Art. 265 and Sch. 7, List 2, Entry 66 — Registration Act (1908), Sections 78 and 79 — Punjab Notification No. F. 12 (20)/52 — G. A. R. dated 15-12-1952 — Registration fee — Debenture trust deed — Properties of value of Rs. 2,5 crores — Registration fee demanded held was not fee but was tax — Notification was ultra vires.

Held, on facts, that the fee in the instant case, was not a fee but in its very nature was a tax and the notification was ultra vires and inoperative for the following reasons, namely: (1) that the fee is not deposited in a separate head or account but is merged in the general revenue of the State. It is not solely used for the maintenance of the registration department but goes into a consolidated fund which is utilised for various other governmental functions, (2) that there is no reasonable correlation between the fee levied and the cost of maintenance and administration of the registration department. The Act has no correlation with the capacity of an individual to pay. This is being stated pertinently because certain fees may be justified if their imposition has something to do with the capacity of the individual to pay but all fees cannot be justified on that basis. For that purpose one has to keep in view the purpose and object of the Act. In the present case the purpose and the object of the Act have no relation to the paying capacity of an individual. ILR (1964) 2 Punj 681: AIR 1964 Punj 492 (496, 497) (Pt A) (Prs 20, 23) (DB).

■ ——Art. 265 — Levy imposed under Section 31 (6) of Punjab District Boards Act by notification D/- 17-9-1954 — Validity — Levy is tax and not fee and is invalid. AIR 1957 Punj 45, Overruled. State of Punjab v. M. W. & Silk Mills, AIR 1962 Punj 267 (272, 273, 274) (Prs 7, 8, 9, 11) (FB).

——Art. 265 — Imposition of fees under Punjab Tobacco Vend Fees Act, 1954 — Imposition not in excess of that required for purposes of regulation — Act and rules thereunder not invalid. See Ibid, Art. 19 (6). AIR 1957 Punj 45 (DB).

[Overruled in AIR 1962 Punj 267 (FB).]

2 (c). Court-fee.

■ ——Arts. 265, 246 (3), 146 (3), 229 (3), Sch. 7, List 1, Entries 77 and 96 List 2, Entries 3 and 66, List 3, Entry 47 — Court Fees Act (1870), Sec. 4 and Sch II Art. 1 Cl. (e) (U. P. Amendment) — Court-fee imposed by Amendment is not a tax but a fee — Section 4 and Sch. II, Art. 1 (e) as amended by Court-fees (U. P. Amendment) Act (10 of 1959) are within legislative competence of U. P. Legislature — Tax and fee — Distinction. See Ibid, Art. 246 (3). AIR 1960 All 462 (FB).

——Art. 265 — Andhra Court Fees and Suits Valuation Act (7 of 1956), Sch. 2, Art. (3) (iii) (A) (2) (b) — Court-fees not in nature of tax. See Andhra Court-fees And Suits Valuation Act (7 of 1956), Sch. 2, Art. 3 (iii) (A) (2) (b). 1961 Andh LT 650.

——Art. 265 — Scope — Act prescribing fee on writ petitions except habeas corpus writ to High Court, validity — Fee whether tax. See Andhra Court Fees and Suits Valuation Act (7 of 1956), Sch. 2, Art. 11 (1). AIR 1957 Andhra Pra 123 (DB).

——Art. 265 — Scope — Court-fee of Rs. 100 prescribed for writ petitions — Whether void for being framed on power. See Andhra Court-fees and Suits Valuation Act (7 of 1956), Sch. 2, Art. 2 (8). AIR 1957 Andhra Pra 123 (DB).

2 (d). Licence fee.

■ ——Art. 265 — Licence fee under Sections 298 (2) and 294 of U. P. Municipalities Act on owners and drivers of rickshaws — Nature of — Imposition is not tax but fee, involving element of quid pro quo — Proof of service rendered — Mode of — Annexure filed with written statement not admissible — Major portion of fee collected spent in discharge of statutory duties — Fee fixed held disproportionate to service rendered and was ultra vires. See Municipalities — U. P. Municipalities Act (2 of 1916), Section 294. AIR 1962 All 277 (FB).

——Art. 265 — Bye-law 6, under Section 174 (2), (k), U. P. District Boards Act imposing license fee for working factory for crushing sugar-cane or flour mills, sawing machines, etc., is ultra vires — Fees and taxes, distinction. See U. P. District Boards Act (10 of 1922), Section 174 (2) (k). AIR 1954 All 675.

——Art. 265 — Licence fee, nature of — Levy of license fee for revenue purposes — Validity — Principles to determine whether licence fee is unreasonable — Levy of licence fee for running hotels — Rental basis changed to turnover basis — Levy whether unreasonable and arbitrary — Unreasonable levy of licence fee — Power of Civil Court to interfere — Unreasonable fee paid under protest — Right of licensee to refund of excess amount paid. See Municipalities — Madras District Municipalities Act (V of 1920), Section 321 (2). AIR 1961 Andh Pra 328.

——Art. 265 — Trusts Act (1882), Sections 88 and 94 — Persons bound in a fiduciary capacity — Licensees appointed under Madras Food Procurement Order — (Madras Food Procurement Order 1946) — (Contract Act (1872), Sections 69 and 70). See Trusts Act (1882), Section 88. AIR 1959 Andh Pra 352.

[Reversed in AIR 1965 SC 1773]

——Art. 265 — Tax — Licence fee for running cinema house — Whether fee or tax — Validity. See Municipalities — Calcutta Municipal Act (33 of 1951), Section 443. AIR 1959 Cal 45.

[Overruled on another point in AIR 1963 SC 1811.]

——Art. 265 — Tax or fee — Licence fee for cinema house — Imposition if taken as fee is valid but if taken as tax is invalid on ground of excessive delegation. See Municipalities — Calcutta Municipal Act (33 of 1951), Section 548 (2). AIR 1959 Cal 45.

[Overruled on another point in AIR 1963 SC 1811.]

——Art. 265 — License fee under S. 229, Calcutta Municipal Act — Tax and fee — If tax — Powers of delegation — Constitutionality of Section 229, Calcutta Act and rules thereunder. See Municipalities — Calcutta Municipal Act (33 of 1951), Section 229. AIR 1959 Cal 36.

——Art. 265 — Travancore District Municipalities Act (1116), Section 326 — Bye-law under Section 326 fixing licence fee for use of places for certain purposes, lawfully framed — Onus to show that licence fee is tax and unconstitutional is upon person who challenges it. See Municipalities — Kerala Municipalities Act (14 of 1961), Section 2, Proviso. AIR 1965 Ker 216.

——Art. 265 — License fee and tax — Distinction — 'Quid pro quo' is essential element in license fees — Such element absent — Failure to pay amount and obtain license is not offence. See Panchayats — Cochin Panchayat Act (2 of 1950), Section 56 (2). 1962 Ker LJ 1223: ILR (1962) 2 Ker 599.

——Art. 265 — Panchayats — Madras Panchayats Act (35 of 1958), Section 100 (4) — Enhancement in licence fee on face of statutory provision should be on correlation and quid pro quo basis — 'Tax' and 'fee' distinguished — 'Tax' is intended to meet expenses of Government — 'Fee' is meant to compensate Government for expenses incurred in rendering service to persons from whom fee is collected. See Panchayats — Madras Panchayats Act (35 of 1958), S. 100 (4). AIR 1965 Mad 289.

——Art. 265 — Fee and tax — Distinction — Licence fee levied under S. 49-G, Orissa Gram Panchayat Act, on owners of brick Kiln — Held, to be tax and levy declared invalid. See Panchayats — Orissa Gram Panchayat Act (15 of 1948), Section 49-G. AIR 1960 Orissa 43 (DB).

——Art. 265 — Orissa Municipal Act (23 of 1950), Sections 131 (1) (i) and 290 (7) — Different rates of fees for stocking and selling different varieties of commodities — Graded fees fixed in respect of different trades are not ultra vires — License or tax — Court has no power to substitute its own ideas as to what fees should be levied — It can however test reasonableness of the levy — Restrictions on power of licensing authority to impose conditions on grant of license stated. See Municipalities — Orissa Municipal Act (23 of 1950), S. 131 (1) (i). AIR 1955 Orissa 175.

——Art. 265 — Tax or fees — Income from licence fees imposed under Punjab Tobacco Vend Fees Act of 1954 received in treasury — Income not earmarked for administration of Act — Imposition does not cease to be fee. See Ibid, Art. 19 (6). AIR 1957 Punj 45 (DB).

——Arts. 265, 276, 19 (1) (g) and (6), Sch. 7, List 3, Item 36 — Tax and fees, distinction pointed out — Licence fees levied by Rajasthan State under Factories Act, S. 6 read with S. 112 are fees strictly so called and have authority of law—Levy is not tax on profession or trade, within meaning of Art. 276 —Effect of agreement between former Marwar State and applicant on power of Rajasthan State to levy renewal fees — Levy is not unreasonable and is not void under Art. 19 (1) (g) read with Cl. (6) — Fees are justified under Item 36, List 3 of Sch. 7 — Fees held are commensurate with expenses of Factory Inspectorate — Factories Act (1948), Sections 6 and 112 — Rules under by Rajasthan prescribing license fees — Validity.

Authorities on public finance recognize the distinction between a tax and a fee. Generally speaking a tax is an impost levied by the State for purposes of raising revenue. The person who has to pay the tax, as no option but to do so provided the tax is validly imposed, and cannot object to it on the ground that the State does not render him any particular service in lieu of the tax. A fee, on the other hand, is not generally meant to augment general revenue. It is levied for some service renderd by the State to the particular person concerned, and the levy generally takes place when the particular person asks for permission to do something for which regulations exist. As the levy is not meant to augment the general revenue of the State, it is fixed generally at such a level as to meet the expenses of the services rendered by the State in connection with the matters for which the fee is levied.

This distinction, however, is not always kept in mind rigorously in legislative enactments, and many a time what is called a fee is really a tax meant for raising revenues. Further, constitutionally speaking a fee is also a tax for the purposes of Art. 265 of the Constitution, for no fee can be levied without the authority of law.

In order to see whether the licence fees levied under the Factories Act are a tax or fees strictly so called, and if the latter whether the State of Rajasthan is entitled to make a charge according to the schedule prescribed in the rules, it has to be seen whether the law, under which the fees are charged, is not a law for raising revenue primarily. The Indian Factories Act under Section 6 of which these fees are charged, is not a law primarily for raising revenue. It is a law for regulation of factories, and incidentally it mentions levy of fees for purposes of licensing and registration and renewal of licences. Considering the Act as a whole, the intention of the framers of the Act was to levy certain fees under Sec. 6 in order to meet the expenses of supervision, which became necessary in view of the various regulatory provisions of the Act, and the Rules framed thereunder.

License fees for factories levied under sliding scale, according to horse power and men employed, by the Rajasthan State under Rajasthan Factory Rules made under Section 6 read with Section 112 of the Factories Act, whether the levy is a tax or a fee strictly so called has an authority of law behind it and the condition required by Art. 265 is satisfied.

There is a reasonable basis for classification of factories according to horse power, and the maximum number of persons employed during the year.

This levy cannot be called a tax on professions, trades, callings and employments, within the meaning of Art. 276 for the intention was not to levy any tax on the trade. If the intention was to levy a tax on the trade carried on in a factory, the horse power installed in that factory and the number of persons employed therein would have no relevance to the fixation of the tax. The levy may have amounted to a tax on the trade, if the levy was on the quantum of production. It is a tax on all factories, whatever may be their trade, for purposes of licence and registration with a view to regulating the factories. Therefore, Art. 276 (2) does not hit this levy. AIR 1949 Nag 215, Rel. on.

It was open to the State to pass a law regulating all factories, and an agreement entered into between the applicant and the former State of Marwar cannot take away the power of the State to do so. As soon as the Indian Factories Act was extended to Rajasthan, and the rules were framed thereunder prescribing fees for renewal of licence the law would apply to the applicant irrespective of any agreement that might have been entered into between him and the former State of Marwar. The applicant, therefore, cannot avoid paying renewal fees on the basis of any agreement.

The levy of this fee is not an unreasonable restriction on the trade of manufacturing cloth and yarn, and therefore, is not void under Art. 19 (1) (g) read with Cl (6) of the Constitution. The Indian Factories Act, and the rules framed thereunder, particularly the rule as to registration and taking out of licences, impose a reasonable restriction on the right of carrying on the trade of manufacturing as is necessary in the interests of the general public. The payment of fees for this purpose is also justified as State has to maintain an establishment for purposes of supervision, and the expenses of that establishment have to be met, and this is only a method of meeting those expenses.

In the case of this levy, it is obvious that it is being collected for service rendered by the State, namely, inspection of factories to see that regulations are carried out, and comes into force only when some one applies for permission to start factory or keep it running year by year.

Taking a comprehensive view and keeping in mind future years, it cannot be said with any degree of force that the income derived from the fees is not reasonably commensurate with the expenditure of the Inspectorate of Factories, and that the fee have been pitched high in order to augment general revenues. The charges in the schedule to be found in Rule 5 of the Rajasthan Factories Rules, 1951 are reasonable as fees, and are not meant for purposes of augmenting general revenues. ILR (1954) 4 Raj 982: 1955 RLW 238: AIR 1954 Raj 178 (179, 180, 181, 182) (Prs 4, 5, 7, 8, 9, 10, 12, 13, 14, 15) (DB).

——Art. 265 — Licence fee — Validity — Determination of — Question whether levy is reasonable — Cannot be gone into in writ petition. See Ibid, Art. 226. (1956) 9 Sau LR 159.

——Arts. 265 and 27 — Imposition of tax.

A legislature entitled to impose a tax either directly or by delegated legislation may impose it by whatever name it may be called. The circumstances that a particular impost is called a licence fee will not conclude the matter. If the impost is authorised the nomenclature given to it as a licence fee will not affect its validity. ILR

(1954) TC 806 : AIR 1954 Trav-C 504 (507) (Pt B) (Pr 5) (DB).

2 (e). Registration-fee.

——Arts. 265, 246 and 276 (1) — City of Nagpur Corporation Act (2 of 1950), S. 114 (2) (d) — Registration fee on heads of cattle sold in corporation area — Whether in nature of tax or fee — Distinction between tax and fee — Imposition is ultra vires and is not saved by Art. 276 (1) — (Government of India Act (1935) S. 142-A (1)). See Municipalities — City of Nagpur Corporation Act (2 of 1950), S. 114 (2) (d). AIR 1956 Nag 152.

——Art. 265 — Tax or fee — Registration fee under Ajmer Act (4 of 1956) — Not tax. See Ajmer Shops and Establishments Act (4 of 1956), S. 4. AIR 1959 Raj 257 (DB).

2 (f). Cess and fee.

——Arts. 265, Sch. 7, List 1, Entry 84, List II, Entries 23, and 66 — Orissa Mining Areas Development Fund Act (27 of 1952), S. 4 — Cess levied under, is neither a tax nor a duty of excise but is a fee. See Orissa Mining Areas Development Fund Act (27 of 1952), S. 4. AIR 1961 SC 459.

——Art. 265 and Sch. 7, List 2, Entries 45, 49 and 66 — Cess levied under S. 4, Saurashtra Local Development Fund Act — Validity— Tax or fee — (Saurtshtra Local Development Fund Act (26 of 1956), S. 4).

The cess of three annas per rupee of the assessment levied by S. 4 of the Saurashtra Local Development Fund Act on every occupant of land was not outside the competence of the Saurashtra State Legislature on the ground that it was not a tax leviable by the legislature.

In the case of Mulgirasia who has been granted an occupancy certificate under S. 39 of the Saurashtra Land Reforms Act the cess is levied on him by way of a tax upon the lands held by him and is covered by Entry 49 of List 2. The assessment itself is levied on him because of the certificate of occupancy granted to him and, therefore, it would be covered by Entry 45 of that List. As there is no question of rendering any services to the Mulgirasia who has been made liable to pay cess the cess payable by the Mulgirasia cannot be called a fee falling within Entry 66 of List 2. Nor can the cess be said to be not a tax because the proceeds thereof would go to local fund and not to the general revenue. 60 Bom LR 1191 : ILR (1958) Bom 41 : AIR 1959 Bom 43 (45, 46) (Pt B) (Pr 7) (DB).

——Art. 265 — Cess and tax — Cess levied for particular purpose but not earmarked for that purpose. See Ibid, Art. 14. AIR 1954 Madh B 196 (DB).

——Art. 265 — Coal Production Fund (Repealing) Ordinance (6 of 1947) — Cess collected thereafter — Validity. See Coal Production Fund Ordinance (39 of 1944). AIR 1958 Madh Pra 425 (DB).

——Art. 265 — Imposition of cess under S. 13, Madras Agricultural Produce Act (23 of 1959) — Levy is not unconstitutional. See Ibid, Art. 19 (1) (g). AIR 1964 Mad 458.

——Art. 265 and Art. 277 — 'Cess' — Tax or fee. The word 'cess' has a definite legal connotation indicating tax allocated to a particular thing, not forming part of the general fund. Article 277 of the Constitution refers to 'cess' as a special category of the taxes. According to its import, the word 'cess' is only tax and not a mere fee. It is, therefore, not necessary for the purpose of levy of cess that there should be quid pro quo between the service actually rendered and the amount of tax levied. 1960 Mad WN 734 : (1960) 1 Mad LJ 298 : 72 Mad LW 752 : ILR (1960) Mad 171 : AIR 1960 Mad 160 (163, 164) (Pt B) (Pr 10).

——Art. 265 — Water rate — Nature of. See Bengal Irrigation Act (3 of 1876), S. 78. AIR 1956 Pat 482.

2 (g). Toll tax.

——Art 265 — Power to impose toll tax — Basis of imposition of toll-tax — Imposition of toll-tax on railway wagon laden with goods brought in Municipal boundary — Validity. See Municipalities Act — U. P. Municipalities Act (2 of 1916), S. 128 (1) (vii). AIR 1957 All 155.

——Art. 265— Tolls — Toll imposed by Municipal Committee on vehicles entering its Municipal limits, covered by the term "toll" — "Stand-tax" already being charged for parking vehicles at stand — No double taxation — Toll being on vehicles and not on goods, no infringement of Art. 301 — Toll imposed held not unconstitutional. See Ibid, Sch. 7, List 2, Entry 59. AIR 1964 Punj 506.

——Arts. 265 — Toll levied by Government on passing and repassing of motor vehicles over Frazer Bridge near Tonk City — If tax — Art. 366 (28) Rajasthan Motor Vehicles Taxation Act (11 of 1951), S. 20.

The demand of annas 12 by way of toll by the Government for each passing and repassing of motor vehicles over the Frazer Bridge near Tonk City is an imposition, and is tax within the wide definition of Art. 366 of the Constitution. Therefore, Art. 265 is applicable. This demand of toll cannot be supported under S. 20, Rajasthan Motor Vehicles Taxation Act. 1957 Raj LW 541 : ILR (1957) 7 Raj 850 : AIR 1958 Raj 138 (139, 140) (Pt B) (Prs 5, 7, 9, 10).

3. Authority of law.

(a). Interpretation of taxing Statutes.

3. Authority of law.

●——Art. 265 — Imposition of tax by statutory authority — Presumption that it has followed prescribed procedure can be raised — Presumption not weakened by long acquiescence in imposition — Imposition of tax not in accordance with law — Effect of. See Ibid, Art. 19 (1) (f). AIR 1964 SC 370.

●——Art. 265 — Excise duty on export of charcoal — Sirohi Customs Act (1944), Ss. 14 and 15 — Customs duties to be levied on goods mentioned in Sirohi Customs Tariff at time of import or export of goods into or out of Sirohi State — Import of charcoal in State mentioned in tariff — Export of charcoal not so mentioned — Order purporting to impose excise duty on export of charcoal out of State held not validly made.

Section 14 of the Sirohi Customs Act, 1944, provides that customs shall be levied on the goods mentioned in the tariff at the rates prescribed by it. Charcoal is included in the list of commodities, the import of which is liable to pay the customs duty. Cases relating to the topic of any new taxation or alteration, or abolition of taxation were referred to the Council of State brought into existence in 1940 by the Ruler of Sirohi State. Even though it was within the competence of the Council to consider the proposal for any new taxation or alteration or abolition yet it was for the Ruler to pass final orders in the light of the decision by the Council on that point.

The Maharao of Sirohi was a minor in 1947. The constitutional position in 1948 was that the governance of the State was entrusted to the Board of Regency; and under the Board of Regency was functioning the State Council which had been constituted by the previous Ruler in 1940.

Held, on facts (1) that since the Board of Regency alone was clothed with the necessary legislative authority and unless the Board passed the resolution, it could not take effect as a law in the State of Sirohi, the approval of the Raj Mata to the resolution passed by the State Council could not cure the infirmity arising from the fact that the State Council had no legislative power, (2) that there was no substance in the contention that the Raj Mata alone without the concurrence of the Board could have validly given sanction to the passing of the impugned order and (3) that the impugned order had not been validly passed and no levy of customs duty could be legally imposed on the appellant in regard to the charcoal which it had exported out of the State of Sirohi. Firm Gulam Hussain Haji Yakoob and Sons v. State of Rajasthan, (1963) 2 SCR 255 : (1963) 2 SCA 234 : AIR 1963 SC 379 (382, 383, 384) (Pt A) (Prs 4, 5, 6, 8, 11, 12).

——Art. 265 — Scope — Panchayats — U. P. Panchayat Raj Act (26 of 1947), S. 37 — U. P. Panchayat Raj Rules (1947), Rules 220 and 221 — Validity — Power to levy taxes on income or on trade of motor vehicles.

There is no provision in the Panchayat Raj Act for imposing a tax on a trade of motor vehicles or in the nature of income-tax at the rate of one anna per rupee. The maximum tax that can be imposed on any trade or calling is Rs. 6 per annum.

Even if R. 220 or 221, U. P. Panchayat Raj Rules had permitted imposition of such tax and the prescribed authority had approved of it, that tax would be ultra vires the Panchayat Raj Act, because a tax can only be imposed under Constitution by some enactment. There has been no authority of law as is clear from S. 37 which is the only authorising section. The rules could not create any tax. 1956 All LJ 930 : 1956 All WR (HC) 861 : AIR 1957 All 282 (282, 283) (Prs 5, 6).

——Arts. 265 and 372— Continuance of law in force is subject to other provisions of Constitution — Authority of law in Art. 265 means statute law — Law which is not statute law is not saved by Art. 372. See Ibid, Art. 372. (1965) 2 Andh LT 297.

——Art. 265 — Andhra Pradesh Land Revenue (Additional Assessment and Cess Revision) Act (22 of 1962), Ss. 3 and 4 (As amended by Act 23 of 1962) — Sections assume that land revenue assessment upon which increase is levied was payable for fasli year — Legislature assumed that there is an assessment payable under authority of law for purposes of additional assessment and did not intend to levy that assessment as if it had no force prior to Act — Act should be struck down so far as lands situate in ryotwari areas are concerned on ground that there is no statute law within meaning of Art. 265 of the Constitution. See Andhra Pradesh Land Revenue (Additional Assessment and Cess Revision) Act (22 of 1962), S. 3. (1965) 2 Andh LT 297.

——Art. 265 — 'Authority of law' — Law and executive order — Gwalior Darbar Order, dated 27th July, 1946, whether law. See Ibid, Art. 14. AIR 1954 Madh B 196 (DB).

——Arts. 265 and 372 — Authority of "law" — Assessment and levy of land revenue — Legality of — (Madras Revenue Board's Standing Orders, O. 1,R. 4) —(Madras Revenue Recovery Act (2 of 1864), S. 3).

The levy, assessment and collection of land revenue are not rendered illegal by reason of Art. 265 as such levy, assessment and collection were valid prior to the Constitution and they are continued by the force of Art. 372.

As stated in the Revenue Board's Standing Orders, O. 1, R. 4, the assessment represents the commuted share of the cultivation. The assessment is by virtue of the prerogative right of the Government which under the law obtaining in this country it always possessed.

The levy of assessment on lands has been made by the sanction of the legislature and statutorily affirmed by the Appropriation Acts.

The law in force referred to in Art. 372 (1) is common law as well as statute law. In the Constitution the word 'law', has been used simply or in phrases such as 'according to law', 'by authority of law', etc. In the absence of any express definition, the context determines whether 'law' denotes only statute law or something wider. As regards Art. 265, it is clear that the reference is not to statute law alone. AIR 1953 TC 146 and AIR 1954 Raj 283, Dissented from.

Even if a different interpretation is to be given to Art. 265, the Revenue Recovery Act (II of 1864), in section 3, provides the necessary statutory authority and therefore, the levy, assessment and collection of land revenue are not illegal. 1958 Mad WN 458 : (1958) 2 Mad LJ 117 : 71 Mad LW 672 : ILR (1958) Mad 798 : AIR 1958 Mad 539 (540 to 543) (Pt A) (Prs 3, 5, 7, 9, 10, 13 to 15, 17, 18) (DB).

——Art. 265 —Doctrine of due process — Applicability.

Independent of the authority of law which Art. 265 of the Constitution requires, there is no scope for the application of the doctrine of due process as it is understood in America. 69 Mad LW 957 : (1956) 2 Mad LJ 518 : (1957) 31 ITR 107 : (1957) 27 Com Cas 15 : ILR (1957) Mad 251 : AIR 1957 Mad 133 (142) (Pt C) (Pr 58) (DB).

——Art. 265 — River bed owned by State — Right of public to pass over it acquired by immemorial usage — Right not affected by State ownership— Toll tax imposed without statutory authority — Held, not valid. See Tolls Act (1851), S. 2. AIR 1961 Pat 442 (DB).

——Art. 265 — Authority of law — Levy of Kharota lag in Marwar.

The authority of law envisaged in Art. 265 is authority of statute law, and only such taxes can be realized as are authorised by such law.

There is no authority of law whatsoever either of the former State of Marwar or of the State of Rajasthan for the levy of kharota lag which is customary tax and being an unauthorised levy it cannot be realised. ILR (1954) 4 Raj 846 : 1955 Raj LW 203 : AIR 1954 Raj 283 (284) (Pt A) (Pr 5).

——Art. 265 — Collection of municipal tax without authority of law (Municipalities — Rajasthan Town Municipalities Act (23 of 1951), S. 59).

The order of the former Ruler of Jodhpur contained in Resolution No. 14 of 1948 purports to be and is in reality and substance an executive act and not a legislative measure. This Resolution approving the levy of the Municipal taxes in the town of Bhinmal is not law and cannot be accorded the status of law within the meaning of Art. 265 of the Constitution. AIR 1951 SC 467, Ref.; (1946) MLR 36; AIR 1953 Raj 73; AIR 1953 Pepsu 1, Disting.

Further, before the schedule of taxes sanctioned under the Resolution of 1948 can receive legal recognition or operation, the limits of the Bhinmal Municipality must have been defined by or under competent authority. As this is not done, the levy or collection of taxes mentioned in the schedule is impossible, and therefore, the realisation of the taxes is illegal. ILR (1953) 3 Raj 664 : 1954 Raj LW 23 : AIR 1954 Raj 162 (164, 165) (Pt A) (Prs 8, 9, 11) (DB).

——Art. 265 — Existence of tax before Constitution.

From Art. 265, it is clear that if there was any tax in existence before the Constitution came into force, its continued collection depends upon the authoriy showing that it was levied by authority of some law. ILR (1953) 3 Raj 52 : 1953 Raj LW 335 : AIR 1953 Raj 180 (181) (Pt A) (Pr 3) (DB).

3 (a). Interpretation of taxing Statutes.

——Arts. 265, 226 — Taxing statutes — Point of hardship —Consideration of.

The point whether a particular tax is burdensome and whether it would cause hardship to the tax-payer cannot be decided by Court, if the taxing Statute is constitutional and its legality cannot be questioned. 1962 1 Andh WR 56 : AIR 1962 Andh Pra 415 (416) (Pt B) (Pr 15) (DB).

——Art. 265 — Taxing statute — Statement as to public purpose is not necessary.

There is nothing in law that in a taxing statute a public purpose has to be stated. All that is required is what is stated in Art. 265 of the Constitution of India. So no statements of any public purpose in a fiscal Statute is necessary. 65 Pun LR 197 : ILR (1963) 1 Punj 477 : AIR 1963 Punj 354 (358) (Pt H) (Pr 21) (DB).

4. Taxation power and fundamental rights.

(a) Taxation laws not subject to Art. 31.

(b) "Law" means valid law.

(c) Applicability of Art. 19.

(d) Freedom of inter-State trade.

4. Taxation power and fundamental rights.

——Art. 265, Part III (Gen.) — Taxing statute can be challenged on ground that it violates fundamental rights.

Since a taxing statute is a law, it is a law for the purpose of Art. 13 and so, the validity of the legislation imposing a tax can be challenged not only on the ground of lack or absence of legislative competence, but also on the ground that the impugned legislation violates the fundamental rights guaranteed by Part III of the Constitution. AIR 1952 SC 115, AIR 1953 SC 252, AIR 1955 SC 661, AIR 1956 SC 676 and AIR 1962 SC 123, Foll.; Observations to the contrary in: AIR 1951 SC 97 and AIR 1955 SC 3, held no longer good law. Raja Jagannath Baksh Singh v. State of Uttar Pradesh. (1963) 1 SCR 220 : 1962 All WR (HC) 649 : (1962) 2 SCA 679 : (1962) 46 ITR 169 : 1962 All LJ 799 : AIR 1962 SC 1563 (1569, 1570) (Pt F) (Pr 5).

——Arts. 265, 276 (2), 286 and Part III —Tax laws — Principles for determining its validity — Scope of Art. 265 — Tax laws are not outside Part III of Constitution.

Article 265 merely enacts that all taxation—the imposition, levy and collection shall be by law; the Article beyond excluding purely executive action does not by itself lay down any criterion for determining the validity of such a law to justify any contention that the criteria laid down exclude others to be found elsewhere in the Constitution for laws in general. If by reason of Art. 265 every tax has to be imposed by "law" it would appear to follow that it could only be imposed by a law which is valid by conformity to the criteria laid down in the relevant Articles of the Constitution. These are that the law should be (1) within the legislative competence of the legislature being covered by the legislative entries in Schedule 7 of the Constitution; (2) the law should not be prohibited by any particular provision of the Constitution such as for example, Arts. 276 (2), 286 etc, and (3) the law or the relevant portion thereof should not be invalid under Art. 13 for repugnancy to those freedoms which are guaranteed by Part III of the Constitution which are relevant to the subject-matter of the law. It is true that a tax law need not satisfy the tests of Art. 31 (2) but it does not follow that every other Article of Part III is inapplicable. Chhotabhai Jethabhai Patel and Co. v. Union of India, 1962 Supp (2) SCR 1 : (1962) 2 SCA 522 : AIR 1962 SC 1006 (1019 to 1021) (Pt C) (Prs 32, 33, 36, 37, 38).

——Art. 265 — Taxation power of State and fundamental rights. See Ibid, Art. 19. AIR 1958 SC 296.

——Art. 265— Taxing measure — Construction of — Question of reasonableness.

In construing a taxing measure, for determining its constitutional validity, the question of reasonableness cannot enter a judicial mind. The only consideration which is germane is whether the legislation challenged is permitted by the Constitution. The reasonableness or otherwise of legislative measure is a matter of legislative policy and it is not for the Courts to adjudicate upon. ILR (1959) Andh Pra 34 : (1959) 1 Andh WR 347 : 1959 Andh IT 419 : AIR 1959 Andh Pra 461 (465) (Pt C) (Pr 18) (DB).

——Art. 265 — Taxation powers of State and fundamental rights. See Ibid, Art. 19 (1) (g). AIR 1956 Assam 177 (DB).

[Reversed on another poin in AIR 1962 SC 107.]

——Arts. 265 and 14 — Classification while levying tax.

So far as taxation is concerned, classification is always permissible. Not only does the Constitution permit taxation being related to the capacity to pay, but it is obvious that it is always desirable that it should be so related. Hence, the contention that taxes levied on a cinema show are ultra vires, on the ground that they offend against Art. 14 of the Constitution cannot be accepted. 56 Bom LR 45 : ILR (1954) Bom 647 : AIR 1954 Bom 261 (265) (Pt C) (Pr 14) (DB).

——Art. 265 — Taxation laws and fundamental rights. See Municipalities — Calcutta Municipal Act (33 of 1951), S. 548 (2). AIR 1959 Cal 45.

——Art. 265 — Power of taxation and fundamental rights. See Ibid, Art. 19 (1) (g). AIR 1958 Mad 158 (DB).

4 (a). Taxation laws not subject to Art. 31.

——Art. 265 — Bombay Agricultural Produce Markets Act (XXII of 1939), S. 29-B — Validity

— S. 29-B in so far as it prevents refund of licence fee collected before Ordinance I of 1961 came into force is not bad by reason of Art. 31. See Bombay Agricultural Produce Markets Act (22 of 1939), S. 29-B. AIR 1962 SC 1517.

●——Art. 265 — Deprivation of property for recovery of tax — Art. 31 (1) does not apply —No remedy under Art. 32. See Ibid, Art. 31 (1). AIR 1955 SC 3.

●——Arts. 265, 31 (1), 32 — Imposition of taxes. See Ibid, Art. 31. AIR 1951 SC 97.

4 (b). "Law" means valid law.

●——Art. 265 — Law — Meaning of — Means valid law. See Municipalities — C P. Municipalities Act (2 of 1922), S. 48. (1965) 2 SCJ 741 : (1965) 2 ITJ 657 : AIR 1966 SC 249.

——Art. 265 — 'Law' — Meaning of.

Article 265 embodies the principles of 'no taxation without representation'. "The law" under this Article is statute law, i.e, an Act of the Legislature. A law authorising the levy of a tax must be made by the legislature and cannot be made by the executive action. (1922) 91 LJKB 897, Rel. on.

The order of His Highness the Raj Pramukh, dated 14th July 1950, is only an executive order and not 'law' under Art. 265. That order cannot justify the impost of a commission on sales by the petitioner. The order imposing a commission of 20 per cent. on the sales made by the petitioner in excess of the quota is therefore uitra vires and void. ILR (1952) Trav -Co. 960: AIR 1953 Trav- Co. 146 (155, 156, 157) (Pt F) (Prs 26, 33) (DB).

4 (c). Applicability of Art. 19.

●——Art. 265 — Income-tax Act (1922), S. 16 (3) (a) (i) and (ii) — Validity — Test of reasonableness of restriction — S. 16 (3) amounts to reasonable restriction on rights under Art. 19 (1) (f) and 19 (g). See Income-tax Act (1922), S. 16 (3) (a) (i). AIR 1962 SC 123.

——Arts. 265, 19 — Taxing measure — Art. 265, and not Art. 19 applies — (Madras Sales of Motor Spirit Taxation Act (6 of 1939). See Ibid, Art. 19. AIR 1960 Andh Pra 246 (DB).

——Arts. 265, 19(1) (f), 31 — Validity of taxing statute cannot be tested under Art. 19 — Taxing power of State, scope of, indicated — Section 46 (5A) of Income-tax Act results in total deprivation of property — Article 19 does not apply — (Income-tax Act (1922), S. 46 (5A)). See Ibid, Art. 19 (1) (f). AIR 1960 Assam 76 (DB).

——Arts. 265 and 19 (1) (g) — Reasonable restrictions — Taxation — Oppressiveness — Reasonable safeguards. See Ibid, Art. 19 (1) (g). AIR 1956 Cal 596.

——Art. 265 — Madras Agricultural Income-tax Act — Validity — Does not contravene Art. 19 (1) (f). See Ibid, Art. 19 (1) (f). AIR 1964 Mad 556 (DB).

4 (d). Freedom of inter-State trade.

●——Arts. 265, 301, 304 (b), 255 — Freedom of trade — Scope and effect of Part XIII — Tax laws not excluded from operation of Part XIII — Tax laws when amount to restrictions on freedom of trade — Test — Assam Taxation (on Goods Carried by Roads or on Inland Waterways) Act (13 of 1954) — Validity — State tax law in effect placing restrictions on movement of goods and traffic in State Act violates freedom of trade and is void — AIR 1955 Assam 249 (SB), Reversed. See Ibid, Art. 301. AIR 1961 SC 232.

——Art. 265 — Sales Tax Continuance Order, 1950 — Order cannot authorise levy of tax on inter-State sales after repeal of provision. See Sales Tax — Orissa Sales Tax Act (14 of 1947), S. 2 (g), Proviso 2. ILR (1961) Cut 493.

5. Taxation and equality before law.

●——Art. 265 — Assam Taxation (on Goods carried by Road or on Inland Waterways) Act (X of 1961), S. 3 — Tax under, imposed only on tea and jute — Tax not unconstitutional. See Assam Taxation (on Goods carried by Road or Inland Waterways) Act (10 of 1961), S. 3. AIR 1964 SC 925.

●——Arts. 265, 13 (2) and 14 — Scope and effect of — Taxing statute — Attack on ground of violation of Art. 14 — Arts. 13 and 14.

Per Majority:— Art. 265 imposes a limitation on the taxing power of the State in so far as it provides that the State shall not levy or collect a tax, except by authority of law. The tax proposed to be levied must be within the legislative competence of the Legislature imposing a tax and authorising the collection thereof and, secondly the tax must be subject to the conditions laid down in Art. 13 of the Constitution.

A taxing statute is not wholly immune from attack on the ground that it infringes the equality clause in Article 14. If the legislature has classified persons or properties into different categories which are subjected to different rates of taxation with reference to income or property such a classification would not be open to the attack of inequality on the ground that the total burden resulting from such a classification is unequal. Similarly, different kinds of property may be subjected to different rates of taxation, but so long as there is a rational basis for the classification, Art. 14 will not be in the way of such classification resulting in unequal burdens on different classes of properties. But if the same class of property similarly situated is subjected to an incidence of taxation which results in inequality, the law may be struck down as creating an inequality amongst holders of the same kind of property. Kunnathat Thathunni Moopil Nair, etc. v. State of Kerala, (1961) 3 SCR 77: (1961) 2 SCA 125: (1961) 2 SCJ 269: 1961 Ker LT (SC) 11: 1961 Ker LJ 143: AIR 1961 SC 552 (557, 558) (Pt A) (Pr 7).

——Art. 265 — Employees' State Insurance Act (1948), Ss. 1 (3), 73-A —Validity — Power of Central Government to bring parts of the Act into force in different areas on different dates — No violation of Art. 14 — Levy of special contribution under S. 73-A before benefit sections are brought into force — Not an unreasonable restriction on right of employers — No violation of Art. 19. See Ibid, Art. 14. AIR 1962 Assam 120 (DB).

6. Retrospective taxing law.

●——Art. 265 — Assam Taxation (on Goods carried by Road or on Inland Waterways) Act (X of 1961), Ss. 3, 1 (3) — Acts enacted under Art. 304 (b) with retrospective effect — Validity. See Assam Taxation (on Goods Carried by Road or on Inland Waterways) Act (10 of 1961), S. 3. AIR 1964 SC 925.

●——Arts. 265 and 245 — Constitutional limitations — Retrospective validation taxing laws — Constitutionality — State Act imposing cess, declared void ab initio by Supreme Court on ground of incompetency of State Legislature — Power of Parliament to enact retrospective validation taxing laws — Parliament passing Act merely declaring action taken under State law as valid, without furnishing authority of law required for it — Act invalid on ground of incompetency — U. P. Sugarcane Cess (Validation) Act (Central Act 4 of 1961) — Unconstitutional. See Ibid, Art. 245. AIR 1965 All 420 (FB).

——Art. 265 — Taxing statutes and rules — Retrospective operation. See Interpretation of Statutes. AIR 1958 Mad 249.

7. Double taxation.

——Art. 265 — Double taxation.

The burden of several kinds of taxes and levies on a particular commodity may be heavy but that does not mean that they are subjected to double taxation. Where the joint operation of different statutes result in liability to two different taxes it would not amount to double taxation. (1958) 2 An WR 100: (1958) 9 STC 723: AIR 1958 Andh Pra 558 (565) (Pt E) (Pr 7) (DB).

——Art. 265 — Double taxation not prohibited.

There is nothing in the Constitution which prevents double taxation being levied. Instances are not wanting in this country in which taxes are levied twice upon the same thing, one for the benefit of the State Government and in the second instance for the benefit of the Local Self-Government bodies, for example, the District Local Board or the Municipality. AIR 1945 Nag 171, Rel. on. 56 Bom LR 45: ILR (1954) Bom 647: AIR 1954 Bom 261 (265) (Pt B) (Pr 13) (DB).

——Art. 265 — Double taxation — Charge and levy of property tax by State Government under S. 3, Punjab Act (17 of 1940) and by Municipality under S. 61 (1) (a) of Punjab Act (III of 1911) — Not unconstitutional as offending Art. 265.

The charge and levy of property tax once by the State Government under S. 3 of the Punjab Urban Immovable Property Tax Act (XVII of 1940) and second time by the Local authority under S. 61 (1) (a) of the Punjab Municipal Act (III of 1911) is not unconstitutional on ground that it is not permitted by law. Art. 265 of the Constituton merely says that 'no tax shall be levied or collected except by authority of law' and in this article there is no limitation that tax cannot be charged twice on the same property. In fact and in substance it is one tax on building and lands which is divided between the local authority and the State Government, though this is brought about not by one statute but by two separate statutes. AIR 1954 Bom 261, Rel. on. 65 Pun LR 197: ILR (1963) 1 Punj 477: AIR 1963 Punj 354 (357, 358) (Pt D) (Pr 16) (DB).

——Art. 265 — Municipalities — Punjab Municipal Act (III of 1911), S. 61 (1) (a) — Property already taxed under Punjab Urban Immovable Property Tax Act (17 of 1940) — Same property taxed again under S. 61 (1) (a) — There is no invalidity. AIR 1955 NUC (Punj) 3446.

8. Remedies for illegal taxation.

●——Art. 265 — Acquiescence in illegal tax — Effect.

Acquiescence in all illegal tax for a long time is not a ground for denying the petitioners relief. Amalgamated Coalfields Ltd. v. Janapada Sabha, Chhindwara. (1962) 1 SCJ 445: (1962) 1 SCR 1: AIR 1961 SC 964 (965) (Pt B) (Pr 2).

——Art. 265 — Illegal imposition of tax — Jurisdiction of Civil Court to challenge. See Civil P. C. (1908), S. 9. AIR 1960 Madh Pra 223 (DB).

——Art. 265 — Remedies for illegal taxation — Suit for refund — Assessment of sales tax on turnover of works contract made under provision of Madras General Sales Tax Act 9 of 1939 subsequently held to be ultra vires — Suit for refund held barred by S. 18-A Madras General Sales Tax Act (9 of 1939). (1961) 12 STC 138: (1961) 1 Mad LJ 163: AIR 1961 Mad 322 (323) (Pt B) (Pr 6) (DB).

——Art. 265 — Scope — Assessing officer acting outside jurisdiction in imposing tax — Authority seeking to collect such tax — Citizen's remedy See Ibid, Art. 226. AIR 1959 Mad 382 (DB).

——Arts. 265 and 226 — Relief against illegal taxation — Assessment of double sales tax on same transaction. See Ibid, Art. 226. AIR 1955 Mad 363.

——Arts. 265, 286 and 226 —Constitutional remedies for illegal taxation. See Ibid, Art. 226. AIR 1956 Punj 177 (DB).

——Arts. 265 and 226 — Delay in making application against illegal levy of tax. See Ibid, Art. 226. AIR 1953 Raj 180 (DB).

——Arts. 265 and 226 — Who can apply against illegal levy of tax. See Ibid, Art. 226. AIR 1953 Raj 180 (DB).

——Arts. 265 and 226 — Another remedy open against illegal levy of tax. See Ibid, Art. 226. AIR 1953 Raj 180 (DB).

——Art. 265 — Remedy for illegal levy or collection of tax. See Ibid, Art. 226. AIR 1953 Trav-Co 146.

9. "Levied or collected."

■——Art. 265 — Scope — Procedure for imposing liability to pay tax not strictly followed — Liability to pay tax is not according to law. Municipal Council, Khurai v. Kamal Kumar. 1965 MPLJ 233: 1965 Jab LJ 237: 1965 Mah LJ 225: (1965) 1 SCWR 632: AIR 1965 SC 1321 (1324, 1325) (Pt B) (Pr 9).

●——Art. 265 — Power to levy tax — Includes all subsidiary powers. See Ibid, Art. 246. AIR 1964 SC 925.

——Arts. 265 and 226 — Property attached for default in payment of certain taxes, takabi and other dues — Property auctioned by Tehsildar before receipt of stay order issued by Board of Revenue— Held, realisation and recovery of tax having been stayed, any recovery made after stay order would not be in accordance with law and would contravene provisions of Art. 265 — Hence it would be fit case for the exercise of writ jurisdiction. AIR 1953 Raj 180, Rel. on. 1965 All LJ 277.

——Art. 265 — Article expressly prohibits collection of tax without authority of law. See Excess Profits Tax Act (1949), S. 21. (1965) 1 ITJ 192: ILR (1965) 1 All 193: (1965) 58 ITR 777.

——Art. 265 — Rectification of assessment made after repeal of Income-tax Act (1922) — S. 297 (2) of new Act of 1961 saves proceedings for assessment year for which returns filed prior to new enactment — Rectification is valid — Art. 265 of Constitution also did not bar levy of additional tax. See Income-tax Act (1922), S. 35. (1964) 2 ITJ 364 (All).

——Art. 265 — Scope — State Government passing order imposing tax — Prescribed procedure under Ss. 131 to 135, U. P. Municipalities Act not followed — Tax is rendered illegal. 1959 All LJ 501.

——Art. 265 — Panchayats — U. P. Panchayat Raj Act, Rules under R. 221 (2) — Levy of tax on income — Validity. See Panchayats — U. P. Panchayat Raj Act (26 of 1947), S. 110 (19). 1957 All LJ 903.

——Arts. 265, 300 and 31 (1) — Illegal seizure of goods in execution of certificate under S. 46 (2), Income-tax Act — It is wrongful deprivation of property — Action of attaching Officer not empowered by law within meaning of expression "levy and collection" in Art. 265 — Immunity of Government for acts of subordinates in exercise of sovereign powers is not a dogma and has to be considered on facts of each case.

Where in execution of a certificate under S. 46 (2) Income tax Act, goods of the assessee in possession of a pledgee are attached by Revenue Officer under Ss. 150 and 154 of the Bombay Land Revenue Code, the Revenue Officer acts in excess of his authority and the attachment is illegal and not merely irregular.

When the goods are damaged while in the custody of the Government and the pledgee files a suit against the revenue officers in their official as well as private capacities, for recovery of amount due from the pledgor which he could not recover due to illegal action of the officers, the gravamen of the charge is illegal action of the defendants and not negligence by them. Cause of action is not supplied by decay caused to goods when in Government custody but upon illegal seizure. In such a case question of special authorisation to Revenue Officer or subsequent ratification by higher officers would not arise, because the revenue officers had acted for the benefit of Government.

When the conduct of Government servants in the discharge of governmental functions was questionable, the Government could not be held liable unless it was established that those acts had been done under the orders of the Government or had been subsequently adopted and ratified by it. The question of ratification arises only when Government is sought to be held liable for tort committed by its servants in the discharge of sovereign functions. If the act is ratified, the Government becomes liable notwithstanding that the act was in the discharge of sovereign functions. AIR 1962 All 233, Ref. AIR 1915 Mad 434 and AIR 1944 FC 41, Distinguished.

The action taken by the Revenue Officer in seizing the goods was not empowered by law within the meaning of the expression "levy and collection" in Art. 265. It is on that ground also that the act was illegal. At the same time, in view of the fact that the Revenue Officer was exercising delegated authority, he cannot be taken to be doing an act in the discharge of his statutory duties. ILR 28 Bom 314 and AIR 1950 All 206 and AIR 1956 All 75 and AIR 1961 Madh Pra 316, Distinguished.

The acts of levying of a tax and its recovery are acts done in the exercise of sovereign functions. At the same time, the provisions of Art. 265 of the Constitution of India which lays down that no tax shall be levied or collected except by authority of law or the provisions of Art. 31 (1) which lays down that no person shall be deprived of his property save by the authority of law cannot be ignored. But in the present case, the Revenue Officer has proceeded to levy and recover the tax without any authority and, in fact, beyond the authority. The immunity of the State in respect of acts done by its subordinates in the exercise of sovereign powers cannot be considered as a dogma or a mantra and will have to be considered on the facts of each case. The act is purported to be done under the authority of Sections 150 and 154 of the Land Revenue Code, but it is found that the act is not only illegal but unconstitutional. ILR 5 Mad 273, Relied on; (Suit decreed against the Union of India and the Collector, Mamlatdar and the Circle Officer in their official capacity and not in their private capacity). (1965) 67 Bom LR 824: AIR 1966 Bom 134 (140, 141, 142, 143, 145) (Pt A)(Prs 8, 9, 10, 14).

——Art. 265 — Court must look to Section 19 of Bombay Abkari Act to determine power of Government to enforce excise duty — Section 15-A is not charging section. See Bombay Abkari Act (5 of 1878), Section 19. AIR 1955 NUC (Bom) 1788.

——Art. 265 — Certiorari — Invalid order of assessment — Infirmities — Failure of tax payer to point out infirmities to Revenue Authorities in time — No ground to refuse writ. See Ibid, Art. 226. (1962) 66 Cal WN 474.

——Arts. 265 and 226 — Error on face of record — Assessment of tax made on wrong basis — Writ application will lie. See Ibid, Art. 226. AIR 1961 Cal 649.

——Art. 265 —Assessment of income-tax on disclosed income—Validity of the system—(Income-tax Act (1922), Section 34).

Art. 265 of the Constitution lays down that no tax is to be levied or collected except by authority of law. That of course is a fundamental thing which cannot be allowed to be infringed but the question is where what has been done in levying the income-tax on disclosed income is contrary to law and whether any attempt is being made to levy or collect a tax except by authority of law.

It is settled that the liability to pay income-tax depends upon the charging sections and not upon those parts of the Income-tax Act which relate to the machinery of realising the tax and so far as the machinery portion is concerned it is open to the subject to waive the same. AIR 1947 FC 32, Rel. on.

Since the citizen has an existing liability to pay taxes there seems to be no law preventing him from paying taxes on an agreed basis, and for this purpose the existence of an assessment order is not essential. (1930) 16 Tax Cas 1, Rel. on.

There is therefore, nothing illegal in the proceedings introduced by the Government of India variously known as 'Concessional Scheme' or 'Disclosure Proceeding.' The difficulties inherent in following concealed income in this country are well known. If at any given point of time the authorities tempt the assessee with concessions and induce him to come out with a voluntary disclosure of concealed income and agree to pay the proper taxes upon them, such proceedings cannot be said to be contrary to law or that they offend any provision of law. AIR 1954 Cal 271 (274, 275, 276) (Pt A) (Prs 14, 16, 19, 20).

——Arts. 265 and 245 — T. C. Vehicles Taxation Act (14 of 1950), Section 18 (1) — Notification under, enhancing maxima specified in Schs. I and II — Validity — Delegation of legislative functions — Principles — Notification held ultra vires. See T. C. Vehicles Taxation Act (14 of 1950), Section 18 (1). AIR 1960 Ker 58.

——Arts. 265 and 277 — "Levy" and "imposition" — Distinction.

Per Dixit J. :— There is a distinction between "imposition" and "the levy", i.e., "assessment and collection" of a tax. The imposition of a tax is by an Act of the competent Legislature and is purely a legislative act. The levy and the collection of a tax is a process subsequent to the imposition of the tax by the statute. A tax cannot be levied or collected before it is actually imposed by an Act of the competent Legislature. This is clear from Art. 265. Article 277, no-where speaks of the imposition of a tax. The Article assumes the existence immediately before the commencement of the Constitution of a valid law imposing a tax and permits the Government of the State to assess the persons liable to pay the tax and collect it from them, after the coming into force of the Constitution. It is the tax that was actually being levied immediately before the commencement of the Constitution that is saved by Art. 277 and it makes no difference whether the tax levied was in the case of a tax, one imposed on income or profits accruing in a period immediately before the commencement of the Constitution or a period anterior to it. AIR 1953 Madh Bha 20 (25) (Pt F) (Pr 19) (DB).

——Art. 265 — Coal Production Fund Ordinance (39 of 1944) — Repeal by Coal Production Fund (Repealing) Ordinance (6 of 1947) — Fund abolished — Cess collected thereafter—Validity. See Coal Production Fund Ordinance (39 of 1944), Section 5. AIR 1958 Madh Pra 425.

[Reversed on another point in AIR 1962 SC 1281.]

——Arts. 265, 245 — Delegation of powers by legislature to executive — Levy of tax and fixation of rate of tax is legislative function — Travancore-Cochin Electricity Duty Act (4 of 1950), Sections 3 (1) and (2), 9 (2) (a) and (b) — Constitutional validity of.

The Legislature is certainly entitled to delegate its power to the executive and its officers but this it can do only subject to certain conditions, limitations and restrictions. Under the Constitution it cannot totally abdicate its legislative functions in favour of the Executive. The Indian Constitution is based on separation of powers as between the Judiciary, the Legislature and the Executive. Each is entrusted with specific powers for their exclusive exercise. None of them is free to abdicate its powers in favour of the others. But it cannot be said that the Legislature cannot delegate its powers at all. When the policy is indicated and the principles for carrying it out are laid down by the legislature, the Executive may be left to fill up the details, fashion and bring into existence the machinery essential to effectuate the purpose of the Legislation. Discretion may be properly left to the Executive to achieve this purpose, to make rules. The discretion so left, should however, be such as is guided, controlled and limited by the legislature.

To levy a tax is a matter of policy and peculiarly a legislative function. So too is the fixation of the rate or quantum of tax to be levied and the subject of taxation. The quantum or rate of tax is necessarily connected with the levy of tax. It is the function of the Legislature to legislate in respect of both of them and neither of them can be left to the Executive for their determination. But once the Legislature provides for levy of tax and itself prescribes the rate or quantum of tax or the limits within which the quantum of tax or duty may vary in the light of the principles indicated by the Legislature, no objection can be taken to the Legislature leaving it to the executive, the manner of levy and collection, and the machinery for collection by making suitable rules therefor. Consequently sub-ss. (1) and (2) of S. 3 and S. 9 (a) and (b) of Travancore-Cochin Electricity Duty Act constitute excessive delegation of legislative power, in so far as they left to the State Government the determination of the quantum or the rate of duty and the limit of exemption from duty without indicating any policy, limit or principle and were, therefore, unconstitutional. (1965) 2 Mad LJ 254: 78 Mad LW 662: ILR (1966) 1 Mad 404: AIR 1966 Mad 220 (222, 223) (Pt A) (Prs 5, 6, 8).

——Arts. 265 and 226 — Finality of assessment whether conclusive of legality of assessment — Assessing officer acting outside his jurisdiction in imposing tax — Authority seeking to collect such tax — Citizen whether can call in aid Art. 265 and seek assistance of High Court — (Sales Tax — Madras General Sales Tax Act (9 of 1939), Section 3). See Ibid, Art. 226. AIR 1959 Mad 382 (DB).

——Arts. 265 and 20 — Conviction under Section 15 (b), Madras General Sales Tax Act — Amendment providing a new mode of recovery of sales-tax "as if it were a fine" does not offend the rule against ex post facto laws in Art. 20. See Ibid, Art. 20. 1953 Cri LJ 625: AIR 1953 Mad 337.

——Arts. 265 and 245 —Power of Legislature to impose tax —Delegation of, to Municipal Corporation — Corporation cannot exceed delegated power. See Ibid, Art. 245. AIR 1956 Nag 152 (DB).

——Art. 265 — Finance Act (1951), Section 7 (2) — Though levy of duty is valid, it must be collected by authority of law and in manner prescribed by rules — No rules prescribed for collection of duty on excisable goods which have already been removed from warehouse — Duty cannot be collected — (Central Excises and Salt Act (1944), Section 3 (1), Rules under Section 37, Rules 10 and 160). See Finance Act (1951), Section 7 (2). AIR 1952 Nag 139 (DB).

——Arts. 265, 162, 346 (3) and Sch. 7, List 2, Entry 51 — Bihar and Orissa Excise Act (2 of 1915) (as adapted), Sections 27 and 28 — Notification No. 14223-IIJ/Ex. 1/61 R. D./-1-4-1961 levying increased duty on imported liquor — Not unconstitutional. See Ibid, Art. 162. (1963) 29 Cut LT 76.

——Art. 265 — Scope — Appointment of Tahsildar to exercise powers of Panchayat pending re-election — Validity — Recovery of tax by Tahsildar — Legality and refund of. See Panchayats — Orissa Gram Panchayat Act (15 of 1948) (as Amended in 1951), Section 98 (1) (f). AIR 1957 Orissa 258 (DB).

——Art. 265 — Recovery of property tax as arrears of land revenue under Punjab Land Revenue Act — Not repugnant to provisions of Constitution. See Punjab Urban Immovable Property Tax Act (17 of 1940). AIR 1963 Punj 354 (DB).

——Art. 265 — Punjab Gram Panchayat Act (4 of 1953), Section 82 (1) (d) — Tax on truck owners using road within Panchayat's jurisdiction — Gram Panchayat is competent to levy tax — Levy of tax not hit by Arts. 276, 265 or 14 of the Constitution. See Panchayat — Punjab Gram Panchayat Act (4 of 1953), Section 82 (1) (d). ILR (1963) 1 Pun 243.

——Art. 265 — Finance Act (1950), Section 13 (1) — Income-tax Act (1922), Section 23 — "Levy, assessment and collection" — Meaning of.

To "levy a tax", means to impose or assess or to impose, or collect under the authority of law. It is a unilateral act of superior legislative power to declare the subjects and rates of taxation and to authorise the Collector to proceed to collect the tax. "Assessment" is the official determination of liability of a person to pay a particular tax. "Collection" is the power to gather in money for taxes by enforced payment if necessary. The levy of taxes is generally a legislative function; assessment is a quasi-judicial function and collection an executive function. These three expressions "levy", "assessment" and "collection' embrace in their broad sweep all the proceedings which can possibly be imagined for raising money by the exercise of the power of taxation. 58 Punj LR 499: (1956) 30 ITR 500: ILR (1957) Punj 577: AIR 1957 Punj 5 (10) (Pt F) (Pr 15) (DB).

——Art. 265 — Rajasthan Panchayat Act (21 of 1953), Section 64 (1) — Rajasthan Panchayat (General) Rules (1954), Rule 24 — Imposition of tax — Previous sanction of State Government — Proclamation should mention this fact. See Panchayats — Rajasthan Panchayat Act (21 of 1953), S. 64 (1). AIR 1959 Raj 73.

——Art. 265 — Talwarbandi dues — Recovery — Legality — (Rajasthan Jagir Decisions and Proceedings (Validation) Act (18 of 1955), S. 3).

Talwarbandi is a sort of a due which is connected with the recognition of the succession of a Jagirdar to a jagir. This was required to be paid by a jagirdar to the ruler at the time of his succession to the jagir held by his ancestor.

So far as the succession of Jagirdar to Jagir was concerned the right to recognise it was vested exclusively in the Raj Pramukh and this right was to be exercised according to law and custom. In other words customary dues, if any, connected with the recognition of succession were clearly preserved.

Thus the order of the Rajpramukh recognising the succession of the petitioner on payment of Talwarbandi or Ked Nazarana was an order which had the authority of law (which included custom) behind it and could not be characterised as lacking the essential foundation by virtue of the Rajasthan Jagir Decisions Proceedings Validation Act, and consequently this levy could not be struck down under Art. 265 of the Constitution. AIR 1955 SC 50, Foll. ILR (1957) 7 Raj 601: AIR 1957 Raj 151 (152, 153) (Pt A) (Prs 3, 4, 5, 6) (DB).

10. Taxation — Exemption from.

●——Arts. 265 and 285 (1) — Immunity of property and income of States from Union taxation — Scope and extent of levy of customs duties (export or import) and excise duties by Union on property of State — Levy not covered by exemption and can be validly imposed. See Ibid, Art. 289 (1). AIR 1963 SC 1760.

——Art. 265 — Taxation laws — Delegation to municipal corporation of power to fix rate of tax, to select cases for exemption and to determine manner of calculation — Validity. See Ibid, Art. 110 (2). AIR 1959 Cal 704 (DB).

——Art. 265 — Orissa Sales Tax Act (14 of 1947); Section 7 — Sales Tax — Exemption — Government has power to exempt — But it can be used only where dealer is liable to tax and not otherwise. See Sales Tax — Orissa Sales Tax Act (XIV of 1947), Section 7. AIR 1965 Orissa 190 (DB).

11. Taxation laws — Validity.

●——Art. 265 — Assam Taxation (on Goods Carried by Road or on Inland Waterways) Act (10 of 1961), Section 3 — Validity — Burden of proof — Presumption of constitutionality. See Assam Taxation (on Goods Carried by Road or on Inland Waterways) Act (10 of 1961), Section 3. AIR 1964 SC 925.

●——Art. 265 — Assam Act, 10 of 1961, taxing tea carried in the State — Object of tax covered by Central Act — Validity of Assam Act not affected. Khyerbari Tea Co. Ltd. v. State of Assam, (1964) 2 SCA 319: AIR 1964 SC 925 (943) (Pt K) (Pr 50).

●——Arts. 265, 14 and 19 — Sea Customs Act (1878) (as amended in 1955), Sections 202 (2), 9 — Rules under, Custom House Agents Licensing Rules (1960) — Validity — Whether offend against Arts. 14 and 19 of the Constitution or go beyond rule-making power under Section 202 (2). See Sea Customs Act (1878), (as Amended in 1955), S. 202 (2). AIR 1962 SC 204.

●——Art. 265 — Taxation law — Ground of challenge. See Ibid, Art. 19 (1) (g). AIR 1962 SC 148.

●——Art. 265 and Sch. 7, List 3, Entries 28 and 47 — Madras Hindu Religious and Charitable Endowments Act (19 of 1951) (as amended by Andhra Act 13 of 1955), Section 76 (1) — Validity — Contribution levied under Section 76 (1) is fee and not tax — Section is intra vires. Gopalaswami Vari Temple v. Commissioner, Hindu Religious Endowments, Andh Pra., (1960) 2 Andh WR 347: 1960 Andh LT 658: AIR 1961 Andh Pra 216 (218) (Pt A) (Pr 9) (FB).

——Art. 265 — Markets — Legislation on tolls and fees — Validity of Section 140, Assam Municipal Act. See Ibid, Art. 246. AIR 1958 Assam 156 (DB).

——Art. 265 — Validity of the Assam Sales Tax Act. See Sales Tax — Assam Sales Tax Act (17 of 1947), Section 1. AIR 1955 Assam 113 (DB).

——Art. 265 — Gujarat Denatured Spirituous Preparations Rules (1962), Rule 37 — Validity — Rule 37 is invalid under Arts. 301, 304 and 19. See Ibid, Art. 301. AIR 1964 Guj 59 (DB).

——Art. 265 — Kerala Luxury Tax on Tobacco (Validation) Act, 1964 does not lack legislative competence. See Kerala Luxury Tax on Tobacco (Validation) Act (9 of 1964), Preamble. 1965 Ker LJ 337: 1965 Ker LT 418: AIR 1966 Ker 46.

——Art. 265 — (Kerala) General Sales-tax Act (Amendment) Act (14 of 1959) — Validity. See Sales Tax — (Kerala) General Sales Tax Act (11 of 1125), Section 3 (1) (b). AIR 1961 Ker 36 (DB).

●——Art. 265 and Sch. 7, List 2, Entry 5 — C. P. and Berar Local Government Act, 1948 (C. P. and Berar Act 38 of 1948), S. 90—Sec. 90 is valid law within Art. 265 and Sch.7, List 2, Entry 5 of the Constitution. AIR 1962 SC 1073 and (1883) 9 AC 117, Rel. on. Achchelal v. Janpad Sabha, Sihora. ILR (1963) Madh Pra 777: 1963 Jab LJ 5: 1963 MPLJ 93: AIR 1963 Madh Pra 74 (79 to 85) (Pt A) (Prs 11,13, 15, 17, 18, 20) (FB).

——Art. 265 — Coal Production Fund Ordinance (39 of 1944), Section 5 — Rules under for collection of tax — Validity — Incidence of tax if changed. See Coal Production Fund Ordinance (39 of 1944), Section 5. AIR 1958 Madh Pra 425.

[Reversed on another point in AIR 1962 SC 1281.]

——Art. 265 — Madras General Sales Tax Act (9 of 1939) Preamble and Section 5 (vi) — Validity of Act and Rules framed thereunder — (Sales Tax — Madras Turnover and Assessment Rules (1939), Rules 4 and 16). See Sales Tax — Madras General Sales Tax Act (9 of 1939), Preamble. AIR 1953 Mad 105.

——Art. 265 — Validity of Section 13, Finance Act, 1950 — Contravention of Agreement between the President and the Raj Pramukh. See Finance Act (1950), S. 13. AIR 1955 Mys 49 (DB).

——Art. 265 — Bihar Minor Mineral Concession Rules (1964), Rules 20, 30 and Schedule II—Rules provide procedure for assessment of royalty — Imposition of royalty is valid. See Bihar Minor Mineral Concession Rules (1964), Rule 20. AIR 1965 Pat 491 (DB).

——Art. 265 — Works contracts — Assessment to sales tax — Section 2 (h) (ii), M. P. Sales Tax Act, (1947) and Rule 7, V. P. Sales Tax Rules (1954) are invalid. See Ibid, Sch. 7, List 2, Entry 54. AIR 1956 Vin-Pra 41.

ARTICLE 266

●——Art. 266 (3) — Scope of executive power — Executive power not confined to carrying out of same — Power of executive Government to carry on trade or business without specific legislation exercising such course. See Ibid, Art. 102. AIR 1955 SC 549.

●——Art. 266 (3) — Appropriation.

It is appropriation that has to be in accordance with law and nothing more, such as head of expenditure.

The phrase "in accordance with law" does not necessarily mean in pursuance of an Act of the Legislature. Those words, in the context in which they are found, mean "lawfully".

Per Sapru J. :— Appropriation Act merely authorises expenditure but cannot sanction the activity itself.

Per Agarwala J.:— It is doubtful if a mere Appropriation Act without specific legislation would justify expenditure on an activity which is carried on from year to year and is not extraordinary or temporary. It may, therefore, be improper for the Government to incur expenditure without the authority of specific legislation for the purposes of trade. But it cannot be held that the expenditure incurred would be unauthorised 'by law'. The Appropriation Act is 'the law' within the meaning of Article 266 (3). It, therefore, justified expenditure by Government on its motor buses. It cannot, however justify the trade activity itself. Moti Lal v. Government of Uttar Pradesh. ILR (1951) 1 All 269: AIR 1951 All 257 (266, 281, 282, 312, 331) (Pt E) (Prs 45, 112, 281, 446) (FB).

——Art. 266 — Section 6 of Court Fees Act (1870) Government of India Act (1935), Sections 292 and 100 (3) and Sch. 7, List 2, Entry 1 — Constitution of India, Arts. 372 (1), 246 (3) and 266 and Sch. VII, List 2, Entry 3 — Effect of constitutional provisions is that Court-fees Act, though originally a Central Act, is now Act of State Legislature. See Court Fees Act (1870), Section 6. AIR 1960 Bom 96.

——Art. 266 — No bar to recovery of revenue illegally collected.

The collection of revenue must be under a due legal process. If collection is made in accordance with any provision of an Act, there cannot be any question of recovery of the same. If collection is made illegally and contrary to the statute, then it cannot be said to be a collection of revenue and thus a part of the revenue or the consolidated fund. Hence in such a case of illegal collection Art. 266 cannot be a bar to the recovery of the money collected illegally. (1961) 65 Cal WN 1206.

——Arts. 266, 246 (3), 265 — Power exists in State Legislature to enact measure to enable local authority to raise funds for its activity by taxation — Such tax does not go into consolidated Fund of State — (Madras Commercial Crops Markets Act (20 of 1933) (as amended by Madras Act 33 of 1955), Sections 11 (1) and 13). See Ibid, Art. 246 (3). AIR 1960 Mad 160.

——Art. 266 — Land Revenue forms part of the consolidated Fund and moneys out of this fund can be appropriated in the manner provided in the Constitution. See Ibid, Art. 202. AIR 1958 Mad 539.

——Art. 266 — Union territory of Manipur — Timber removed from Government forests — Collection of royalty as fixed by the Chief Commissioner is not invalid. See Forests Act (1927), S. 39. AIR 1964 Manipur 46.

——Art. 266 — "Revenue" — Meaning of — Licence fee if forms part of Consolidated Fund. See Ibid, Art. 19 (6). AIR 1957 Punj 45 (DB).

[Overruled in AIR 1962 Punj 267 (FB).]

ARTICLE 269

●——Art. 269 (1) (g) and Sch. 7, List 1, Entry 92-A; List 2, Entry 54 — Sales effected between 11th September 1956 and 4th January, 1956 in which goods moved from outside into Mysore State — Held were inter-State sales as understood in its ordinary natural sense unaided by any other statutory provision — State of Mysore had no power to tax such sales in view of Art. 269 (1) (g) read with Sch. 7, List I, Item 92-A and List II, Item 54. AIR 1963 SC 980, Relon. State Trading Corporation of India, Ltd. v. State of Mysore, (1963) 14 STC 416 (SC).

——Arts. 269, 286 and Sch. 7, List 1, Entry 92-A — Inter-State trade or commerce — Meaning — Test to determine — Power of State to tax — Central Sales Tax Act (1956), Sections 3 and 4 — Bengal Finance (Sales Tax) Act (6 of 1941), Section 5 (2) (a) (v). See Ibid, Art. 286. AIR 1963 Cal 442.

ARTICLE 271

——Art. 271 — Finance Act (1963) — Validity — Act does not contravene Art. 14 on the ground that salaried class has been excluded from levy of surcharge. See Ibid, Art. 14. AIR 1965 All 37.

——Art. 271 — Scope — Surcharge can be levied any number of times.

Article 271 undoubtedly gave Parliament the right to levy a surcharge from time to time and merely because Parliament had imposed surcharge in one shape, it is not prevented from imposing surcharge in another form to cope with varying circumstances. The surcharge, as provided in Art. 271, is nothing but additional tax or duty which Arts. 269 and 270 empower Parliament to impose. Article 271, therefore, gave the Parliament power to levy additional tax as it deems fit to be known as surcharge and income-tax. If under Art. 271, Parliament can 'at any time' increase the tax already levied it necessarily follows that in the same Finance Act surcharge designated as 'special' and 'additional' could also be levied. Parliament in this respect is paramount and the Finance Act is passed by Parliament and, therefore, surcharge whether it takes the shape of 'additional surcharge' or 'special surcharge' on income cannot be said to be violative of Art. 271 of the Constitution. (1965) 1 ITJ 63: (1965) 57 ITR 749: AIR 1965 All 37 (37, 38) (Pt A) (Prs 4, 5).

——Art. 271 — Andhra Pradesh Urban Areas Surcharge on Property Tax Act (13 of 1958), Section 3 — Character of levy of tax under Section 3 — Surcharge imposed by Act is additional tax on buildings — It is not tax on tax.

The Andhra Pradesh Urban Areas Surcharge on Property Tax Act (13 of 1958), is made with a view to provide for levy of surcharge on property tax on certain buildings in the major Municipalities in the State of Andhra Pradesh. The surcharge is only an additional tax on the buildings. It partakes of the same character as the property tax to which the building is subject. The Act only permits an increase in the property tax at the rate specified. The subject-matter of the tax remains the building itself. That it is nothing but an increase in the rate of property tax on the buildings can be gathered from Art. 271 of the Constitution. Though that article is inapplicable still it clearly establishes that surcharge is only an increase in the duties or taxes leviable under a particular enactment i.e., it is an extra charge or tax. There is no doubt that the pith and substance of the Andhra Pradesh Urban Areas Surcharge on Property Tax Act (13 of 1958) relates to the subject of taxes on buildings within the contemplation of Entry 49 of List II in Sch. VII of the Constitution. Therefore, the argument that the surcharge envisaged by this enactment is a tax on tax is baseless: AIR 1960 Mad 543, Rel. on. (1963) 1 Andhra WR 267 : AIR 1963 Andh Pra 379 (380) (Pt B) (Pr 5).

ARTICLE 272

——Art. 272 — Coal Mines (Conservation and Safety) Act (12 of 1952) — Provision empowering Coal Board to collect duty — Constitutional validity. See Coal Mines (Conservation and Safety) Act (1952). AIR 1959 Cal 222.

ARTICLE 276

SYNOPSIS

(Constitution of India (1950), Art. 276)

1. Scope and applicability.
2. Taxes in respect of professions, trades, callings or employments.
3. Maximum limit of profession tax—Cl. (2).
4. "Any person".

1. Scope and applicability.

●——Art. 276 (1) — Scope — For applicability of Section 142-A (1) of Government of India Act (1935), tax must be one on profession, etc—Section 142-A corresponds to Art. 276 (1) of Constitution. See Government of India Act (1935), Section 142-A (1). AIR 1964 SC 1172.

●——Art. 276 and Sch. VII, List II, Entries 52 and 60 — Applicability — Art. 276 has no effect on Entry 52 of List II — AIR 1958 Bom 487 and AIR 1958 Bom 378 and AIR 1949 Nag 215, Dist. Bangalore Woollen, Cotton and Silk Mills Co., Ltd., Bangalore v. Corporation of the City of Bangalore, 39 Mys LJ 736: (1962) 1 SCA 358: (1961) 3 SCR 707: (1962) 1 SCJ 214: AIR 1962 SC 562 (565) (Pt B) (Pr 6).

——Art. 276 — Section 4-A, Madras Entertainments Tax Act, not ultra vires the power of provincial legislature — Tax levied by Section 4-A is a tax on each show and not on calling of exhibitor —Tax falls within purview of Entry 62 of List 2 — Art. 276 is not attracted. See Madras Entertainments Tax Act (X of 1939), Section 4-A. AIR 1959 Andh Pra 461 (DB).

——Art. 276 (1) — Assessment of tax by Panchayat on basis of income from trade or business carried on within its jurisdiction — Provisions, although relate to tax on income, are saved by Art. 276 (1), Constitution of India. See Panchayats — West Bengal Panchayat Act (II of 1957), Section 57 (1). AIR 1964 Cal 590.

——Art. 276 and Proviso to Art. 276 (2) — Applicability to tax under Gwalior War Profits Tax Ordinance — (Gwalior War Profits Tax Ordinance (2001)).

Art. 276 is not applicable to the War Profits Tax under the Ordinance as it is purely a tax on income. The Proviso to Art. 276 (2) is also not applicable as the War Profits Tax was not in force in the financial year immediately preceding the commencement of the Constitution. AIR 1953 Madh Bha 20 (21, 24) (Pt A) (Prs 2, 17) (DB).

——Arts. 276 (1), 265 and 246 — City of Nagpur Corporation Act (2 of 1950), Section 114 (2) (d)— Registration fee on heads of cattle sold in corporation area — Whether in nature of tax or fee — Distinction between tax and fee — Imposition is ultra vires and is not saved by Art. 276 (1)— (Government of India Act (1935), S. 142-A (1)). See Municipalities — City of Nagpur Corporation Act (2 of 1950), S. 114 (2) (d). AIR 1956 Nag 152.

——Art. 276 — Panchayat — Punjab Gram Panchayat Act (4 of 1953), Section 82 (1) (d) — Tax on truck owners using road within Panchayat's jurisdiction — Gram Panchayat is competent to levy tax — Levy of tax not hit by Arts. 276, 265 or 14 of the Constitution. See Panchayat — Punjab Gram Panchayat Act (4 of 1953), Section 82 (1) (d). ILR (1963) 1 Punj 243.

2. Taxes in respect of professions, trades, callings or employments.

●——Art. 276 (2) — Tax on entertainments — Levy on each show of film at theatre — If tax on profession. See Cantonments Act (1924), Section 60. AIR 1959 SC 582.

●——Art. 276 (2), Sch. VII, List II, Entries 60, 62 — Applicability — Tax on cinema shows — Not a tax on profession — Limit prescribed under Art. 276 (2) not applicable. See Mysore Cinematograph Show Tax Act (XVI of 1951), Section 3. AIR 1959 SC 894.

●——Arts. 276 (2), 245, 246, Sch. VII, List II, Entries 26, 34, 60 & 62—Tax imposed by Section 12-A — Bombay Lotteries and Prize Competitions Control and Tax Act (54 of 1948), is valid under Sch. VII, List II, Entry 62 — (Government of India Act (1935), Sections 99, 100, 142-A, Sch. VII, List II, Entries 27, 36, 46 and 50) — (Interpretation of Statutes) — AIR 1956 Bom 1, Reversed. See Bombay Lotteries and Prize Competitions Control and Tax Act (54 of 1948), Section 12-A. AIR 1957 SC 699.

——Art. 276—U. P. Town Areas Act (1914), Section 39 (2) (II), Rr. 2 and 3.

Held, on facts that the tax imposed on the applicant was a tax on income other than agricultural income, i.e., income from its trade and business and not a tax of any other kind. AIR 1948 All 382 (FB): (1901) AC 26 and 1955 All LJ 630, Rel. on. But the tax cannot be declared to be ultra vires or illegal because it was saved by Art. 276 of the Constitution. The circumstances and property tax which the State Legislature has authorised a Town Area to impose a tax meant for the benefit of the Town Area. In so far as it is a tax in respect of a trade or calling, as Art. 276 applied, it cannot be held to be invalid simply because it is a tax on income. AIR 1957 All 433 (435, 436) (Pt A) (Prs 15, 19, 22) (DB).

——Art. 276 — Tax on profession, trades, etc., and on income accruing from or arising out of professions, trades, etc. — Distinction — (Municipalities — U. P. Town Areas Act (II of 1914), Section 14 (1) (d) and (f)).

An obvious distinction exists between a tax on trades, callings or professions and a tax on income arising from a trade, calling or profession. If a tax is imposed on a trade, calling or profession, it will have to be paid by any person practising that trade, calling or profession, whether he derives any income from it or not.

The State Government is entitled to impose tax on professions, trades, callings and employments under item No. 60 of the second list of the 7th Schedule of the Constitution. No recourse to Art. 276 of the Constitution is, therefore, necessary for the validation of such a tax.

A tax if it is based on the income derived by the assessee from trade, etc., can be questioned on the ground that it being an income-tax could not be imposed by the State Government. It is to save such a tax that Art. 276 of the Constitution appears to have been enacted. AIR 1957 All 433 (436) (Pt C) (Pr 20) (DB).

——Art. 276 — 'Trade' — Meaning of.

Undoubtedly in its primary sense the word 'trade means exchange of goods for goods or goods for money. But in a secondary sense it includes any business carried on with a view to profit, whether manual or mercantile as distinguished from the liberal arts or learned profession. Pursuit of a skilled employment with a view to earn profit not being of the nature of a learned profession or agriculture must be regarded as engaging in 'trade' within the meaning of Art. 276 of the Constitution. A skilled occupation which involves the application of a manufacturing process to a commodity submitted to the person carrying on the occupation must, therefore, be regarded as trade. 60 Bom LR 48: ILR (1958) Bom 483: AIR 1958 Bom 487 (489) (Pt B) (Pr 9) (DB).

[Overruled on another point in AIR 1966 SC 249.]

——Arts. 276 and 265—Tax—Nature of—Test — Tax on trade — Municipal tax on cotton manufacturing levied per bale pressed — Nature of the tax — (Municipalities — Bombay District Municipal Act (III of 1901), S. 59).

In considering the question as to the nature of a tax, the Court must have regard to the nature, the pith and substance, of the tax, and not merely to the form in which it may have been imposed. Whether the liability to pay the 'cotton manufacturing tax' is placed by the charging rule on the manager of a factory and the quantum of tax is computed with reference to the number of bales pressed by him within the municipal limits it is on the trading activities of the manager that the liability is imposed. Therefore, it cannot be considered to be a tax on commodity which is not subject to maximum limit prescribed by Art. 276. It being a tax imposed upon the manager of the pressing factory and being in respect of a skilled occupation which is not of the learned occupation must be regarded as a tax on trade. 60 Bom LR 48: ILR (1958) Bom 483: AIR 1958 Bom 487 (490) (Pt C) (Pr 11) (DB).

[Overruled on another point in AIR 1966 SC 249.]

——Arts. 276 (2) and 304 (b) and Sch. VII, List II, Entries 60 and 62 — Scope — Bombay Lotteries and Prize Competition Control and Tax Act, 1948, Section 12-A — Tax under — Nature and Validity of. See Bombay Lotteries and Prize Competition Control and Tax Act, Section 12-A. AIR 1956 Bom 1 (DB).

[Reversed in AIR 1957 SC 699.]

——Art. 276 (2) — Show tax imposed on owner of cinema concern — Validity. See Municipalities — Punjab Municipal Act (III of 1911) (as applied to Himachal Pradesh), Section 62 (6-a). AIR 1959 Him Pra 17.

——Art. 276 (2), Sch. VII, List II, Entry 60 — Municipalities — Kerala Municipalities Act (XIV of 1961), Section 126 — Tax on advertisements — Tax is not tax on profession or calling.

A tax on advertisements levied under Section 126 of Kerala Municipalities Act on the petitioner who is engaged in the business of exhibiting cinematographic films is not a tax on the profession or calling of the petitioner within meaning of Art. 276 (2). The fact that the petitioner may not exhibit a particular film after having advertised it, would not make the tax on the advertisement a tax on its calling or trade. Although advertisement is necessary for the successful carrying on of the petitioner's business it does not follow that a tax on advertisement is a tax on the calling or trade of the petitioner: AIR 1955 Sau 90, Dist.; AIR 1959 Him Pra 17, Diss. from; AIR 1959 SC 582, Foll. 1965 Ker LT 288: 1965 Ker LJ 351: (1965) 1 Ker LR 188: AIR 1965 Ker 237 (238) (Pt B) (Pr 6).

●——Arts. 276 (2) and 277 — Scope — Travancore Tobacco Act — Licence-fee — Levy not a tax on profession, trade, calling or employment. See Travancore Tobacco Act (1 of 1087), Section 31. AIR 1958 Ker 129 (FB).

●——Art. 276 (2) and Sch. 7, List 2, Entries 60 and 62 — Licence fee levied under Section 31, Travancore Tobacco Act (1 of 1087) — Levy not a tax on profession, trade, calling or employment. See Travancore Tobacco Act (1 of 1087), S. 31. AIR 1958 Ker 129 (FB).

[Reversed on another point in AIR 1962 SC 922.]

——Art. 276 — Vindhya Pradesh Gram Panchayat Ordinance (1949), Section 37 (d) — Imposition of tax on bidi manufacturers — Levy made with reference to number of bidis manufactured — Tax is in pith and substance an excise duty and not a tax on trade, profession or calling — Hence levy is beyond the competence of the Gram Panchayat. AIR 1945 PC 98, Rel. on; AIR 1961 SC 459; AIR 1949 Nag 190; AIR 1949 Nag 215 and AIR 1958 Bom 487, Disting. ILR (1962) Madh Pra 666: 1961 MPC 802: 1961 Jab LJ 1479: 1962 MPLJ 222: AIR 1962 Madh Pra 136 (138) (Prs 5, 6, 7) (DB).

——Art. 276 — Bihar and Orissa Municipal Act (7 of 1922), Section 82 (1) (ff) and Sch. IV — Constitutional validity — Professional tax — Imposition of — Provision not ultra vires State Legislature — Falls under Item 60 of List II and not under Item 86 of List 1 of Sch. VII of the Constitution. See Municipalities — Bihar and Orissa Municipalities Act (VII of 1922), Section 82 (1) (ff). AIR 1962 Pat 465 (DB).

——Art. 276 and Sch. 7, List 2, Entries 62 and 60 —Tax on cinematograph shows — It is entertainment tax and not professional tax — AIR 1953 Madh Bha 145, Diss. from. See Ibid, Sch. VII, List 2, Entry 62. AIR 1956 Punj 203.

——Art. 276 (2) — Rajasthan Entertainment Tax Act (24 of 1957), Section 6-A (as amended by Act 8 of 1960) — Entertainment tax under — Not a tax on calling or trade of proprietor — Article 276 (2) of Constitution not attracted. See Rajasthan Entertainment Tax Act (24 of 1957) (as amended by Act (8 of 1960), Section 6-A. AIR 1964 Raj 106.

——Art. 276 — Imposition of tax on certain business on basis of income — Validity. See Rajasthan Panchayat Samitis and Zilla Parishads Act (XXXVII of 1959), Section 33 (2) (i). 1963 Raj LW 633.

——Art. 276 — Licence fee levied by Rajasthan State under Factories Act, Sec. 6 read with Section 112 are fees strictly so called and has authority of law — Levy is not tax on profession or trade, within meaning of Art. 276. See Ibid, Art. 265. AIR 1954 Raj 178 (DB).

——Art. 276 (2) and Sch. VII, List II, Items 60 and 62 — Test to determine whether tax is tax on 'calling' or tax on 'entertainments' — Theatre tax on cinema show is not hit by Art. 276 (2).

The true test for determining whether a particular tax is a tax on "calling" referred to in Art. 276 or the tax on "entertainments" under Item 62 of the State list is to ascertain the incidence of the tax. If the incidence falls on the person because he is engaged in the business of providing the entertainment for profit it is a tax on his calling; but if the incidence of the tax falls on the particular entertainment, irrespective of whether the person providing the entertainment follows that calling or not, then it is a tax on the entertainment and falls within item No. 62 of the State list and as such will not be hit by Art. 276. If for instance the tax is to be paid on a cinema show irrespective of whether it is given by a professional exhibitor or by one following a different calling, e.g., by a charitable society to raise funds for a charity, it is obvious that the tax can only be regarded as a tax on entertainment and not a a tax on calling for what is taxed is not the calling of the person providing the entertainment but the entertainment itself.

Hence a notification by a Municipality imposing theatre tax on cinema shows at certain rate per show is not hit by Art. 276 (2) as the tax is on entertainment and not a tax on calling. AIR 1953 Madh Bha 145, Diss. from. AIR 1954 Bom 261, Approved. 8 Sau LR 120: AIR 1955 Sau 90 (91) (Prs 3, 4) (DB).

3. Maximum limit of profession-tax — Cl. (2).

●——Art. 276 — Scope — Art. 276 of the Constitution extends not only to recoveries but to assessment also — Recovery of tax in excess of constitutional limits — Suit for refund of excess cannot be held to be in respect of matter purported to be done under C. P. Municipalities Act (2 of 1928). See Municipalities — C. P. Municipalities Act (II of 1928), Section 48. AIR 1966 SC 249.

●——Art. 276 (2) — Tax laws — Principles for determining its validity — Scope of Art. 265 — Law should not be prohibited by any particular provision of Constitution such as for example, Arts. 276 (2), 286 etc. — Tax laws are not outside Part III of Constitution. See Ibid, Art. 265. AIR 1962 SC 1006.

——Art. 276 (2) — Municipalities — C. P. and Berar Municipalities Act (II of 1922), Sections 48, 66 (1) (b) — Suit for refund of excess tax on ground that enhancement of rate exceeded constitutional limits — Bills served in respect of tax duly imposed under Act — Recovery must be regarded as purporting to have been done under Act — Recovery is not ultra vires but merely wrongful — Section 48 is applicable to such cases. See Municipalities — C. P. and Berar Municipalities Act (II of 1922), Section 48. AIR 1963 Bom 225 (DB).

[Reversed in AIR 1966 SC 249.]

——Art. 276 — Notification by Municipality imposing enhanced bales and bojas tax in supersession of tax imposed by previous notification, coming into force after 31-3-39 — Imposition of tax held illegal as infringing sub-section (2) of Section 142-A — Clause 2 of Art. 276 of Constitution held not attracted — Tax could not be justified under Professions Tax Limitation Act. See Government of India Act (1935), Section 142-A, Sub-s. (2). AIR 1963 Bom 3 (DB).

——Art. 276 (2) — Scope — Contravention — Boja tax in excess of Rs. 250 — Tax ultra vires — Suit for refund — Notice under Section 48 — Necessity — (Municipalities — C. P. and Berar Municipalities Act (II of 1922), Sections 66 and 48).

Held, on facts that tax was in contravention of Art. 276 (2), Constitution of India and was ultra vires of the powers of the Municipal Committee as tax was in excess of Rs. 250 and that no notice under Section 48, C. P. and Berar Municipalities Act was necessary. M. P. No. 389/54, dated 12-4-55 (Nagpur), Foll. 1959 Nag LJ (Notes) 1.

[Overruled in AIR 1963 Bom 225, which itself is Reversed in AIR 1966 SC 249.]

——Art. 276 (2), Seventh Schedule, List II, Entry 60 — Levy under List II, Entry 60 far in excess of amount specified in Art. 276 (2) — Levy to be struck down. 1964 Ker LT 189: 1964 Ker LJ 413: (1964) 1 Ker LR 294: AIR 1965 Ker 8 (10) (Pt A) (Pr 12).

——Art 276 (2) — Taxation and Finance Rules, Rule 21 (2), Proviso — Proviso to sub- rule (2) offends Art. 276 (2) of Constitution and must be struck down. See Municipalities — Kerala Municipalities Act, 1960 (XIV of 1961), Sch. II. 1964 Ker LJ 450.

——Art. 276 (2) — Kerala Surcharge on Taxes Act (XI of 1957), Section 4 — Section offends Art. 276 (2) of Constitution and is void. See Kerala Surcharge on Taxes Act (XI of 1957), Section 4. (1964) Ker LJ 450.

——Art. 276 (2) — Kerala Surcharge on Taxes Act (XI of 1957), Section 4 — Section is illegal and one passed in violation of Art. 276 (2) of the Constitution. See Kerala Surcharge on Taxes Act (XI of 1957), S. 4. 1964 Ker LJ 389.

——Art. 276 (2) — Kerala Municipalities Act — Does not make any radical change in position in respect of transacting business, as it existed in Travancore or Cochin area. See Kerala Municipalities Act (XIV of 1961), Section 117. 1964 Ker LJ 450.

——Art. 276 (2) and Sch. VII, List 2, Entry 60 — Profession tax levied by Municipality — Limit imposed on such levy by Art. 276 (2) — State Legislature — Its incompetency to make law transgressing the limit — Kerala Profession Tax (Validation and Reassessment) Act, 1958 is invalid.

After January 26, 1950, there is no enacting power in the State Legislature either to amend the machinery parts of legislation dealing with profession tax, or to fill gaps therein so as to continue the levy under new rules beyond the constitutional limitation imposed by Art. 276 (2) of the Constitution. Hence, the Profession Tax (Validation and Reassessment) Act (Ker. XIV of 1958), is beyond the competence of the State Legislature as it seeks to fill the gaps brought about by the repealment of the Travancore Income-tax Act, and the position is not different so far as the notification of February 15, 1956, purporting to amend Rule 18, is concerned, as the delegated authority under the Act is as well bound by the constitutional limitation. The assessments, therefore, of the writ petitioners to the tax on profession according to the proviso to R. 18 (2) of the Taxation and Finance Rules, framed under the Travancore District Municipalities Act 1116, for the period subsequent to the repealment of the Travancore Income-tax Act, are illegal due to their not being according to law. 1961 Ker LJ 971: ILR (1961) 2 Ker 549: AIR 1962 Ker 185 (190) (Prs 12, 13) (DB).

——Art. 276 (2) — Entertainment tax and performance tax — Notification imposing a performance tax at Rs. 5 per show is invalid as it exceeds limits imposed by Art. 276 (2). See Municipalities — Gwalior Municipalities Act. (S. M. 1993), S. 52 (J). AIR 1953 M. B. 145 (DB).

——Art. 276 — Article not applicable to tax under Gwalior War Profits Tax Ordinance — Liability of assessee cannot be restricted to Rs. 250. See also Gwalior War Profits Tax Ordinance (2001). AIR 1953 Madh B 20 (DB).

——Art. 276 and Sch. VII, List 2, Entry 54 — Government of India Act (1935), S. 142-A and Sch. VII, List 2, Item 48 — Sales Tax — Madras General Sales Tax Act (IX of 1939), S. 3 —Sales tax exceeding limit mentioned in Art. 276 (2) — Nature of sales-tax and its validity.

The Legislature has specifically conferred on it, a right to levy a tax on trade. It is a tax on a transaction, and that is its pith and substance, and that is not in controversy. A tax on a transaction such as was provided for by Item 48 of the Provincial List in Sch. VII, Government of India Act, 1935, has necessarily to be laid upon some person concerned in the transaction and his feature cannot, therefore, render it other than a tax upon a transaction.

The fact therefore, that the total amount of the tax payable by a dealer on the purchase of groundnuts exceeds the limit fixed by Art. 276 (2) of the Constitution does not render it invalid. AIR 1956 Bom 1, Disting. 70 Mad LW 129: (1957) 8 STC 222: (1957) 1 Mad LJ 281: AIR 1957 Mad 301 (303) (Pt A) (Pr 8) (DB).

——Art. 276 (2) — Charge of fee in excess of the prescribed limit — Validity. See Government of India Act (1935), S. 142-A. (1961) 27 Cut LT 78.

——Art. 276 — Imposition amounting to fee — Conditions precedent — Imposition under S. 131 — Nature of — Held Municipality had no power to demand tax and demand being beyond Art. 276 of Constitution was not valid — Hence accused acquitted of offence under S. 383. See Municipalities — Orissa Municipal Act (23 of 1950), S. 131. (1960) 2 OJD 100.

——Art. 276 (2) — Licence fee under Bihar and Orissa Local Self-Government Act, S. 100-A (7), is tax and would be hit by Art. 276 (2). See Bihar and Orissa Local Self-Government Act (III of 1885), S. 100-A (7) (Inserted by Orissa Act XXXIV of 1947). AIR 1955 NUC (Orissa) 1126 (DB).

——Art. 276 (2) — Scope — "Total amount payable in respect of any person to the State or other local authority", meaning of — Each one of the authorities mentioned in the Article can impose a tax upto Rs. 250. ILR (1964) 1 Punj 787: AIR 1964 Punj 383 (384) (Prs 7, 8) (DB).

——Art. 276 (2) — Resolution of Gram Panchayat imposing tax on commission agents at certain percentage — Maximum limit not fixed — Effect on validity.

A resolution passed by a Gram Panchayat imposing a tax on commission agents at a certain percentage without fixing the maximum limit up to which the tax can be levied, so that, on the basis of the percentage fixed the amount of tax may be far in excess of Rs. 250, the maximum limit fixed by Art. 276, is opposed to Art. 276 and must be held to be wholly unconstitutional and void. AIR 1953 Madh B 145, Rel. on. AIR 1950 SC 124, Applied. 62 Pun LR 170: AIR 1960 Punj 394 (394, 395) (Pr 3).

Clause (2) — Proviso.

■——Art. 276 —S. 2, Kerala Act (XIV of 1958)— Violates Art. 276 of the Constitution— Validating Act purported to validate a profession tax to an extent above Rs. 250 subsequent to commencement of Constitution. See Kerala Profession Tax (Validation and Reassessment) Act (XIV of 1958), S. 2. AIR 1965 SC 1174.

——Art. 276 (2), Proviso — Applicability —(U. P. District Boards Act (X of 1922), Ss. 108 and 114).

The Proviso to Art. 276 (2) applies to tax levied under Ss. 108 and 114 of the U. P. District Boards Act and, therefore, the tax is saved from the bar which is imposed by the main para of the article. AIR 1957 All 527 (534) (Pt G) (Pr 19) (DB).

——Art. 276 (2), Proviso — 'Tax' — Meaning of — Legal levy.

The word 'tax' as it is used in the proviso to clause (2) of Art. 276 must mean a tax lawfully levied. It cannot, therefore, be held that if the rate at which the tax was actually levied exceeded Rs. 250 per year in the year preceding the commencement of the Constitution, it could be continued to be levied under the proviso to Cl. (2) of Art. 276 unless a provision to the contrary was made by Parliament by law. 60 Bom LR 419: 1958 Nag LJ 326: ILR (1958) Bom 625: AIR 1958 Bom 378 (378, 379) (Pt A) (Prs 2, 3) (DB).

——Art. 276 (2), Proviso — 'Rate or maximum rate' — Meaning of— Rate of tax enhanced by municipality — Whether ultra vires — (Government of India Act (1935), S. 142-A (2), Proviso)— (Municipalities — C. P. and Berar Municipalities Act (II of 1922), S. 66 (1) (b)).

The expression 'the rate or the maximum rate' in the proviso to sub-S. (2) of S. 142-A of the Government of India Act and in the proviso to Cl. (2) of Art. 276 of the Constitution signifies a scale of rate. When the Legislature used the words 'the rate or the maximum rate' in the proviso to sub-S. (2) of S. 142-A of the Government of India Act, and when the learned framers of the Constitution used them in the proviso to Cl. (2) of Art. 276, they intended that the scale of rate, to be a valid scale, should be such that the total amount of tax payable under it in respect of any one person must not exceed Rs. 50 per annum before the coming into force of the Constitution and Rs. 250 per annum after the commencement of the Constitution.

Held, that the enhancement of the rate so as to make the tax leviable exceed Rs. 250 per annum, was ultra vires Art. 276 of the Constitution and was, therefore, illegal. 60 Bom LR 419: 1958 Nag LJ 326: ILR (1958) Bom 625: AIR 1958 Bom 378 (380, 381) (Pt B) (Prs 9, 10, 12) (DB).

■——Art. 276 (2), Proviso — Travancore District Municipalities Act (XXIII of 1116), S. 325 — Taxation and Finance Rules in Sch. II, R. 18 — Amendments to, by Notification No. L. S. 11-13975/55-DD, dated 15-2-1956 and validation of amendment by Kerala Act XIV of 1958 — Not authorised by Art. 276 (2), Proviso and cannot be sustained.

The amendments introduced by the Notification No. LS 11-13975/55-DD, amending R. 18 (1) (a) and R. 18 (2) Proviso of the Taxation Rules in Sch. II to the Travancore District Municipalities Act, 1116 (ME) dated 15-2-1956, in exercise of the powers conferred by S. 325 of that Act, and the validation of that amendment by the Kerala Profession Tax (Validation and Re-assessment) Act, XIV of 1958 are amendments which go beyond the formal alterations necessitated by the replacement of the Travancore Income-tax Act, 1121 (ME), by the Indian Income-tax Act, 1922, with effect from the 1st April 1950. The alterations do not merely preserve the old tax; they rope in the entire profits of the assessee from the whole of the Indian Union for the purpose of calculation. The substitution of the words 'whole of the Indian Union' for the words 'whole State' can operate to the detriment of the assessee. The amendments are opposed to Art. 276 (2), Proviso and cannot be sustained. AIR 1962 Ker 185, Approved; AIR 1961 SC 1486, Rel. on. Commissioner, Quilon Municipality, Quilon v. Harrisons and Crosfield, Ltd., Quilon, 1963 Ker LT 889 : 1963 Ker LJ 1007 : ILR (1963) 2 Ker 547 : (1963) 2 ITJ 413 : AIR 1964 Ker 25 (28) (Prs 13, 15) (FB).

——Arts. 276 (2) and 14 — Some Assessees in State to profession tax protected under Cl. (2) of Art. 276 under post-Constitution Act and some falling under Proviso to Cl. (2) under pre-Constitution Act — Whether discriminatory — Municipalities — Kerala Municipalities Act, 1960 (XIV of 1961).

It was contended that as the result of the Kerala Municipal Act, XIV of 1961, which repealed the Cochin Municipal Act and the Travancore District Municipalities Act, there would be two types of assessees to profession tax in the State of Kerala and that there was discrimination namely that, there were assessees who will have to pay only the maximum profession tax of Rs. 250 under the Kerala Municipalities Act, which was a post-Constitution Act as envisaged in Cl. (2) of Art. 276; whereas in all other cases where the proviso to Cl. (2) of Art. 276 applied the assessees will have to pay amounts larger than that by the assessees who were protected by Cl. (2) of Art. 276. This, it was contended, amounted to discrimination, based upon on reasonable classification or differentia, and therefore, violated Art. 14.

Held, that there was no question of violation of Art. 14 coming into the picture, because it was not as if the State had in any manner discriminated as against the assessees. But the differentiation, if any, was really because of the provisions made in the Constitution itself, namely under Art. 276 (2), distinguishing the other kinds of assessments saved under the proviso to Art. 276 (2) as such; and therefore this contention, based upon violation of Art. 14 could not be accepted. 1964 Ker LJ 450.

——Art. 276 (2), Proviso— Taxation and Finance Rules, R. 19 — Constitution of India, Art. 276 (2), Proviso — Profession tax levied under repealed Act is continued under new Act. See Municipalities — Kerala Municipalities Act (XIV of 1961), S. 2, Sch. II. 1964 Ker LJ 450.

4. "Any person".

——Art. 276 — Levy of tax on manager of factory — Legality — (Municipalities — Bombay District Municipal Act (III of 1901), S. 59 (1) (b) (xi)).

There is nothing either in the Bomaby District Municipal Act or in the Constitution which prevents the State from levying a tax from a person other than the owner of the commodity which is subjected to a manufacturing process; and if the State is competent to levy a tax from a person other than the owner with the sanction of the State the municipality also is competent by virtue of S. 59 (1) (b) (xi) of the Bombay District Municipalities Act to levy such a tax. A manager of a factory is normally a paid employee and he has no interest either in the factory or the commodity which is subjected to the manufacturing process but the imposition of a liability to pay the tax is not on that account invalid. 60 Bom LR 48 : ILR (1958) Bom 483 : AIR 1958 Bom 487 (489) (Pt A) (Pr 8) (DB).

[Overruled on another point in AIR 1966 SC 249.]

ARTICLE 277

SYNOPSIS

(Constitution of India (1950), Art. 277.)

1. Scope and object of the Article.
2. "Immediately before the commencement of this Constitution."
3. "Continued to be levied".
4. "Until provision to the contrary is made by Parliament by law".
5. "Levy" and "imposition" — Distinction.

1. Scope and object of the Article.

●——Art. 277 — Corresponding law — Robkar issued by Ijlas-i-khas, Patiala State, on 6-2-1919 is not law corresponding to Central Excises and Salt Act (1944). See Indian Finance Act (1950), S. 13. AIR 1966 SC 805.

●——Arts. 277, 245, 246 and Sch. 7, List II, Entry 5 — State legislature cannot confer higher power on municipal bodies than it has under the Constitution — List II, entry 5 — Interpretation of — Reference to taxation by municipal and other local bodies in Art. 277 — Scope of Art. 277— Reference to legislative practice prevailing before Constitution how far relevant — Rule against excessive delegation of legislative powers equally applies in case of municipal bodies. See Ibid, Art. 245. AIR 1965 SC 1107.

●——Art. 277 —Scope — Art. 372 is subject to Art. 277. See Ibid, Art. 373. AIR 1964 SC 1172.

●——Art. 277 — Taxes — Object of Art. 277— Existing range of taxes are continued — Authority to expand range of taxation is not conferred.

The sole object sought to be achieved by the provision in Art. 277 for 'continuance' is to avoid dislocation of the finances of the State and local authorities by depriving them of the revenues which they were deriving at the commencement of the Constitution. If so it would mean that the intention was to permit the existing range of the taxes to be continued; it does not mean that the Article conferred on the local bodies authority to expand the range of their taxation by subjecing new items to taxation or by increasing the rates of duties. This consideration apart, it is not possible to read the words 'notwithstanding that the taxes, etc., are mentioned in the Union List' as conferring an unlimited legislative power to impose what in effect would be new taxes though of the same type or nature as existed before the Constitution. AIR 1962 SC 1073, Foll. (1961) Jab LJ 792, Affirmed. Town Municipal Committee, Amraoti Taluq v. Ramchandra Vasudeo Chimote, (1964) 6 SCR 947 : (1965) 1 SCA 1 : 66 Bom LR 492 : (1964) 1 SCWR 639 : 1964 MPLJ 742 : (1964) 53 ITR 444 : 1964 Mah LJ 609 : 1964 Jab LJ 501 : AIR 1964 SC 1166 (1169, 1170) (Pt A) (Prs 6; 13).

●——Arts. 277, 372, 278 — Scope — "Subject to other provisions of the Constitution" — Expression means that if there is conflict between pre-existing law and provision of the Constitution latter will prevail — Art. 372 is subject to Art. 278 — Art. 277 saves existing taxes etc., levied by States, if conditions mentioned therein are complied with — While Art. 372 saves all pre-Constitution valid laws Art. 277 is confined only to taxes, duties, cesses or fees lawfully levied immediately before Constitution — Art. 372 must be read subject to Art. 277. AIR 1962 Kerala 72 (FB), Reversed. See Ibid, Art. 372. AIR 1964 SC 207.

● ——Art. 277 — Scope — Art. 277 is superseded by agreement under Art. 278. See Ibid, Art. 278. AIR 1964 SC 207.

● ——Art. 277 — Proviso to S. 13, Finance Act — Validity — Nothing in Art. 277 to warrant any implication that taxes should continue to be levied, assessed and collected by same State authorities as before Constitution. See Finance Act (1950), S. 13. AIR 1954 SC 163.

——Art. 277 and Schedule VII, List 1, Entry 82 — U. P. Town Areas Act (2 of 1914), S. 14 (1) (f) and Rule 3 framed thereunder — Circumstances and property tax — Nature of — Imposition by Town Area Committee — Validity.

Circumstances and property tax imposed by the Town Area Committee in pursuance of the power given to it under S. 14 (1) (f) of the U. P. Town Areas Act as amended by Act 23 of 1950 read with R. 3 framed thereunder is purely in the nature of tax on income within the meaning of item 82 of the Union List and as such cannot be imposed by a State or a local body under a State. Since the tax has been imposed after the coming into force of the Constitution it is not protected by Art. 277 of the Constitution. The tax imposed is ultra vires and cannot, therefore, be realised. 1948 ALJ 338 and 1955 ALJ 630, Rel. on. 1961 All LJ 743 : 1961 All WR (HC) 430.

——Art. 277 — Savings under — U. P. Act 10 of 1922 which continued to be valid under the Government of India Act, 1935 isvalid even under the present Constitution by virtue of the provisions of Art. 277 and item No. 82 of the Union List. See U. P. District Board Act (X of 1922), S. 108. AIR 1955 NUC (All) 3522 (DB).

——Art. 277 — Applicability — Tax on octroi refunds not transferred from the State List to the Union List — Art. 277 has no bearing on the question of the vires of the tax on octroi refunds.

Art. 277 of the Constitution saves existing taxes levied by any Municipality on subjects which may have been transferred from the State list to the Union list. In the present case, it is not possible to say that a tax on octroi refunds was transferred from the State list to the Union list. The challenge is that the State Legislature has, under the Act of 1949, restricted the power of the Corporation in a manner which does not permit of any imposition on goods in transit or of the nature of a tax on refunds. S. 5 of the Act of 1925 had the effect of saving that tax on refunds. But the Act of 1949 saved only such taxes as were not inconsistent with the provisions of that Act. Hence, Art. 277 has no bearing on the question of vires. (1960) 62 Bom LR 71.

——Art. 277 — Scope — Taxation laws — Delegation to municipal corporation of power to fix rate of tax, to select cases for exemption and to determine manner of calculation — Validity. See Ibid, Art. 110 (2). AIR 1959 Cal 704 (DB).

——Art. 277 — Scope — (Municipalities — Calcutta Municipal Act (XXXIII of 1951), S. 548 (2) — Imposition under, if saved by Art. 277).

The scope of Art. 277 is a very limited one. It only deals with situations where under the Constitution a Municipal tax came under the Union List, although at the time of its imposition it was in the Provincial List. If there is no shifting in the allocation between the Union and the State under the Constitution this article has no application.

The protection of Art. 277 cannot extend to a tax which is being levied or sought to be levied under a law which was passed after the Constitution came into force.

Under Art. 277, it is only the provisions of taxation contained in the 1923 Act, which could be saved. The tax imposed by S. 548 (2) of Calcutta Municipal Act, 1951 is not saved by Art. 277. The tax imposed under the 1951 Act may be of the same character as that imposed under the 1923 Act. But they are imposed under different Statutes and must be considered as different impositions altogether. AIR 1959 Cal 45 (54, 55) (Pt G) (Pr 29).

[Impliedly overruled on another point in AIR 1963 SC 1811.]

● ——Art. 277 and Sch. 7, List 1, Entry 84 — Travancore Tobacco Act (1 of 1087), S. 31 — Licence fee levied under — Nature of levy — Effect of application of Central Excises and Salt Act to Travancore State from 1-4-1950. See Travancore Tobacco Act, S. 31. AIR 1958 Ker 129 (FB).

[Reversed on another point in AIR 1962 SC 922.]

——Art. 277 — Art. 277 is only a saving provision — Terminal tax on goods — Inclusion of new items for levying tax and variation of rate of Tax on other articles — Amounts to imposition of tax covered by List 1 of Seventh Schedule and not saved by article.

Art. 277 of the Constitution saves existing taxes, duties etc., levied by State or local authorities on subjects which are now included in the Union list and only those taxes, duties etc., have been saved which immediately before 26th January 1950 were being lawfully levied. The Article is a saving provision. It does not give any right to any State or Municipal or other authority to impose a tax, or duty etc., mentioned in the Union list. On this construction of Art. 277 a Municipal Committee cannot claim the power to impose a terminal tax on goods on which no such tax was being levied immediately before the commencement of the Constitution. Similarly, it cannot also vary the rate of tax on goods already subjected to a terminal tax as the rate at which a tax is imposed is an integral part of the imposition of a tax. 1961 Jab LJ 792 : 1961 MPC 378 : 1961 MPLJ 937.

——Arts. 277, 245, 246 (3) and Sch. VII, List II, Item 5 — Municipalities — Assam Municipal Act (15 of 1957), S. 68 (1) (a), S. 80 — Validity — Power of fixing percentage of tax — Does not amount to delegation of legislative power — Sections not ultra vires the Constitution — According to wording of Art. 277 local authority can be clothed with power to levy tax which includes power to fix rate of tax or to alter tax. See Municipalities — Assam Municipal Act (1957) S. 68 (1) (a). AIR 1962 Manipur 28.

——Art. 277 — Punjab Municipal Act (3 of 1911), Ss. 61 (2) and 62 (10) (as amended by Government of India Adaptation of Indian Laws Order 1937) — Imposition of terminal tax by Delhi Municipal authorities in 1947, on goods not consumed, used or sold within municipal limits — Not illegal. See Municipalities — Punjab Municipal Act (3 of 1911), S. 61 (2). AIR 1960 Punj 497.

● ——Art. 277 — Effect of—(Finance Act (1950), S. 13) — (Cochin Income-tax Act (1117), S. 44) — (Travancore Income-tax Act (1121), S. 47).

The combined effect of Art. 277 of the Constitution and S. 13 of the Finance Act, 1950, is to effect a valid continuance of the operation of the Cochin Income-tax Act, 1117 and the Travancore Income-tax Act, 1121 for the purposes of the levy, assessment and collection of income-tax and super-tax in respect of the period indicated in S. 13. A. N. Lekshmana Shenoy v. Income-tax Officer, ILR (1953) TC 1232 : 1953 Ker LT 725 : AIR 1954 Trav-Co 137 (138) (Pt C) (Pr 9) (FB).

2. "Immediately before the commencement of this Constitution".

●——Art. 277 — Travancore-Cochin General Sales Tax Act published in the Gazette of 17-1-1950 but coming into force on 30-5-1950.

The Travancore-Cochin General Sales Tax Act was published in the Gazette on January, 17, 1950, but was brought into force only on May, 30, 1950, i.e., after the commencement of the Constitution. It follows that the tax under the Act would not be saved, as the necessary condition that the levy should have been lawfully made before the Constitution was not satisfied. South India Corporation (P.) Ltd. v. Secretary, Board of Revenue, Trivandrum, 1963 Ker LJ 937: (1963) 2 Ker LR 312 : (1963) 2 SCWR 401 : (1964) 15 STC 74 : (1964) 2 SCJ 415 : AIR 1964 SC 207 (210) (Pt A) (Pr 9).

——Art. 277 — "Levied" — Meaning of —Hundis drawn in former Gwalior State—No Stamp duty payable under Gwalior Stamp Act — Admissibility in evidence — (Indore Stamp Act Adaptation Act (V of 1950), S. 4) — (Indore Stamp Act, Sch. I, Art. II).

Per Dixit, J.:— There is in the subject of legal taxation a real distinction between the imposition of a tax and the levy or collection thereof. The imposition of a tax which is by an Act of the competent Legislature is an act which is done once for all and is not an act which like the levy is done continuously or periodically. In the context of Art. 277 the word 'levy' can only mean collection. Therefore the only natural and proper construction that can be placed on the expression "which immediately before the commencement of this Constitution were being lawfully levied" is "which immediately before the commencement of the Constitution were being actually collected under some law sanctioning the collection". Therefore, the stamp duty on bills of exchange under Act No. 5 of 1950 which became operative on 29th January, 1950 not being one which was being levied before the commencement of the Constitution is not saved under Art. 277. 1956 Madh BLJ 740 : Madh BLR 1956 Civil 597 : ILR (1956) Madh B 339 : AIR 1956 Madh B 177 (179, 180, 182) (Pt B) (Prs 5, 7, 9, 29, 44) (DB).

——Art. 277 — Applicability — Madras Government Notification No. 941, dated 18th November, 1952, imposing duty on medicinal preparations, validity— As neither the Legislature nor Government of Madras had on that day any competence to impose duty on medicinal preparations, imposition under notification is not within saving of Art. 277 and must be held to be ultra vires'. See Ibid, Art. 162. AIR 1954 Mad 643 (DB).

3. "Continued to be levied".

●——Art. 277 — 'Continue to be levied' and 'to be applied to the same purposes'— Interpretation of — 'Levy' does not in the context mean imposition of tax.

The import of the words 'may continue to be levied' in Art. 277 may be summarised in these terms: (1) the tax must be one which was lawfully levied by a local authority for the purpose of a local area, (2) the identity of the body that collects the tax, the area for whose benefit the tax is to be utilised and the purpose for which the utilization is to take place continue to be the same and (3) the rate of the tax is not enhanced nor its incidence in any manner altered, so that it continues to be the same tax.

From the mere fact that a State enactment, e.g., the C. P. and Berar Municipalities Act, 1922, S. 66 (1) (o) has authorised a municipality to levy a tax it cannot be said that a tax which had never been imposed was 'being lawfully levied' by the municipality. Section 66 merely enabled the Municipal Committee by appropriate procedure to impose the tax. If this power had been availed of and a charge had been imposed it would be a different matter. So long as the Municipal Committee did not pass the necessary resolutions and impose the tax there was no charge levied on the commodity, so that it could not be said that the tax 'was being lawfully levied' before the commencement of the Constitution. The words 'was being lawfully levied' mean 'was actually levied' and it would not be sufficient to satisfy those words that the Municipal authority could lawfully levy the tax, but had not availed itself of that power. The last portion of Art. 277 uses the words 'continue to be levied' and 'to be applied to the same purposes'. By reason of this collection between the concept of the levy and of application of the proceeds of the tax, the Constitution makers intended the word 'levy' to be understood as including the collection of the tax, for it is only when a tax is collected that any question of its application to a particular purpose would arise. It is apparent that if the word 'levied' was understood, in the sense of an imposition, that is charging of a tax, there could be no 'application' of the proceeds of the tax to the same purposes as at the commencement of the Constitution. AIR 1950 Madh B 177, Approved. Town Municipal Committee, Amraoti Taluq v. Ramchandra Vasudeo Chimote, (1964) 6 SCR 947 : (1965) 1 SCA 1 : 66 Bom LR 492 : (1964) 1 SCWR 639 : 1964 MPLJ 742 : (1964) 53 ITR 444 : 1964 Mah LJ 609 : 1964 Jab LJ 501 : AIR 1964 SC 1166 (1170, 1171) (Pt B) (Prs 8, 9, 10).

●——Art. 277 — "Continue to be levied" — Interpretation — Whether confers power on Provincial Legislature to legislate for continuance of tax — Provincial Legislation empowering local authority to levy terminal tax — Repeal after commencement of Government of India Act, 1935— Absence of saving clause in new legislation as to levy of terminal tax — Subsequent amendment conferring such power with retrospective operation from repeal of earlier Act — Validity — Amendment, if saved by S. 143 (2), Government of India Act. See Government of India Act (1935), S. 143 (2). AIR 1962 SC 1073.

●——Art. 277 — Central Provinces Local Self-Government Act (4 of 1920), S. 51 — C. P. and Berar Local Government Act (38 of 1948) — Government of India Act (1915), S. 80-A (3) — Coal tax originally imposed under S. 51 on March 2, 1935 was valid and continued to be valid after Government of India Act, 1935 and the Constitution — Government of India Act (1935), Ss. 143, 292. See Central Provinces Local Self-Government Act (4 of 1920), S. 51. AIR 1961 SC 964.

——Art. 277 and Seventh Schedule List I, Entry 84 and List II, Entry 51 — Bengal Excise Act (5 of 1909), S. 29-A — Medicinal preparations containing alcohol — Excise duty imposed by State Government before Constitution—Evasion of such duty is punishable under Bengal Excise Act.

Although after the Constitution has come into force no fresh excise duty can be imposed on medicinal preparations containing alcohol by a State Government and this must be done by the Central Government, the excise duty,if any, imposed before the Constitution came into force by the Provincial Government on such medicines, is saved by Art. 277 and S. 29-A of the Bengal Excise Act as amended by the West Bengal Adaptation of Existing Laws Order. Accordingly, if any duty on medicinal preparations was lawfully leviable by the West Bengal Government before the Constitution came into force, it will continue to be leviable and any evasion of such duty will be punishable under the provisions of the Bengal Excise Act. ILR (1956) 2 Cal 22.

●——Art. 277 — Sales Tax — T. C. General Sales Tax Act (XI of 1125), Ss. 2 (e), 2 (f), 2 (k), 2 (1); 3 — T. C. General Sales Tax Rules (1950), R. 4 (3) — Levy of sales tax on works contract — Validity after coming into force of the Constitution — Act and rules held saved by Arts. 372 and 277 — State can claim benefits of the Article and continue the tax. See Sales Tax — T. C. General Sales Tax Act (XI of 1125 M. E.), S. 2 (e). AIR 1962 Ker 72 (FB).

[Reversed in AIR 1964 SC 207.]

——Arts. 277, 245 and 246— (Sales Tax—Travancore-Cochin General Sales Tax Act (1125)) — "Continued to be levied" — Levy of sales tax in respect of works contract — Legality.

Sales tax in respect of works contracts was being levied immediately before the commencement of the Constitution under the provisions of the Cochin General Sales Tax Act XV of 1121, in the Cochin area and under the provisions of the Travancore General Sales Tax Act 1124, in the Travancore area of the Travancore-Cochin State. Those Acts were repealed only by S. 27 of the Travancore-Cochin General Sales Tax Act, 1125, when it came into force on the 30th May, 1950. Such a tax can continue to be levied after the commencement of the Constitution. AIR 1953 Raj 145, Rel. on. 1957 Ker LT 380 : (1957) 8 STC 347 : 1957 Ker LJ 349 : ILR (1957) Kerala 462 : AIR 1957 Kerala 146 (150) (Pt C) (Prs 13, 15) (DB).

[Overruled in AIR 1958 SC 560.]

——Arts. 277 and 278 (1) (a) — Tax under Gwalior War Profits Tax Ordinance — Levy of — Agreement between President and Rajpramukh — Validity — Gwalior War Profits Tax Ordinance (2001).

Per Shinde, C. J. :— Article 277 is not relevant in considering whether the War Profits Tax could be assessed and realised for the accounting period that ended on 30-6-46. But the Ordinance is still in force by virtue of Art. 278 (1) (a). The Madhya Bharat authorities for War Profits Tax can assess and realize the War Profits Tax after the 26th of January, 1950 by virtue of Art. 278 (1) (a), and the agreement entered into thereunder. The financial agreement entered into between the President and the Rajpramukh on 25th February, 1950 is valid in law.

Per Dixit, J. :— The tax under the Gwalior War Profits Tax Ordinance is a tax which was being lawfully levied by the Madhya Bharat Government immediately before the comencement of the Constitution and as such in view of Art. 277 the Madhya Bharat Government is entitled to continue to levy and collect it after the commencement of the Constitution from the persons liable to pay the tax under the Ordinance. The tax is not a tax leviable in the sense in which the word "leviable" is used in Art. 278 (1) (a). AIR 1953 Madh Bha 20 (21, 22, 25, 26) (Pt B) (Prs 3, 6 19, 21) (DB).

●——Art. 277 — Central Excises and Salt Act (1944), S. 1 — Act extended to State of Rajasthan from 1-4-1950 — Arrears of cotton excise duties due to State of Rajasthan for period before 1-4-1950 — Arrears cannot be said to be assets or rights under Art. 295 (1) which could be taken over by Union Government. See Ibid, Art. 295 (1). AIR 1953 Raj 145 (FB).

[Reversed on another point in AIR 1961 SC 683].

4. "Unitil provision to the contrary is made by Parliament by law."

●——Art. 277 — Medicinal and Toilet Preparations (Excise Duties) Act (1955), S. 21 — Rules under Act, Rules 143, 141 — Hyderabad Abkari Act (I of 1316-F) — Hyderabad Medicinal Preparations and Spirituous Rules (1345-F), R. 36 — Rule 36 is repealed and not saved by proviso to S. 21 — Act came into force from 1-4-57 and is law made otherwise by Parliament within meaning of Art. 277 — Hence duties and other charges levied by State in connection with medicinal preparations could no longer be levied by it. See Medicinal and Toilet Preparations (Excise Duties) Act (1955), S. 21. AIR 1964 SC 1870.

●——Art. 277 and Sch. VII, List I, Entry 84 — Medicinal and Toilet Preparations (Excise Duties) Act (1955), Ss. 2 (g), 3 and 31 and Sch., Item 1 — Ayurvedic preparations — Preparations held to be medicinal preparations within S. 2 (g) of Act — Excise duty levied on such preparations by State Government — Continuity of this power and its termination —On enactment of Act, this power no longer vests in State Governments.

The duties levied on the medicinal and toilet preparations by the State Governments continued to be levied by the State Governments by virtue of the provisions contained in Art. 277 of the Constitution of India, even though the power to levy such duty, which vested formerly in the States by virtue of Item 40 in List 2 of Sch. VII of the Government of India Act, 1935, has, under Entry 84 in List I of Sch. VII of the Constitution of India, now been vested in the Central Government. Art. 277 also provided that this power of the State continued until provision to the contrary is made by Parliament by law, which it did by enacting the Medicinal and Toilet Preparations (Excise Duties) Act, 1955 and bringing it into force on 1st April 1957. The consequence of this enactment is that the power of the States to levy duties any further on medicinal and toilet preparations came to an end in view of Art. 277 of the Constitution. S. 21 of the Act has repealed any State law corresponding to the Central Act. The effect of this repeal is that the Excise Acts of the various States under which duty was being levied on medicinal and toilet preparations containing alcohol must be deemed to have been repealed, in so far as they apply to such medicinal and toilet preparations.

There can thus be no question of medicinal and toilet preparations being liable to duty under the Central Act as well as the various Excise Acts in force in the States.

Held, that the three Ayurvedic preparations, namely, Mritasanjibani, Mritasanjibani Sudha and Mritasanjibani Sura were medicinal preparations as defined in S. 2 (g) of the Medicinal and Toilet Preparations (Excise Duties) Act, 1955. They were also capable of being used as ordinary alcoholic beverages. They would, therefore, fall under the Central Act and would be liable to duty under Item 1 of the Schedule to the Central Act. As these preparations are medicinal preparations, they will be governed by the Medicinal and Toilet Preparations (Excise Duties) Act, 1955 and the omission of these preparations from the list appended to the Rules framed under the Act will not make any difference to their being medicinal preparations within the meaning of the Act. Adhyaksha Mathur Babu's Sakti Oushadhalaya Dacca (P.) Ltd. v. Union of India. 1963 Mad WN 211: (1963) 3 SCR 957: (1963) SCD 566: (1963) 2 SCJ 491: (1963) 2 An WR (SC) 118: (1963) 2 MLJ (SC) 118: (1963) 2 SCA 359: AIR 1963 SC 622 (625, 626, 627, 628, 629) (Prs 6, 7, 9).

● ——Arts. 277, 278 — Arrears of Excise duty and Rajasthan Ordinance (XXV of 1949) — Union of India entitled to levy and recover arrears of Excise duty on cloth held in stock or manufactured before 1st April, 1950 — ILR (1953) 3 Raj 128: AIR 1953 Raj 145 (FB), Reversed.

Article 277 is in the nature of a saving provision permitting the States to levy a tax or a duty which, after the Constitution, could be levied only by the Centre. But Article 277 must yield to any agreement made between the Government of India and the Government of a State in Part B in respect of such taxes or duties, etc. The provision to the contrary contemplated by Art. 277 was made by the Finance Act, XXV of 1950, Section 11, which extended the Central Excises and Salt Act, 1944, alone with other Acts to the whole of India except the State of Jammu and Kashmir. But that section has effect only from April 1, 1950 and therefore, does not apply to the arrears of duty of excise in controversy. The agreement envisaged by Art. 278 was entered into on February 25, 1950. Union of India v. Maharaja Kishanagarh Mills, Ltd., (1961) 3 SCR 524 : (1961) 2 SCJ 202: AIR 1961 SC 683 (687, 688) (Pt B) (Pr 6).

——Arts. 277 and 372 (1) — Export tax imposed under Bikaner Municipal Act — Validity — (Municipalities — Rajasthan Town Municipalities Act (XXIII of 1951), Ss. 2 (b), 59 — Scope).

The Constitution had come into force before the Rajasthan Town Municipalities Act of 1951 was passed. After the coming into force of the Constitution, the legislature of Rajasthan could not impose a tax which was not covered by Lists II and III of the Constitution. When Section 2 (b) of the Act lays down that all taxes imposed shall be deemed to have been imposed under this Act, it can only refer to such taxes which can be imposed by the State Legislature under its powers in List II and List III. Residuary clause in Section 59 cannot authorise the imposition of a tax which it was not within the power of the State Legislature to impose at all under Lists II and III. Export tax which was imposed by the Notification of the 29th of July, 1933, cannot be deemed to have been continued by Section 2 (b) of the Act which repealed the Bikaner Municipal Act. It, therefore, follows that even if this export tax could continue under Art. 277 so long as the Bikaner Act was in force by virtue of Art. 372, it must be deemed to have come to an end when the Rajasthan Act was passed in 1951. Hence export taxes levied by the Municipality of Karanpur by virtue of notification, dated the 29th of July, 1933, or any other notification shall no longer be levied and collected. 1954 Raj LW 430, Dist. 1956 Raj LW 214: ILR (1956) 6 Raj 160: AIR 1957 Raj 226 (229, 230) (Pt G) (Prs 14, 15, 17) (DB).

5. "Levy" and "imposition" — Distinction.

——Art. 277 — "Levy" and "imposition" — Distinction pointed out. See Ibid, Art. 265. AIR 1953 Madh Bha 20 (DB).

ARTICLE 278

●——Arts. 278, 294 and 295 — Scope — Agreement, dated 7-4-1947 by former Ruler of Gwalior State to grant exemption from payment of tax to certain corporation — Contractual obligation devolving on Part B State of Madhya Bharat due to constitutional changes and ultimately on Government of India by virtue of Art. 295 (1) (b) — Art. 295 (1) (b) does not cast any constitutional obligation on Government of India to fulfil it and it can be affected by law validly passed by Parliament — Agreement, dated 25-2-1950 between President of India and Madhya Bharat with regard to continuance of such privileges and immunities — Effect of — Income Tax Act (1922), Section 60-A — Finance Act (1950), Section 13 — Part B States (Taxation Concessions) Order (1950), Cl. 16 — Effect of, is to supersede agreement, dated 7-4-1947 — Company held not entitled to claim exemption from payment of Income-tax by virtue of that agreement — AIR 1960 Madh Pra 330, Reversed; AIR 1963 SC 953 and AIR 1964 SC 1495, Rel. on. Union of India v. Gwalior Rayon Silk Mfg. (Wvg.) Co., Ltd. (1965) 2 SCJ 41: (1964) 7 SCR 892: (1964) 53 ITR 466: (1964) 9 Fac LR 124: AIR 1964 SC 1903 (1914, 1915, 1916, 1917, 1918, 1919, 1920) (Pt B) (Prs 22, 23, 26, 28, 30, 33).

●——Arts. 278, 277 — Scope — Art. 277 is superseded by agreement under Art. 278.

The effect of the provisions in Art. 278 is that to the extent covered by an agreement the power of the State Government to continue to levy taxes under Art. 277 is superseded. AIR 1961 SC 683. Foll. South India Corporation (P.) Ltd. v. Secretary, Board of Revenue, Trivandrum, 1963 Ker LJ 937: (1963) 2 Ker LR 312: (1963) 2 SCWR 401: (1964) 15 STC 74: (1964) 2 SCJ 415: AIR 1964 SC 207 (210, 211, 212) (Pt B) (Pr 10).

●——Art. 278 — Agreement dated 25-2-1950 between President of India and Rajpramukh of the State of Travancore-Cochin — Effect — Agreement did not exclude taxes which State was authorised to levy for temporary period — Constitution (Seventh Amendment) Act (1956) did not affect validity of the agreement.

The agreement, dated 25-2-1950 entered into between the President of India and the Rajpramukh of the State of Travancore-Cochin incorporated the recommendations made by the Indian State Finance Enquiry Committee with some modifications. The loss arising to the State on account of the federal financial integration in the State was ascertained and a provision was made for subsidizing the State by filling up the said revenue-gap. It would be unreasonable to construe the agreement as to exclude from its operation certain taxes which the State was authorized to levy for a temporary period. Though Art. 278 was omitted by the Constitution (Seventh Amendment) Act, 1956, the agreement entered into in exercise of a power thereunder did not come to an end and thereafter the power of the State to levy the tax did not come in to life again. The validity of an agreement depends upon the existence of power at the time it was entered into. Its duration will be limited by its terms or by the conditions imposed on the power itself. Article 278 conferred a power upon the Union and the B State to enter into an agreement which would continue in force for a period not exceeding ten years from the commencement of the Constitution. The agreement in question fell squarely within the scope of the power. That agreement therefore, would have its full force unless the Constitution (Seventh Amendment) Act, 1956, in terms avoided it. The said amendment was only prospective in operation and it could not have affected the validity of the agreement. South India Corporation (P), Ltd. v. Secretary, Board of Revenue, Trivandrum, 1963 Ker LJ 937: (1963) 2 Ker LR 312: (1963) 2 SCWR 401: (1964) 15 STC 74: (1964) 2 SCJ 415: AIR 1964 SC 207 (212, 213) (Pt C) (Pr 11).

●——Art. 278 — Scope — "Subject to other provisions of the Constitution" — Expression means that if there is conflict between pre-existing law and provision of the Constitution latter will prevail — Art. 372 is subject to Art. 278. See Ibid, Art. 372. AIR 1964 SC 207.

●——Art. 278 — Arrears of Excise duty on cloth recoverable from manufacturer in Rajasthan upto 31-3-50 under Rajasthan Ordinance 25 of 1949— Whether can be recovered by Union Government after 1-4-50 — Article 277 whether bars Union Government's right to realise such arrears—Effect of agreement entered into between President of India and Raj Pramukh of Rajasthan on 25-2-50. AIR 1953 Raj 145 (FB), Reversed. See Ibid, Art. 277. AIR 1961 SC 683.

●——Art. 278 — 'Assessment', meaning of — If includes reassessment — Effect of recommendations of Finance Inquiry Committee — Section 13 (1), Finance Act, not void—Recommendations do not bring Section 13 (1) into conflict with Arts. 278 and 295 of the Constitution. See Finance Act (1950), S. 13 (1). AIR 1958 SC 795.

——Arts. 278 and 277 — Tax under Gwalior War Profits Tax Ordinance—Levy of—Agreement between President and Rajpramukh—Validity—Gwalior War Profits Tax Ordinance (2001). See Ibid, Art. 277. AIR 1953 Madh Bha 20 (DB).

——Art. 278 — Validity of Section 13, Finance Act, 1950 — Contravention of Agreement between the President and Raj Pramukh. See Finance Act (1950), Section 13. AIR 1955 Mys 49 (DB).

——Arts. 278, 291, 295 and 306 — Report of Indian States Finances Enquiry Committee — If 'law'.

It is erroneous to say that the Report of the Indian States Finances Enquiry Committee acquired the force of law when its recommendations were accepted by the President and the Raj Pramukh under agreement, dated 25-2-1950 in accordance with the provisions contained in Arts. 278, 291, 295 and 306. The Courts will take cognizance of the agreement so far as it relates to matters specified in Arts. 278, 291, 295 and 306 of the Constitution. ILR (1959) 9 Raj 984: 1960 Raj LW 44 : AIR 1960 Raj 92 (99) (Pt E) (Pr 40) (DB).

●——Arts. 278 and 295—Recovery of arrears of cotton excise duty in Rajasthan.

The Union of India is not entitled to levy and recover arrears of excise duty on cotton cloth, held in stock or manufactured before 1-4-1950, by the mill manufacturing cotton cloth in Rajasthan, by virtue of Arts. 278 and 295 of the Constitution of India, and the agreement entered into between the President of India and the Rajpramukh of Rajasthan on 25-2-1950. Maharaja Kishangarh Mills Ltd. v. Union of India, ILR (1953) 3 Raj 128: 1953 RLW 381: AIR 1953 Raj 145 (149) (Pt A) (Pr 16) (FB).

[Reversed in AIR 1961 SC 683.]

●——Art. 278 (1) (a) — "Duty leviable by Government of India."

In view of Art. 277 cotton excise duty was actually leviable by the State of Rajasthan up to 31-3-1950 because Parliament made the contrary provision only from 1-4-1950 by extending the application of the Central Excises and Salt Act 1944 to Rajasthan. Therefore, for the period before 1-4-1950, cotton excise duty cannot be said to be duty leviable by the Govt. of India within the meaning of Art. 278 (1) (a) so far as the State of Rajasthan is concerned. Hence Art. 278 can have no application with respect to a duty which was leviable by the State of Rajasthan up to 31-3-1950. Maharaja Kishangarh Mills, Ltd. v. Union of India, ILR (1953) 3 Raj 128: 1953 RLW 381: AIR 1953 Raj 145 (148, 149) (Pt C) (Pr 12) (FB).

[Reversed on another point in AIR 1961 SC 683.]

——Arts. 278 and 295 — Travancore Income Tax Act (1121), Section 47 — Power to be reassessed is saved by Section 13, Finance Act — (Finance Act (1950), Section 13) — There is nothing in Arts. 278 and 295 or agreement between President of Union and Rajpramukh of Travancore-Cochin which militates against this — (Words and Phrases — "Levy, assessment and collection" includes "reassessment"). See Travancore Income-tax Act (1121), Section 47. AIR 1957 TC 303.

ARTICLE 281

——Arts. 281, 123 (2) (a), 151 and 213 (a) — Madras Motor Vehicles Rules (1940), Rule 134-A — Validity of — Non-compliance with Section 133 (3) of Act 4 of 1939 — Effect of — "Shall be laid before the Parliament" — Meaning of — (Interpretation of Statutes) — (Words and Phrases) — (Motor Vehicles Act (1939), Section 133 (3)).

Where the statute makes the laying of the rules before Parliament a condition precedent or the resolution of the Parliament a condition subsequent, there is no difficulty as, in the former case, the rule has no legal force at all till the condition precedent is complied with and in the later case, it ceases to have force from the date of non-compliance with the conditions subsequent. See Madras Motor Vehicles Rules (1940), R. 134-A. AIR 1956 Andhra 129.

ARTICLE 282

——Arts. 282 and 226 — Expenditure of public money for defence of Government servants in criminal prosecution — Prohibition of — Issue of writ.

Where the accused, Government servants, are being prosecuted under Section 500/109, Penal Code and the Sessions Judge takes the view that the acts complained of were not committed by the accused in the discharge of their official duties, the accused, not having challenged that view, are bound by it. The Government, however, not being a party to the proceedings in the Court below, cannot be said to be strictly bound by the decision of the Sessions Judge and, therefore, is entitled to give the benefit of Rule 189 to the accused.

Apart from that, a tax payer has no right to challenge expenditure of public monies by Government. Article 282 of the Constitution confers a very wide discretion on a State Government. If the Government purports to spend money for a purpose which it characterises as a public purpose though in point of fact it is not a public purpose the proper place to criticise the action of the Government would be the legislature or the Appropriation Committee. It is not permissible to the High Court to interfere with the powers of the Government in this respect under Art. 226 of the Constitution. AIR 1949 Bom 229, Distinguished. (1923) 262 U. S. 447, Rel. on. AIR 1955 SC 549, Followed. (1960) 1 Fac WR 63 : ILR (1960) Bom 941 : 1960 Nag LJ 538 : 62 Bom LR 880 : AIR 1961 Bom 167 (168, 169) (Prs 4, 5, 7) (DB).

——Art. 282 — S. 76 (4), Madras Hindu Religious and Charitable Endowments Act (19 of 1951) for payment of expenses of administration of Religious Endowments by Government does not violate Art. 282 — Hence Act cannot be held void on that ground — (Madras Hindu Religious and Charitable Endowments Act (19 of 1951), Section 76). 66 Mad LW 947 : 1953 Mad WN 807: (1953) 2 Mad LJ 699: ILR (1955) Mad 356: AIR 1954 Mad 385 (391, 393) (Pt B) (Prs 9, 13) (DB).

ARTICLE 285

●——Arts. 285 (1), 289 (1), 245, 366 (28), 265, Sch. 7, List I, Items 83, 84, 41 and 42—Immunity of property and income of States from Union taxation — Scope and extent of — Levy of customs duties (export or import) and excise duties by Union on property of State — Levy not covered by exemption and can be validly imposed. See Ibid, Art. 289 (1). (1964) 1 ITJ 671 : (1964) 2 SCJ 51: (1964) 2 SCA 97: (1964) 3 SCR 787: AIR 1963 SC 1760.

——Art. 285 (2) — Liability of Railway to continue paying taxes levied by Municipality.

Where the Municipal Board had levied the house-tax and water tax on the property of the Railway long before the commencement of the Constitution and this tax continued to be paid till 31-3-1953, then in the absence of any law since the enforcement of the Constitution providing otherwise, the liability for the payment of the tax by the Railway continues in view of the provisions of Art. 285 (2) of the Constitution. ILR (1957) 1 All 455: 1957 All LJ 531: 1957 All WR (HC) 601: AIR 1957 All 452 (454) (Pt C) (Pr 6) (DB).

——Art. 285 (2) — Scope — Increase in quantum of Municipal tax — Competency.

Any variation of the quantum of Municipal tax based on an increase in the value of the property or additions made to that property is covered by Cl. (2) of Art. 285 of the Constitution. AIR 1948 Cal 116, Rel. on. 1957 All LJ 531 : 1957 All WR (HC) 601: AIR 1957 All 452 (454) (Pt D) (Pr 10) (DB).

——Art. 285 — Taxation of Railway Administration — Procedure. See Municipalities — U. P. Municipalities Act (II of 1916). 1953 All LJ 497: 1953 All WR (HC) 613: AIR 1954 All 56 (DB).

——Art. 285 (2) — Construction — Consideration of previous law — (Interpretation of Statutes).

In view of the clear language of Art. 285 (2), the Article should be construed on its language without reference to any extraneous consideration, such as the history of the legislation. ILR (1958) 1 Cal 404: AIR 1957 Cal 548 (549) (Pt A) (Pr 4) (DB).

——Art. 285 (2) — "Treated as liable" — Meaning of — Central Government property taxed by Municipal Corporation for period immediately before Constitution — Validation of — (Government of India Act (1935), Section 154, Proviso).

Union property would be liable to a particular local tax under Art. 285 (2) of the Constitution if, at the relevant date namely, immediately before the commencement of the Constitution, it was, in fact, assessed to such tax as Central Government property and the same was being actually paid The phrase "treated as liable" has the same legal meaning in both the proviso to Section 154 of the Government of India Act, 1935 and Cl. (2) of Art. 285 of the Constitution.

Held on the facts that as the properties were actually assessed to municipal tax, and such tax was being paid and realised also, immediately before the commencement of the Constitution and as the Parliament had not otherwise provided under Art. 285 (2), the properties were "treated as liable" to such tax on that date. AIR 1948 Cal 116 (2), Rel. on. ILR (1958) 1 Cal 404: AIR 1957 Cal 548 (550) (Pt B) (Prs 10, 11) (DB).

——Art. 285 — Buildings or land belonging to Union of India — Exemption from local tax — (Government of India Act (1935), Section 154) — (Municipalities — Calcutta Municipal Act (XXXIII of 1951), Section 165).

The corporation, under the Calcutta Municipal Act, does not value land and building in a premises separately for purposes of assessment of the consolidated rates. But this is only material when considering as to what property was subject to exemption under the relative provisions of the Government of India Act, 1935 (Section 154) and the Constitution of India (Art. 285). Whether it is building or land, the exemption has to operate, if it belongs to the Union. 61 Cal WN 912: AIR 1957 Cal 431 (436) (Pt A) (Pr 19).

——Art. 285 — Property of Union of India — (Municipalities — Calcutta Municipal Act (33 of 1951), Section 165).

What constitutes 'property' of the Union will be a question of fact, and will not depend upon the way in which a municipality may choose to impose its rates and taxes. 61 Cal WN 912: AIR 1957 Cal 431 (437) (Pt B) (Pr 24).

——Art. 285 — Taxing property of Union and apportioning payment thereof — Distinction — Lease of Union property — Power of Calcutta Corporation to levy tax on interest of lessee in leased property — (Municipalities — Calcutta Municipal Act (33 of 1951), S. 165).

There is a distinction between levying a tax on the property of the Union and apportioning the payment between the owner and the occupier, and levying a tax directly on the interest of the lessee or occupier although it is an interest carved out of the property of the Union.

Under the Calcutta Municipal Act, 1951 the property is valued and assessed as a whole irrespective of the fact as to who is the owner or the occupier, and then the liability is apportioned between the owner and the occupier. In effect, it is a tax on the 'property', which must be taken to mean the property of the owner, but part of the tax is realised from the occupier. 61 Cal WN 912: AIR 1957 Cal 431 (437) (Pt C) (Pr 24).

——Art. 285 — Power of Calcutta Corporation to levy tax on property of Union of India — (Municipalities — Calcutta Municipal Act (33 of 1951), Section 165).

The present law does not enable the State Legislature or the Corporation of Calcutta to levy the consolidated rate or any part thereof upon the interest of the lessee in the property belonging to the Union of India. The State Legislature has not yet made an appropriate law enabling the Corporation to levy any part of the consolidated rates directly upon the lessee of a property belonging to the Union. 61 Cal WN 912: AIR 1957 Cal 431 (437) (Pt D) (Pr 25).

——Art. 285 — Railways (Local Authorities' Taxation) Act (1941), Sections 4, 3 — Distinction between — Railway property liable to taxation before 1937 — Section 4 applies — Fresh notification not necessary (Government of India Act (1935), Section 154). See Railways (Local Authorities' Taxation) Act (1941), Section 4. AIR 1959 Pat 216.

ARTICLE 286

SYNOPSIS

(Constitution of India (1950), Art. 286)

1. Constitution (Sixth Amendment) Act, 1956 — Object and effect.
2. Scope and object of the Article.
3. Interpretation of the Article.
4. Clause (1).
5. Clause (1) (a).
6. Clause (1) (a), Explanation — Before Constitution (Sixth Amendment) Act, 1956.
7. Sale and purchase in course of import and export — Clause (1) (b).
8. Clause (2) — Inter-State sales — Before Constitution (Sixth Amendment) Act, 1956.
9. Clause (2), Proviso — Before Constitution (Sixth Amendment) Act, 1956.
10. Clause (2) — Inter-State sales — After Constitution (Sixth Amendment) Act, 1956.
11. Clause (3) — Sale of essential commodities.
12. Validity of sales-tax laws — Illustrative cases.

1. Constitution (Sixth Amendment) Act, 1956 — Object and effect.

This article has been radically amended by the Constitution (Sixth Amendment) Act, 1956. The original Art. 286 is reproduced below for convenience of reference:—

"286. (1) No law of a State shall impose, or authorise the imposition of, a tax on the sale or purchase of goods where such sale or purchase takes place—

(a) outside the State; or

(b) in the course of the import of the goods into, or export of the goods out of, the territory of India.

Explanation.— For the purposes of sub-cl. (a) a sale or purchase shall be deemed to have taken place in the State in which the goods have actually been delivered as a direct result of such sale or purchase for the purpose of consumption in that State, notwithstanding the fact that under the general law relating to sale of goods the property in the goods has by reason of such sale or purchase passed in another State.

(2) Except in so far as Parliament may by law otherwise provide, no law of a State shall impose, or authorise the imposition of, a tax on the sale or purchase of any goods where such sale or purchase takes place in the course of inter-State trade or commerce:

Provided that the President may by order direct that any tax on the sale or purchase of goods which was being lawfully levied by the Government of any State immediately before the commencement of this Constitution shall, notwithstanding that the imposition of such tax is contrary to the provisions of this clause, continue to be levied until the thirty-first day of March 1951.

(3) No law made by the Legislature of a State imposing, or authorising the imposition of, a tax on the sale or purchase of any such goods as have been declared by Parliament by law to be essential for the life of the community shall have effect unless it has been reserved for the consideration of the President and has received his assent."

By the above-mentioned amendment, the Explanation to Cl. (1) of the article was omitted, and Cls. (2) & (3) were replaced by new Cls. (2) and (3). The object of the amendment is as follows: There was a conflict of views as regards the interpretation of the article, and this conflict of views existed even in the decisions of the Supreme Court. The conflict related to the question whether a State had the power to impose tax on a sale or purchase of goods in transactions of an inter-State character, when the imposition of such tax was not authorised by law by Parliament. According to the decision of the Supreme Court in the State of Bombay v. United Motors (India) Ltd., AIR 1953 SC 252, a State had the power of imposing such taxes irrespective of any authority from a law made by Parliament, provided that the goods were actually delivered within the State for the purpose of consumption. This view proceeded upon the basis that under Cl. (1) of the article the State within which the sale or purchase took place had the power of imposing a tax on it and under the Explanation to the clause the State within which the goods were actually delivered for consumption was the State within which the sale took place in the case of inter-State sales. This power of the State was not affected by the provision in Cl. (2) that except as might be otherwise provided by law by Parliament, a State has no power to impose a tax on a sale or purchase which took place in the course of inter-State trade or commerce. But this view was overruled by the Supreme Court in Bengal Immunity Co. Ltd. v. State of Bihar, AIR 1955 SC 661, in which it was held that, in the absence of a law by the Parliament under Cl. (2) of the article empowering a State to tax sales and purchases in the course of inter-State trade and commerce, a State could not tax an inter-State sale or purchase merely because under Cl. (1) Explanation, it was the State within which the sale must be deemed to have taken place by reason of the goods having been actually delivered for consumption within its borders. Thus, the position was arrived at that none of the States concerned in an inter-State sale or purchase could tax it in the absence of Parliamentary legislation authorising it to do so. Sales-tax being a State subject, the Centre also could not tax such sales. Thus, inter-State sales escaped althogether all liability for taxation either by the States or the Centre, as a result of the ruling of the Supreme Court in the Bengal Immunity Co.'s case.

The amendments introduced by the Constitution (Sixth Amendment) Act, 1956, now have solved this difficulty by making taxation of sales and purchases in the course of inter-State trade and commerce an exclusively Central subject.

This has been done by inserting Entry 92-A in Schedule VII, List I and amending Schedule VII, List II, Entry 54 by making it subject to the provisions of the new Entry 92-A of List I. Connected changes are also made in Art. 269. Under sub-cl. (g) which has been added to Cl. (1) of that Article, taxes on the sale or purchase of goods other than newspapers, where such sale or purchase takes place in the course of inter-State trade or commerce, shall be levied and collected by the Government of India but shall be assigned to the States in the manner provided in Cl. (2) of the article. By Cl. (3) of Article 269 which has been newly added to that article by the Constitution (Sixth Amendment) Act, 1956, Parliament may by law formulate principles for determining when a sale or purchase of goods takes place in the course of inter-State trade or commerce. In virtue of this power, Parliament has enacted Section 3 of the Central Sales Tax Act, 1956, which lays down the principles for determining when a sale or purchase takes place in course of inter-State trade and commerce.

It may also be noted that the Constitution (Sixth Amendment) Act, 1956, has omitted Explanation to Cl. (1) which had laid down the principle for determining in what State a sale or purchase should be deemed to have taken place in the case of transactions of an inter-State character. But under the amended Art. 286, the old Cl. (1) except the Exaplanation, which has been deleted, continues in force so that even under the amended article a State has no power to tax a sale or purchase which takes place outside its borders. Hence, even under the amended article, it is necessary to determine when a sale or purchase of goods should be deemed to take place outside the State. With regard to this question, Cl. (2) of the amended article provides that, Parliament may by law formulate the principles for determining when a sale or purchase of goods takes place outside a State. In virtue of this power, Parliament has enacted Sec. 4 of the Central Sales Tax Act, 1956 which lays down the principles for determining when a sale or purchase of goods can be said to take place outside a State. It will be seen that Section 4 is substantially different from the old "Explanation" to Cl. (1) and avoids the overlapping of inter-State and intra-State sales.

As Cl. (1) of Art. 286 is retained except for the omission of the Explanation, even under the amended article a State is prohibited from taxing a sale or purchase taking place in the course of export or import of the goods from or into India. The amendments introduced by the Constitution (Sixth Amendment) Act, 1956, now give the power to Parliament to lay down by law the principles for determining when a sale or purchase of goods takes place in the course of their export or import out of or into India. (See Art. 286, Clause (2)). In virtue of this power, Parliament has enacted Section 5 of the Central Sales Tax Act, 1956, laying down the principles for determining when a sale or purchase takes place in the course of export or import of the goods out of or into India. It will be seen that Section 4 of that Act substantially embodies the principles settled by the decisions of the Supreme Court in State of Travancore-Cochin v. Bombay Co. Ltd. (AIR 1952 SC 366) and State of Travancore-Cochin v. Shanmugha Vilas Cashewnut Factory, (AIR 1953 SC 333).

As already seen, the Constitution (Sixth Amendment) Act, 1956, has replaced the old Cls. (2) and (3) by new Cls. (2) and (3). The old Cl. (2) provided that except in so far as Parliament might by law otherwise provide, a State could not tax a sale or purchase taking place in the course of inter-State trade or commerce. The changes made in regard to this matter have already been noted above. As regards the old Cl. (3) it has been replaced by the new Cl. (3). There are two important points of difference between the old Cl. (3) and the present Cl. (3):

(i) The old Cl. (3) referred to the sale and purchase of goods declared by Parliament by law to be essential for the life of the community. The present Cl. (3) refers to goods declared by Parliament by law to be of special importance in intra-State trade and commerce;

(ii) The old Cl. (3) provided that any State law imposing a tax on the goods mentioned would not have effect unless it had received the President's assent. Under the present Cl. (3) any State law, imposing a tax on the sale or purchase of goods mentioned, would be subject to the restrictions and conditions that might be imposed by Parliament by law.

The following is the Statement of Objects and Reasons in connection with the amendments above referred to:

Statement of Objects and Reasons.

"While 'taxes on the sale or purchase of goods other than newspapers' is an entry in the State List, Art. 286 of the Constitution subjects the States' power to impose such taxes to four restrictions, of which two are total and two are partial. Under Cl. (1) of the article, a State is debarred from imposing such a tax when the sale or purchase takes place outside the State or in the course of import into, or export from, the country. With regard to the first restriction, namely, the non-taxability of sales outside the State, an explanation is given in the clause that 'a sale or purchase shall be deemed to have taken place in the State in which goods have actually been delivered as a direct result of such sale or purchase for the purpose of consumption in that State.' Then, under Cl. (2), a State is debarred from imposing the tax on inter-State sales except in so far as Parliament may otherwise provide. Lastly, under Cl. (3), Parliament is authorised to declare the goods which are essential to the life of the community, and when such a declaration has been made, any law made by a State Legislature imposing a tax on the sale or purchase of those goods has to receive the President's assent in order to be effective.

"High judicial authorities have found the interpretation of the article a difficult task and expressed divergent views as to the scope and effect, in particular, of the Explanation in Cl. (1) and of Cl. (2). The majority view of the Supreme Court in the State of Bombay v. United Motors (India) Ltd., 1953 SCR 1069 : (AIR 1953 SC 252), was that sub-cl. (a) and the Explanation in Cl. (1) prohibited the taxation of a sale involving inter-State elements by all States except the State in which the goods are delivered for the purpose of consumption therein, and furthermore, that Cl. (2) did not affect the power of that State to tax the inter-State sale even though Parliament had not made a law removing the ban imposed by that clause. This resulted in dealers resident in one State being subjected to the sales tax jurisdiction and procedure of several other States with which they had dealings in the normal course of their business. Two and a half years later, the second part of this decision was reversed by the Supreme Court in the Bengal Immunity Co., Ltd. v. State of Bihar, (1955) SCA 1140: (AIR 1955 SC 661), but here too the Court was not unanimous.

"In pursuance of Cl. (3) of the article, Parliament passed an Act in 1952 (The Essential Goods (Declaration and Regulation of Tax on Sale or Purchase) Act, 1952. This Act is now repealed by S. 16 of the Central Sales Tax Act, 1956), declaring a number of goods like foodstuffs of various kinds, cloth, raw cotton, cattle feeds, iron and steel, coal, etc., to be essential to the life of the community. Since this declaration could not affect pre-existing State laws imposing sales tax on these goods, the result was a wide disparity from State to State, not only in the range of exempted goods, but also in the rates applicable to them.

"The Taxation Enquiry Commision, after examining the problem with great care and thoroughness have made certain recommendations which may be summarised as follows. In essence, sales tax must continue to be a State source of revenue and its levy and administration must substantially pertain to the State Governments. The sphere of power and responsibility of the State may, however, be said to end, and that of the Union to begin, when the sales tax of one State impinges, administratively on the dealers, and fiscally on the consumers, of another State. Broadly, therefore, inter-State sales should be the concern of the Union, but the responsibilities pertaining to the Union could be exercised through the State Governments, and in any case the revenue should appropriately devolve on them. Intra-State sales, on the other hand, should be left to the States, but with one important exception. Where, for instance, raw material produced in a State is important from the point of view of the consumer or the industry of another State certain restrictions have to be placed on the taxing power of the State Government, as otherwise it can effect an increase in the cost of the manufactured article, whether such manufacture takes place in the State which produces the raw material, or in another State which imports the material from that State. In either case, to the extent that the finished goods are consumed in a State other than the one which taxes the raw material, the increase in cost on account of the tax is a matter of direct concern to the consumer of another State. Such cases of intra-State sales should appropriately be brought under the full control of the Union. These recommendations of the Commission have been generally accepted by all the State Governments.

"The object of this Bill is to give effect to the recommendations of the Commission as regards the amendment of the constitutional provisions relating to sales-tax.

"In Cl. 2, it is proposed to add a new Entry 92-A in the Union List placing taxes on inter-State sales and purchases within the exclusive legislative and executive power of the Union, and to make Entry 54 of the State List 'subject to the provisions' of this new entry.

"In Cl. 3, it is proposed to add these taxes to the list given in Cl. (1) of Art. 269, so that, although they will be levied and collected in accordance with an Act of Parliament, they will not form part of the Consolidated Fund of India, but will accrue to the States themselves in accordance with such principles of distribution as may be formulated by Parliament by law. A further provision is proposed in Art. 269 expressly empowering Parliament to formulate by law principles for determining when a sale or purchase of goods takes place in the course of inter-State trade or commerce.

"It is proposed in Cl. 4 to omit from Cl. (1) of Art. 286 the Explanation which has given rise to a great deal of legal controversy and practical difficulty. In view of the centralisation of inter-State sale tax proposed in Cl. 2 of this Bill, Cl. (2) of Art. 286 in its present form will cease to be appropriate. In its place it is proposed to insert a provision empowering Parliament to formulate principles for determining when a sale or purchase of goods takes place (a) outside a State, or (b) in the course of import of the goods into the territory of India, or (c) in the course of export of the goods out of the territory of India.

"It is further proposed to replace Cl. (3) of Art. 286 by a new clause on the lines recommended by the Taxation Enquiry Commission. Under this revised clause Parliament will have the power to declare by law the goods which are of special importance in inter-State trade or commerce and also to specify the restrictions and conditions to which any State law (whether made before or after the Parliamentary law) will be subject in regard to the system of levy, rates and other incidents of the tax on the sale or purchase of those goods."

2. Scope and object of the Article.

■ ——Art. 286 — Marginal note to Art. 286 of Constitution is unlike other Acts. Part of Constitution and furnishes clue to meaning and purpose of Article — (Civil P. C. (1908), Pre.). See Interpretation of Statutes. AIR 1955 SC 661.

■ ——Art. 286 — Scheme of the article.

There are four separate and independent restrictions placed upon the legislative competency of the State to make a law with respect to matters enumerated in Entry 54 of List II of the 7th Schedule. In order to make the ban effective and to leave no loophole the Constitution-makers have considered the different aspects of sales or purchases of goods and placed checks on the legislative power of the States at different angles. Thus in Cl. (1) (a) of Art. 286 the question of the situs of a sale or purchase engaged their attention and they forged a fetter on the basis of such situs to cure the mischief of multiple taxation by the States on the basis of the nexus theory. In Cl. (1) (b) they considered sales or purchases from the point of view of our foreign trade and placed a ban on the States' taxing power in order to make our foreign trade free from any interference by the States by way of a tax impost. In Cl. (2) they looked at sales or purchases in their inter-State character and imposed another ban in the interest of the freedom of internal trade. Finally, in Cl. (3) the Constitution-makers attention was revetted on the character and quality of the goods themselves and they placed a fourth restriction on the States' power of imposing tax on sales or purchases of goods declared to be essential for the life of the community. These several bans may overlap in some cases but in their respective scope and operation they are separate and independent. They deal with different phases of a sale or purchase but, nevertheless they are distinct and one has nothing to do with and is not dependent on the other or others. The State's legislative power with respect to a sale or purchase may be hit by one or more of these bans. Bengal Immunity Co., Ltd. v. State of Bihar. (1955) SCJ 672: ILR 34 Pat 905: (1955) 6 STC 446: (1955) 2 SCR 603: 1955 SCA 1140: (1955) 2 MLJ (SC) 16: 1955 Andhra WR (SC) 422: AIR 1955 SC 661 (676, 677) (Pt I) (Pr 24).

■ ——Art. 286 — Purpose of.

The different parts of the Article look upon sales and purchases from different perspectives and place different bans on the taxing power of the States at different angles. The circumstance that the bans may in given cases overlap is no justification for concluding that the subject-matter of the different provisions is the same. It is not correct to say that the only purpose of Art. 286, is to eliminate multiple taxation. Bengal Immunity Co., Ltd. v. State of Bihar, ILR 34 Pat 905: (1955) 6 STC 446: (1955) 2 SCR 603: (1955) SCJ 672: 1955 SCA 1140: (1955) 2 MLJ (SC) 168: 1955 Andhra WR (SC) 422: AIR 1955 SC 661 (686, 708) (Pt S) (Prs 44, 105).

■ ——Art. 286 — Tax on purchase.

A transaction of sale or purchase is not a unilateral transaction but a bilateral one and when it is looked at from the point of view of a sale or purchase it is one transaction which has two facets. From the point of view of a seller it is a sale transaction and from the point of view of a purchaser it is purchase transaction. When therefore, the transaction is one on which a tax on sale or purchase can be levied it does not necessarily mean that only a sales-tax can be levied and not a purchase-tax. The inside dealer may therefore, be taxed on his purchases or if he sells in retail to actual consumers in the State he may be taxed on the sales. Bengal Immunity

Co., Ltd. v. State of Bihar. ILR 34 Pat 905: (1955) 6 STC 446: (1955) 2 SCR 603: (1955) SCJ 672: 1955 SCA 1140: (1955) 2 MLJ (SC) 168: (1955) Andhra WR (SC) 422: AIR 1955 SC 661 (710) (Pt X) (Pr 110).

●——Art. 286 and Sch. VII, List 2, Entry 54 — Tax on sale.

If a sale or purchase takes place outside a State, the State Legislatures under the State List, have power to make laws with respect to tax on the sale or purchase of goods. On this general power Art. 286 places four restrictions, namely, that no law of a State shall impose or authorise the imposition of tax on the sale or purchase of goods when such sale or purchase takes place (1) oustide the State, (2) in the course of import or export, (3) in the course of inter-State trade and commerce, and (4) in respect of essential commodities. State of Trav-Co. v. S. V. C. Factory, (1953) SCJ 471: (1953) 2 MLJ 123: 66 Mad LW 611: 1954 SCR 53: ILR (1954) TC 1: 1954 SCA 1059: AIR 1953 SC 333 (352) (Pt E) (Pr 59).

——Art. 286 (1) and (2) — Scope and applicability.

Clauses (1) and (2) of Art. 286 of the Constitution are prohibitory clauses, laying down restrictions on the power of a State Law to impose or authorise the imposition of a tax on sales or purchases of goods. Clause (1) inter alia restricts the power of a State law to impose a tax to such sales or purchases as do not take place outside the State. What are sales outside a State is laid down in the Explanation which forms part of Cl. (1) of Art. 286 of the Constitution. Such a sale or purchase cannot be taxed by another State except the State in which the sale is deemed to have taken place because of the actual delivery of goods for consumption in that State. Clause (2) of Art. 286 deals with another aspect: Under that clause all sales in the course of inter-State trade or commerce are exempt from sales-tax except to the extent that Parliament may by law otherwise provide. This limitation on the power of a State law to impose tax on sales or purchases taking place in the course of inter-State trade or commerce is a separate and distinct ban on imposition of tax apart from the ban imposed by Cl. (1) (a) of that Article.

If either of the two limitations placed by Cl. (1) or Cl. (2) of Art. 286 of the Constitution comes into play, the State Law cannot tax such a sale or purchase.

If the imposition of tax is banned under Cl. (1) (a), it is immaterial whether the imposition of that tax is or is not banned under Cl. (2) of Art. 286. Even Cl. (1) (a) of Art. 286 deals with cases of inter-State trade and commerce and places a ban on taxation by State law of sales or purchases by all States other than the State in which, in such cases, the goods are actually delivered for consumption in that State. If this ban of Cl. (1) comes into operation, the non-applicability of the ban under Cl. (2) of Art. 286 becomes immaterial and the taxation of the sale by the State law must be held to be void. AIR 1953 SC 252. Discussed and Rel. on. ILR (1956) 1 All 107: 1955 All LJ 19: (1955) 6 STC 77: AIR 1955 All 99 (101, 102) (Pt A) (Prs 3, 4).

——Art. 286 — Article applies to laws made subsequent to, as well as to laws existing prior to, commencement of Constitution.

The language of Art. 286 makes it clear that the ban is imposed on every "law of the State" without making a distinction whether that law existed at the commencement of the Constitution or has been passed since the Constitution came into force. Wherever in the Constitution, it was intended that the ban should be only on future laws, the language used has specifically dealt with the making of a law by a State and the use of the word made in that connection for one form or the other has been brought in to make it clear that such provisions of the Constitution would govern only future laws. Where the words used are 'law of a State' these words are comprehensive enough to cover existing laws as well as laws made after the commencement of the Constitution. ILR (1956) 1 All 107: 1955 All LJ 19: (1955) 6 STC 77: AIR 1955 All 99 (103, 104) (Pt D) (Pr 7).

——Art. 286 — Whole of Art. 286 is imported into Explanation 2 to Section 2 (k), Hyderabad Sales Tax Act. See Sales Tax — Hyderabad General Sales Tax Act (XIV of 1950), Section 2 (k), Explanation 2. (1960) 1 Andh WR 145.

——Art. 286 — Scope — Section 22, Madras General Sales Tax Act — Explanation to section if can be read as explanation to definition of sale — Effect of Section 2 — Sales Tax Laws Validation Act. See Sales Tax — Madras General Sales Tax Act (IX of 1939), Section 2 (h). AIR 1958 AP 109 (DB).

——Art. 286 — Restrictions imposed on States' power to impose tax on sales.

Article 286 puts various restrictions upon the competence of the State Legislature to impose tax on the sale or purchase of goods. The first restriction is that it cannot tax a sale or purchase which takes place outside the State. It cannot tax a sale or purchase where goods are delivered for consumption outside the State. Further, it cannot tax sales or purchases, even though they may be inside the State, if the sales or purchases are in the course of the import of the goods into, or export of the goods out of, the territory of India. Finally, it cannot tax sales or purchases, even though they may have taken place inside the State, if the sales or purchases are in the course of inter-State trade or commerce. 55 Bom LR 246: 1953-4 STC 10 (DB).

[Reversed on another point in AIR 1953 SC 252 which itself was Overruled in AIR 1955 SC 661.]

——Arts. 286 and 226 — Retrospective effect.

Article 286 of the Constitution of India cannot affect the levy or collection of tax in respect of the periods before the date on which the Constitution came into force. It is not possible to exercise the powers under Art. 226 to examine the correctness of the orders of assessment in respect of pre-Constitution period. The Press Note issued by the Government of Madras on 9th January, 1954, relates solely to cases of sales-tax in respect of transactions after the date of the Constitution. 1959 Ker LJ 780: (1959) 10 STC 422: 1959 Ker LT 930: 1959 Ker LR 1030: AIR 1960 Ker 138 (139) (Pr 2).

——Art. 286 — Article does not mean that the powers of Part C States legislature are left unobstructed. See Ibid, Art. 246 (4). AIR 1965 Madh Pra 11 (DB).

——Arts. 286 and 264 (b) (before Constitution (Seventh Amendment) Act of 1956) — 'State' — Interpretation — Word 'State' used in Art. 286 must be read otherwise than as limited by Art. 264 (b) — Art. 286 applies to Part C States also. AIR 1951 Vin Pra 8 and 1957 AC 436 and AIR 1920 PC 114 and AIR 1960 SC 971 and AIR 1955 SC 661 and 1940 AC 613 and (1891) 1 QB 143 and (1948) 2 All ER 995, Rel. on. 1965 Jab LJ

85: 1964 MPLJ 836: (1964) 15 STC 841: AIR 1965 Madh Pra 11 (14) (Pt A) (Prs 9, 10) (DB).

——Art. 286 — Madras General Sales Tax (Turnover and Assessment) Rules (1939), Rule 16 (1) — Tanners entering into contracts with foreign buyers — Delivering bills of lading to banks — Tax is on last purchaser in the State — Dealer held properly taxed — Article 286 held not applicable. See Sales Tax — Madras General Sales Tax (Turnover and Assessment) Rules (1939), Rule 16 (1). 75 Mad LW 128.

——Art. 286 (2) — Power of Parliament to legislate retrospectively. See Ibid, Art. 245. AIR 1957 Mad 368 (DB).

——Art. 286 — Scope. See Sales-tax — Madras General Sales-tax Act (IX of 1939), Section 12-B. AIR 1955 NUC (Mad) 1562 (DB).

——Art. 286 — Scope and applicability. See Sales-tax — Madras General Sales-tax Act (IX of 1939). AIR 1954 Mad 1030.

——Art. 286 — Retrospective effect.

Article 286 cannot affect assessments made in respect of period prior to 26-1-1950, i.e., the date of the commencement of the Constitution. (1955) 6 STC 47: 67 MLW 647: AIR 1954 Mad 1030 (1038) (Pt H) (Pr 29).

——Art. 286 (1) (a) — Sale to foreign purchasers before Constitution — Assessability to tax. See Sales-tax — Madras General Sales-tax Act (XXV of 1947), S. 6. AIR 1954 Mad 1029 (DB).

——Art. 286 (1) (b) — Retrospective operation. See Ibid, Preamble. AIR 1955 Nag 99 (DB).

——Art. 286 — Orissa Sales Tax Act (XIV of 1947), S. 7 — Sales Tax — Exemption — Government has power to exempt — But it can be used only where dealer is liable to tax and not otherwise. See Sales Tax — Orissa Sales Tax Act (XIV of 1947), S. 7. AIR 1965 Orissa 190 (DB).

——Arts. 286, 246 (3) and Sch. 7, List 2, Entry 54 — Govt. of India Act (1935), S. 100 (3) and Sch. 7 List 2 Entry 48 — "For a province or any part thereof". See Government of India Act (1935), S. 100 (3). AIR 1956 Patna 92.

——Art. 286 — Retrospective effect — (Sales Tax— Bihar Sales Tax Act (XIX of 1947), Ss. 2 (g) and 4).

Art. 286 of the Constitution has no retrospective force. The Article does not affect transactions which are past and closed. The liability to pay sales tax is created by the charging sections and the assessment order only quantifies the liability which has already been created by the charging sections.

Where the Sales tax officer had made orders of assessment on 22nd July, 1949, and 24th September, 1949, for the two periods in dispute the fact that the Commissioner of Chotanagpur disposed of the appeals preferred by the assessee on 29th April, 1950, after the Constitution had come into force was not a material circumstance. The assessments of sales tax upon the assessee under S. 4 (1) read with S. 2 (g), Bihar Sales Tax Act were legally valid and the Commissioner of Chotanagpur was not bound to decide the appeal according to Art. 286 of the Constitution. AIR 1948 PC 118 and AIR 1947 FC 32, Foll. (1956) 7 STC 158 : 34 Pat 1183 : AIR 1956 Pat 92 (99, 100) (Pt G) (Pr 17) (DB).

——Art. 286 — Applicability to Part C States — Sale outside the State — (Sales Tax — Vindhya Pradesh Sales Tax Ordinance (1949), S. 2 (g), Expl. 2).

The reasons which impelled the Parliament to enact Art. 286 (1) (a) are equally applicable to Part C States. It must, therefore be held that the context of Art. 286 (1) requires that the word 'State' used in it should include Part C States.

Where sales-tax was assessed on the applicant by the State under the V. P. Sales Tax Ordinance (1949), on sales which had taken place outside the State and the goods were, thereafter exported from the State for consumption in another State:

Held, that the State shall not recover the sales-tax from the applicant on goods sold outside the State within the meaning of Art. 286 (1) (a) of the Constitution. AIR 1955 SC 661, Foll. AIR 1956 Vin-Pra 46 (48) (Pt C) (Prs 9, 10).

3. Interpretation of the Article.

●——Art. 286 (2) — Hardship — Cardinal rule of mitigating hardship should not be discarded, when Constitution itself has expressly provided for another authority, more competent to evaluate correct position to do the needful — (Civil P. C. (1908), Pre.). See Interpretation of Statutes. AIR 1955 SC 661.

——Art. 286 — C. P. and Berar Sales Tax Act (1947), S. 2 (g), Expl. II, as it stood in post-Constitution period — 'Sale' — Explanation does not conflict with Art. 286 of the Constitution. See Sales-tax — C. P. and Berar Sales Tax Act (21 of 1947), S. 2 (g). AIR 1962 Madh Pra 225.

——Art. 286 — Purchase of old gold ornaments by dealer carrying on sarafa business, for conversion into bullion — Whether 'purchase' within S. 2 (ff) — Conversion, if amounts to 'manufacture' as used in S. 2(ff). See Sales Tax — East Punjab General Sales Tax Act (XLVI of 1948), S. 2 (ff). AIR 1963 Punj 28 (DB).

——Arts. 286 and 308 — 'State' — Meaning of.

Words 'State' in these articles must be deemed to include Part C State. AIR 1956 Vin Pra 1 (5) (Pt E) (Pr 13).

4. Clause (1).

——Art. 286 (1) — Assam Sales Tax Act — Collection of tax under in conflict with Article — Determination of prior rights and obligations prior to 26-1-1950 — (Sales Tax — Assam Sales Tax Act (XIV of 1947), S. 2 (12), Explanation).

Where the provisions of the first clause to Art. 286 were in conflict with the scheme under which the sales-taxes were collected under the Assam Sales-tax Act, there can be no doubt that to that extent the clause in the Constitution would prevail as and from the date of the Constitution. But for determination of rights and obligations incurred prior to 26-1-1950, the Explanation to S. 2 (12) will be taken to stand on the statute book and treated as good law. The said Explanation was not void from its very inception. On account of its repugnance to Art. 286 of the Constitution, it has become ineffectual and nugatory with effect from 26-1-1950. AIR 1956 Assam 66 (70, 71, 72) (Pt B) (Prs 11, 14) (DB).

——Art. 286 — Sales — Meaning.

The term 'Sale' has been used in Art. 286 (1) in the sense of transaction of sale and what is emphasised by Art. 286 (1) is not the aspect of passing of property but the aspect of the transaction of sale which consists of various ingredients. ('53) 55 Bom LR 246: (1953) 4 STC 10 (DB).

[Reversed on another point in AIR 1953 SC 252 which itself was Overruled in AIR 1955 SC 661].

——Art. 286 — Sale of unascertained goods — Title held passed to the buyers at the point of delivery of the goods. See Sale of Goods Act (1930), S. 2 (14). AIR 1961 Mad 216 (DB).

5. Clause (1) (a).

●——Art. 286 (1) (a) — Outside Sale — Goods within State — Sale by auction outside State — Sale held outside State. See (Kerala) General Sales Tax Act (XI of 1125 ME) (1950), S. 2 (j), Expl. (2). AIR 1965 SC 161.

●——Art. 286 (1) (a) and (b) — Bengal Motor Spirit Sales Taxation (Second Amendment) Act (32 of 1954), S. 2 (a) (i) — Aviation spirit sold in State to foreign bound aircraft can be taxed— It is 'inside sale' — Article 286 (1) (a) and (b) of the Constitution do not apply. See Sales Tax— Bengal Motor Spirit Sales Taxation (Second Amendment) Act (XXXII of 1954), S. 2 (a). AIR 1961 SC 315.

●——Art. 286 — Goods delivered for consumption outside State — Assessee belonging to erstwhile feudatory State — Notification under S. 4 (1), Bihar Sales Tax Act — Validity — Assessment for pre-Constitution and post-Constitution period — Validity of assessment orders — (Sales Tax — Orissa Sales Tax Act (XIV of 1947), Ss. 4 (1) and (2) and 30 (1) (a) (i)).

Held, on facts (1) that even on the Bengal Immunity decision, AIR 1955 SC 661, the assessments for the post-Constitution period were hit by Cl. 1 (a) of Art. 286 as also S. 30 (1) (a) (i) of the Sales Tax Act and were rightly held to be without jurisdiction. (2) that the assessment orders for the two pre-Constitution quarters were valid.

Per S. R. Das, C. J. and Venkatarama Aiyar, J.:— By the notification issued under S. 4 (1) of the Sales Tax Act the Government of Orissa properly exercised its powers under sub-S. (i) in so far as it appointed March 31, 1949, as the date, but it exceeded its powers by proceeding to say that all dealers whose gross turnover during the year ending March 31, 1949, exceeded Rs. 5,000 should be liable to pay tax under the Act. This part of the notification clearly ran counter to the sub-section itself, for under that sub-section it is only those dealers whose gross turnover exceeded Rs. 5,000 'during the year immediately preceding the commencement of this Act' that became liable to pay the tax. The notification, in so far as it appointed the date was valid and the rest of the notification was invalid. The result is that dealers can be properly brought to charge under the appropriate part of the charging section.

Per S. K. Das and Bose, JJ.:— For a liability to arise under sub-S. (1) of S. 4, the issue of a notification is an essential prerequisite, and unless the notification complies with the requirements of the sub-section, no liability to tax can arise under it. The invalid part of the notification could not be separated from the valid part and therefore, no dealer was liable to pay tax under S. 4 (1); but all requirements of S. 4 (2) having been fulfilled in the case, the two assessment orders for the pre-Constitution period were validly made under that sub-section. Sales Tax Officer, Cuttack v. M/s. B. C. Patel & Co., (1958) 9 STC 467: (1958) SCJ 1096: 1959 SCR 520: AIR 1958 SC 643 (645, 646, 647, 649, 650, 653, 655) (Prs 5; 6; 8; 14; 16; 26, 33, 34).

●——Arts. 286 (1) (a) and 372 — It continues to be in force to the extent it does not contravene any provision of Constitution — Provision permitting State to tax sales, which under Art. 286 (1) (a) must be deemed to take place outside State, has become void. See Sales Tax — U. P. Sales Tax Act (15 of 1948). 1955 All LJ 19: ILR (1956) 1 All 107: 1955-6 STC 77: AIR 1955 All 99 (103, 104) (Pt F) (Pr 7).

——Arts. 286 (1) (a) and 226 — Order imposing sales tax in contravention of Art. 286 (1) (a) — Order quashed under Art. 226. See Ibid, Art. 226. AIR 1955 All 99.

●——Art. 286 (1) (a) — Practice — Assessees being under misapprehension as to onus under Art. 286 (1) (a) of the Constitution failed to adduce evidence — Fresh opportunity must be given to them. AIR 1961 A. P. 86 (FB).

——Art. 286 (1) (a) — Sales Tax — Madras General Sales Tax Act (9 of 1939) (as applied to Andhra Pradesh), Ss. 3, 18 — Sale of goods outside State for consumption — Not liable to tax — Tax paid is under mistake of law — Suit against State for its recovery lies under S. 72, Contract Act — Limitation starts from date of final assessment — S. 18 not applicable to such suit. See Sales Tax — Madras General Sales Tax Act (9 of 1939) (As applied to Andhra Pradesh), S. 3. (1960) 11 STC 460 (Andhra Pra).

——Arts. 286 (1) (a), 286 (2), 286 (1) (a), Explanation (before Sixth Amendment in 1956) Inter-State trade or commerce — Essentials — Explanation sale and sale under Art. 286 (2) — Distinction — Explanation sales are inside sales in spite of movement of goods from one State to another — Particular transaction whether an explanation sale — Is a question to be determined on its facts — Law as to sales tax on inter-State trade or commerce — History traced — Bengal Finance (Sales Tax) Act (VI of 1941), S. 2 (g). Explanation (2) (Before its amendment in 1959).

The essential characteristic of inter-State trade or commerce consists in the movement of goods from one State to another across the border. This characteristic of sale in course of inter-State, trade or commerce is also emphasised in the Central Sales Tax Act, 1956. Doubt may still arise whether the scope of Art. 286 (2) and the Explanation to Art. 286 (1) (a) of the Constitution overlap each other. Under the Explanation sales also there may be movement of goods across the border from one State to another, yet the fictional outside situs of sale takes them out of the category of sales and converts them into sales within the taxing State. The position, therefore, is that if the transaction falls within the notional definition of sale as in the Explanation to Art. 286 (1), it does not fall within Art. 286 (1) (a) and if the transaction, being an Explanation Sale is to be deemed to be sale inside the taxing State, there happens to be no sale or purchase in the course of inter-State trade or commerce, within Art. 286 (2): AIR 1961 SC 347, Rel. on.

The question whether a particular transaction falls within the category of Explanation Sales or within the category of inter-State trade or commerce or within the category of sales outside the taxing State is a question of fact to be objectively ascertained on evidence in each case and cannot be determined on abstraction of legal principle. 68 Cal WN 1: AIR 1964 Cal 477 (483 to 486) (Prs 31, 32, 34).

——Art. 286 (as it was prior to its amendment in 1956) — Sale in course of inter-State trade and commerce — Tests laid down to satisfy conditions of — Sales Tax — Bengal Finance (Sales Tax) Act (6 of 1941), S. 5.

In explaining the unamended Art. 286 of the Constitution the Supreme Court has laid down the following tests in order to satisfy the conditions of sale in course of inter-State trade and Commerce, namely, (a) the transaction must involve movement of goods across the border; (b) the transaction is to be inter-State in which as a direct result of such sale goods are delivered for consumption into another State; and (c) there must be a sale of goods and the contract of sale must involve transport of goods from one State to another under the contract of sale. AIR 1955 SC 661 and 765 and 786, Rel. on.

On the question when a sale or purchase takes place outside the State, within the meaning of Art. 286 (1) (a), it has been held that the key to the problem is afforded by two indications, in the Article itself: (1) the opening words of Art. 286 (1) which speak of a sale or purchase taking place and (2) the non-obstante clause in the Explanation which refers to the general law relating to 'sale of goods under which property in the goods has, by reason of such sale or purchase, passed in another State'. These two together indicate that it is the passing of property within the State, that is intended to be fastened on, for the purpose of determining, whether the sale in question is 'inside' or 'outside' the State, and, therefore, subject to the operation of the 'Explanation' that State in which property passes would be the only State which would have the power to levy a tax on the sale. Where the property in the goods passes within a State as a direct result of the sale, the sale transaction is not outside the State for the purpose of Art. 286 (1) (a), unless the Explanation operates. The power of the State to impose the tax might still not be available unless the transaction in question is unaffected by the other bans imposed under sub-cls. (1) (b), (2) and (3) of Art. 286, AIR 1961 SC 347, Foll.

Held, taking the nature of the transaction and the preliminaries necessary for the sale and purchase of cements, that the sale occasioned movement of goods from one State to another, and also, regard being had to mode of delivery agreed upon the transactions amounted to "non-explanation" sales. ('63) 67 Cal WN 323.

——Art. 286 (1) (a) — Sale of railway wagons in West Bengal — Delivery in West Bengal — If liable to sales tax in West Bengal — (Sales Tax — West Bengal Finance (Sales Tax) Act (VI of 1941), S. 4).

Under the general law, the place of sale of goods for purposes of taxability to sales-tax is the place where the goods are situated at the time of sale, i.e. at the time when the property in the goods passed.

In this case at the time of the contract of sale of the railway wagons, the wagons were not specific or ascertained. They were subsequently manufactured and were appropriated to the contract of sale. At the time of such appropriation the wagons were located in the State of West Bengal. The property in the goods passed to the Western Railway within the State of West Bengal.

Held, (1) that for purposes of taxability the sale took place in the State of West Bengal; (2) that even though the goods were meant for consumption in several States, yet consumption not being an ingredient of sale, it could not be said that the sale took place in any of the State where the consumption was to take place; (3) that but for Art. 286 (1) (a) the State of West Bengal had undoubted power to tax the sales and the seller relying upon the restriction imposed by Art. 286 (1) (a) had failed to establish that the sale took place outside the State of West Bengal; (4) that the levy of the tax on the sales had been validated by the Sales Tax Laws Validation Act, 1956, even though such sales were sales in the course of inter-State trade or commerce. ILR (1960) 2 Cal 886: (1960) 11 STC 47: AIR 1960 Cal 424 (427, 428) (Pt D) (Prs 10, 17, 18, 20, 21) (DB).

——Art. 286 — Order for wagons accepted in Calcutta — Wagons to be delivered in company's work siding in West Bengal — Payment to be made in Calcutta — Wagon meant for railway situated wholly outside West Bengal — Sale — If liable to sales tax in Bengal — (Sales Tax — Sales Tax Laws Validation Act (1956), S. 2) — (Sales-tax — Bengal Finance (Sales Tax) Act (VI of 1941), Ss. 2 (g) and 27).

Held, on facts (1) that the sale in the case was not an outside sale as contemplated by Art. 286 (1) (a) because it could not be said that the wagons were delivered outside West Bengal for consumption and as delivery was within West Bengal, the sale could not be called an 'explanation sale'. (2) that, as the contract contemplated that the rolling stock would be moved beyond the boundaries of the State the transaction constituted an inter-State and not an intra-State trade or commerce and, as such, would have been exempted under the provisions of Art. 286 (2), but the sale being within the particular period covered by the Sales Tax Laws Validation Act which removed the ban imposed by S. 27 of the Sales Tax Act on the power of taxation in respect of such sale, the power of the State to tax such sale was revived and, accordingly, the Sales Tax Authorities were within their rights in imposing sales-tax upon the transaction in question. (1959) 9 STC 553: AIR 1960 Cal 25 (27, 30, 31, 32) (Prs 15, 26, 27, 28).

——Art. 286 — Scope — International or inter-State trade — Bengal Excise Act — Effect of. See Ibid, Sch. VII, List 2, Entry 51. AIR 1958 Cal 203.

——Art. 286 (1) (a) — Outside and inside sale — What is — Lex situs is the determining factor for deciding nature of sale — S. 2 (j) of Travancore-Cochin Act (XI of 1152), not unconstitutional. See Sales Tax — Kerala Sales Tax Act (XI of 1152 T. E.), S. 2 (j), Expl. 2. ILR (1961) 2 Ker 116.

[Reversed in AIR 1965 SC 161.]

——Art. 286 (1) (a) (prior to its amendment in 1956) — 'Consumption' — Use of tobacco for bidis is 'consumption' within Art. 286 (1) (a) — M. P. Sales Tax Act (XXI of 1947), S. 4 (6) — Does not offend Art. 286 (1) (a).

Section 4 (6) of the M. P. Sales Tax Act, 1947, does not offend Art. 286 (1) (a) of the Constitution and is not ultra vires and not unconstitutional on that ground.

The use of tobacco for the production of commercially different articles like bidis must be regarded as 'consumption' within the meaning of Article 286 (1) (a). AIR 1961 SC 213, Rel. on.

Section 4 (6) cannot also be assailed on the ground that the price paid for the purchase of goods has been included as part of the turnover of the assessee when the goods are despatched for sale outside the limits of the State. By such inclusion, the incidence of taxation is not sought to be altered from tax levied on sale to tax levied on purchase. It only prescribes a method of ascertaining the sales tax on goods which have been purchased for sale within the limits of the State and then have been despatched for sale, outside the State. 1957-8 STC 575 (Bom), Rel. on. 1962 MPC 216: 1962 MPLJ 935: AIR 1962 Madh Pra 245 (253, 254) (Pt C) (Prs 20, 21) (DB).

——Art. 286 (1) (a) (as amended in 1956) — Contract of sale entered in Madras State — Goods delivered for consumption outside Madras State — Madras State cannot tax such sale of goods— Art. 286 (1) (a) of Constitution applies. See Sales tax — Madras General Sales Tax Act (IX of 1939), S. 3. (1965) 1 Mad LJ 282 : (1964) 15 STC 804 : ILR (1965) 1 Mad 503.

——Art. 286 (1) (a) — Ban under Article — Sales-tax— Madras General Sales Tax Act (IX of 1939), S. 3.

Where the goods were delivered to buyers outside the State for consumption in the delivery State the sale is an outside sale within the meaning of Art. 286 (1) (a) of the Constitution; the ban under Art. 286 (1) (a) would operate and it would render the sale not liable to tax in the State. (1964) 15 STC 807 : (1965) 1 Mad LJ 284.

——Art. 286 (1) (a) — Goods delivered to buyers outside the Madras State for consumption in the delivery State — Not liable to Madras Sales Tax levy.

Where goods are delivered to buyers outside the State of Madras for consumption in the delivery State it would suffice to attract the ban under Art. 286 (1) (a) of the Constitution and render them not liable to tax in the Madras State. Merely because the goods were in the Madras State at the time of sale it cannot be said that Explanation (2) to S. 2 (h) of the Madras Sales Tax Act of 1939 will be attracted and make such sales taxable in the Madras State. (1965) 1 MLJ 284 : (1964) 15 STC 807.

——Art. 286 (1) (a) — Ban on State's power to fix sales where goods are delivered outside the Madras State for consumption in delivery State — Scope.

Where the actual deliveries of goods were made outside the Madras State, and the goods besides being delivered to places outside the Madras State were also intended for consumption in the delivery States the ban provided in Art. 286 (1) (a) of Constitution prohibiting a State from taxing a sale which took place outside the State, would apply. (1965) 1 MLJ 282 : ILR (1965) 1 Mad 503 : (1964) 15 STC 804.

——Art. 286 — Madras General Sales Tax Act (1939), S. 3 — Transaction held did not take place in the State of Madras. See Sales Tax — Madras General Sales Tax Act (9 of 1939), S. 3. AIR 1957 Mad 762.

——Art. 286 (1) (a) — Inter-State sales before 31st March, 1951 — Assessability to tax. See Sales-tax — Madras General Sales Tax Act (XXV of 1947), S. 22. AIR 1955 NUC (Mad) 1561 (DB).

——Art. 286 (1) — Contract for sale of bamboos by dealer in Orissa — Goods booked from station in Orissa in name of buyer as consigner for delivery to third party outside Orissa — Part payment of price to be made on delivery of railway receipt — Ownership in goods whether passed in Orissa — Sales whether completed in Orissa so as to come within taxing power of Orissa State — Burden of proof. See Sales Tax — Orissa Sales Tax Act (XIV of 1947), S. 2 (g). ILR (1961) Cut 571.

——Art. 286 — Sales effected in Punjab State occasioning movement of goods sold to State of Jammu & Kashmir — Sales held inter-State sales and liable to Central Sales-tax — Imposition of tax held not violative of Art. 286. See Sales Tax — Central Sales Tax Act (1956), (before its amendment by Amending Act 5 of 1958), S. 1 (2). (1965) 67 Pun LR 891.

——Art. 286 (1) (a) — Scope.

If the sales are outside the State so as to bring the case within the ambit of Cl. (a) of Art. 286 (1) or even if the sales are not outside the State but within, nevertheless for the purpose of consumption in another State in India so as to bring the case within the ambit of the explanation to Art. 286 (1), the sales would be immune from assessment to sales-tax. 1953 Ker LT 441 : AIR 1953 Trav-Co 556 (557) (Pr 1).

6. Clause (1) (a), Explanation — Before Constitution (Sixth Amendment) Act, 1956.

●——Art. 286(1), Expl. — Goods delivered outside State of Andhra for purpose of consumption in State in which goods are delivered — Andhra State has no right to tax such sales in view of Explanation to Article 286 (1) of Constitution — Expression 'actually delivered' in Art. 286 (1) (a) Expl. — Meaning — Goods held on facts of case, to have been delivered outside Andhra State — Andhra State held not entitled to levy sales tax on them — S. 39 (1), Sale of Goods Act held inapplicable. See Madras General Sales Tax Act (IX of 1939), S. 3. AIR 1966 SC 376.

●——Art. 286 — Explanation — Delivery within State Railway Receipts against payment for goods consigned to places outside the State for consumption outside the State — If goods can be deemed to be 'actually delivered' within the State authorising levy of Sales-tax — Sale of Goods Act (III of 1930), S. 39 — Applicability.

No doubt under section 39 of the Sale of Goods Act where, in pursuance of a contract of sale, the seller is authorised to send the goods to the buyer delivery of the goods to a carrier for the purpose of transmission to the buyer, is prima facie deemed to be delivery of the goods to the buyer. But that provision will not make mere delivery of the railway receipts representing title to the goods 'actual delivery of goods' for the purpose of Art. 286 of the Constitution. The rule contained in S. 39 (1) of the Sale of Goods Act raises a prima facie inference that the goods have been delivered if the conditions prescribed thereby are satisfied, it has no application in dealing with a constitutional provision which while imposing a restriction upon the legislative power of the States entrusts exclusive power to levy sales-tax to the State in which the goods have been actually delivered for the purpose of consumption. M/s. Shree Bajarang Jute Mills Ltd. v. The State of Andhra Pradesh, (1964) 2 SCJ 540 : (1964) 2 Mad LJ (SC) 122 : (1964) 2 Andh WR (SC) 122 : (1964) 15 STC 430 : (1964) 1 SCWR 405 : (1964) 6 SCR 691 : AIR 1966 SC 376 (379, 380) (Prs 7, 8, 9, 10).

●——Art. 286 (1) (a), Expl. — Scope of explanation — Auction sale of full lots of tea by samples at place X in Madras State —Money accepted and delivery order handed over to buyers at X — Mere physical delivery of tea taken at place Y in Travancore-Cochin State — Tea sent to other parts of India or exported outside — Sale amounts to an outside sale and not taxable under T. C. Act — Explanation not applicable —Sale of Goods Act (1930), Ss. 64, 2 (14) — T. C. General Sales Tax Act (XI of 1125), S. 3.

The Explanation to Art. 286 (1) of the Constitution, creates a fiction as between two States, one where the goods are delivered for consumption in that State and the other where the title in the goods passed and the former is treated as the situs of the taxable event to the exclusion of the latter.

Where the nature and procedure of sales of teas was this, that the teas stored in the godowns at Willingdon Island which was in the State of Travancore-Cochin, and samples of those teas, etc., were taken to Fort Cochin which at the relevant time was in the State of Madras. By the samples the teas were sold by public auction in lots, some were purchased in their entirety and others in parts and after the consideration money was paid at Fort Cochin, delivery orders were given to the buyers addressed to the godown-keepers at Willingdon Island and actual delivery of tea was taken there. These teas were then sent out from Willingdon Island for consumption either in other parts of India or were exported out of India.

Held, that as regards the sales of teas in full lots the goods being specified goods the property in them passed to the buyer under S. 64 of the Sale of Goods Act as soon as the offer was accepted on fall of the hammer at Fort Cochin in the State of Madras and therefore, the only State which would have the power to levy a tax on such sale would be the State of Madras and so far as Travancore-Cochin was concerned the sale would be an outside sale. AIR 1961 SC 347, Foll. (2) Apart from that money was paid there and the delivery order was also received there even though the actual physical delivery of goods was made at Willingdon Island in the State of Travancore-Cochin. The fiction created by the Explanation to Art. 286 (1) (a) was inapplicable because there was no delivery as a direct result of sale for the purpose of consumption in any particular State. ILR 1960 Ker 1395. Reversed. (3) That the same consideration applied to the goods which were exported outside India from Willingdon Island and they also could not be said to be sales inside the State of Travancore-Cochin. Thomas & Co. Ltd. v. Deputy Commissioner of Agricultural I. T. and S. T. Trivandrum, 1963 Ker LJ 615 : (1963) Ker LT 1064 : (1963) 1 SCWR 410 : (1964) 1 SCJ 373 : (1963) Supp 2 SCR 608 : (1963) 14 STC 363 : AIR 1964 SC 569 (571, 572) (Prs 9, 10, 11).

●——Art. 286 (1) (a), Expln. (as it was before 1956) — Applicability — Contract of sale — Delivery effected in State of Travancore-Cochin to ultimate consumer — Travancore-Cochin General Sales Tax Act (1125), S. 6 — Notification under, dated 5th February, 1954.

Held, on facts (1) that the sale fell within the Explanation to Art. 286 (1) (a) of the Constitution, since the delivery was to the ultimate consumer who was to use the goods for his own purpose and not for re-export.

(2) That the assessee company was entitled to tax exemption granted by the Notification dated 5th February, 1954 which was and must be deemed to be one issued under S. 6 (1), Travancore-Cochin General Sales Tax Act, 1125, as the transactions in question fell within the aforesaid notification. That notification was specially designed to afford relief to cases of non-resident dealers engaged in inter-State transactions which were held to be inter-State transactions by reason of the application of the Explanation to Art. 286 (1) (a) to such sales by the decision of Supreme Court in the United Motors case, AIR 1953 SC 252 : Judgment of the Travancore-Cochin High Court in O. P. No. 191 of 1955, dated 10th September, 1956, affirmed but on a different ground. States of Kerala v. Cochin Coal Co., Ltd., 1961 Ker LJ 405 : (1961) 2 SCJ 20 : (1961) 2 SCR 219 : (1961) 12 STC 1 : AIR 1961 SC 408 (411, 412) (Pt B) (Prs 6, 7, 9).

(Explanation to Cl. (1) omitted by the Constitution Sixth (Amendment) Act, 1956.).

●——Art. 286 — Scope — Exemption from liability to pay sales-tax under Bihar Sales Tax Act.

The decision in State of Bombay v. United Motors (India) Ltd., AIR 1953 SC 252, explains the scope of the Explanation to Art. 286 (1) and deals with, what might be termed, 'Explanation sales'. That decision, however, does not deal with cases where the sale in question does not satisfy the requirements of the Explanation leading to the fixation of the fictional situs of the sale determining the State by which the tax might be levied. Whether any and, if so, which is the State which can levy a tax on a sale, not covered by the Explanation, is not dealt with by that decision at all.

The appellants contended that the sales of goods delivered for consumption outside the State of Bihar which involved a tax liability were made up of two types of transactions : (a) those in which the goods thus delivered were for consumption in the State of first delivery or first destination; and (b) those in which the goods thus delivered were for consumption, not in the State of first delivery but in other States and claimed that on the proper construction of Art. 286 (1) and (2) they were entitled to have both these types of sales excluded from their taxable turnover under the Bihar Sales Tax Act.

Held, (i) that sales of type (a) would be exempt from the levy of tax under the Bihar Sales-Tax Act by reason of their being 'inside' sales within the State of delivery-cum-consumption and therefore, being 'outside' sales qua the State of Bihar;

(ii) that sales of type (b) would be liable to the levy of tax in the State of Bihar and the tax levied on those sales would continue to be valid. Tobacco Manufacturers (India) Ltd. v. Commr. of Sales Tax, Bihar, Patna, ILR 40 Pat 259 : (1962) 2 SC J 554 : 1961 BLJR 603 : 1961 MPC 545 : (1961) 2 SCR 106 : (1961) 12 STC 87 : AIR 1961 SC 402 (407, 408) (Pt B) (Prs 16, 17).

●——Art. 286 (1) (a), Expl. (as it was before 1956) — Bihar Sales Tax Act (XIX of 1947), S. 4 and S. 33 — Non-explanation sale — What is outside sale within meaning of Art. 286 (1) (a) stated — Power of State to tax non-explanation sale where property passes to purchaser in the State.

Where the terms of the Explanation to Art. 286 (1), as it stood before its amendment in 1956, were satisfied, inter-State sales were by a fiction deemed to be 'inside' the State of delivery-cum-consumption and therefore, 'outside' all other States. In such cases, therefore, only the State 'inside' which the sale is deemed to take place by virtue of the Explanation, is exempt from the ban imposed by Art. 286 (1) (a). All other States would be subject to that ban in respect of such sale. AIR 1953 SC 252, Foll.

Per Majority :— Where, however, the property in the goods passes within a State as a direct result of the sale, the sale transaction is not outside the State for the purpose of Art. 286 (1) (a), unless the Explanation operates. The opening words of Cl. (1) and Explanation of Art. 286 indicate that it is the passing of property within the State that is intended to be fastened upon, for the purpose of determining, whether the sale in question is inside or outside the State, and, therefore, subject to the operation of the Explanation, that State in which property passes would be the only State which would have the power to levy a tax on sale. (1958) 9 STC 204 (Pat), Affirmed.

Per Shah and S. K. Das, JJ.:— By enacting that a tax shall not be imposed under the Bihar Sales Tax Act when the sale takes place outside the State of Bihar in S. 33 (1) (a) (i) of that Act (which section is in terms similar to those of Art. 286 (1) of the Constitution) only the power to tax 'Explanation Sales' which do not take place within the State of Bihar is taken away, but not the power to tax 'non-Explanation sales' in which though under the general law of sale of goods the property passes outside the State, there exists between the taxing power of the State and the sale, a nexus as contemplated by the definition of sale in S. 2 (g). If the sale is one in which the goods have been delivered outside the State of Bihar, but not as a direct result of the sale or not for the purpose of consumption in the State of first delivery, the sale will not be covered by the Explanation, and the right to tax the sale if arising otherwise under the Act relying upon the territorial nexus, will not be impaired by the prohibition imposed by Cl. (1) (a) (i) of S. 33. India Copper Corporation Ltd. v. State of Bihar, (1961) 2 SCR 276: ILR 40 Pat 302: (1961) 1 SCJ 457: (1961) 2 SCA 269: (1961) 12 STC 56: AIR 1961 SC 347 (351, 352, 354) (Pt A) (Prs 9, 13, 23).

●——Art. 286 (1) (a), Explanation (as it was before 1956) — Delivery of goods outside State for purpose of consumption — Exemption to sales-tax — Actual consumption need not be proved. (1958) 9 STC 204 (Pat), Reversed. India Copper Corporation, Ltd. v. State of Bihar, (1961) 1 SCJ 457: (1961) 2 SCR 276: ILR 40 Pat 302: (1961) 2 SCA 269: (1961) 12 STC 56: AIR 1961 SC 347 (353) (Pt B) (Pr 16).

●——Art. 286 (1), Explanation (before amendment) — When can be invoked — 'Inside sale'— Explanation cannot be invoked.

The 'explanation' can apply only if more than one State is involved in the same transaction. Where the purchaser buys goods in the taxing State for his own consumption, the test of an 'inside sale' is satisfied when the property in the goods passes in the same State and all the elements of the contract of sale also take place inside it. Where the property in the goods passes to a buyer who is also the ultimate consumer, the terms of the Explanation are themselves satisfied. Burmah Shell Oil Storage & Distributing Co. of India, Ltd. v. Commercial Tax Officer, (1961) 1 SCR 902: (1960) 11 STC 764: AIR 1961 SC 315 (322, 323) (Pt A) (Prs 22, 23).

(Explanation to Cl. (1) omitted by the Constitution (Sixth Amendment) Act, 1956.)

●——Art. 286 (1), Explanation (as it was before 1956) — Applicability — Conversion of raw tobacco by bidi manufacturers into bidi pattis by removing stem and dust, for immediate use in bidi manufacture — There is consumption of the first commodity.

The conversion of a commodity into a different commercial commodity by subjecting it to some processing, is consumption within the meaning of the Explanation to Art. 286 no less than the final act of user when no distinct commodity is being brought into existence but what was brought into existence is being used up. AIR 1953 SC 333, Rel. on. M/s. Anwarkhan Mahboob Co. v. State of Bombay. (1961) 1 SCR 709: (1960) 11 STC 698: AIR 1961 SC 213 (216, 217) (Pt B) (Prs 9, 10, 11).

[Explanation to Cl. (1) omitted by the Constitution Sixth (Amendment) Act, 1956.]

●——Art. 286 (1) (a)—Sales Tax Laws Validation Act (7 of 1956) — Sale falling under Explanation to Art. 286 (1) (a) — Inter-State sales-tax on — (Sales Tax — Bihar Sales Tax Act (1947), S. 33). See Sales Tax — Sales Tax Laws Validation Act (1956). AIR 1958 SC 903.

●——Art. 286 (1) (a) — Madras General Sales-tax Act, S. 22, Explanation (as applied to Andhra) — Whether imposes tax on inter-State sales falling within Explanation to Art. 286 (1) (a) — Adaptation by President — Validity — Nexi as basis of taxation — Scope of Explanation to S. 22 — Non obstante clause in S. 22 — Effect — Explanation to S. 22, if should be part of definition of "sale" in S. 2 (h) — Vires of Explanation — (Interpretation of Statutes — Act to be read as whole — Non obstante clause) — AIR 1957 TC 300; AIR 1958 Andh Pra 109; 1956-7 STC 731, (Trav-Co), Overruled. See Sales Tax— Madras General Sales Tax Act (as applied to Andhra) (9 of 1939), S. 22, Expl. AIR 1958 SC 468.

[This case was held in AIR 1961 Mys 3, to have been Overruled on another point in AIR 1959 SC 648.].

●——Art. 286 — Scope — Determination of turnover — Sales outside State — Inclusion of. See Sales Tax — Travancore-Cochin General Sales-tax Act (XI of 1125 ME), S. 2 (j). AIR 1957 SC 657.

●——Art. 286 (1) (a), Explanation — Goods manufactured in M. P. delivered for consumption in U. P. — State of M. P. if can recover sale-tax — (Sales-tax — Sales Tax Continuation Order (1950) — (Sales-tax—C. P. and Berar Sales Tax Act (XXI of 1947), S. 2 (g), Explanation II).

Where the transactions were inter-State transactions in which as a direct result of sales the goods manufactured in M. P. were actually delivered for the purpose of consumption in U. P.

Held, that the Explanation to Art. 286 (1) (a) determined the State of Uttar Pradesh to be the State in which the sales took place and which alone was entitled to tax these transactions, the State of Madhya Pradesh becoming an "outside" State for the purpose.

Held, further, that, apart from the ban imposed on the State of Madhya Pradesh under Art. 286 (1) (a) and the Explanation thereto, these transactions were also in the course of inter-State trade or commerce and were hit by the ban of Art. 286 (2). The President's Order no doubt lifted that ban but was not competent to lift the ban under Art. 286 (1) (a) and the Explanation thereto with the result that in spite of that order the State of Madhya Pradesh was not in a position to impose a tax on these transactions during the post-Constitution period. Ram Narain Sons, Ltd. v. Asst. Commr. of Sales Tax, (1955) 6 STC 627: (1955) 2 SCR 483: 1956 SCA 1111: (1955) SCJ 808: (1955) 2 MLJ (SC) 302: (1955) Andhra WR (SC) 556: AIR 1955 SC 765 (773) (Pt C) (Prs 26, 27).

●——Art. 286 (1) (a), Explanation —Applicability to inter-State trade.

A legal fiction is to be limited to the purpose for which it was created and should not be extended beyond that legitimate field. The Explanation created a legal fiction. Legal fictions are created only for some definite purpose. Here the avowed purpose of the Explanation is to explain what an outside sale referred to in sub-clause (a) is. The Explanation in clause (1) (a) cannot be legitimately extended to clause (2) either as an exception or as a proviso thereto or read as curtailing or limiting the ambit of clause (2). Hence except in so far as Parliament may by law provide otherwise, no State law can impose or authorise the imposition of any tax on sales or purchases when such sales or purchases take place in the course of inter-State trade or commerce and irrespective of whether such sales or purchases do or do not fall within the explanation. Bengal Immunity Co., Ltd. v. State of Bihar, ILR 34 Pat 905 : (1955) 6 STC 446 : (1955) 2 SCR 603 : (1955) SCJ 672 : 1955 SCA 1140 : (1955) 2 MLJ (SC) 168 : 1955 An WR (SC) 422 : AIR 1955 SC 661 (680, 709, 720, 732, 733, 735, 742, 755, 756) (Pt K) (Prs 31, 107, 133, 159, 161, 164, 184, 214).

●——Art. 286 (1) (a), Explanation — Fixing of situs — Effect.

The shifting of the situs of a sale or purchase from its actual situs under the general law to a fictional situs under the Explanation takes the sale or purchase out of the taxing power of all States other than the State where the situs is fictionally fixed. That is all that clause (1) (a) and the Explanation do. Whether the delivery State will be entitled to tax such a sale or purchase will depend on the other provisions of the Constitution. The assignment of a fictional situs to a sale or purchase has no bearing or effect on the other aspects of the sale or purchase e.g., its inter-State character or its export or import character which are entirely different topics. This fixing of situs for a sale or purchase in any particular State either under the general law or under the fiction does not conclude the matter. It has yet to be ascertained whether that sale or purchase which by virtue of the Explanation has taken place in the delivery State was made in the course of inter-State trade or commerce. For this purpose the Explanation can have no relevancy or application at all. AIR 1953 SC 252, Overruled. Bengal Immunity Co., Ltd. v. State of Bihar, ILR 34 Pat 905 : (1955) 6 STC 446 : (1955) 2 SCR 603 : (1955) SCJ 672 : 1955 SCA 1140 : (1955) 2 MLJ (SC) 168 : 1955 An WR (SC) 422 : AIR 1955 SC 661 (682, 730) (Pt L) (Prs 33, 153).

●——Art. 286 (1) (a), Explanation and (2) — General and special rule — (Interpretation of Statutes — General and special enactments).

It cannot be said that Cl. (2) contains the enunciation of the general rule and the Explanation embodies a particular or special rule. The two provisions do not relate to the same subject and, therefore, it is not possible to hold that one is the enunciation of a general rule and the other the enunciation of a particular or special rule on one and the same subject. The principle of construction that the particular or special rule must control or cut down the general rule cannot be called in aid in construing Cl. (2) and the Explanation of Cl. (1) (a). AIR 1953 Pat 87, Reversed and view of Bhagwati, J., in AIR 1953 SC 252, Overruled. Bengal Immunity Co., Ltd. v. State of Bihar, ILR 34 Pat 905 : (1955) 6 STC 446 : (1955) 2 SCR 603 : 1955 SCJ 672 : 1955 SCA 1140 : (1955) 2 MLJ (SC) 168 : 1955 An WR (SC) 422 : AIR 1955 SC 661 (682, 708, 736) (Pt N) (Prs 35, 103, 168).

●——Art. 286 (1)(a), Explanation and (2) — Constitution statutes — Circumstance that provision in Constitution will take effect on happening of future event, is no ground for not giving effect to its plain language — Fact that explanation to Art. 286 (1) (a) in so far as it relates to inter-State sales has no immediate effect until Parliament lifts ban under Cl. (2), need not lead Court to put forced construction to give the whole an immediate effect. Bengal Immunity Co., Ltd. v. State of Bihar, ILR 34 Pat 905 : (1955) 6 STC 446 : (1955) 2 SCR 603 : 1955 SCJ 672 : 1955 SCA 1140 : (1955) 2 SCR 603 : 1955 SCJ 672 : 1955 SCA 1140 : (1955) 2 Mad LJ (SC) 168 : 1955 Andh WR (SC) 422 : AIR 1955 SC 661 (683) (Pt O) (Pr 37).

●——Art. 286 (1) (a), Explanation and (2) — Scope.

It is not correct to say that the Explanation can have no immediate operation at all. It certainly has immediate operation to render sales and purchases which fall within the Explanation to be outside sales and purchases so as immediately to take away the taxing power of all States other than the delivery State with respect to them. Further cases may arise in which purchases or sales which are outside clause (2), may, nevertheless fall within and be immediately governed by the Explanation. Bengal Immunity Co., Ltd. v. State of Bihar, ILR 34 Pat 905 : (1955) 6 STC 446 : (1955) 2 SCR 603 : 1955 SCJ 672 : 1955 SCA 1140 : (1955) 2 MLJ (SC) 168 : 1955 An WR (SC) 422 : AIR 1955 SC 661 (683) (Pt P) (Pr 38).

●——Art. 286 (1) (a) and Explanation — Effect.

It is not correct to say that Cl. (1) (a) read with the Explanation is wholly useless. It may well be argued that there was scope for the operation of clause (1) (a) and the Explanation as and when the President exercised the powers vested in him by the proviso to clause (2). Bengal Immunity Co., Ltd. v. State of Bihar, ILR 34 Pat 905 : (1955) 6 STC 446 : (1955) 2 SCR 603 : 1955 SCJ 672 : 1955 SCA 1140 : (1955) 2 MLJ (SC) 168 : 1955 Andhra WR (SC) 422 : AIR 1955 SC 661 (684) (Pt Q) (Pr 39).

●——Art. 286 (1), Explanation — Scope.

(In dissenting Judgment).:— When Art. 286 (1) (a) and the Explanation refer to a sale or purchase, they merely conform to the terms of Entry 54 in List 2 of 7th Schedule and these words cannot, therefore, be construed as splitting up the power to tax sales into two parts, one available against the purchaser at all times, as in the very nature of it he must be within the State, and the other against a seller if he is within jurisdiction. The power is one and indivisible to be exercised when the conditions mentioned in the Explanation are satisfied against either a seller or buyer as the Legislature might determine. To hold that the tax could be imposed on a seller only if he is within the State would be to add words to the Explanation which are not there, and for this, there is no justification. Bengal Immunity Co., Ltd. v. State of Bihar, ILR 34 Pat 905 : (1955) 6 STC 446 : (1955) 2 SCR 603 : 1955 SCJ 672 : 1955 SCA 1140 : (1955) 2 MLJ (SC) 168 : 1955 Andh WR (SC) 422 : AIR 1955 SC 661 (753) (Pt Zd) (Prs 205, 206).

●——Art. 286 (1) (a), Explanation — Actual delivery.

The expression "actual delivery" in the Explanation to Art. 286 (1) (a) means delivery of the goods to the purchaser or his agent, and delivery to the commercial carrier is not actual delivery. Bengal Immunity Co., Ltd. v. State of Bihar, ILR 34 Pat 905 : (1955) 6 STC 446 : (1955) 2 SCR 603 : (1955) SCJ 672 : 1955 SCA 1140 : (1955) 2 MLJ (SC) 168 : 1955 An WR (SC) 422 : AIR 1955 SC 661 (754) (Pt Ze) (Pr 210).

●——Art. 286 (1). Expl. — Scope of Explanation.

The Explanation to Clause (1) (a) only explains what is an outside sale or purchase, for by saying that a particular sale or purchase is to be deemed to take place in a particular State it only indicates that it is to be deemed to take place outside all other States so as to attract the ban of Clause (1) (a) and thereby take away the taxing power of those other States with respect to such sale or purchase. The Explanation does not operate as an exception or a proviso but only explains sub-clause (a). The fiction created by the Explanation is only for the purposes of sub-clause (a), so that sales or purchases of the kind which fall within the Explanation get the benefit of the ban imposed by sub-cl. (a). Therefore, the purpose of the Explanation read with sub-clause (a) is only to take away the power of taxation of those States in relation to those sales or purchases which are to be deemed to be outside sales or purchases. Its purpose is not and, indeed, it does not purport, to confer any taxing power on any State, and it cannot be resorted to for any such extraneous or collateral purpose. It does not convert an inter-State sale or purchase into an intra-State sale for any purpose other than the limited purpose of sub-clause (a). AIR 1953 SC 252, Diss. from. State of Trav-Co. v. S. V. C. Factory, (1953) SCJ 471 : (1953) 2 MLJ 123 : 66 Mad LW 611 : 1954 SCR 53 : ILR (1954) TC 1 : 1954 SCA 1059 : AIR 1953 SC 333 (352) (Pt F) (Pr 59).

●——Art. 286, and Sch. VII, List 2, Entry 54— — Scope and object — Tax on sale by State.

If a sale or purchase takes place outside a State, either under the general law or by virtue of the fiction created by the Explanation, then that State cannot, under Cl. (1) (a), tax such sale or purchase. If a sale or purchase takes place within a State, either under the general law or by reason of the Explanation, then, if such a sale or purchase takes place "in the course of" inter-State trade and commerce, no State, not even the State where the sale or purchase takes place as aforesaid can tax it by reason of clause (2) unless and until Parliament by law provides otherwise. State of Trav-Co. v. S. V. C. Factory, (1953) SCJ 471 : (1953) 2 MLJ 123 : 66 Mad LW 611 : 1954 SCR 53 : ILR (1954) TC 1 : 1954 SCA 1059 : AIR 1953 SC 333 (352) (Pt G) (Pr 59).

●——Art. 286 (1)(a), Expl. and (2), and Sch. VII, List 2, Entry 54 — Tax on sale or purchase of goods.

Clause (1) (a) of Art. 286 prohibits the taxation of all sales or purchases which take place outside the State, but a localised sale is a troublesome concept, for, a sale is a composite transaction involving as it does several elements such as agreement to sell, transfer of ownership, payment of the price, delivery of the goods and so forth, which may take place at different places. It is difficult to say that, any one of the ingredients mentioned above is more essential to a sale or purchase than the others. To solve the difficulty an easily applicable test for determining what is an outside sale had to be formulated, and that is what the Explanation is intended to do. The Explanation provides by means of a legal fiction that the State in which the goods sold or purchased are actually delivered for consumption therein is the State in which the sale or purchase is to be considered to have taken place notwithstanding the property in such goods passed in another State. The test of sufficient territorial nexus is thus replaced by a simpler and more easily workable test. Are the goods actually delivered in the taxing State, as a direct result of a sale or purchase, for the purpose of consumption therein? Then, such sale or purchase shall be deemed to have taken place in that State and outside all other States. The latter States are prohibited from taxing the sale or purchase; the former alone is left free to do so. Multiple taxation of the same transaction by different States is also thus avoided.

It is to be noted that the Explanation does not say that the consumption should be by the purchaser himself. Nor do the words "as a direct result" have reference to consumption. They qualify "actual delivery". The expression "for the purpose of consumption in that State" must be understood as having reference not merely to the individual importer or purchaser but as contemplating distribution eventually to consumers in general within the State. Thus all buyers within the State of delivery from out-of-State sellers, except those buying for re-export out of the State, will be within the scope of the Explanation and liable to be taxed by the State on their inter-State transactions. The Explanation deals only with inter-State sales or purchases and not with purely local or domestic transactions.

Article 286 (1) (a) read with the Explanation, thus, prohibits taxation of sales or purchases involving inter-State elements by all States except the State in which the goods are delivered for the purpose of consumption therein in the wide sense explained above. The latter State is left free to tax such sales or purchases, which power it derives not by virtue of the Explanation but under Art. 246 (3) read with Entry 54 of List II, Sch. VII.

Clause (2) of Art. 286 stands excluded as a result of the legal fiction enacted in the Explanation, and the State in which the goods are actually delivered for consumption can impose tax on inter-State sales or purchases. The effect of the Explanation in regard to inter-State dealings is to invest what, in truth is an inter-State transaction with an intra-State character in relation to the State of delivery, and Cl. (2) can, therefore, have no application. It is true that the legal fiction is to operate "for the purposes of sub-cl. (a) of Cl. (1)," but that means merely that the Explanation is designed to explain the meaning of the expression "outside the State" in Cl. (1) (a). When once, however, it is determined with the aid of the fictional test that a particular sale or purchase has taken place within the taxing State, it follows, as a corollary, that the transaction loses its inter-State character and falls outside the purview of Cl. (2), not because the definition in the Explanation is used for the purpose of Cl. (2), but because such sale or purchase becomes in the eye of the law a purely local transaction.

Per Contra (Bhagwati J.) — "While agreeing in the main with the conclusions reached (by my Lord the Chief Justice) I am however, unable to subscribe to the reasoning as also the construction put upon the Explanation to Art. 286 (1) (a)."

Per Bose J. "I regret I am unable to agree with either". State of Bombay v. United Motors (India) Ltd., (1953) SCJ 373 : (1953) 1 MLJ 743: 55 Bom LR 536 : 66 Mad LW 577 : 1953 SCA 408 : 1953 SCR 1069 : AIR 1953 SC 252 (257 to 259, 263, 269) (Pt A) (Prs 12, 15 to 17, 34, 70).

[Overruled in AIR 1955 SC 661.]

■——Art. 286 (1), Expl. — "Consumption".

In its economic sense "consumption" is just the use which a purchaser chooses to make of the goods purchased for his own purposes. He does not have to destroy them nor does he have to diminish their value or utility. A man who purchases a valuable piece of sculpture or painting for preservation in a national museum does not destroy it nor does he use it himself except for the purposes of presenting it to the museum. But he is a consumer. In the same way, a man who purchases goods for use in his business so that his business can be carried on by the constant feeding of a stream uses the goods and therefore "consumes" them even though he does not keep them himself. It thus means the usual use made of an article for the purposes of trade and commerce.

A dealer who deals with the goods after purchasing the same does not consume the goods. He deals with or disposes of the same in the ordinary course of trade and he is a dealer or a trader in those goods. He is not a consumer of those goods. State of Bombay v. United Motors (India), Ltd., (1953) SCJ 373 : (1953) 1 MLJ 743 : 55 Bom LR 536 : 66 Mad LW 577 : 1953 SCA 408: 1953 SCR 1069 : AIR 1953 SC 252 (266, 272) (Pt E) (Prs 49, 50, 78).

[Overruled on another point in AIR 1955 SC 661.].

——Art. 286 (1), Expln. — Delivery under must be actual — Goods delivered to railway administration outside U. P. — Buyers receiving them at stations in U. P. — Actual delivery was in U. P. —Sales were subject to sales-tax by U. P. Government — (Sale of Goods Act (1930), S. 39) — (Sales-tax — U. P. Sales-tax Act (XV of 1948), S. 3). 1959 All LJ 545 : (1960) 11 STC 34 : AIR 1960 All 62 (64) (Pt A) (Prs 8, 10) (DB).

——Art. 286(1), Explanation — Sale within State.

A sale cannot be clearly in a State unless it be a sale of the description contemplated by the Explanation to Cl. (1) of Art. 286. If it is not a sale of that description, it cannot be deemed, for purposes of that Article, to be a sale within the State, irrespective of where actually under the general law relating to sale of goods property in the goods may have passed. 1955 All LJ 860 : AIR 1955 All 653 (659) (Pt F) (Pr 24).

——Art. 286 (1), Explanation and (2) — Sale becoming intra-State under Explanation —Inquiry whether sale had taken place in course of inter-State trade or commerce, if necessary. —

As soon as a State finds that a sale involving inter-State elements becomes intra-State under the Explanation to Cl. (1) of Art. 286, it has the fullest authority to tax it as a sale which has taken place within that State and it need not embark on a roving inquiry whether it was a sale which had taken place in the course of inter-State trade or commerce, as contemplated by Cl. (2) of the said Article. 1955 All LJ 860 : AIR 1955 All 653 (660) (Pt G) (Pr 27).

——Art. 286 (1) (a), Explanation — Sale between parties belonging to different States — Place of sale — Determination of for purpose of sale-tax.

Whenever any sale takes place in which the parties belong to two different States, it will have to be determined where the sale has taken place for purposes of imposing sales-tax. The determination of the place of sale for purposes of Contract Act, or for determining the rights inter partes to the sale may depend on the provisions of the Sale of Goods Act, but when the liability of the sale or purchase to sales-tax has to be considered, the place, where the sale takes place, must be determined in accordance with Article 286 of the Constitution for purposes of complying with the provisions of Cl. (1) (a) of Article 286 of the Constitution, and the place of sale must be determined after taking into account the Explanation appended to that clause. ILR (1956) 1 All 107 : 1955 All LJ 19 : (1955) 6 STC 77 : AIR 1955 All 99 (102) (Pt B) (Pr 3).

——Art. 286 (1), Explanation — Inter-State sale — Delivery though taken outside the State was before export of goods — Sale is not inter-State sale — Not exempt from sales tax.

The asessee sold goods to certain commission agents who were acting for the dealers outside the State. He received the full price but booked the goods to place outside the State in his own name as consignor and consignee under the instructions of the Commission agents and endorsed the railway receipts in their favour. Thereafter, the assessee had no control over the goods and was not required to do anything in pursuance of the contract. It was claimed by the assessee that the transaction was an inter-State sale since the delivery was made outside the State as a direct result of the sale and hence, exempt from tax under the Explanation to Art. 286 (1) (a) of the Constitution.

Held, that the transaction was not an inter-State sale. Though the commission agents bought the goods for benefit of foreign dealers and instructed the sellers to send them to place outside the State the transaction amounted to taking delivery before the export of goods. The transaction including the delivery was thus completed within this State and ought to be regarded as inside sale. The delivery of the goods outside the State was not therefore, the direct result of the sale and the goods were delivered outside the State as those of the commission agents and not of the sellers. T. R. C. No. 98 of 1957 (Andh. Pra.), Dist. (1962) 13 STC 755 : AIR 1963 Andh Pra 238 (239) (Pr 7) (DB).

——Art. 286 (1), Explanation (before amendment by Constitution (Sixth Amendment) Act, 1956)— Delivery to carrier within State is delivery to buyer — It is not outside sale—Inter-State trade — Essentials — Sale of Goods Act (1930), S. 39 (1).

To be an outside sale in order to attract the exemption contemplated by the Explanation to Art. 286 (1) it is not enough that the goods were for the purpose of consumption outside the State. The further requirement is that the goods should have actually been delivered outside the State.

If under the terms of the contract, the goods are actually delivered to the buyer within the limits of the State, there could not possibly be a further delivery of the same goods again at the places of destination outside the State.

Where the goods were delivered to a carrier (Railway) within the State the carrier is constituted an agent of the buyer for accepting delivery of the goods on his behalf with the result that the goods are actually delivered within the State.

Held, on the facts that having regard to the course of business followed by the assessee company with their purchasers and the specific terms of the contract of sale, it was clear that not only the sales were intended to be inside sales but as a matter of fact all the essential ingredients of sale were completed within the State. The property in the goods passed within the State and possession was delivered unreservedly inside the State. The delivery of these goods at works siding was delivery to the purchasers and the transport of the goods to destinations outside the State was really by or on behalf of the buyers who had taken delivery of the goods at the factory site. If the delivery had taken place within the State then the assessee company could not invoke the benefit of the exemption embodied in the Explanation. Held, further, that in order that a sale or purchase might be inter-State within meaning of Art. 286 (2) it was essential that there must be transport of goods from one State to another under the contract for sale or purchase. AIR 1955 SC 661, Rel. on. On a consideration of the material terms of the contract and the course of dealings between the parties, the terms left no room for doubt that the moment the goods were consigned to railway wagons, the assessee had no further responsibility either for loss or damage during the course of transit. Under the circumstances the common carrier was constituted the bailee of the buyers and not of the seller. After the goods were consigned to the railway wagons, the sale was complete within the State. Therefore, the transactions in question did not constitute inter-State trade or commerce, which would come within the prohibition contained in Art. 286 (2) of the Constitution. ILR (1963) Andh Pra 883: AIR 1962 Andh Pra 522 (523, 524, 525) (Prs 9, 10, 13, 18, 19, 20) (DB).

——Art. 286 (1) (a). Explanation (as it was before 1956) — Applicability — Sale of Goods Act (III of 1930), S. 36 — Hyderabad General Sales Tax Act (XIV of 1950) — Collieries Control Order (1945), clause (10-A) and Central Sales Tax Act (LXXIV of 1956), S. 3 (a) — Collieries delivering coal to common carriers at site for cash or credit — Absence of contract with purchasers for delivery outside or inside the State — If inter-State trade.

In order to impress the sale with the character of inter-State trade or commerce, the terms of sale should provide for the delivery being effected in another State, i.e., the delivery outside the State should be pursuant to contractual obligations. Two essential conditions of inter-State trade or commerce are that there should be sale of goods and movement of these goods across the borders of the State under a contract of sale. There should be a related connection between sale and the movement of goods. In other words deliveries should be outside the State.

Under the Notification issued by the Government of India in July 1956, the collieries are required to deliver the goods at or near the collieries and it is with reference to the place of delivery that prices are fixed by the Coal Controller. In the absence of a contract, in view of S. 36, Sale of Goods Act, coal is to be delivered to the buyers at the collieries. If they despatched goods to various places it is not pursuant to any contractual obligations but is in compliance with the request of the buyers. The petitioners transported the goods to various places outside the State as instructed by the parties and not as a condition attached to the contract of sale. There was no question of the petitioners having any vendor's lien in regard to these goods or the right of stoppage in transit.

The Colliery Control Order, 1945, contemplates that the property in the goods in transit had already passed to the buyer as soon as the goods are put on rail. The Coal Commissioner is invested with the power of division because coal is a controlled commodity. Under the order, if coal is diverted, the buyer is entitled to such compensation as the Coal Controller considers reasonable. In order that delivery for consumption in another State should come within the ambit of the Explanation to Art. 286 (1) (a) of the Constitution, it should be an integral part of the sale. That is the import of the expression 'delivery as a direct result of such sale'. Where, the petitioners had not succeeded in proving that it was a term of the contract, they could not have resort to the Explanation. Therefore, the sales are not covered by the ban created by the Explanation and are liable to sales-tax.

Section 3 (a) of the Central Sales Tax Act only contains a rule to determine as to what constitutes inter-State trade or commerce. The exact import of the expression 'sale occasioning the movement of goods' is that the delivery outside the State should be under a covenant or as an incident of contract of sale. If the petitioners had failed to prove that the sales in question are invested with inter-State character, they cannot succeed in getting them within the scope of this clause. AIR 1960 All 62, Disting. AIR 1960 Cal 25, Differed from. AIR 1959 SC 887, Rel. on. (1961) 1 An WR 440 : 1961 Andh LT 497: (1961) 12 STC 765: ILR (1961) 2 Andh Pra 371: AIR 1962 Andh Pra 75 (80 to 83) (Prs 27, 29, 36, 38, 41, 45).

[Reversed in AIR 1966 SC 563.]

——Art. 286 (1) (a) and Explanation — Scope of — Theory of territorial nexus in levying sales-tax — If confined to pre-Constitution sales or purchases — Sales — When exempt — Madras General Sales Tax Act (IX of 1939), S. 2 (h), Explanation and Section 22 — Scope of — Sale of Goods Act (III of 1930), Ss. 18 to 23 — Andhra Court-Fees and Suits Valuation Act (VII of 1958), S. 64 — Scope — Tax revision cases — High Court's power to refund court-fee.

Per Full Bench.— Art. 286 of the Constitution imposes certain definite restrictions on the taxing power of the Provinces which came to be designated as States under the Constitution. These are separate and independent restrictions placed upon the legislative competency of the States to make a law with respect to matters enumerated in Entry 54 of List II. The Explanation to Art. 286 (1) (a) deals only with inter-State sales or purchases and not with purely local or domestic transactions. The theory of nexus is not confined only to pre-Constitution sales or purchases but to post-Constitution sales or purchases as well.

The non obstante clause in the Explanation to Art. 286 (1) (a) is inserted with a view to make it clear that it is immaterial where the property in the goods passes. The theory of territorial nexus has not altogether ceased to operate even after the coming into force of the Constitution and will apply to sales or purchases not covered by Art. 286 (1) and the Explanation thereto. In the matter of the levy of sales-tax, the provisions of the Sales-tax Act, subject to the constitutional limitations, if any, must determine the situs of a sale. Where the assessee fails to establish the exemption from taxation, the case would be governed by the Explanation to section 2 (h) of the Madras General Sales Tax Act. The assessee must establish facts entitling him to invoke the aid of the Explanation to Art. 286 (1) (a) and it is only then that the sales will be exempt from taxation.

The provisions of section 22 and section 2 (h) along with the Explanation thereto have to be read together as one harmonious scheme and where the Explanation to Section 22 applies, that provision will govern the situation. Otherwise the Explanation to Section 2 (h) will operate. (1961) 12 STC 31 : ILR (1961) 1 Andh Pra 178 : (1960) 2 An WR 244 : 1960 An LT 802 : AIR

1961 A. P. 86 (93, 94) (Pt A) (Prs 39, 41, 42, 46).

——Art. 286 — Scope of — Essence of inter-State sale — States Reorganisation Act (XXXVII of 1956), Ss. 3 and 119 — Scope and effect of — Andhra Pradesh Adaptation of Laws Order (1957) — Hyderabad General Sales Tax Act (XIV of 1950), S. 1 (2) — Changes effected in S. 1 (2) — Consequences of.

By reason of the Andhra Pradesh Adaptation of Laws Order, 1957, the Hyderabad General Sales-tax Act continued to be operative in the rest of the territory comprised within the State of Andhra Pradesh. This was the position till the Andhra Pradesh General Sales Tax Act came into force on 10th June, 1957.

The Constitution (Seventh Amendment) Act, 1956, included the territories specified in sub-s. (1) of S. 3 of the Andhra State Act, 1953, and the territories specified in sub-s. (1) of S. 3 of the States Reorganization Act, 1956 in the State of Andhra Pradesh. Thereafter, both the Telangana and Andhra areas constituted the territory of the State of Andhra Pradesh. The preservation of the pre-existing sale-tax laws by reason of section 119 of the States Reorganization Act has not the effect of constituting the movement of goods from one area of the State into another area an inter-State transaction. The transaction in question must be held to be an intra-State sale. ILR (1960) 1 Andh Pra 300 : (1960) 1 Andh WR 404 : (1960) 11 STC 420 : AIR 1960 Andh Pra 298 (299, 300) (Prs 10, 15) (DB).

——Art. 286 (1), Explanation — Scope — Presumption of delivery for consumption — When arises.

There is no presumption in law that the thing delivered in the outside State is necessarily for consumption or use in that State. Where there is no evidence on record that the delivery was for consumption the case would not come within the ambit of the Explanation to Art. 286 (1). (1959) 10 STC 394 : AIR 1960 Andh Pra 196 (199, 200, 201) (Pt A) (Pr 7) (DB).

——Art. 286 (1) (a), Explanation — Situs —Outside sale — What is — Tests — (Sales Tax — Madras General Sales Tax Act (IX of 1939), S. 2 (h)) — (Sale of Goods Act (1930), S. 1).

In order to ascertain what an outside sale is, it has first to be ascertained where in fact actual delivery has been effected.

The ban under the Article was intended for only such sales as were within the taxing powers of the State as contemplated by Arts. 245 and 246 (3) read with entry 54 in List 2 of the 7th Schedule. If all the conditions of explanation are not satisfied the nature of the sale involving inter-State elements would have to be determined on the language of the valid enactment fixing the situs of sale.

Section 2 (h) of the Madras General Sales Tax Act read with Explanation 2 fixes the situs of sale in the Madras State if the goods were within the State at the time the contract is made and the sufficiency of that nexus is undisputable. When the sale in question is not shown to be covered by the Explanation to Art. 286 (1) and it satisfies the test of territorial nexus prescribed by the Act the fact that some of the parts of the sale in question did not take place inside the State would not make the sale an outside sale within the meaning of Art. 286 (1) (a) and therefore, outside the taxing power of that State. (1959) 10 STC 394 : AIR 1960 Andh Pra 196 (202, 203) (Pt B) (Prs 11, 12) (DB).

——Art. 286 (1) — Situs of sale—Property where passes — Seller taking back receipts for giving it to bankers for collection of price, whether decisive. See Sale of Goods Act (1930), S. 23. AIR 1959 Andh Pra 192 (DB).

——Art. 286 (1) (a) Explanation — Sale where takes place — General rule stated — Effect of explanation indicated — AIR 1957 Pat 112, Dissented from. 1958 An LT 816 : (1958) 2 An WR 428: (1958) 9 STC 761: AIR 1959 Andh Pra 36 (39) (Pt D) (Pr 10) (DB).

[Overruled on another point in (1960) 2 An WR 244 (FB)].

——Art. 286 Explanation — Scope — (Sales-tax — Sales-tax Laws Validation Act (1956) — Effect of).

A transaction where the sale has been completed in one State but the delivery is effected in another State is an integral part of the sale and attracts the Explanation to Art. 286 of the Constitution. AIR 1958 SC 468, Rel. on.

The result of the Sales Tax Laws Validation Act 1956 is that all sales which come within the range of Explanation to Art. 286 are taxable in the States in which the deliveries are made. The Explanation is concerned only with the delivery to the buyer and not with the transport of the goods by his agent across the border and handing them over to his principal in another State. The right to levy tax is vested in the State where delivery is effected: AIR 1955 Mad 502, Rel. on. (1959) 10 STC 199 (Andhra Pradesh).

——Art. 286 (1) (a), Expl. — Goods sold and delivery effected to buyer in one State — Subsequently buyer removing them to another State for consumption — Explanation does not apply. 1955 An WR 692 : (1955) 6 STC 426 : 1955 An LT (Cri) 557 : AIR 1957 Andh Pra 996 (996, 997) (Pr 1) (DB).

——Art. 286 (1) (a), Explanation — Applicability.

In the case of a transaction of sale involving inter-State elements, only that State where the goods are actually delivered for the purpose of consumption would be entitled to tax the transaction. But the fact that the goods have been delivered for consumption within a particular State should be established by evidence. It is not enough, to attract the Explanation, that the goods purchased in one State have ultimately reached a different State where they were utilised for consumption in that State. It is necessary to prove that the delivery for consumption was the direct result of the sale or the purchase as the case may be. If the goods were sold and delivery effected to the buyers in a particular State, the mere fact that subsequently the buyer took the goods to another State for purposes of consumption, would not affect the liability of the goods for sales-tax in the State where delivery was effected, as in that case the goods were not delivered in the State as a direct result of the sale. 1955 Andhra WR 692, Rel. on. AIR 1955 NUC (Andhra) 5839 (DB).

——Art. 286 (1) (a), Explanation and (2) — "In the course of inter-State trade".

The word "course" etymologically denotes "movement from one place to another," and the expression "in the course of" not only implies a period of time during which the movement is in progress but postulates also a connected relation. The sale by a trader in one State to a user in another State would be a sale in the course of inter-State trade, according to the natural meaning of those words. Where the goods were actually in transit, they were consigned to the railway and the railway receipts were purchased by the petitioner, the transaction has an inter-State element. AIR 1955 NUC (Andhra) 5839 (DB).

——Art. 286 (1) (a), Expln. — Goods sold and delivery effected to buyer in one State — Subsequently buyer removing them to another State for consumption — Explanation does not apply.

In the case of a transaction of sale involving inter-State elements, it is clear that only that State where the goods are actually delivered for the purpose of consumption would be entitled to tax the transaction; but the fact, viz., that the goods are delivered for consumption within a particular State should be established by evidence. It is not enough, to attract Explanation to Art. 286 (1) (a) that the goods purchased in one State have ultimately reached a different State where they were utilised for consumption in that State. But it is also necessary to prove that the delivery for consumption was as the direct result of the sale or purchase as the case may be. If the goods were sold and delivery effected to the buyers in a particular State, the mere fact that subsequently the buyer took those goods to another State for purposes of consumption would not affect the liability of the goods for sales-tax in the State where delivery was effected, for in that case, the goods were not delivered in the second State as a direct result of the sale. AIR 1953 SC 252 and AIR 1955 Mad 502, Foll. (1955) Andhra WR 692 (DB).

——Art. 286 (1) (a) Explanation — Goods sold and delivery effected to buyer in one State — Subsequently buyer removing them to another State for consumption — Explanation does not apply. AIR 1955 NUC (Andhra) 5838.

■ ——Art. 286, Cl. (1) (a), Explanation and Cl. (2) — Art. 286 (2) applies only to cases not covered by Explanation to Art. 286 (1) (a). Satyanarayana Murthy and Brothers v. State of Madras, 1955 Andhra WR 578: 1955-6 STC 405: 1955 Andhra LT (Civil) 487: AIR 1955 Andhra-Pra 248 (250) (Pr 8) (FB).

——Arts. 286, 254, Sch. 7, List 2, Entry 54 — Assam Sales Tax Act (1947), S. 2 (12), Explanation — Validity — Legislative competence — Theory of territorial nexus — Applicability to sales tax legislation — Imposition of sales tax in respect of transactions where property passes outside State — Pre-Constitution period — Assessment and realisation after Constitution — (Government of India Act (1935), S. 107 (2), Sch. 7, List 2, Item 48). See Sales Tax — Assam Sales Tax Act (14 of 1947), S. 2 (12). AIR 1960 Assam 116.

■ ——Art. 286 (1) (before amendment by Constitution (Sixth Amendment) Act (1956) — Situs of sale — Provisions of Sale of Goods Act are not relevant — Contract of sale in Calcutta — Price to be paid in Calcutta — Goods to be delivered outside Assam for consumption — Situs of sale held outside in Assam. See Sales Tax — Assam Sales Tax Act (XVII of 1947), S. 2 (12). AIR 1960 Assam 28 (SB).

——Art. 286 (1) (a) — Sale of goods of inter-State nature — (Sales Tax — Assam Sales Tax Act (XVII of 1947), S. 3 (1) (A) (i).

The levy of Sales Tax under the Assam Sales Tax Act is hit by Art. 286 (1) (a) of the Constitution and S. 3 (1) (A) (i) of the Assam Act, where the sale of goods is of an inter-State nature, the goods being despatched for delivery outside the State of Assam, even if the title to the goods passed in the State of Assam. (1959) 10 STC 327: AIR 1958 Assam 119 (127) (Pt D) (Pr 36) (DB).

——Art. 286 (1), Explanation — Delivery not for consumption in States to which goods were despatched — Place of sale.

The Explanation fixes the situs of the sales which are of inter-State character for the purpose of taxation and the sale by virtue of the explanation will be deemed to have taken place in the State in which the goods are delivered for the purpose of consumption therein. For every other State, it will be an outside sale and not liable to be taxed. (1959) 10 STC 327: AIR 1958 Assam 119 (126, 127) (Pt E) (Pr 36) (DB).

——Art. 286 (1), Explanation —'Delivery' — Meaning of.

The delivery contemplated in the Explanation is not a constructive delivery to the carrier but actual delivery. (1959) 10 STC 327: AIR 1958 Assam 119 (126, 127) (Pt F) (Pr 36) (DB).

——Art. 286 (a), Explanation — 'For the purpose of consumption in that State' — Meaning.

Where, according to the 'terms of an agreement, wooden sleepers, after they were passed by Sleeper Control Officer, were to be despatched from different railway stations within the State of Assam to the outside stations according to the allotment made by the proper authorities and allotments were made having regard to the requirements and necessity of each station:

Held, that the sleepers must have been delivered to the allottee State for the purpose of consumption therein. (1959) 10 STC 327: AIR 1958 Assam 119 (127) (Pt G) (Pr 36) (DB).

——Arts. 286 (2) — Sales Tax Validation Ordinance and Sales Tax Laws Validation Act — Object and effect of.

The purpose of the Ordinance and the subsequent Act was to validate the levy and collection of tax by the delivery State and not to validate the levy or collection of tax by the States which are not delivery States. The sales which are outside sales and are not covered by Explanation to Art. 286 (1) (a) are also hit by Art. 286 (2) and the Validating Act does not affect such sales. (1959) 10 STC 327: AIR 1958 Assam 119 (128) (Pt I) (Pr 38) (DB).

——Art. 286 (2) — Coercive provision of law in Assam Sales Tax Act 1947, S. 15 (1) (b) and Assam Sales Tax Rules, R. 90 held to be illegal— Issue of writ against said provisions being utilised to petitioner's prejudice. See Ibid, Art. 226, AIR 1956 Assam 177 (DB).

[Reversed on another point in AIR 1962 SC 107]

——Art. 286 (1) (a), Explanation and (2) — Effect of Explanation — Applicability of sub-s. (2).

The effect of the Explanation attached to Cl. (1) (a) of Art. 286 is to invest what in truth is an inter-State transaction with an inter-State character in relation to the State of delivery and Cl. (2) of the Article can, therefore, have no application to such cases. AIR 1956 Assam 66 (70) (Pt A) (Pr 10) (DB).

——Art. 286 (1) (b), Expln. — Dealer—Test of— Supply of goods in Assam for consumption — Supplier having no office or factory in State — Effect. See Sales Tax — Assam Sales Tax Act (XVII of 1947), Ss. 2 (3), 2 (12). AIR 1955 Assam 113 (DB).

——Art. 286 (1) (a) and Explanation (as it was before 1956) — Applicability — Goods sold to Bombay buyers for export — Wagons indented by buyers — Delivery given at Railway Stations in M. P. — Protection under Art. 286 (1) (a) read with Explanation — Right to claim — Exemption from tax in M. P. — Petitioner not entitled to protection. 1961 Nag LJ (Notes) 69.

[Explanation to Cl. (1) omitted by the Constitution Sixth (Amendment) Act, 1956.]

——Art. 286 — Scope of — Sales and purchases in course of import and export — Passing of property — Test — (Sale of Goods Act (1930), S. 19).

Where the sale of goods has been effected to exporters F.O.R. and the exporters were to make payment on presentation of documents relating to the goods which are covered by buyer's export license, the material question which should be answered in order to decide whether the sale is exempted by the provisions of the Article, is when did the property in the goods pass to the buyer. That is essential because only if the sale had taken place after the goods have entered the export stream or have passed the customs barrier the provisions of Art. 286 would be attracted to it.

Normally the question of passing of property is a question of intention to be gathered from the terms of the contract. One test, is to consider whether the exporter could have delivered the goods which he had purchased to any purpose other than the purpose of export. Could he have resold the goods for his own domestic purpose? and the answer to that question must obviously be in the negative where the exporter only gets delivery of the goods by means of the documents of title after they have crossed the customs barrier. 59 Bom LR 599: (1957) 8 STC 617: ILR (1957) Bom 747: AIR 1958 Bom 120 (121, 122, 123) (Pt A) (Prs 2, 4, 5, 6) (DB).

——Art. 286 (1), Explanation — Object of — (Interpretation of Statutes — Explanation) — [C. P. Code (1908), Preamble].

An explanation is not a proviso. It does not carve out of the section something which the section has provided and deal with that part which is carved out. It is not the function or purpose of an explanation to extend the scope of the section itself or to restrict its operation. An explanation ordinarily is intended to apply to the whole ambit of the section and to throw light on the construction of the words used by the Legislature. An explanation very often introduces a legal fiction and treats the legal fiction as a reality contained in the section itself.

The Explanation to Art. 286 (1) also creates a legal fiction or raises a statutory presumption with regard to the meaning and scope of the expression "outside the State" used in Art. 286 (1). What it says is that if you find that goods have been actually delivered as a direct result of a sale or purchase for the purpose of consumption in a particular State, then the sale or purchase shall be deemed to have taken place in the State, and it further emphasises the statutory presumption or legal fiction by stating that this is so even though the property in the goods has passed by reason of such sale or purchase in another State. (53) 55 Bom LR 246: 1953-4 STC 10 (DB).

[Reversed in AIR 1953 SC 252 which itself was overruled in AIR 1955 SC 661].

——Arts. 286 (1) (a), 286 (2), 286 (1) (a), Explanation (Before Sixth Amendment in 1959)—Inter-State trade or commerce —Essentials — Explanation sale and sale under Art. 286 (2) — Distinction — Explanation sales are inside sales in spite of movement of goods from one State to another — Particular transaction whether an explanation sale — Is a question to be determined on its facts — Law as to sales tax on inter-State trade or commerce — History traced — Bengal Finance (Sales Tax) Act (6 of 1941), S. 2 (g) Expl. (2) (Before its amendment in 1959). 68 Cal WN 1: AIR 1964 Cal 477 (483, 484, 485, 486) (Prs 31, 32, 34).

——Art. 286 (1) (a), Expln. (before amendment in 1956) — Railway Wagons delivered in West Bengal to Western Railway for its use — Railway using them in and through several States — Effect — If delivered in any one State for consumption in that State.

In case of through transport of goods wagons would sometimes be used for carriage of goods from the Western Railway to other Railways and vice versa. Although the wagons were delivered in the State of West Bengal as a direct result of the sale, it cannot be said that such delivery was for the purpose of consumption in the State of West Bengal. It cannot, therefore, be said that the sales were Explanation-sales, that is to say, sales as a direct result of which the goods were delivered in any one State for consumption in that State. ILR (1960) 2 Cal 886: (1960) 11 STC 47: AIR 1960 Cal 424 (427) (Pt A) (Pr 13) (DB).

——Art. 286 (1) (a), Expln. (before amendment in 1956) — Scope and object of.

The purpose of the Explanation is to explain what is a sale outside the State. If the situs of the sale can be fixed by recourse to the Explanation in any particular State, the sale is necessarily outside all other States and is outside even the State in which under the general law the property in the goods has passed by reason of sale. But in a case where the sale does not fulfil the requirements of the Explanation, the sale is not necessarily an outside sale. A sale which is not an Explanation sale may yet be an inside sale, that is to say, a sale inside that State. (1960) 11 STC 47: ILR (1960) 2 Cal 886: AIR 1960 Cal 424 (427, 428) (Pt B) (Pr 15) (DB).

——Art. 286 (1) (a), Expln. (before amendment in 1956) — Consumption of goods — If ingredient of sale.

The consumption of the goods bought is not an ingredient of the sale. The place where the goods are consumed cannot localise the sale or fix its venue or situs.

Where railway wagons were prepared and delivered in West Bengal for purposes of use(consumption) in several States, the sale of the said wagons is not an Explanation-sale and the situs of the sale cannot be fixed by recourse to the Explanation. The fiction introduced by the Explanation, does not come into play. The Explanation, therefore, does not make the sale a sale outside West Bengal. ILR (1960) 2 Cal 886: (1960) 11 STC 47: AIR 1960 Cal 424 (427, 428) (Pt C) (Prs 15, 16) (DB).

——Art. 286 (1) (a), (before its amendment in 1956), Expln. and (2) — Explanation — Fiction created by — Sale falling within scope of Explanation is not inside sale in context of Cl. (2).

The Explanation to Cl. (1) (a) of Art. 286 (as it was before 1956) enacted a fiction for locating the situs of an inter-State sale by laying down that a sale takes place outside every State other than the delivery-cum-consumption State. But a sale which falls within the scope of the Explanation is not an inside sale simpliciter in the context of Cl. (2) of Art. 286. It is an oversimplification to say that as the quantities of the commodity imported from outside the State were delivered in the Jammu and Kashmir State as a direct result of the sales for the purpose of consumption in that State, the Sales Tax Officer ipso facto became entitled to levy tax on the sales. It is also erroneous to say so because it completely ignores Cl. (2) of Art. 286 and also the fact that Explanation sales are essentially inter-State Sales. 1962 Kash LJ 83: AIR 1962 J and K 89 (92)(Pt B) (Pr 6) (DB).

[Partly Reversed on another point in AIR 1966 SC 1350].

——Art. 286 (1) (a), (before its amendment in 1956), Expln. and (2) — Sale—Part of ingredients of sale taking place in State — Its effect on inter-State sale — Transport of petrol from one State to another — Held sale took place in course of inter-State trade.

Held, that as both the conditions postulated in the Bengal Immunity Co. Case, AIR 1955 SC 661 had been satisfied the sale of petrol took place in the course of inter-State trade. 1962 Kash LJ 83: AIR 1962 J and K 89 (93) (Pt C) (Pr 7) (DB).

[Partly Reversed on another point in AIR 1966 SC 1350.]

——Art. 286 (1) (a) and (2) — Madras General Sales Tax Act (1939), Section 2 (h) — Sale of rubber in 1953-54 for consumption in purchaser's factories in Bombay and Calcutta — Orders placed by purchasing department in T. C. State for supply of rubber to purchaser's godown at Fort Cochin in Madras State — Orders accepted by agent of estate owners — Delivery of goods in Fort Cochin — Payments made and contract forms issued in T. C. State — Right of rejection of goods for non-compliance of terms reserved in contract — Levy of sales-tax under Madras Act — Sales whether exempt under Art. 286 (1) (a) or Art. 286 (2).

Held, on facts (i) that notwithstanding the execution of the documents at Kottayam the sales would be liable to pay tax under the Madras General Sales Tax Act due to the goods being at Fort Cochin, unless they be 'outside sales' under Art. 286 (1) (a) and therefore, exempt from the sale tax; (ii) that rubber not having been shown to have been delivered as a direct result of the sales for the purposes of consumption in Bombay or in Calcutta, the Explanation to Art. 286 (1) (a) before the amendment of 1956 would not be attracted. On the other hand the goods were shown to have moved from the erstwhile State of Travancore-Cochin into the State of Madras, which was not the State where the goods were to be consumed, and thereby continuous journey for the purpose of consumption in West Bengal or Bombay had been broken. Therefore, the contracts were not Explanation sales, nor were they otherwise "outside sales" because the property in the goods had passed in the taxing State under Explanation 2 of Section 2 (h), Madras General Sales Tax Act; (iii) that the sales were not inter-State sales and therefore, not exempt from taxation under Art. 286 (2). The words "in course of import" have been defined to mean where the import be the direct result of the contract; and the words "in course of inter-State Sales" cannot be construed differently. It follows that as the ownership in the goods had passed after the rubber had come to rest in the Cochin godown, the earlier stages became part of the agreement to sell, which stages should be excluded from consideration where only sales are being taxed. The purchaser's right to reject the goods after the ownership had passed would also not make the sales inter-State when the further movement to the destination was not provided by the contracts. 1961 Ker LJ 1264.

——Art. 286 (1) (a) — "Outside sale" — Locus of sale for purposes of Sales tax levy — Lex situs is the determining factor — Word "sale" in Article, whether has same meaning as in Sale of Goods Act — Explanation 2 to Section 2 (j), Travancore-Cochin General Sales Tax Act (XI of 1125) is not violative of Art. 286 (1) (a). ('60) ILR (1960) Ker 1395.

[Reversed in AIR 1964 SC 569.]

——Art. 286 (1) (a), Expln. (Before its amendment by 6th Amendment in 1956) — Sale outside or inside the State where property passes — Test to determine — Explanation when applies — Sale of timber F. O. R. certain place in State — Delivery of goods and passing of property at the place — Mere despatch to various destinations according to purchaser's instructions does not make it outside sale — Sale of Goods Act (1930), Section 39 — Sales Tax — C. P. and Berar Sales Tax Act (1947), Section 27-A.

For the purposes of determining whether under Art. 286 (1), as it stood before the Constitution (Sixth Amendment) Act, 1956, a sale is 'inside' or 'outside' the State, it is the passing of property within the State that is intended to be fastened on and, therefore, subject to the operation of the Explanation. That State in which the property passed would be the only State which would have the power to levy a tax on the sale. Where the Explanation applies, the sale transaction is by legal fiction deemed to have taken place 'inside' the State of delivery and, therefore, 'outside' the State in which the property has passed. AIR 1961 SC 315, AIR 1961 SC 347 and (1963) 12 STC 363, Rel. on. Thus where a contract of sale of timber was 'F. O. R. Mandla Fort' in the Madhya Pradesh State, if the sale was completed in the State of Madhya Pradesh, property in the goods passed there, and the goods were also actually delivered to the buyer at Mandla Fort, then the seller is undoubtedly liable to pay sales tax in respect of timber sold by it in the State of Madhya Pradesh. If, on the other hand, as direct result of the sale transactions, the timber was delivered for consumption outside the State of Madhya Pradesh, then notwithstanding the fact that property in the goods passed in the State of Madhya Pradesh, the sales would not be liable to any tax under the Act by reason of the Explanation to Art. 286 (1) of the Constitution.

Held on examination of the terms of contract, that as the sale was under the term 'F. O. R. Mandla Fort the actual delivery of timber to the purchaser was at Mandla. That being so, the assessee could not invoke the Explanation to Art. 286 (1) (a) of the Constitution. As the delivery of timber was within the State of Madhya Pradesh and property in the goods passed to the purchaser at that place the tax liability accrued in the State of Madhya Pradesh and that State had the power to levy sales tax on the sale transactions concluded between the parties. That liability was in no way altered or affected by reason of the subsequent despatch of timber from Mandla Fort in accordance with the instructions contained in the Acceptance of Tender Form. Held, further that if in a contract of sale, the place of delivery is fixed as F.O.R. the 'place of despatch', then the goods are actually delivered to the buyer at that place. That being so, there cannot be again a 'delivery' of the goods to the buyer at any other place merely because they are subsequently transported by the Railway according to the instructions given by the parties. Section 39 of the Sale of Goods Act does not come into play when in a contract of sale there is an express stipulation that the goods shall be delivered 'f. o. r. the place of despatch'. (1964) 15 STC 602: 1965 Jab LJ 635: 1964 MPLJ 620.

——Art. 286 — Development of Sales Tax Law in India — State of law in pre-Constitution and post-Constitution periods — C. P. and Berar Sales Tax Act (XXI of 1947), Section 2 (g), Expl. II. See Ibid, Art. 245. AIR 1962 Madh Pra 225 (DB).

——Art. 286 (1) Explanation (Before its omission by Constitution (6th Amendment) Act, 1956) — Actual delivery, meaning and nature of C. P. and Berar Sales Tax Act (XXI of 1947), Section 4 (6).

'Actual delivery' in the context in which the expression was used in the Explanation to Art. 286 (1) only meant, 'factual or real delivery of the physical goods in species as opposed to notional or constructive delivery'. Such delivery could thus take place only at the moment when the buyer or his authorised agent came into actual physical possession of the goods. Delivery of possession by transferring documents of title in respect of the goods sold was thus not 'actual delivery' nor was delivery to a common carrier, who was presumed to be the buyer's agent for taking delivery, an 'actual delivery' to the buyer. 1961 MPLJ 804: 1961 Jab LJ 1011: 1961 MPC 582: AIR 1962 Madh Pra 225 (232) (Pt B) (Pr 26) (DB).

——Art. 286 (1) Explanation (Before its omission by Constitution (6th Amd.) Act, 1956) — 'For purposes of consumption', meaning of — C. P. and Berar Sales Tax Act (XXI of 1947), S. 4 (6).

The expression "for the purposes of consumption in that State" in the Explanation to Art. 286 (1) must be understood as having reference not merely to the individual importer or purchaser but as contemplating distribution eventually to consumers in general within the State. Thus all buyers within the State of delivery from out-of-State sellers, except those buying for re-export out of the State, would be within the scope of the Explanation and liable to be taxed by the State on their inter-State transaction. 1961 MPLJ 804: 1961 Jab LJ 1011: 1961 MPC 582: AIR 1962 Madh Pra 225 (233) (Pt C) (Pr 28) (DB).

——Art. 286 (1) (a), Explanation (as it was before 1956) — Applicability — Evidence to prove actual consumption in delivery State — Necessity.

All that the Explanation to Art. 286 (1) required was that goods delivered as a direct result of sales should have been so delivered 'for the purpose of consumption' in the delivery State. In order to attract the Explanation, it would be enough if it was shown that delivery was given in another State for the purpose of consumption in that State. AIR 1953 SC 252, Rel. on. 1961 MPLJ (Notes) 28.

——Art. 286 — Scope — Goods sent from M. P. to U. P. where they were sold to consumers — State of M. P. — Right to levy sales-tax — (Sales-Tax — Sales-Tax Laws Validation Act (VII of 1956)) — (Sales-tax — C. P. and Berar Sales-Tax Act (1947), Section 2 (g), Expl. II).

The bar in Art. 286 is created by two separate clauses. The first clause creates a bar in respect of the imposition of tax on the sale or purchase of goods where such sale or purchase takes place outside the State. The second clause introduces a bar in respect of sales or purchases which take place in the course of inter-State trade or commerce. The bar of the second clause did not operate till 31st March, 1951, by reason of the President's Order which had been issued under the proviso to that clause. Later, an Ordinance (the Sales-Tax Laws Validation Ordinance, 1956) and an Act (the Sales-Tax Laws Validation Act, 1956) validated the recovery of sales-tax in spite of the fact that the sale or purchase took place in the course of inter-State trade or commerce. Where the goods were sent from M. P. to dealers in Uttar Pradesh who sold or delivered them for consumption in that State, sales-tax could only be collected by the State in which the goods were actually delivered for the purpose of consumption in that State and not by the State from which the goods were sent for such delivery. Taxes if collected by the State of M. P. in such circumstances after 26-1-1950 would offend against Art. 286 (1). Mullaji Jamaluddin and Co. v. State of M. P., ILR (1957) Madh Pra 631: (1958) 9 STC 499: 1958 Jab LJ 410: 1958 MPC 277: 1958 MPLJ 353: AIR 1958 Madh Pra 220 (221) (Pt B) (Pr 7) (FB).

——Art. 286 (as it stood in 1955) — Sale — Passing property—Constituted sale — Property passing in Kerala State — Delivery in pursuance of sale in Madras State did not form component part of such State. See Madras Sales of Motor Spirit Taxation Act (VI of 1939), Section 3 (1). AIR 1965 Mad 529 (DB).

——Art. 286 (1) (a) and Explanation and Art. 286 (2) (before Sixth Amendment) — Construction and relative scope — State's power to tax inter-State sale or purchase — Sales Tax Laws Validation Act(VII of 1956) — Scope and effect of — If liberates taxing power of State and lifts ban imposed by Art. 286 (2) — Art. 286 (2) — If overrides Art. 286 (1).

Under Art. 286 of the Constitution there is a very clear ban imposed restricting the power of the State to impose a tax on sale or purchase of goods, where such sale, or purchase takes place outside the State. Not only is the ban clear, but it is also absolute. The Explanation to Art. 286 (1) (a) — which is only in regard to that provision (sub-cl. (a)) — defines a sale which should be deemed to have taken place in the taxing State. Article 286 (1) (a) read with the Explanation takes in and covers inter-State sale or purchase. The ban imposed on the State to tax sale or purchase taking place outside the taxing State is absolute and independent of any other ban in Art. 286; Art. 286 (2) is not capable of being interpreted as enabling Parliament to destroy it. If the terms of the Explanation are satisfied, such sales are by a fiction deemed to be 'inside' the State of delivery-cum-consumption and therefore, outside all other States. In such cases, therefore, only the State 'inside' which the sale is deemed to take place by virtue of the Explanation is exempt from the ban imposed by Art. 286 (1) (a). All other States would be subject to that ban in respect of such sales. The real position is that all outside sales that is inter-State sales in respect of which the taxing State is not the inside State, the delivery-cum-consumption States, are absolutely prohibited from being taxed by the State Legislature. The ban on the States' power to tax outside sales is permanent and irremovable, and Art. 286 (2) has to be read only as enabling the Parliament to lift the ban on inside sale or purchase of the taxing State. The Sales Tax Validation Act only provided for lifting the ban to the extent to which Parliament was permitted to do so under the clear terms of the Constitution. Article 286 (2) cannot be read as completely overriding Art. 286 (1), leading to the result that provided Parliament exercises its power, sale or purchase in the course of inter-State trade or commerce could be indiscriminately taxed by all the States. Article 286 (1) clearly covers inter-State sale or purchase, though in terms it does not say so. The intention of the framers of the Constitution was that no law of the State should tax a sale or purchase in the course of inter-State trade or commerce which is extra-territorial in character. An inside sale falling within the Explanation can be taxed if Parliament lifts the ban under Art. 286 (2). If the terms of the Explanation do not cover a particular sale, then the question whether the sale is an outside sale qua the taxing State has to be determined by finding out the place where the property in the goods passed. In respect of an inter-State sale not falling within the Explanation to Art. 286 (1) (a), on the lifting of the ban by Parliament under Art. 286 (2) the State wherein the property in the goods passed may levy tax if the words of the taxing section of the enactment are wide enough to cover such a transaction. ILR (1964) 1 Mad 367: (1965) 1 MLJ 411: (1963) 14 STC 923.

——Art. 286 (1), Explanation — Sales Tax — Madras General Sales Tax Act (IX of 1939), Section 22 — Sales in which property passes outside Madras State but delivery for consumption inside Madras — Transaction taxable under Section 22. See Sales Tax — Madras General Sales Tax Act (IX of 1939), Section 22. AIR 1963 Mad 116 (DB).

[Overruled on another point in AIR 1964 SC 922.]

——Art. 286 (1) and (2) — Sales Tax Laws Validation Act (1956), Section 2 — Madras General Sales Tax Act (IX of 1939), Section 3 (1) — Turnover and Assessment Rules, Rule 4-A — Inter-State sale in Madras State — Delivery-cum-consumption in Kerala State — Transactions between period covered by Validation Act — Seller in Madras State whether last purchaser within R. 4-A — Liability of transactions to tax in Madras — Effect of Validation Act — Inter-State sale whether converted into intra-State sale.

The Sales Tax Laws Validation Act cannot have the effect of treating all inter-State sales as intra-State sales as that would amount to abrogation of Art. 286 of the Constitution altogether. The Constitution prohibits a State from taxing sales ouside the State. The State where actual delivery of goods takes place for the purpose of consumption is deemed to be the locus where the sale takes place: AIR 1953 SC 252, Rel. on.

With regard to 'explanation sales', the State, in which actual delivery is effected for purpose of consumption can levy tax on the sale, provided the Parliament lifts the ban under Art. 286 (2). But with regard to what may be called 'non-explanation sales', that is, sales which do not fall within the Explanation to Art. 286 (1) of the Constitution, the mere lifting of the ban under Art. 286 (2) by the Parliament will not enable a State to levy a tax in respect of a sale which may yet be a sale outside the State territory.

What is an 'outside sale' is defined by the Constitution by the Explanation to Art. 286 (1) which states what should be deemed to be an 'inside sale'. The irresistible inference is that an 'inside sale' falling within the terms of the explanation can be taxed if the Parliament lifts the ban under Art. 286 (2). If the terms of the explanation do not cover a particular inter-State sale then the question whether the sale is an 'outside sale' qua the taxing State has to be determined by finding out the place where the property in the goods passes. In respect of an inter-State sale not falling within the Explanation to Art. 286 (1) (a) on the lifting of the ban by the Parliament under Art. 286 (2) the State wherein the property in the goods passes may levy tax if the words of taxing section of the enactment were wide enough to cover such a transaction.

Held, on facts (1) that as the sales were outside the Madras State and inside the Kerala State, the latter being 'delivery-cum-consumption' State, the sales cannot be taxed by the Madras State. (2) It cannot be accepted that the Mills in Kerala were the last purchasers. The Mills are the purchasers in inter-State sales, falling within the Explanation to Art. 286. The 'delivery-cum-consumption' State is the Kerala State and in relation to the Madras State, it is an 'outside' sale. The situs of the sale having been located by the Constitution as the Kerala State the Madras State is under a disability to tax such sales. Once the transactions are beyond the purview of the Madras Act, it is inconceivable that the parties to the transaction can be brought in for any measure of tax liability. It must therefore be held that the Mills are not the last purchasers. As the petitioners have failed to establish that they were not last purchasers, the assessment under Rule 4-A was correct. 75 Mad LW 524: (1962) 13 STC 785: ILR (1962) Mad 1131: (1963) 1 Mad LJ 28: AIR 1963 Mad 5 (7, 8, 9) (Prs 15, 16, 20, 23, 24) (DB).

——Art. 286 (1) (a) and (b) — Applicability — Cotton imported into India from abroad by Bompay dealers — Purchase by spinning mill at Tirupur in Madras — Dealers' agents clearing goods through customs and then despatching goods to Tirupur — Purchaser paying price into bank against delivery of railway receipt — Right of Madras to tax sales — Validity of Rule 4-A (iv), Madras (General Sales-tax Turnover and Assessment) Rules, 1939.

The assessee, a spinning mill at Tirupur, Madras State was assessed to sales tax under Rule 4-A (iv) of the Turnover and Assessment Rules on its purchases of cotton which had been imported from Egypt, by Bombay dealers. The Bombay dealers imported cotton from Egypt and the shipping documents were in their names. The assessee intimated the Bombay dealers about its requirements and then the Bombay dealers placed order with suppliers in Africa. The shipments were directed from African ports to Cochin. The clearing agents of the Bombay dealers at Cochin cleared the goods through customs and then despatched them to Tirupur to the assessee who paid the price into the bank against delivery of railway receipt:

Held, (1) that since the purchases of cotton were made after the cotton had been imported into India by the Bombay dealers and after the cotton had crossed the customs frontier in India, the purchases did not fall within the scope of Art. 286 (1) (b) of the Constitution. They were not purchases in the course of import but were purchases effected after the import had been completed:

(2) that both the requirements of the explanation to Art. 286 (1) (a) were satisfied and Madras had the right to tax the sales, once Parliament lifted the ban on taxation on sales and purchases in the course of inter-State commerce:

(3) that Rule 4-A (iv), as it stood in the relevant period, was intra vires and it was not in conflict with any of the provisions of Section 5 (ii) of the Madras General Sales Tax Act. (1960) 11 STC 306: AIR 1961 Mad 87 (88, 89) (Prs 4, 5, 8) (DB).

——Arts. 286 (1) (a) Explanation and 286 (2), Inter-State sale when President's Sales Tax continuance Order was in force — Which State can levy Sales-tax — Question whether it was 'Explanation sale' has to be decided — (President's Sales Tax Continuance Order (1950)).

The 'explanation sale', that is, the sale which falls within the scope of Art. 286 (1) (a) of the Constitution can itself be a sale in the course of inter-State trade and to such a sale the ban imposed under Art. 286 (2) would also apply. When that ban was lifted by the President's Sales Tax Continuance Order and some articles were sold outside certain State, the question is whether it was an inside sale as far as that State was concerned, or whether it was an outside sale which came within the scope of explanation to Art. 286 (1) (a). If they were outside sales, the President's Order would not enable that State to tax on those transactions, because the implied ban imposed by explanation to Art. 286 (1) (a) would apply proprio vigore and could not be covered by the President's Sales Tax Continuance Order, which was concerned only with the lifting of the ban on taxing of sales in the course of inter-State trade. In such a case the question at issue is, whether there were sales of articles outside that State for consumption in the States of delivery. (AIR 1955 SC 765 and AIR 1955 SC 661, Relied on). (1959) 10 STC 598: (1960) 1 Mad LJ 140: 73 Mad LW 282: AIR 1960 Mad 236 (236, 237) (Prs 2, 3, 4) (DB).

——Art. 286 (1) (a) — Sales Tax — Madras General Sales Tax Act (9 of 1939), Sections 3 and 22 — Transactions in cotton falling within the scope of explanation to Art. 286 (1) (a) of the Constitution — Transactions taking place between 26-1-50 and 31-3-50 i.e. during the period not covered by Sales Tax Validation Act, 7 of 1956 which lifted the constitutional ban on the right of States to taxable turnover of the assessee — Such transactions must be excluded from the taxable turnover of the assessee — The President's Sales Tax Continuance Order which was in force during the relevant period cannot validate the imposition of levy after the Constitution. See Sales Tax — Madras General Sales Tax Act (9 of 1939), S. 3. (1960) 11 STC 622 (Mad).

——Art. 286 (1) (a) — Sales Tax — Madras General Sales Tax Act (9 of 1939), Section 3 and Section 2 (h) — Goods outside Madras State brought within — Sale transaction involving inter-State element — Liability to tax.

Where the goods are originally outside the State, but are brought into the State by reason of the purchase, then whether the property in the goods passes within the State or not, the tax liability is attracted by virtue of the main portion of the definition of "sale" in section 2 (h) read with Section 22. In regard to them, Art. 286 (1) (a) and the Explanation thereto, which, by reason of their introduction into the Madras General Sales Tax Act as Section 22, have to be read as part of the Sales Tax Act of the Madras State, will fictionally deem such sales to be "inside" sales inasmuch as Madras is the State of delivery or consumption. But when this view was overruled by the Supreme Court in the Bengal Immunity case, AIR 1955 SC 661, the postion which emerged was, that though these sales were "inside" sales for the purposes of the Madras Sales Tax Act, the tax upon them became obnoxious to the provisions of Art. 286 (2), and, therefore, they would have been exempt from tax. But the Sales Tax Laws Validation Ordinance (No. 3 of 1956) promulgated by the President on 30-1-1956 applies to such sales, and to the tax liability arising thereon, and after the Ordinance, the exemption based upon Art. 286 (2) will no longer be applicable. And hence the turnover on the purchase value of cotton purchased during the year 1951-52 by the mills situated in Madras State from Messrs. Volkart Brothers is not excluded from taxation under the Madras General Sales Tax Act. (1956-57) 7 STC 691: 70 Mad LW 142: (1957) 1 MLJ 356: AIR 1957 Mad 362 (366, 367, 368) (Pt C) (Prs 10, 17, 22) (DB).

——Art. 286 — Madras General Sales Tax Act, Section 2 (h) (before its amendment by Act 25 of 1947) — Negotiable Instruments Act (1881), Section 5 — Sale of Goods Act (1930), Section 25 (3) — Export of goods to foreign buyer under letter of credit — 95 per cent. of price paid to seller in Madras State on presenting documents — Goods pass to buyer in State of Madras and liable to tax. See Sales Tax — Madras General Sales Tax Act (9 of 1939) (Before its amendment by Act (25 of 1947), Section 2 (h). AIR 1956 Mad 695.

●——Art. 286 — Place of sale — Test. See Sales Tax — Madras General Sales Tax Act (IX of 1939), Section 3. AIR 1956 Mad 659 (FB).

——Art. 286 — Intra-State or inter-State Sale — (Sales Tax — Madras General Sales Tax Act (IX of 1939), S. 2 (h)).

Held, on facts that as between the seller and the buyer the sale was completed by the delivery of the goods sold at the seller's premises within the State of Madras. That made it an intra-State sale, a sale wholly concluded within the State of Madras. The liability to tax under the Madras General Sales Tax Act arose at that stage and fell upon the seller. That the goods were purchased avowedly for transport outside the State of Madras would not make it a sale in the course of inter-State commerce. In the despatch of the goods by the agent to his principal, there was no element of sale. As between the seller and buyer acting through his agent the sale was concluded by delivery within the State, when the seller was liable to pay the sales-tax. 1956 Mad WN 600: (1956) 2 Mad LJ 324: (1956) 7 STC 522: 69 Mad LW 569: ILR (1957) Mad 55: AIR 1956 Mad 631 (632) (Pr 3) (DB).

——Art. 286 (1) (a), Explanation and (2) — Sales transactions — Goods outside Madras brought into that State — Levy of sales tax — (Sales Tax — Madras General Sales Tax Act (IX of 1939), Section 3) — (Sales Tax Laws Validation Ordinance (1956), S. 2).

Where, by reason of the sales transactions sought to be taxed, goods which were outside the State of Madras were brought over into that State and the transactions took place between the dates mentioned in Ordinance III of 1956,

Held, that as goods were transported to the State of Madras and delivered for consumption there, they were inside sales within the explanation to Art. 286 (1) (a), but they were clearly transactions in the course of inter-State trade within Art. 286 (2) and therefore exempt from taxation, but by reason of Section 2 of the Ordinance, the sales being taxable before the Ordinance under Madras Sales Tax Act, the tax was rendered valid. (1956) 7 STC 771: AIR 1956 Mad 627 (628) (Pt B) (Pr 5) (DB).

——Art. 286 — Madras General Sales Tax Act (1939), Section 3 — Right to levy tax — State in which property in goods passes and not State where contract is made can levy tax — No evidence as to place of contract — Goods delivered and price paid in State of Madras — Property in goods passes in Madras State — Sellers liable to pay Sales Tax — Onus is on sellers to establish that sale did not take place in Madras State. See Sales Tax — Madras General Sales Tax Act (9 of 1939), Section 3. AIR 1955 Mad 541.

——Art. 286 (1) (a), Explanation — Delivery outside the State — (Sales-tax — Madras General Sales Tax Act (IV of 1939), Section 7 — Applicability) — (Sale of Goods Act (1930), Section 39 (1) — Delivery to carrier).

The assessee was a registered manufacturer of and a licensed dealer in groundnut oil carrying on business in Pollachi. During the accounting year, he sold oil to Messrs. Tata Oil Mills Co., Ltd. The course of business between the assessee and the purchasers was as follows: As the sale of the oil was 'loose' the containers were supplied by the purchasers who sent their own drums to the assessee for the carriage of the oil. These containers were filled in at the assessee's mills and were transported to Pollachi Junction and then loaded on Railway wagons by the sellers who obtained Railway receipts in the name of the buyers as consignors, the consignees of course being the same. On the instructions of the buyers all the oil sold under these contracts was routed to Ernakulam where it was cleared by the buyers and the commodity was consumed in the latter's mills. The railway receipts were, with the relative invoices, handed over at Coimbatore to the buyers where they had an office and the sellers received a good portion of the price. The balance was paid after weights were checked and fatty acid tests were carried out by the buyers at Ernakulam.

Held, that as the carrier was constituted an agent of the buyer for accepting delivery of the goods on his behalf the goods had "actually been delivered to the buyer at Pollachi within the Madras State" and therefore, the tax liability had accrued and this was not altered or affected by reason of the subsequent despatch of the goods at the instance of the buyer from the State of Madras to Ernakulam outside the State.

The circumstance that the weight of the oil as well as the fatty acid contents were checked at Ernakulam and it was only thereafter that the balance of the price was paid to the assessee did not militate against the buyer having taken delivery of the goods at Pollachi when they were handed over to the buyer's agent, viz., the carrier.

The requirements of Section 7 of the Madras General Sales Tax Act were even stricter and the exemption narrower than that embodied in the Explanation to Art. 286 (1) (a). Therefore, in a case to which the latter provision was not attracted, the provisions of Section 7 could not possibly apply. In the present case the contract stipulated for delivery inside the State and so the terms of Section 7 of the General Sales Tax Act were not brought into play. AIR 1953 SC 252 Disting. ILR (1956) Mad 299: 68 Mad LW 471: (1955) 2 MLJ 319: (1955) 6 STC 230: AIR 1955 Mad 502 (503, 504) (Prs 6, 7, 9, 10, 12) (DB).

(See the decision in the Bengal Immunity Co. case.)

——Art. 286 (1) (a) — Inter-State Sales before 31st March, 1951 — Assessability to tax. See Sales Tax — Madras General Sales Tax Act (XXV of 1947),S. 22. AIR 1955 NUC (Mad) 1561 (DB).

——Arts. 286 (1), Explanation 245 (1), 246 and Sch. 7, List II, Entries 92 and 54 — Power of State to tax, intra-State and inter-State sales — Sales Tax — Madras General Sales Tax Act (9 of 1939), Ss. 3 and 22. See Ibid, Art. 245 (1). AIR 1953 Mad 116 (DB).

——Art. 286 (1), Explanation — "Consumption" — Meaning of.

The word "consumption" in the Explanation cannot be understood in the limited sense of eating but in the wider sense of using. (1952) 3 STC 405: 1952 Mad WN 878: 1952 Comp TC 179: (1952) 2 MLJ 614: 65 Mad LW 1046: AIR 1953 Mad 116 (128) (Pt D) (Pr 33) (DB).

——Art. 286 (Before amendment by Constitution (Sixth Amendment) Act, 1956) — Explanation sale — Inter-State trade — Inside sale — Scope of Art. 286 (1) (a) and (1) (b) and (2) — Actual delivery, when takes place.

Before a sale can be considered as an "inside sale" under the explanation to Art. 286 (1) (a) actual delivery to the purchaser or to his agent should have taken place inside the taxing State; a delivery to the common carrier as such is not "actual delivery" within the contemplation of the Explanation to Art. 286 (1). The Explanation to Art. 286 (1) (a) can apply only if more than one State is involved in the same transaction. When there is no other State in which the goods are said to have been consumed apart from the State where the property in the goods passed, the Explanation is not needed as the key. The power to tax in those circumstances is exercisable by virtue of transfer of title to the property. Where the property in the goods passed within a State as a direct result of the sale, the sale transaction is not outside the State for the purpose of Art. 286 (2) (a) unless the Explanation operates. The expression "consumption" found in the Explanation to Article 286 (1) (a) is not used to denote destruction or user as understood in ordinary parlance; it is used as a term in economics, comprehending the diverse use of the goods in question, e.g., the distribution of the goods as in the case of resale is also consumption coming within the meaning of that expression. Sale or purchase for the purpose of export or for the purpose of inter-State trade is not a sale or purchase in the course of export or import or in the course of inter-State trade. Sales in the course of export or in the course of inter-State trade must of necessity be put through by transporting the goods by rail or ship or other means of communication. In other words, sale or purchase must occasion the export or inter-State trade or commerce. To put it differently, the sale or purchase must be inextricably bound up with the export or import or with inter-State trade or commerce and must form an integral part thereof. 40 Mys LJ 774: (1962) 13 STC 508: AIR 1963 Mys 141 (147) (Pt A) (Pr 29) (DB).

——Art. 286 (1 (a) Expln. and (2) — Applicability — Manufacturing Company in Mysore — Sale of tobacco goods outside Mysore for consumption— Property in goods to pass to purchaser as soon as goods are delivered to carrier in Mysore — Whether constitutes actual delivery to purchaser within Mysore State.

Held, that the expression 'actual delivery' in the Explanation to Art. 286 (1) (a) means delivery of the goods to the purchaser or his agent and delivery to the common carrier is not actual delivery. The goods sold by the assessee to persons outside the State could not therefore, be considered to have been actually delivered to them within the State of Mysore and were exempt from being taxed.

The ban under Art. 286 (1) (a) read with the Explanation applies to the case and so the assessees were not liable to pay sales-tax with respect to goods sold and exported outside the State of Mysore and the continuance order of the President under sub-cl. (2) will not lift the ban placed by Cl. (1). AIR 1955 SC 661 and AIR 1955 SC 765, Applied. ILR (1956) Mys 260: (1957) 8 STC 248: AIR 1957 Mys 14 (16) (Pr 7).

——Arts. 286 (1) (a), Explanation 245 — Validating Laws — Explanation sales made liable to tax by Validating Act — Assessment order was passed prior to Validating Act and when order suspending levy of tax was in force — Assessment can be made after pasing of Validating Act — Orissa Sales Tax Laws (Validation) Act (7 of (1956). See Ibid, Art. 246. AIR 1965 Orissa 190 (DB).

——Art. 286 (1) Explanation (as it was before the Constitution (Sixth Amendment) Act of 1956) — 'For the purpose of consumption in that State' — Evidence of actual consumption in outside State not necessary — Orissa Sales Tax Act (XIV of 1947), S. 12 (2).

In order to get the benefit of the exemption from Orissa Sales Tax by virtue of the Explanation to Art. 286 (1) (a) of the Constitution, it is not necessary for the assessee to prove that the goods were actually consumed in the outside States. It is enough if he proves that the goods were intended for purpose of consumption outside the State. AIR 1961 SC 347, Rel. on. (1961) 12 STC 652: AIR 1962 Orissa 99 (99, 100) (Pr 3) (DB).

——Art. 286 (1), Explanation — Goods purchased from outside dealers under declaration given under R. 27 (2)— Re-sale to outside dealers in contravention of the declaration — Proviso to S. 5 (2) (a) (ii) is attracted — Sale price realised ought to be included in taxable turnover. See Sales Tax — Orissa Sales Tax Act (XIV of 1947), S. 5 (2) (a) (ii). Proviso. ILR (1962) Cut 797.

——Art. 286 (1), Explanation — Legal fiction— (Sales-tax — Orissa Sales-Tax Act (XIV of 1947), Ss. 2 (c), 4, 12 (5) — Dealer —Non-registration).

Held, that sales were taking place within the State of Orissa and further that in the transactions of sale under consideration the petitioners were the sellers and were selling their goods in Orissa as the goods were delivered for consumption in the State of Orissa as a direct result of the sales. Not only orders were secured from the purchasers in Orissa by the canvassing agents of the petitioners but the sales were completed in Orissa though the petitioners were private limited liability Companies having their registered office at Mount Road, Madras. No distinction could be drawn between a sale as a legal fiction and an actual sale for the purpose of the present cases; such transactions were to be deemed to be sales for all purposes of this Act. In such transactions of sales, therefore, the petitioners were the sellers and must, therefore, be held to be selling goods as contemplated in the definition of a dealer. But there was a further element involved within the meaning of the term "carrying on business" that is to say a few stray and occasional cases of sales could not lead the Court to find that the petitioners were carrying on business of selling their goods in Orissa. It had further to be found that the petitioners were habitually or systematically selling their goods within the State of Orissa.

Held, further, that the petitioners proceeded in a bona fide manner for obtaining a judicial pronouncement of the High Court before submitting their returns to the sales-tax authorities. They had, therefore, sufficient cause for not applying for registration, as the decision of their Lordships of the Supreme Court, reported in AIR 1953 SC 253 alone was not sufficient for fixing the liability of the petitioners for taxation. When there was still a further question to be determined that the petitioners were dealers within the meaning of the Act, it could not be said that the petitioners wilfully avoided to get themselves registered so as to attract the penal provisions of the Act. Case-law discussed. ILR (1955) Cut 334: AIR 1955 Orissa 122 (124 to 127) (Prs 2, 3, 4, 6) (DB).

——Art. 286 (1) (a) — Inter-State transaction involving delivery outside province — Taxability — (Sales-Tax—Orissa Sales-Tax Act (XIV of 1947), S. 4).

The constitutional position under Art. 286 (1) (a) seems to be that where any transaction of sale involves inter-State elements only that State where the goods are actually delivered for the purpose of consumption would be entitled to tax that transaction. AIR 1953 SC 252, Rel. on.

Several dealers in Raipur and Manbhum placed orders with the petitioner, a dealer in Orissa had also paid some money in advance. On receipt of such orders, petitioner indented for railway wagons, loaded them with cocoanuts and booked them by rail to Raipur and Manbhum and sent the Railway Receipts to the purchasing firms either through bank or through V. P. P. The purchasing firms obtained custody of the Railway Receipts on payment of the full price inclusive of transport charges and then took delivery of the cocoanuts at the places of destination. The petitioner claimed exemption from sales-tax in Orissa in respect of these transactions relying on Art. 286 (1) (a) of the Constitution.

Held, that if the State of Orissa wished to tax a transaction of sale involving inter-State elements they had to show that the delivery also took place in Orissa for the purpose of consumption. On the above facts, however their power of taxing the transaction did not exist. 19 Cut LT 359: ILR (1953) Cut 553: AIR 1953 Orissa 334 (336) (Pt A) (Pr 6) (DB).

——Art. 286 (1) (a) and Expl. — Object of — Taxability of inter-State sales — Test.

The primary object of inserting the provisions of Art. 286 in the Constitution was to give a simple definition of the situs of sale involving inter-State elements so as to avoid the uncertainties which prevailed before the commencement of the Constitution. The Constitution makers, with a view to simplify the law on the subject for the purposes of sales-tax and prevent multiple taxation, defined 'inside sale' in the Explanation thereby also defining what was 'outside' sale that is to say, sale outside a State, the determining factor in each case being the place where there was actual delivery of goods for the purpose of consumption which was an easily ascertainable test. 19 Cut LT 357: ILR (1953) Cut 553: AIR 1953 Orissa 334 (336) (Pt B) (Pr 6) (DB).

——Arts. 286 (1) (a) and 286 (2) — Sales outside State and Inter-State sales — Tax on, by States — Validity — Effect of President's Order in 1950 and Act VII of 1950 — Sales Tax Continuation Order (1950), S. 2 — (Sales Tax Laws Validation Act (1956), S. 2).

In the case of sales of goods despatched outside the State and consumed in the State of first destination, two bans or restriction are attracted. The first ban is imposed by the Explanation to Art. 286 (1) (a), because it fixes the situs of such sales outside the State by means of a legal fiction and because such sales are deemed to be outside sales, the State has no legislative authority to tax such sales. The second ban is imposed by Art. 286 (2) against taxation of goods in inter-State commerce or trade. In this category of sales, there are thus two hurdles to surmount, and the President's Order of 1950 and the Central Act VII of 1956 are ineffectual and inoperative, because the ban imposed by the Explanation to Art. 286 (1) (a) has not been surmounted. AIR 1955 SC 765, Rel. on.

In the case of sales of goods despatched outside the State and consumed in States other than the State of first destination, however, only one ban is attracted namely, the ban imposed by Art. 286 (2), and not the ban imposed by the Explanation to Art. 286 (1) (a). It follows, therefore, that the second category of sales has only one hurdle to surmount, namely, the hurdle imposed by Art. 286 (2), and that hurdle has been surmounted by the President's Order and by Central Act (VII of 1956) for the period from 26-1-1950 to 6-9-1955. 1957 BLJR 631: (1956) 7 STC 745: AIR 1957 Pat 288 (290) (Pt A) (Pr 3) (DB).

——Art. 286 (1) (a), Explanation, Art. 246 (3), Sch. VII, List II, Entry 54 — Scope of — Inter-State sales — Tax on, by consuming State — Source of legislative competency.

The argument that only the consuming State has the authority to impose sales tax by virtue of the Explanation to Art. 286 (1) (a) and that no other State except the consuming State may impose sales-tax, proceeds on a wrong assumption that the Explanation to Art. 286 (1) (a) is a source of power of the taxing State. The provision of Art. 286 (1) (a) is only in the way of restriction or fetter of the legislative power of taxation. The affirmative grant of power is contained in Art. 246 (3) and in Entry No. 54 of List II of the Seventh Schedule. 1957 BLJR 631: (1956) 7 STC 745: AIR 1957 Pat 288 (292) (Pt C) (Pr 5) (DB).

——Art. 286 (1) (a), Explanation — Exemption under, when available.

A person is exempted from the payment of tax only if there is proof that the goods were delivered and consumed in the State of first destination. The sales would not be exempted if the goods are not consumed in the State of first destination but they are re-exported from the State of first destination to other States. 1956 Pat LR 510: 1957 BLJR 130: (1956) 7 STC 776: ILR 35 Pat 1055: AIR 1957 Pat 112 (114) (Pt B) (Pr 5) (DB).

——Art. 286 (1) (a) and (2) — Scope — Bihar Sales Tax Act (XIX of 1947), S. 2 (g) as amended by Bihar Sales Tax Act, 1948 (VI of 1949) — Definition of sale, whether ultra vires — Goods produced in Bihar sold outside Bihar after Constitution — If taxable.

The definition of sale as given in S. 2 (g), Bihar Sales Tax Act 1947, as amended by the Bihar Sales Tax Act, 1948, is ultra vires the Bihar Provincial Legislature to the extent it contravenes Art. 286 of the Constitution of India.

Held, on facts that the assessee could not legally be taxed in the present case for sales of goods delivered outside the State of Bihar after the 26th January, 1950. AIR 1953 SC 252 and AIR 1954 SC 403 and AIR 1955 SC 661 and AIR 1955 SC 765, Rel. on. (1957) 8 STC 841: AIR 1956 Pat 432 (434) (Pr 6) (DB).

——Art. 286 — Net turnover of manufacturer of cocoanut oil — Sale of oil outside State — Deduction of sale price not allowed. See Sales Tax — Travancore-Cochin General Sales Tax Act (XI of 1125), S. 2 (j). AIR 1955 Trav-Co 126 (DB).

7. Sale and purchase in course of import and export — Clause (1) (b).

●——Art. 286 (1) (b) — Assessment of sales-tax —Assessee claiming exemption under Art. 286 (1) (b) — Burden of proving facts is on assessee. See Ibid, Art. 226. (1965) 16 STC 599: (1965) 2 SCWR 243: 1965 Cant LJ 90: AIR 1966 SC 142.

●——Art. 286 (1) (b) — "In the course of export of the goods out of the territory of India" — Meaning of — Sale for export and sale in the export — Distinction — Sales of tea by auction to agents of foreign buyers — Held sales and export did not form part of single transaction— Sales were for export but not in the course of export.

A transaction of sale which occasions export or which is effected by a transfer of documents of title after the goods have crossed the customs frontiers is exempt from sales-tax levied under any State legislation. To constitute a sale in the course of export of goods out of the territory of India, common intention of the parties to the transaction to export the goods followed by actual export of the goods to a foreign destination is necessary. A sale, by export involves a series of integrated activities commencing from the agreement of sale with a foreign buyer and ending with the delivery of the goods to a common carrier for transport out of the country by land or sea. Such a sale cannot be dissociated from the export without which it cannot be effectuated and the sale and resultant export form part of a single transaction. A sale in the course of export predicates a connection between the sale and export, the two activities being so integrated that the connnection between the two cannot be volunarily interrupted, without a breach of the contract or the compulsion arising from the nature of the transaction. In this sense to constitute a sale in the course of export it may be said that there must be an intention on the part of both the buyer and the seller to export, there must be an obligation to export, and there must be an actual export. The obligation may arise by reason of statute, contract between the parties, or from mutual understanding or agreement between them, or even from the nature of the transaction which links the sale to export. A transaction of sale which is a preliminary to export of the commodity sold may be regarded as a sale for export, but is not necessarily to be regarded as one in the course of export, unless the sale occasions export. And to occasion export there must exist such a bond between the contract of sale and the actual exportation, that each link is inextricably connected with the one immediately preceding it. There are a variety of transactions in which the sale of a commodity is followed by export thereof. At one end are transactions in which there is a sale of goods in India and the purchaser immediate or remote exports the goods out of the India for foreign consumption. For instance, the foreign purchaser either by himself or through his agent purchases goods within the territory of India, and exports the goods and even if the seller has the knowledge that the goods are intended by the purchaser to be exported, such a transaction is not in the course of export for the seller does not export the goods, and it is not his concern as to how the purchaser deals with the goods.

Such a transaction without more cannot be regarded as one in the course of export because etymologically "in the course of export" contemplates an integral relation or bond between the sale and the export. At the other end is a transaction under a contract of sale with a foreign buyer under which the goods may under the contract delivered by the seller to a common carrier for transporting them to the purchaser. Such a sale would indisputably be one for export, whether the contract and delivery to the common carrier are effected directly or through agent. But in between lie a variety of transactions in which the question whether the sale is one for export or is one in the course of export i.e., it is a transaction which has occasioned the export, may have to be determined on a correct appraisal of all the facts. Where there are two sales leading to export the first under which goods are procured for sale and the property in the goods passes within the territory of India, and the second by the buyer to a foreign party resulting in export—the first cannot be regarded as a sale in the course of export, for a sale in the course of export must be directly and integrally connected with the export. It cannot also be predicated that every sale which results in export is to be regarded as sale in the course of export.

Per Majority, Wanchoo and Rajagopala Ayyangar, JJ. Contra :— Tea cannot be exported otherwise than under a licence : such a licence may be issued to a manufacturer or to the purchaser of the quota granted by the Central Government to the manufacturer when tea is sold with export right. When auctions of tea with the export rights are held at Fort Cochin, sellers on whose behalf the auctioneer acts as the agent know that bids are offered by the buyers of tea for the purpose of export. It is also known that the bidder is an agent or an intermediary of a foreign buyer. When chests of tea out of the export quota are sold together with the export rights, the goods are earmarked for export, and knowledge that the goods were purchased by the bidders for exporting them to the foreign principals of the bidders must clearly be attributable to the sellers. But the co-existence of these circumstances does not impress upon the transactions of sale the character of a transaction in the course of export out of the territory of India. Though the fact that the tea chests are sold together with export rights imputes knowledge to the seller that the goods are purchased with the intention of exporting there is nothing in the transaction from which springs a bond between the sale and the intended export linking them up as part of the same transaction. Knowledge that the goods purchased are intended to be exported does not make the sale and export parts of the same transaction nor does the sale of the quota with the sale of the goods lead to that result. There is no statutory obligation upon the purchaser to export the chests of tea purchased by him with the export rights. The export quota merely enables the purchaser to obtain export licence which he may or may not obtain. There is nothing in law or in the contract between the parties or even in the nature of the transaction which prohibits diversion of the goods for internal consumption. The sellers have no concern with the actual export of the goods, once the goods are sold. They have no control over the goods. There is therefore, no direct connection between the sale and export of the goods which would make them parts of an integrated transaction of sale in the course of export. The sales were intended to be complete without the export, and as such it cannot be said that the said sales occasioned export. The sales were therefore, for export and not in the course of export. AIR 1952 SC 366 and AIR 1953 SC 333 and AIR 1956 SC 158 and AIR 1958 SC 1002 and AIR 1962 SC 1733 and AIR 1961 SC 311, Rel. on. Ben Gorm Nilgiri Plantations, Co-conoor (Nilgiris), etc. v. S. T. Officer, Special Circle, Ernakulam, etc., 1964 Ker LJ 1019 : (1964) 2 SCJ 693 : (1964) 7 SCR 706 : (1964) 15 STC 753 : AIR 1964 SC 1752 (1754 to 1758) (Prs 4, 5, 8 to 10, 17).

■——Art. 286 (1) (b) — "In the course of export" — Meaning of — Does not include sale which precedes export — Andhra Act XIV of 1955 does not contravene Art. 286 (1) (b).

It is only the sale under which the export is made that is protected by Art. 286 (1) (b) and a purchase which precedes such a sale does not fall within its purview though it is made for purpose of, or with a view to export. Hence Andhra Act XIV of 1955 by which S. 5 of the Madras General Sales Tax Act (IX of 1939) has been amended by addition of item (viii) must be held not to contravene Art. 286 (1) (b) on the ground of imposing tax on sales in the course of export. AIR 1952 SC 366, Disting., AIR 1953 SC 333 and AIR 1956 SC 158 and AIR 1958 SC 1002, Rel. on. East India Tobacco Co., etc. v. State of A. P., (1962) 2 SCA 695 : (1963) 1 SCR 404 : (1962) 13 STC 529 : AIR 1962 SC 1733 (1737) (Pt C) (Pr 14).

■——Art. 286 (1) (b) — 'In the course of export' — Meaning of.

The concept of export in Art. 286 postulates, just as the word 'import' , the existence of two termini as those between which the goods are intended to move or between which they are intended to be transported, and not a mere movement of goods out of the country without any intention of their being landed in specie in some foreign port.

Therefore, transactions of sale of bunker coal to be supplied from the assessee's depot in Candle island in Madras State and trimmed into the steam-ships standing in the waters of Port Cochin for enabling them to sail out of India, cannot be said to be sales in the course of export within the meaning of Art. 286 (1) (b) merely because the coal was to be carried outside the territory of India. AIR 1961 SC 315, Rel. on. State of Kerala v. Cochin Coal Co., Ltd. 1961 Ker LJ 405 : (1961) 2 SCJ 20 : (1961) 2 SCR 219 : (1961) 12 STC 1 : AIR 1961 SC 408 (410, 411) (Pt A) (Pr 5).

■——Art. 286 (1) (b) (before amendment) — Sale 'within course of export'.

Every sale or purchase proceding the export is not necessary to be regard as within the course of export. It must be inextricably bound up with the export, and a sale or purchase connected with the ultimate export as an integral part thereof is not within the exemption. Sales or purchases for the purpose of export are not protected, unless the sales or purchases themselves occasion the export and are an integral part of it. Burmah Shell Oil Storage & Distributing Co. of India Ltd. v. Commercial Tax Officer, (1961) 1 SCR 902 : (1960) 11 STC 764 : (1962) 2 SCJ 251 : AIR 1961 SC 315 (323) (Pt B) (Pr 27).

●——Art. 286 (1) (b) (Before amendment) — 'Export' — Sale of aviation spirit to foreign bound aircraft is not export.

The test of export is that the goods must have a foreign destination where they can be said to be imported. If the goods are exported and there is sale or purchase in the course of that export and the sale or purchase occasions the export to a foreign destination, the exemption is earned. The crucial fact is the sending of the goods to a foreign destination where they would be received as imports.

Aviation spirit loaded on board an aircraft for consumption, though taken out of the country, is not exported since it has no destination where it can be said to be imported, and so long as it does not satisfy this test, it cannot be said that the sale was in the course of export. Further, the sales can hardly be said to 'occasion' the export. The seller sells aviation spirit for the use of the aircraft, and the sale is not integrally connected with the taking out of aviation spirit. The sale is not even for the purpose of export. It does not come within the course of export, which requires an even deeper relation. The sale, thus, does not come within Art. 286 (1) (b). Burmah Shell Oil Storage & Distributing Co. of India Ltd. v. Commercial Tax Officer. (1961) 1 SCR 902: (1960) 11 STC 764: AIR 1961 SC 315 (323, 324) (Pt C) (Prs 28, 29).

●——Art. 286 (1) (b) — Sale under F. O. B. contracts — Property in goods passes to seller only when they are put on board the ship — Hence sales are exempt from sales-tax.

Sales in which goods remain the seller's property till they had been brought on board the ship are exempt from sales-tax under Art. 286 (1) (b) of the Constitution.

If the property in the goods passes to the buyer after they have, for the purpose of export to a foreign country, crossed the customs frontier the sale has taken place 'in course of the export' out of the territory of India. The normal rule in F. O. B. contracts is that, in the absence of a special agreement, the property in the goods does not pass until the goods are actually put on board the ship

The following circumstances are not sufficient to hold that the seller and the buyer agreed that the property will pass to the buyer even before shipment:

(i) the fact that the bill of lading was taken in the name of the buyer when it has been retained by the sellers. When the bills of lading though made out as if the goods were shipped by the buyer, were actually obtained and retained by the sellers, that fact itself would ordinarily indicate an intention of the parties that the property in the goods would not pass still after payment.

(ii) the circumstance that the export was, under the contract, to be under the buyer's export licence because the ordinary rule in F. O. B. contracts is that it is the duty of the buyer to obtain the necessary licence: (1917) 2 KB 784 and (1955) 1 QB 499. Rel. on; 1956 AC 588, Distinguished.

(iii) the intention of the parties that in compliance with the requirements of Cl. 5 (2) of the Export (Control) Order, 1954 the goods shall be the property of the licensee at the time of the export. The word 'export' in that Order must be taken to have the same meaning as given to it by the definition in the Import and Export (Control) Act, 1947 and on that definition the time of export is the time when the goods go out of the territorial limits of India. These territorial limits would include the territorial waters of India. Consequently the time of the export is when the ship with the goods goes beyond the territorial limits. At any rate, the export of the goods cannot be considered to have commenced before the ship carrying goods leaves the port. Hence, the intention of the parties would mean nothing more than that the property in the goods shall pass immedidately before the ship goes beyond the territorial waters of the country, or at the earliest when the ship leaves the port. Whichever view is taken there is nothing to indicate that the intention to comply with the requirements of Cl. 5 (2) of the Exports (Control) Order carries with it an intention that the property should pass to the buyer at the time the goods cross the customs frontier. AIR 1953 SC 252, Disting. B. K. Wadeyar, Sales-tax Officer v. M/s. Daulatram Rameshwarlal. (1963) 1 SCJ 550 : (1961) 1 SCR 924 : (1960) 11 STC 757 : AIR 1961 SC 311 (313, 314) (Pt A) (Prs 5, 6, 7, 8, 9).

●——Art. 286 (1) (b) — Sale "in course of import" — Property in goods transferred by importer to Government, while goods were on high seas, by delivery of shipping documents against payment — Effect.

The course of import of goods starts at a point when the goods cross the customs barrier of the foreign country and ends at a point in the importing country after the goods cross the customs barrier; the sale which occasions the import is a sale in the course of import; a purchase by an importer of goods when they are on the high seas by payment against shipping documents is also a purchase in the course of import and a sale by an importer of goods, after the property in the goods passed to him either after the receipt of the documents of title against payment or otherwise, to a third party by a similar process is also a sale in the course of import.

Where the importer pursuant to the earlier contracts delivered the shipping documents, including the bill of lading to the Government against payment when the goods were on the high seas, the sales fall under the fourth principle and therefore, they are sales that took place in the course of import of the goods into India. AIR 1953 SC 333 and AIR 1952 SC 366: Foll. J. V. Gokal & Co. (Private), Ltd. v. Assistant Collector, Sales-Tax. 1960 Mad WN 776: (1960) 11 STC 186: 1960 SCJ 671: (1960) 2 SCA 19: (1960) 2 SCR 852: AIR 1960 SC 595 (599)(Pt A) (Prs 11, 12).

●——Art. 286 (1) (b) — Applicability — Bengal Finance (Sales Tax) Act (VI of 1941), S. 5 (2) (a) (v) — Dealer purchasing tea in West Bengal for party in Bombay — Goods appropriated by Bombay party — Tea then sent to foreign country — Claim to deduction.

Held, (1) that under S. 5 (2) (a) (v) of the Bengal Finance (Sales Tax) Act, 1941, deduction was claimable in respect of sales of goods to have been despatched by or on behalf of the dealer to an address outside West Bengal; (2) that in this case the property in the goods passed in favour of the Bombay parties as soon as the the goods were appropriated by the Bombay parties and so the despatch of the goods outside West Bengal was on behalf of the Bombay parties; (3) that, therefore, in this view of the matter S. 5 (2) (a) (v) of the Bengal Finance (Sales Tax) Act would be wholly inapplicable; (4) that the dealer would not be entitled to claim the protection of Art. 286 of the Constitution once it was held that the title to the goods had passed in favour of the Bombay parties long before the goods were entrusted to the carrier. AIR 1952 SC 366 and AIR 1953 SC 333 and AIR 1958 SC 1002, Rel. on. AIR 1958 Bom 120 & AIR 1955 Mad 722, Disting.

Gordhandas Lalji v. B. Banerjee., (1958) 9 STC 581: AIR 1958 SC 1006 (1009, 1010) (Prs 8 to 10)

●——Art. 286 (1) (b) — Sales preceding one occasioning export — Taxability.

Sales made 'for the purpose of export' are not protected unless they themselves 'occasion the export', in other words, all sales that precede the one that occasions the export are taxable, even if the goods are manufactured with the main intention for export. AIR 1953 SC 333 and AIR 1956 SC 158, Foll. State of Mysore v. Mysore Spinning and Manufacturing Co., Ltd. (1958) 9 STC 188: AIR 1958 SC 1002 (1004, 1005) (Pt A) (Prs 10, 19, 20).

●——Art. 286 (1) (b) and Sch. VII, List II, Entry 54 — Sale in course of export —Exemption— Government prescribing procedure for export — Effect.

A sale is not exempt from taxation because Government has under the Cotton Textile (Export Control) Order itself prescribed the course of the export by (1) prohibiting all export from the country save by or through licensed exporters and (2) directing that all goods for export are to be specially packed and specially marked 'for export only'. The reasons are twofold. The first is that even without the Government order the ordinary course of export would take the same procedure and therefore, the compulsion of the Government order makes no difference. The second reason is that the right to tax sales is given to the States under entry 54 in List II, therefore, the Centre cannot prevent them from taxing sales that are otherwise taxable either by a Central Act or by rules made under it. State of Mysore v. Mysore Spinning & Manufacturing Company, Ltd. (1958) 9 STC 188: AIR 1958 SC 1002 (1004) (Pt B) (Prs 11, 12, 13).

●——Art. 286 (1) (b) — Sale in course of export — Effect of ban on export.

The fact that A cannot export while B can, cannot turn a transaction that would not be an 'export' transaction without the ban into one that is just, because A is under a disability. State of Mysore v. Mysore Spinning & Manufacturing Co. Ltd. (1958) 9 STC 188: AIR 1958 SC 1002 (1005) (Pt C) (Pr 14).

●——Art. 286 (1) (b) — Sale in the course of export — Sale through export licence-holders — Latter whether agents of sellers — (Contract Act (1872), S. 182).

Where the sales were sales to export licence-holders in India and not to overseas buyers direct, because the sellers were obliged to follow the procedure as under the Cotton Textile (Export Control) Order, this is clearly not a case of agency. Even if this was the only way in which an export could be effected, that would not make the exporter the agent of the seller because by the very act of purchase, the exporter became a principal and bought as such. State of Mysore v. Mysore Spinning & Manufacturing Co., Ltd. (1958) 9 STC 188: AIR 1958 SC 1002 (1005) (Pt D) (Prs 16, 18, 19).

●——Art. 286 (1) (b) — Purchases made for export but themselves not occasioning export are not exempted — They are liable to be taxed — Non-payment of sales-tax — Conviction for offence — (Sales Tax — Madras General Sales Tax Act (IX of 1939), S. 3 and S. 15-b).

After securing orders for supply of skins to the London buyers, where the assessees go about purchasing the requisite kind and quantity of skins to implement such orders, then no doubt, they are purchases for the purpose of export but as such purchases do not themselves occasion the export they do not fall within the exemption of Art. 286 (1) (b) of the Constitution. Hence, these purchases are liable to be included in the turnover and assessed to sales-tax, under the Madras General Sales Tax Act. AIR 1952 SC 366: and AIR 1953 SC 333, Foll.

On the basis of the evidence on record in this case it was held by the Supreme Court that it was impossible for the assessees to contend that the purchases were exempt from sales tax by virtue of Art. 286 (1) (b), that the assessments were illegal and that consequently the non-payment thereof was not an offence. In this view the Madras High Court in its decision reported in AIR 1954 Mad 833: erred in holding that the prosecution had failed to establish their case and in acquitting the accused. State of Madras v. Gurviah Naidu and Co. Ltd., 1956 Mad WN 65: (1955) 6 STC 717: 1956 Cr LJ 331: 1956 SCC 98: AIR 1956 SC 158 (161) (Pt A) (Pr 9).

●——Art. 286 (1) (b) — Sale in the course of import or export.

Per Majority.— With respect to the scope of Art. 286 (1) (b) the following conclusions may be summed up—

(1) Sales by export and purchases by import fall within the exemption under Art. 286 (1) (b). AIR 1952 SC 366, Foll.

(2) Purchases in the State by the exporter for the purpose of export as well as sales in the State by the importer after the goods have crossed the customs frontier are not within the exemption; and

(3) Sales in the State by the exporter or importer by transfer of shipping documents while the goods are beyond the customs frontier are within the exemption assuming that the State power of taxation extends to such transactions.

Per Das, J.:— A sale or purchase "in the course of" import or export within the meaning of Art. 286 (1) (b) includes (i) a sale or purchase which itself occasions the import or export, (ii) a sale or purchase which takes place while the goods are on the high seas on their import or export journey, and (iii) the last purchase by the exporter with a view to export and the first sale by the importer to a dealer after the arrival of the imported goods. If a sale or purchase takes place within a State, either under the general law or by reason of the Explanation, then, if it takes place in the course of import or export as explained above, no State, not even the State within which such sale or purchase takes place can tax it by reason of clause (1) (b). State of Travancore-Cochin v. S. V. C. Factory, 1953 SCJ 471: (1953) 2 MLJ 123: 66 Mad LW 611: 1954 SCR 53: ILR (1954) TC 1: 1954 SCA 1059: AIR 1953 SC 333 (338, 352) (Pt A) (Prs 16, 59).

●——Art. 286 (1) (b) — "Import into" and "export out of" — (Words and Phrases).

The words "import into" and "export out of" in the context of Cl. (1) (b) do not mean the article or commodity imported or exported. The reference to "the goods" and to "the territory of India" make it clear that the words "export out of" and "import into" mean the exportation out of the country and importation into the country respectively. State of Travancore-Cochin v. Shanmugha Vilas Cashewnut Factory, 1953 SCJ 471: (1953) 2 MLJ 123: 66 Mad LW 611: 1954 SCR 53: ILR (1954) TC 1: 1954 SCA 1059: AIR 1953 SC 333 (336) (Pt B) (Pr 10).

●——Art. 286 (1) (b) — In the course of import or export—"In the course of"—(Words and Phrases).

Per Majority. :— The word "course" etymologically denotes movement from one point to another, and the expression "in the course of" not only implies a period of time during which the movement is in progress but postulates also a connected relation. A sale in the course of export out of the country should be understood in the context of Cl. (1) (b) as meaning a sale taking place not only during the activities directed to the end of exportation of the goods out of the country but also as part of or connected with such activities. The time factor alone is not determinative. (1877) 4 Ch. D 765, Rel. on.

Per Das, J.:— The word "course" conveys the idea of a gradual and continuous flow, an advance, a journey, a passage or progress from one place to another. Etymologically it means and implies motion, a forward movement. The phrase "in the course of" clearly has reference to a period of time during which the movement is in progress. State of Travancore-Cochin v. Shanmugha Vilas Cashewnut Factory, 1953 SCJ 471: (1953) 2 MLJ 123 : 66 Mad LW 611 : 1954 SCR 53 : ILR (1954) TC 1 : 1954 SCA 1059 : AIR 1953 SC 333 (336, 346) (Pt C) (Prs 10, 49).

●——Art. 286 (1) (b) — Integrated activities in relation to sale.

Per majority. :— The phrase "integrated activities" as used in AIR 1952 SC 366 to denote that "such a sale" (i.e., a sale which occasions the export) "cannot be dissociated from the export without which it cannot be effectuated, and the sale and the resultant export form parts of a single transaction". It is in that sense that the two activities —the sale and the export—are said to be integrated. It is not correct to speak of a purchase for export as an activity so integrated with the exportation that the former could be regarded as done "in the course of" the latter.

Per Das, J. :— By adopting the principle of integrated activities in AIR 1952 SC 366 we have included the agreement for sale to or purchase from, the foreign merchant as taking place within the period connoted by that phrase. The agreement for sale or purchase, which occasions the export or import as the case may be, is obviously, in point of time, anterior to the actual and physical handing over of the goods to the carrier for taking the goods out of the country or for bringing them into the country as the case may be, but, nevertheless, such a sale or purchase has been held to have taken place "in the course of" export or import and as such exempt from taxation by the States. State of Travancore-Cochin v. S. V. C. Factory. 1953 SCJ 471 : (1953) 2 MLJ 123 : 66 Mad LW 611 : 1954 SCR 53 : ILR (1954) TC 1 : 1954 SCA 1059 : AIR 1953 SC 333 (336, 347, 348) (Pt D) (Prs 11, 50).

●——Art. 286 (1) (b) — Restriction as to imposition of tax on sale or purchase of goods in the course of "import or export" — Scope — Interpretation of Statutes — Assembly debates — Value of.

Whatever else may or may not fall within Art. 286 (1) (b) of the Constitution of India, sales and purchases which themselves occasion the export or import of the goods, as the case may be out of or into the territory of India come within the exemption. Such sales must of necessity be put through by transporting of goods by rail or ship or both out of the territory of India, that is to say by employing the machinery of export. A sale by export involves a series of integrated activities commencing from the agreement of sale with a foreign buyer and ending with the delivery of the goods to a common carrier for transport out of the country by land or sea. Such a sale cannot be dissociated from the export without which it cannot be effectuated, and the sale and resultant export form parts of a single transaction. Of these two integrated activities, which together constitute an export sale, whichever first occurs can well be regarded as taking place in the course of the other. Assuming that the properties in the goods passed to the foreign buyers and the sales were thus completed within the State before the goods commenced their journey the sales must nevertheless be regarded as having taken place in the course of the export and are therefore, exempt under Art. 286 (1) (b). That clause assumes that the sale has taken place within the limits of the State and exempts it if it takes place in the course of the export of the goods concerned.

The question whether the word "sale" used in the Constitution has the same meaning as in the law relating to the sale of goods or imports a wider concept than the passing of title from the seller to the buyer which under that law is determined by highly technical rules based upon the presumed intention of the parties and liable to be displaced by their expressed intention was left open. It was assumed for the purpose of these appeals that the word 'sale' used in the Constitution has the same meaning as in the law relating to the sale of goods.

Reference to speeches made by members of the Constituent Assembly in the course of the debates on the draft Constitution in interpreting any article of the Constitution is unwarranted. (1950) 2 MLJ 42 : 1950 SCR 88 : (1950) SCJ 29, Ref. to. The "import-export" clause found in the American Constitution is widely different in language, scope and purpose and a varying body of doctrine and tests have grown around them interpreting, extending or restricting, from time to time, their operation and application in the context of the expanding American commerce and industry and not much help can be derived from them in the solution of the problems arising under Art. 286 of the Indian Constitution. State of Travoncore-Cochin v. Bombay Company Ltd. 65 LW 1087 : (1953) 1 MLJ 1 : (1952) SCJ 527 : 1952 Ker LT 581 : 1952 SCA 656 : ILR (1953) TC 337 : 1952 SCR 1112 : 34 PLT 1 (SC) : AIR 1952 SC 366 (367, 368) (Pt A) (Prs 10, 14, 15).

——Art. 286 (1) (b) — "In the course of" in Cl. (2) must be given the same meaning as that expression has in Cl. (1) (b). AIR 1956 All 445 (446, 447) (Pt A) (Prs 6, 10) (DB).

——Art. 286 (1) (b), Sch. VII, List 1, Entry 41—Customs frontiers — Import of goods—When complete—Sale of oils to foreign ships from bonded warehouse — Sales-tax.

'Customs frontiers' has been defined in the notification dated 1-4-1937 under the Government of India Act, 1935 as "The frontier, whether one or more than one, whether sea or land, whether exterior or interior, of British India". Though the power to define the customs frontiers is vested in the Parliament under entry 41 of List I of the Constitution there is no subsequent notification defining it other than the Notification already in force under the Government of India Act. So that, the customs frontier must be regarded as the same as the frontier of India and its frontier extends along the sea to a width of six miles, which according to law has been declared as the territorial water belt. As soon as that frontier is crossed by the goods, the import must be regarded as complete. AIR 1953 SC 333, Rel. on.

Where therefore, the oils and petroleum products of the assessee-company crossed the outer limit of the territorial sea abutting the shores of Visakhapatnam, the importation of the goods into India must be regarded as complete and once the customs frontier is crossed the exemption under Article 286 (1) (b) of the Constitution would vanish as the goods must be regarded as having ceased to be in the course of the import, and any sale of the oils effected thereafter, whether in the limits of the territorial sea or on land, from out of a bonded warehouse to the ocean going vessels, for their own consumption would be subject to sales-tax.

The sales cannot also be regarded as in the course of the export as the sales are effected in India to ocean-going vessels, not as common carriers but to the vessels themselves, for their own consumption. In other words, the sale of the oils to the ocean-going ships takes place then and there for the consumption of the purchaser. There is, therefore, no question of any export at all involved in the case. 1952 SCJ 527: (1953) 1 MLJ 1: AIR 1952 SC 366, Rel. on. ILR (1961) Andh Pra 460: (1960) 11 STC 533: AIR 1960 Andh Pra 619 (620, 621) (Pt A) (Pr 4) (DB).

——Art. 286 (1) (b) — Applicability — Sales-tax levied under R. 16 (2) (ii), Madras General Sales-tax (Turnover and Assessment) Rules — Validity. See Sales-Tax — Madras General Sales Tax (Turnover and Assessment) Rules (1939), R. 16 (2) (ii). AIR 1958 Andh Pra 425.

——Art. 286 (1) (b) — Applicability — Sale preparatory to export — No exemption from sales-tax — (Sales Tax — Madras General Sales Tax Act (Madras Act IX of 1939) (as amended by Andhra Act (XIV of 1955), S. 5, Item (viii)).

A purchase of goods in the State for the purpose of export out of State is only an act preparatory to export and not an act done in the course of the export of goods out of the territory of India, and therefore, a levy of tax on the purchase of such goods does not contravene Art. 286 (1) (b) of the Constitution. AIR 1953 SC 333; AIR 1956 SC 168; (1956) An WR 964; AIR 1957 Andh Pra 297, Foll. 1958 An LT 36: (1958) 9 STC 104: (1958) 1 An WR 227: ILR (1958) Andh Pra 225: AIR 1958 Andh Pra 294 (301) (Pt D) (Pr 35) (DB).

——Art. 286 (1) (b) — Exemption under — Applicability — Madras General Sales Tax (Turnover and Assessment) Rules (1939), R. 16 (2) (ii) — Repugnancy to Article.

The exemption under Art. 286 (1) (b) does not apply to dealers who are last purchasers of untanned hides and skins within the State and who export the goods outside the State, as a purchase for export cannot be regarded as an activity so integrated with the exportation that the former can be regarded as done "in the course of" the latter. R. 16 (2) (ii), Madras General Sales Tax Rules is not therefore, repugnant to Art. 286 (1) (b). 1955 STC 717, Foll. ILR (1956) Andh Pra 1062: 1956 Andhra LT 863: (1956) 7 STC 568: 1956 Andhra WR 964: AIR 1957 AP 297 (300, 301) (Pt E) (Prs 14, 16) (DB).

——Art. 286 (1) (b) — 'In the course of export of the goods outside the territory of India' — Meaning of — Sale of aviation spirit to foreign bound aircrafts for consumption during flights — Delivery of goods into tanks of aircrafts at airfields within customs barrier and payment of price upon completion of delivery — Sales whether liable to tax under Bombay Sales Motor Spirit Taxation Act (VI of 1946).

Held, that the sales of aviation spirit to foreign bound aircrafts were local sales and not sales in the course of export of the goods outside the territory of India within the meaning of Art. 286 (1) (b) of the Constitution of India and as such were not exempt from payment of tax under the Bombay Sales of Motor Spirit Taxation Act, 1946. In all cases where a sale is completed prior to the carriage of goods beyond the territory of India and the goods are not deliverable outside the territory of India towards completion of any contract (whatever) for sale of such goods, the sales must be held to be local sales: 1953 SCJ 471: (1953) 2 Mad LJ 123; AIR 1953 SC 333, Explained and Distinguished. 63 Bom LR 903: AIR 1962 Bom 295 (300, 301) (Pt A) (Prs 26, 34).

——Art. 286 (1) (b) — Contravention of. See Sales Tax — Bengal Finance (Sales Tax) Act, (VI of 1941), S. 2 (g). AIR 1965 Cal 236.

——Art. 286 — Certiorari when can issue — Sales whether in course of export out of India — Decision of Sales Tax Officer—Issue of writ. See Ibid, Art. 226. (1959) 10 STC 68 (Cal).

——Art. 286 (1) (b) — Sale in course of export outside India — Exemption.

Sales outside the territory of India in the course of export are, under Art. 286 (1) of the Constitution, to be exempted. The question whether sales are in course of export or not is a difficult one. A sale by export involves a series of integrated activities commencing from the agreement of sale with a foreign buyer and ending with the delivery of the goods to a common carrier for transport out of the country by land or sea. Delivery to a Shipping Agent would not take it out of the mischief of the exemption. If Government directed the petitioner to sell to parties outside India and if the petitioner delivered the goods to Shipping Agents as directed by Government, that would be an export or a sale in course of export. AIR 1952 SC 366: 1952 SCJ 527: (1953) 1 Mad LJ 1, Foll. (1958) 62 Cal WN 397: 1959-10 STC 14.

——Art. 286 — Sale of aviation spirit to foreign-bound aircraft — Liability to tax under section — Section if infringes Art. 286 of Constitution. See Sales Tax — Bengal Motor Spirit Sales Taxation (Second Amendment) Act (32 of 1954), S. 2 (a) (1). AIR 1957 Cal 395.

——Art. 286 (1) (b) — Sale or purchase in course of export.

The sale of goods to, or the purchase of goods by, a party for the purpose of export is not necessarily a sale or purchase of the goods in the course of export. Such a transaction is not necessarily to be considered as entering the stream of export at that stage. (1957) 8 STC 142: 61 CWN 195: AIR 1957 Cal 395 (399) (Pt B) (Pr 18).

——Art. 286 (1) (b)— Sale in the course of export — What constitutes — Assessee must have direct connection in exportation of goods.

In order to constitute a sale in the course of export within the meaning of Art. 286 (1) (b) the seller must figure as an exporter and must have a connection with the activities commencing from the agreement of sale with a foreign buyer and ending with the delivery of the goods to a common carrier for transport out of the country by land or sea.

Held, in the circumstances of the case that the fact that the assessees might have export quota permits for each financial year under the Tea Act had no bearing in considering the question as to whether the particular sales were covered by the exemption provided in Art. 286 (1) (b). So far as the assessees were concerned, the sale had become complete when once the goods were purchased in auction by the agent and delivery was also taken by him and the fact that there was a subsequent export by the agent to the foreign principal could not make the sale by the assessees as one made in the course of export of the goods out of the territory of India. Hence, the sales were not exempt under Art. 286 (1) (b). AIR 1952 SC 366, AIR 1953 SC 333, AIR 1955 Mad 722, AIR 1956 SC 158, AIR 1958 SC 1002, AIR 1961 SC 315 and AIR 1961 SC 1344, Rel. on. ILR (1961) 2 Ker 673: AIR 1962 Ker 243 (249, 251, 252) (Prs 27, 31, 32, 37, 42).

——Art. 286 (1) (b) (as amended in 1956) — Central Sales-tax Act (1956), S. 5 (1) — "Sale or purchase in the course of export of goods out of territory of India" — Meaning — Purchases with a view to export — Sales if exempt under Art. 286 (1) (b) — Central Sales-tax Act (1956), S. 5 (1).

Mere purchases in the State with a view to export, and subsequent export, are not sufficient to secure the exemption from tax under Art. 286 (1) (b). In order to attract the exemption there must be a causal connection which is intimate and real. The sales must inextricably be bound up with the export and form an integral part thereof. One must be able to say that without the export the sale is not effectuated, or, in other words, that it was the sale which occasioned or produced or caused the export: AIR 1952 SC 366: AIR 1953 SC 333; AIR 1955 SC 661; AIR 1958 SC 1002, Rel. on.

Where the sales of tea by the tea estates to the local agents of the foreign buyers by public auction imposed or involved no obligation to export and there was no movement under the contract of sale although the goods were as a matter of fact exported; the sales are not exempt from tax under Art. 286 (1) (b). 1962 Ker LJ 146: 1962 Ker LT 133: ILR (1961) 2 Ker 698: (1962) 13 STC 309.

——Art. 286 (1) (b) (Before Sixth Amendment) — 'In the course of the import of the goods' — Meaning of — Sale of goods by transfer of documents of title relating to goods on board ship before it crosses customs frontiers — Exemption from tax — Central Sales Tax Act (LXXIV of 1956), section 5 — 'Customs frontiers' — Meaning of.

'Import' taken as a whole from start to finish or 'the course' of import as used in Article 286 (1) (b) of the Constitution as it stood before it was repealed consists of a bundle of interlinked and inter-laced activities spread over a duration of time beginning from the goods going through the custom gate of the exporting country and ending with the crossing of the customs barricade of the importing country. The import stream dries up and ceases to flow after the Customs Department of the importing country levies duty and thereby declares the eligibility of the goods to be cleared and mingled with the general mass of goods and merchandise in the country. It is not necessary that the goods should be physically removed from the harbour premises. Once the duty is levied despite the non-payment of the duty and its retention in the bonded warehouse the import is at an end and the notional customs barrier is supposed to have been crossed. A sale by transfer of documents of title relating to goods on board a ship at a point of time after the ship had navigated into the territorial waters but before the goods crossed the customs barrier must be held to be a sale in the course of import within the meaning of Article 286 (1) (b) of the Constitution as it stood prior to the repeal thereof as well as under section 5 of Central Sales Tax Act. The course of import covers a range of integrated activities.

"Customs frontier" as used in section 5 of the Central Sales Tax Act, 1956, and as understood prior to the enactment of that Act would not mean any geographical feature like land or coast or limits of territorial waters, but would only mean the operation of the machinery of the Customs Department consisting of levy and collection of duty and clearance of the goods. 'Customs frontiers" must properly be construed as Customs barriers. ILR (1964) 1 Mad 383: (1963) 14 STC 904: (1965) 1 MLJ 424.

——Art. 286 — Red Book-Hand Book of Rules and Procedure, 1961 — Import Trade Control, Appendix 9 — Determination of relationship flows through a contract — Legislations creating rights and liabilities pertaining to principal — Agent relationship — Effect — Licensee under S. 3, Import (Control) Order, 1955 issuing letter of authority to a person to import the goods — Transaction treated by parties as sale — Holder of letter of authority importing the goods and selling to licensee cannot be treated as an agent of licensee — Transaction is a sale — Assessment of sales-tax not barred under Art. 286 of the Constitution. (1964) 2 Mad LJ 84: AIR 1964 Mad 162 (DB).

——Art. 286 — Export sale — What constitutes— Property passing on delivery of goods in godowns of exporting houses — No contract by exporting houses with foreign buyers when goods received in godowns — Export houses held not acting as agents of seller — Sale not in course of export — Sale of Goods Act (1930), S. 23.

An export sale is one which is effected between a seller in the State and a buyer abroad outside the Indian territory. The foundation of such a sale is the contract between the two. The absence of a contract either in the form of an actual agreement signed by the seller and the buyer or their respective agents or in the form of letters between the buyer and the seller evidencing the terms of the agreement is definitely fatal to any claim that any sale transaction by a local dealer is an export sale hit by the provisions of Art. 286 of the Constitution. T. C. No. 150 of 1959 (Mad), Followed.

Delivery of the goods by the seller to the buyer passes the property in the goods, where the seller does not reserve the right of disposal.

Thus, where the property in goods passed on the delivery of the goods in the godowns of the exporting houses and when the goods were taken over the exporting firms had not entered into any contracts with any foreign buyer.

Held, that the conclusion was inescapable that the firms were not acting as the agents of the assessee seller in putting through any export sale. The sale could not be said to be in the course of export. 1962 Mad WN 121: (1962) 13 STC 805: (1962) 2 Mad LJ 197: AIR 1962 Mad 323 (324, 325, 326) (Prs 4, 8, 9, 10) (DB).

——Art. 286 (1) (b) — "Course of import" when terminates — Goods not cleared for home consumption but kept in bounded warehouses after assessment of customs duty — Course of import held ended — Goods not exempt under Art. 286 (1) (b).

It is not the factual mingling of the imported goods with the mass of the goods of the local area that terminates the course of import. When once the goods have been landed at a customs port and have been subjected to tax in the sense that levy of import duty has been made thereon, then even though the goods might not have been cleared for home consumption, the goods can be said to have ceased to be part of the import stream and have notionally crossed the customs frontier.

Thus where the importers, after the customs duty had been levied upon their goods, stocked their goods in the Customs warehouse and from there sold the goods to the ocean going vessels;

Held, that the course of import of goods had come to an end and the sales to the ocean-going vessels could not be said to be still in course of import. Such sales were not exempt under Art. 286 (1) (b) from sales-tax. AIR 1953 SC 333 and AIR 1958 SC 341, Disting. 1962 Mad WN 90: (1962) 13 STC 163: 75 Mad LW 115: ILR (1962) Mad 585: AIR 1962 Mad 298 (301) (Pr 13) (DB).

——Art. 286 (1) (b) — Sale in the course of export of goods — Name of foreign buyer not indicated in terms of contract of sale — Delivery of goods to be effected in local godowns — On delivery part of price to be paid by local man — Balance to be paid on shipment — Held property in goods passed on delivery at local place— Sale did not fall within ban under Art. 286 (1) (b) and liable to be taxed under the Madras General Sales Tax Act. 1961 Mad WN 806: (1962) 13 STC 824: AIR 1962 Mad 250 (251) (Pr 5) (DB).

——Art. 286 (1) (b) — Scope — Sales in the course of export — (Sales Tax — Madras General Sales Tax Act (IX of 1939), S. 3).

Where under one of the contracts it was specifically provided that the property in the goods sold passed to the vendee only after the delivery of the shipping documents and under the second contract it was clearly implied, inasmuch as it was stated that payment was to be on presentation of the shipping documents, that the property passed to the buyers only after the presentation of the shipping documents:

Held, that in both cases the property in the goods sold passed to the buyers only after the goods crossed the customs barrier and got into the stream of export. Thus they were sales in the course of export and the turnover from those sales was exempt from tax liability. 1958 Mad WN 115: (1958) 1 Mad LJ 225: (1958) 9 STC 208: 71 MLW 252: AIR 1958 Mad 314 (316) (Pt A) (Pr 5) (DB).

——Art. 286 (1) (b) — Scope — Sales in the course of export — (Sales Tax — Madras General Sales Tax Act (IX of 1939), S. 3).

Where according to the contract, the sales were completed by delivery to the party at their godowns in Madras and the contract also stated specifically that the buyers 'confirmed having bought' from the assessee 'today the undermentioned goods' and although the goods were bought for export there was no privity of contract between the seller and the persons abroad to whom the goods were ultimately sold:

Held, that the buyer under the contracts was the party in Madras and he was the exporter and not the assessee. The fact that the contracts provided that the assessee should bear the shipping charges, etc., and that those came out of the price payable by the buyer to the assessee did not affect the jural relationship of the assessee with that party as seller and buyer of the goods in question. Those sales were therefore not either export sales or sales in the course of export but were only sales for export and therefore were not within the scope of Art. 286. Held, further that even a stipulation in the contracts that the shipment was to be within one month from the date of the contract did not also affect the real position namely that the sales were not export sales. 1958 Mad WN 115: (1958) 1 Mad LJ 225: 71 Mad LW 252: (1958) 9 STC 208: AIR 1958 Mad 314 (316, 317) (Pt B) (Prs 6, 7, 8) (DB).

——Art. 286 — Scope — Sale in course of export — Sale completed by delivery to buyer in India — Contract providing for reimbursement of the buyer if the ultimate buyer from abroad rejected the goods — Absence of privity of contract between seller and ultimate buyer — Reservation of right in favour of the buyer in India did not affect the position that the sale was not a sale in the course of export but only a sale for export. (1872) 7 Com Pleas 438, Distinguished. 1958 Mad WN 115 (1958) 1 Mad LJ 225: 71 Mad LW 252: (1958) 9 STC 208: AIR 1958 Mad 314 (317) (Pt C) (Pr 10) (DB).

——Art. 286 (1) (b) and (2) — Dealer selling goods to exporter — No exemption under Art. 286 (1) (b) — Delivery complete in Madras State — No inter-State trade — (Sales Tax — Madras General Sales Tax Act (9 of 1939), S. 2 (h)).

Where a registered dealer sells coffee to a registered exporter in the State of Madras and the said exporter under the term of the contract of sale eventually exports the goods, it is as his goods that he exports. It is he who enters into the contract of sale with the buyer abroad. It is only that transaction with his purchaser abroad that can be brought within the scope in Art. 286 (1) (b) of the Constitution and not the earlier purchase by the exporter himself from the dealer. 45 T. C. 205 (SC); 5 STC 262, Foll. Further, if the exporter transports the goods out of the State of Madras, such a transport does not make the antecedent transaction of sale, a sale or purchase in the course of inter-State trade or commerce within the meaning of Art. 286 (2) of the Constitution. 1956 Mad WN 135: 69 Mad LW 79: (1956) 7 STC 135: (1956) 1 MLJ 487: AIR 1956 Mad 449 (451) (Pt E) (Prs 11, 15) (DB).

——Art. 286 (1) (b) — Export sale — Meaning of — Sale when occasions export.

An "export sale" is one in which the assessee figures as an exporter, privity having been established between him and the foreign buyer, either through direct negotiation or dealing, or through the local representatives of the latter. As sale will occasion an export or there will be an export sale only where the sale is to a foreign buyer with whom the local seller has privity and when as a direct result of such sale the goods are transported across the frontier.

Where merchants in Bombay who entered into their respective contracts with the assessees were themselves the purchasers, whether their purchases were on their own behalf or on behalf of undisclosed foreign principals between the latter of whom and the assessees there was no privity and undoubtedly a sale took place:

Held, that the assessees were not the sellers who exported or whose sales occasioned the export. AIR 1952 SC 366 Applied. (1955) 2 MLJ 545: 69 Mad LW 1056: ILR (1956) Mad 962: (1955) 6 STC 694: AIR 1955 Mad 722 (724, 725) (Pt C) (Pr 15) (DB).

——Art. 286 (1) (b) — Sale in the course of export — Appropriation of goods to contract — Property when passes to buyer — (Sale of Goods Act (1930), Ss. 23 (2) and 25 (2)).

The course of the export out of or of the import into the territory of India does not commence or terminate until the goods cross the customs frontier. AIR 1953 SC 333, Foll.

C and F contracts for the sale of goods were entered into by the assessee with merchants in Bombay. The goods were to be exported from Cochin harbour to foreign countries by the assessee on account and risk of the buyers. There was appropriation of goods to the contract by reason of packing the goods in the gunny bags and marking them with the buyers' initials with the assent of the buyers.

The appropriation, however, was not unconditional because the seller had further duties in connection with the goods which included loading them on board the ship and obtaining proper bills of lading for conveyance of the goods to the contracted destination and the seller in his turn was entitled to payment in exchange for these shipping documents.

Held, that the property in the goods did not pass to the buyers until the relevant bills of lading were presented to the buyers or in any event at least not until the goods were put on board the vessels at the harbour. In this view, as the goods were booked and had started on their journey to a foreign destination at the moment when the title in the goods passed to the buyer, there was "a sale in the course of export" entitling the assessee to the constitutional exemption under Art. 286 (1) (b). 69 Mad LW 1056: ILR (1956) Mad 962: (1955) 2 MLJ 545: (1955) 6 STC 694: AIR 1955 Mad 722 (725, 728) (Pt F) (Prs 16, 25) (DB).

● ——Art. 286 (1) (b) — Sales Tax — Madras General Sales Tax Act (IX of 1939), S. 3 (3) —Madras General Sales Tax (Turnover and Assessment) Rules (1939), Rules 4 (2) (d) and 16 (il) — Validity of sales-tax levied under these rules.

The tax on the purchase of untanned hides and skins by a licensed dealer in hides and skins levied by reason of Rules 4 (2) (d) and 16 (2) of the Madras General Sales Tax (Turnover and Assessment) Rules does not contravene Art. 286 (1) (b) of the Constitution and the levy of the tax is valid. AIR 1954 Mad 984, Overruled. State of Madras v. K. H. Chambers, Ltd. (1955) 6 STC 157: ILR (1955) Mad 579: (1955) 2 MLJ 63: 68 Mad LW 923: AIR 1955 Mad 314 (321, 323) (Pt A) (Prs 15, 16, 26) (FB).

● ——Art. 286—Levy of sales-tax by State— Export and import — American decisions bearing on the subject — Their utility.

The decisions in America, to wit 'Coe v. Errol'; (1885) 29 Law. Ed. 715; 'Richfield Oil Corporation v. State Board of Equalization', (1946) 91 Law Ed. 80, do not afford real assistance in construing the provisions of the Madras General Sales-tax Act, 1939 and Art. 286 (1) (b) of the Constitution. The tax impugned in each one of the American decisions, is, or is tantamount to a tax on commodities, whereas the sales-tax in Madras is a tax on the turnover, which is determined by the amount involved in the individual transactions of sales. The question in America always is whether a particular tax, is a tax on imports or exports, directly or indirectly. The constitutional prohibition is of imposts on imports or exports. But in Art. 286 the prohibition is in respect of transactions of sale or purchase in the course of import or export. Whereas in America it becomes very material to determine whether at a particular point of time an article has or has not entered the stream of export, in Madras it becomes unnecessary to embark on such an enquiry. AIR 1952 SC 366 (368), Rel. on.

The American Courts have held that a tax which discriminates against exported goods is virtually a tax on exports. The passages in their decisions stem from this concept of a discriminatory tax being a prohibited impost. Under the scheme of the Indian Constitution and the distribution of legislative and taxation powers under it, there is no prohibition on Parliament to tax exports and the entire control over exports and imports as well as duties on such exports and imports are excluded from the purview of the States. State of Madras v. K. H. Chambers, Ltd. 68 Mad LW 923: (1955) 6 STC 157: ILR (1955) Mad 579: (1955) 2 MLJ 63: AIR 1955 Mad 314 (319, 325) (Pt B) (Prs 12, 40) (FB).

●——Art. 286 (1) (b) — Sales Tax — Madras General Sales Tax Act (IX of 1939), S. 5 (iv)— Madras General Sales Tax (Turnover and Assessment) Rules (1939), Rule 16 — Single point tax — Fixation of point — Sale on last purchase is not tax on sale in course of export.

According to the Madras General Sales Tax Act, 1939 and the rules, raw hides and skins are a commodity in respect of which the rule as to single point taxation applies and the tax is levied upon the last taxable purchaser who deals with the commodity in its raw state. It is by reason of this principle that export figures as a fact to determine the last buyer. In other words, the tax is really one on the transaction of purchase anterior to the export, the factum of the export figuring merely as marking the final stage of a series of purchases by one licensed dealer from another on the occurrence of which the taxable event, namely, the last purchase, is determined. State of Madras v. K. H. Chambers Ltd., 68 Mad LW 923: (1955) 6 STC 157: ILR (1955) Mad 579: (1955) 2 MLJ 63: AIR 1955 Mad 314 (321 to 324) (Pt C) (Prs 18, 30) (FB).

● ——Art. 286 — Sales-tax.

In Art. 286 taxes on both sales as well as purchases are exempt if made either in the course of export or import. State of Madras v. K. H. Chambers Ltd., 68 Mad L W 923: (1955) 6 STC 157: ILR (1955) Mad 579: (1955) 2 MLJ 63: AIR 1955 Mad 314 (323) (Pt G) (Pr 27) (FB).

● ——Art. 286 — Sale or purchase in the course of export.

A purchase of goods for the purpose of export even though such purchase is effected to implement orders for the export of these goods is not "a sale or purchase in the course of export" within the meaning of the exemption in Art. 286. AIR 1953 SC 333, Expl. State of Madras v. K. H. Chambers, Ltd., 68 Mad LW 923: (1955) 6 STC 157: ILR (1955) Mad 579: (1955) 2 MLJ 63: AIR 1955 Mad 314 (322, 324) (Pt H) (Prs 18, 28) (FB).

——Art. 286 (1) (b) — Applicability —Assessee, a groundnut dealer, purchasing after 26th January, 1950, a quantity of groundnut for purpose of export — Assessee held not entitled to claim exemption under Art. 286 (1) (b) in respect of purchase price of groundnut. AIR 1952 SC 366 and AIR 1953 SC 333, Discussed. 67 Mad LW 819 =

(1954) 2 MLJ 548 : AIR 1954 Mad 1117 (1118) (Pt A) (Pr 2) (DB).

——Art. 286 (1) (b) — Sale to export is not exempt from sales-tax — (Sales-tax — Madras General Sales-tax Act (IX of 1939).)

Under Art. 286 (1) (b) of the Constitution, the sale and the export which are treated as integrated activities are alone exempt if the sale is the occasion for the export and it commences from the time when the agreement of sale was entered into with the foreign buyer. A purchase anterior to it by the exporter and a sale to the exporter by another person would not be within the limits of integrated activity as defined by the Supreme Court. Both the purchase by the exporter and sale by the assessee to the exporter who ultimately exports the goods under a sale are beyond the limit and therefore, cannot be treated as a sale in the course of export which attracts the exemption, notwithstanding the fact that the goods by virtue of the Cotton Textiles (Export Control) Order, 1949, were earmarked by the assessee for the purpose of export and export only. AIR 1952 SC 366 and AIR 1953 SC 333, Rel. on. 1954 Mad WN 507 : ILR (1955) Mad 781 : (1954) 2 MLJ 314 : 67 Mad LW 493 : AIR 1954 Mad 937 (938) (Pt A) (Pr 2) (DB).

(See also the decision of the Supreme Court in the Bengal Immunity Co. Case reported as AIR 1955 SC 661.).

——Art. 286 (1) (b) — Scope — Sale of untanned hides and skins by export outside India — Exemption from tax. See Sales Tax — Madras General Sales Tax Turnover and Assessment Rules (1939), R. 4. (1954) 2 MLJ 312 : AIR 1954 Mad 984 (DB).

——Art. 286 (1) (b) — Sales-tax.

The last purchases made by the dealers in a State cannot be brought within the scope of the exemption contemplated by Art. 286 (1) (b) of the Constitution. It is only the last sales made to the foreign buyer that will be exempt as they alone will be considered to be in the course of export outside the territory of India. AIR 1952 SC 366 and AIR 1953 SC 333, Foll. 1954 Cr LJ 1267: 1954 Mad WN 821: (1955) 2 MLJ 81: ILR (1955) Mad 184 : AIR 1954 Mad 833 (837) (Pt C) (Pr 12) (DB).

——Art. 286 (1) (b) and (2) — "In the course of export" — Meaning of — Sales or purchases having no direct connection with goods exported — Power of States to impose tax thereon.

The decisions on the export and import clause in the American Constitution do not support the contention that an export must be construed as including purchases prior to the transaction under which the goods are exported. Similarly, the authorities on the commerce clause so far from supporting the contention that exports should be deemed to include the chain transactions preceding it clearly establish that immunity from taxation under the commerce clause should be narrowly construed so as to limit it to the period between the actual commencement and termination of inter-State commerce. American case law considered.

The words "in the course of export" in Art. 286 cannot bear the same meaning as "for the purpose of export". In their natural meaning the words "in the course of export" would have a more restricted operation than the words "for the purpose of export". Quite obviously the words "in the course of" have been suggested by the decisions of the American Courts on the commerce clause. The object of Art 286 (2) is clearly to prevent States from interfering with the free flow of commerce in the country by erecting barriers of taxation. That was precisely the object of the commerce clause in America. Whether the goods are in the course of transit is the paramount question to be decided under the the commerce clause. It is this conception that appears to have been adopted in the words "sale of goods, where it takes place in the course of inter-State trade". These words limit the prohibition on the power of the State to impose tax on sales only where they are the subject-matter of inter-State commerce. The power of the State to tax sales before the inter-State commerce commences and after it ends is left untouched. In this view, the power of the States to impose tax under Art. 286 (2) would be of the same character and extent as the power of the States in America in relation to the commerce clause.

It would be in accordance with sound rules of construction to put the same meaning on the words "in the course of" occurring both in Art. 286 (1) (b) and in Art. 286 (2). Thus understood the prohibition under Art. 286 (1) (b) will begin to operate only from the time when the goods exported begin their international journey and it will cease when that journey ceases. In other words, the prohibition is limited to the period covered by the actual exportation or importation of the goods. The power of the State to impose tax at any stage before or after is not affected.

In American law the commerce clause and the export and import clause operate differently on the power of the State to impose tax. While under the commerce clause the States have plenary powers of taxation subject only to the powers of the Congress to regulate inter-State commerce, in the case of the export and import clause, it is a total want of jurisdiction. It would appear that the intention of the framers of the Constitution of India was to discard this distinction and enact one law for both foreign and inter-State trade and that they chose to adopt the law relating to inter-State commerce in America as furnishing a basis for reconciling the competing demands of both the Union to control and regulate commerce, inter-State and foreign, in the best interest of the country, and of the States, to raise revenue on transactions, which are rendered possible by the protection afforded by the States.

It must accordingly be held that both in Arts. 286 (1) (b) and 286 (2) the power of the States to impose a tax on export or import or inter-State trade or commerce is taken away only in respect of sales or purchases made directly in relation to the goods which are the subject-matter of transportation either in inter-State or international commerce, whether such sales take place prior to the commencement of the transport or during its progress. The prohibition does not extend to sales or purchases which have no direct connection with the goods which are exported. (1952) 2 MLJ 614: (1952) 3 STC 405 : 1952 Mad WN 878: 65 Mad LW 1046: AIR 1953 Mad 116 (121, 122, 124, 125) (Pt A) (Prs 15, 19, 20 to 22, 24) (DB).

——Art. 286 (1) (b) — Purchase of goods in Pakistan — Transport of goods in Madras — Liability of purchaser to be taxed under Madras General Sales Tax Act — (Sales Tax — Madras General Sales Tax Act (IX of 1939), S. 3).

Unless the goods are in transit under a contract between two persons in two different countries, entered into either at the commencement of the transport or during its progress, there can be no question of a sale or purchase in the course of import.

The representative of the petitioner used to go to Dacca, make the purchases there, pay the price, and consign the goods from there to Madras. The contracts of purchases were completed in Dacca, before the goods were put in transit; and what the petitioners did was merely to transport their own goods from Dacca to Madras. The petitioners having been assessed to sales-tax under the Madras General Sales Tax Act:

Held, that the transport by the petitioners of their own goods after purchase in Pakistan could not be brought under Art. 286 (1) (b) as a purchase in the course of import, but that as the purchases were completed in Dacca that would be outside the operation of the Madras General Sales Tax Act as that authorises a levy of tax only on sales or purchases within the Province of Madras; and as the tax was imposed on the petitioners as purchasers, it must be held to be unauthorised. (1952) 3 STC 405 : 1952 Mad WN 878 : (1952) 2 MLJ 614 : 65 Mad LW 1046 : AIR 1953 Mad 116 (125, 126) (Pt B) (Pr 26) (DB).

——Art. 286 — Scope and effect — Madras General Sales Tax Act (IX of 1939) and Rules thereunder — Constitutional validity — Purchase of raw hides for tanning and export outside the territory of India — Assessment to sales-tax — Validity — Power of State to tax inter-State and extra-State sales — Limits.

The High Court could not entertain in proceedings by way of writ such objections to the assessment of the sales-tax as could have been urged before the Tribunals constituted under the Act. Madras Act (IX of 1939) is intra vires of the powers of the State Legislature. It is not open to the objection that it is an unconstitutional delegation by the Legislature of its functions to the executive. It is not repugnant to Art. 14 of the Constitution as being discriminative and the rules framed thereunder are valid excepting only R. 16 (5). (1952) 2 MLJ 598, Foll.

The purchases of hides and skins prior to the transaction under which the goods are exported to foreign countries cannot be included in "export" under Art. 286 (1) (b) of the Constitution. Immunity from taxation should be limited to the period between the actual commencement and termination of inter-State commerce. The words "sale of goods where it takes place in the course of inter-State trade" limit the prohibition on the power of the State to impose tax on sales only where they are the subject-matter of inter-State commerce. The power of the State to tax sales before the inter-State commerce commences and after it has ended is left untouched.

Under Art. 286 (1) (b) the prohibition on the power of the State to tax exports and imports is stated in precisely the same terms as in relation to inter-State commerce under Art. 286 (2) and that is only in respect of sales or purchases which take place in the course of the import or the export of the goods. It would be in accordance with sound rules of construction to put the same meaning on the words "in the course of" occurring both in Art. 286 (1) (b) and Art. 286 (2). Thus understood the prohibition under Art. 286 (1) (b) will begin to operate only from the time when the goods exported begin their international journey and it will cease when their journey ceases. That is, the prohibition is limited to the period covered by the actual exportation or importation of the goods. The powers of the State to impose tax at any stage before or after is not affected.

Both in Arts. 286 (1) (b) and 286 (2) the power of the State to impose a tax on export or import or inter-State trade or commerce is taken away only in respect of sales or purchases made directly in relation to the goods which are the subject-matter of the transportation either in inter-State or international commerce, whether such sales take place prior to the commencement of the transport or during its progress. The prohibition does not extend to sales or purchases which have no direct connection with the goods which are exported.

Where the purchases have been completed and the goods are then transported into Madras it would be outside the operation of Madras General Sales-tax Act.

Sales-tax could be levied on sales which are of an inter-State character provided they were substantially effected within the State and a law imposing such a tax is not ultra vires. (1952) 2 MLJ 593, Foll.

The right to impose the tax arises when the contract is concluded provided of course the contract is completed by the passing of property.

The State has plenary powers of taxation over inter-State sales. The State has no power to impose tax on extra-State sales.

In respect of inter-State sales the State in which the contract is concluded is the only State which has the power to impose a tax.

Where the goods are delivered for consumption in a particular State, that State has the power to impose a use tax or purchase-tax thereon notwithstanding that the transaction of sale is extra-State. (Vide Art. 286 (1) (a), Explanation—which has become incorporated in the Madras General Sales-Tax Act by the Adaptation of Laws (Fourth Amendment) Order, 1952, which shall be deemed to have come into force on 26th January, 1950).

With regard to taxes it might be assumed that the Legislature meant them to be valid to whatever extent they could be sustained. It cannot be contended that because the Turnover and Assessment Rules which were framed before the Constitution mixed up what would not be taxable with what is taxable the rules should be declared void in their entirety. 1952 Mad WN 878 : (1952) 2 MLJ 614 : 65 LW 1046 : (1952) 3 STC 405 : AIR 1953 Mad 116 (121, 122, 124, 125) (Pt A) (Prs 15, 19, 20 to 22, 24) (DB).

——Art. 286 (1) (b) — Dealer in India selling goods to buyer in Nepal — Test to determine inter-State sale — Sale involving series of integrated activities ending in delivery of goods — Dealer is entitled to claim exemption.

Sales and purchases which themselves occasion the export of goods, as the case may be, out of or into the territory of India come within the exemption of Art. 286 (1) (b) of the Constitution of India. The finding of the Sales Tax Officer that delivery of the goods to the purchaser was finalised in India is not a conclusive test for the determination of the question whether the sale made by the dealer in India to Nepal buyer is a sale in the course of the export of the goods within the meaning of Art. 286 (1) (b) of the Constitution. The true test is whether the sale and the export involve a series of integrated activities, commencing from the agreement of sale with a foreign buyer and ending with the delivery of the goods for transport out of the country by land or sea. Where, therefore, a dealer in India has prepared credit memos, in the name of a buyer in Nepal and the sold goods are actually exported to Nepal in pursuance of the contract of sale between the parties, the dealer in India is entitled to exemption of the value of the goods sold to Nepal buyer. AIR

1952 SC 366, Foll. 1964 BLJR 6 : AIR 1963 Pat 359 (360, 361, 362) (Prs 3, 4).

——Art. 286 (1) (a) and (b) — Applicability — 'In the course of' — Interpretation — (Sales Tax — Bihar Sales Tax Act (XIV of 1947), S. 4).

The expression 'in the course of' in Art. 286 (1) (b) as it stood before the Constitution (Sixth Amendment) Act, postulates that the transaction of sale must be an integral part of the activity of exporting the goods out of the country. In order to attract exemption under Art. 286 (1) (b) it is necessary for the assessee to show that the sale took place not only during the activities directed towards the export of the goods out of the country, but also that the sale was a part of the activities of such export.

The assessee's case was that the contract for sale of goods had been made and the goods had been despatched from Bihar to the firms in Calcutta who in their turn exported them to foreign countries and it was not the case nor had it been found that the goods had been sold to the Calcutta firms for the purpose of delivery and consumption in the State of West Bengal.

Held, that neither Cl. (a) nor Cl. (b) of Art. 286 (1) of the Constitution was applicable to the case and the sale was not exempted. AIR 1953 SC 333, AIR 1956 SC 158, Relied on. (1958) 9 STC 173 : AIR 1959 Pat 30 (30, 31) (Pt A) (Prs 3 to 5) (DB).

——Art. 286 (1) (b) — Applicability — Punjab General Sales-tax Act (XLVI of 1948), S. 29 (1) (ii) — Sale in the course of export — What is— Mere intention to export without an actual exportation — Not sufficient to constitute such sale.

The sale in the course of export predicates an inextricable connection or bond between the sale and the export, leaving no option to the purchaser of not exporting without committing a breach of the contract in question. In order to attract the exemption under Art. 286 (1) (b), there must also in addition be the resultant export. The sale must itself occasion export, or what is the same thing, the export must be made under the sale. To occasion export, there must accordingly exist between the contract of sale and actual exportation a bond so that each link is inseparably connected with the one immediately preceding it. The two activities of the sale and the export must be so integrated as to leave no possibility of a voluntary interruption without entailing a breach of the contract or an obligation arising from the nature of the transaction. It would thus postulate common intention on the part of the contracting parties to export the goods which must be actually followed by export and this appears to be essential in order to constitute a sale in the course of the export of the goods. There must necessarily come into existence an obligation to export and there must also be an actual export pursuant to such obligation. Merely because a sale has been followed by the export of the goods sold does not by itself clothe the sale with the quality of its being in the course of their export. Nor is mere intention to export without an actual exportation, sufficient to constitute a sale in the course of export, because a sale by export involves a series of integrated activities commencing from the agreement of sale with a foreign buyer and ending with the delivery of the goods for the purpose of export. Such a sale cannot be dissociated from the export without which it cannot be effectuated because the sale and resultant export form but parts of a single transaction.

At one end are transactions in which there is a sale of goods in India and the purchaser, immediate or remote, exports the goods out of India for foreign consumption. Such a transaction without more cannot be regarded as one in the course of export because etymologically "in the course of export" contemplates an integral relation or bond between the sale and the export. At the other end, a transaction under a contract of sale with a foreign buyer under which goods may under the contract be delivered by the seller to a common carrier for transporting them to the purchaser. Such a transaction would indisputably be one for export. (1965) 16 STC 553 : AIR 1965 Punj 391 (394) (Pt A) (Prs 6, 7) (DB).

——Art. 286 (1) (b)— The fact whether transaction is a sale 'in course of export' is to be ascertained from exact nature of transaction — Sale in course of export is exempted under Article. See Sales Tax — Central Sales Tax Act (1956), S. 5 (1). (1965) 16 STC 534 : 67 Punj LR 155.

——Art. 286 (1) (b) — A sale by export — Meaning of — Sales and purchases which themselves occasion export or import of goods out of or into India come within exemption — Punjab General Sales Tax Act (XLVI of 1948), S. 5 (2), Cl. (a) (vi) — Deduction of purchase price of unginned cotton purchased for export to foreign market is permissible even if sale takes place through commission agent and outside State of Punjab.

Article 286 prohibits a State Government from levying any tax on the sale or purchase of goods which are exported or imported. Sales and purchases which themselves occasion the export or import of the goods as the case may be, out of or into the territory of India come within the exemption even if the contract of sale is entered into between the foreign buyer on the one hand and the petitioner through its agent at Bombay or Jagraon on the other. Such a sale would certainly be in the course of export if it occasions, or results in, the export of goods outside the territory of India. And again this would be so, irrespective of the fact whether the goods are actually stocked at Bombay or Jagraon, at the time of the contract : AIR 1952 SC 366, Foll. Thus the dealer could deduct the purchase price of cotton from the gross turnover under S. 5 (2) Cl. (a) (vi) even if the cotton was sold through the commission agents of the dealer and the sale took place outside the State of Punjab. 1965 Cur LJ 121 : 67 Pun LR 69 :(1965) 16 STC 542.

——Art. 286 (1) (b) — Sale in the course of import of goods into India — Transactions of sale of cement imported from Pakistan — Property in goods passing to buyers when they had not reached India and were in course of import — Transaction held not liable to sales tax.

Held, on facts, (i) that the sale which occasioned the movement of goods may be taken to be the first sale made by Milkhiram and Sons to the State Trading Corporation. Subsequent sales by the State Trading Corporation through its agent cannot be said to have occasioned the movement of goods in India; (ii) that the property in the goods passed to the ultimate buyers when the goods had not reached the territory of India but only were in the course of import.

Therefore, the sales took place when the cement was in the course of import and as such they were not liable for payment of sales-tax by virtue of Art. 286 (1) (b). AIR 1961 Mad 87, Dist.; AIR 1960 SC 595, Rel. on. ILR (1963) 13 Raj 908 : 1963 Raj LW 517 : (1964) 15 STC 966 : AIR 1964 Raj 5 (9, 10, 11) (Pt D) (Prs 14, 16, 17, 19) (DB).

[Reversed in AIR 1966 SC 142 on the ground that the High Court should not have decided disputed questions of fact but should merely have quashed the assessment order on the ground that the Sales Tax Officer had not dealt with the question raised before him and remanded the case—Ed.]

——Art. 286 (1) (b) — Sales taking place in series of transactions preceding export or import of goods — Levy of sales-tax on — Validity — Sales tax — Travancore-Cochin General Sales-Tax Act (11 of 1125), S. 26.

Under Art. 286 (1) (b) (which is incorporated as S. 26 of Travancore Sales Tax Act), while the goods are in the course of import into the territory of India or while the goods are in the course of export out of the territory of India, if a sale takes place, sales-tax cannot be levied. The words "in the course of" in Cl. (b) make the scope of this clause very wide. It is not restricted to the point of time at which goods are imported into or exported from India. The series of transactions which necessarily proceed export or import of goods will come within the purview of this clause. Therefore, while in the course of that series of transactions the sale has taken place, such a sale is exempted from the levy of sales tax. The sale may have taken place within the boundaries of the State. Even then, sales-tax cannot be levied if the sale had taken place while the goods were in the course of import into India or in the course of export out of India.

The object of Article 286 of the Constitution is to ensure that sales-taxes which may be imposed by the various States in this country do not interfere with imports and exports and interstatal trade and commerce which are ultimately matters of national concern affecting the whole country and are beyond the purview of the powers vested in individual States. That is the reason why restriction is imposed by Article 286 upon the power of individual States to legislate in respect of sales-tax and to levy such tax in particular instances.

In the case of exports, all C and F, CIF and FOB contracts, made with the intention of exporting, fall within the purview of Art. 286 (1) (b); though the sales in those cases had been completed before the exports commenced, and are exempt from tax. (1952) 3 STC 91 : 1952 Ker LT 59 : AIR 1952 Trav-Co 83 (84 to 86) (Prs 3; 8; 14) (DB).

8. Clause (2) — Inter-State sales — Before Constitution (Sixth Amendment) Act, 1956.

● ——Art. 286 (2) (Before its amendment by Constitution (Sixth Amendment) Act, 1956) — Inter-State sales contemplated by Art. 286 (2) were the same as those defined in S. 3 (a), Central Sales Tax Act — Sales effected between 1st April, 1956 and 10th September, 1956 in which goods moved from outside Mysore into Mysore being inter-State sales could not be taxed by Mysore State. AIR 1963 SC 980, Rel. on. State Trading Corporation of India Ltd. v. State of Mysore, (1963) 14 STC 416 : AIR 1967 SC 585 (586, 587) (Pt B) (Pr 7).

● ——Art. 286 (2) (Before amendment by Constitution (6th Amendment) Act, 1956) — Scope. See Sales Tax — Bihar Sales Tax Act (XIX of 1947 before Amendment Act VII of 1957), S. 2 (g). (1964) 1 SCJ 351 : AIR 1964 SC 584.

● ——Art. 286 (2) (Before amendment by Constitution (Sixth Amendment) Act, 1956) — Sale or purchase in the course of inter-State trade or commerce — Contract itself involving movement of goods from outside the State of Mysore into the State — Held, sales were inter-State sales and exempt from tax.

The tests which have been laid down to bring a sale within inter-State sales are that the transaction must involve movement of goods across the border. Transactions are inter-State in which as a direct result of such sales the goods are actually delivered for consumption in another State. A contract of sale must involve transport of goods from one State to another under the contract of sale.

Held, on facts that the contract itself involved the movement of goods from the factory to the purchaser i.e., across the border from one State to another because the factories were outside the State of Mysore and therefore, transactions were clearly transactions of sale of goods in the course of inter-State trade or commerce. Thus the sales were in the nature of inter-State sales and were exempt from sales tax. AIR 1963 SC 347, Distinguished : AIR 1955 SC 786; AIR 1952 SC 366; AIR 1955 SC 333; AIR 1961 SC 1344; AIR 1955 SC 661, AIR 1955 SC 765 and AIR 1961 SC 65, Rel. on. 38 Mys LJ 516 Reversed. Cement Marketing Co., of India (P.), Ltd. v. State of Mysore, (1963) 1 SCWR 202 : (1963) 3 SCR 777 : (1964) 2 SCJ 287 : (1963) 14 STC 175 : AIR 1963 SC 980 (983, 984) (Prs 9, 13).

● —Art. 286 (2) — Assam Sales Tax Act (XVII of 1947), S. 15 (as amended in 1951) — Assam Sales Tax Rules, R. 80 — S. 15 and R. 80 do not offend.

Section 15 (as amended), Assam Sales Tax Act, and R. 80 framed under the Act do not offend against Art. 286 (2) and are not ultra vires on that ground. Only sales, which affect inter-State trade or commerce directly and are an integral part thereof, are saved under Art. 286 (2). Where tea is purchased in Assam for the purpose of being sold to dealers in Assam or outside the State, the transactions of sales are wholly inside the State and are intra-State sales and tax imposed thereon does not offend Art. 286 (2). AIR 1961 SC 1344, Applied.

Section 3(1)A of the Act saves from taxation all those transactions which, if they were taxed, would have fallen within the ban of Art. 286. The effect of this saving is to make such transactions immune from taxation, and no further amendment of the law in the machinery section was necessary.

What has already been excluded by the operation of the Constitution and the Act cannot become taxable, because the net turnover has to be calculated in a particular manner. From that net turnover, such sales must be excluded by the operation of Art. 286 (2) and S. 3(1)A of the Act. The ban of Art. 286(2), which is again re-enacted by S. 3(1)A, makes it incumbent that the sales falling within those provisions should be excluded from the net turnover. AIR 1956 Assam 177, Reversed. State of Assam v. Ramesh Chandra Dey, (1961) 12 STC 441: (1962) 1 SCR 986: AIR 1962 SC 107 (108, 109) (Prs 5, 7).

●——Art. 286 (2) (as it stood prior to Sixth Amendment) — 'Sale or purchase in course of inter-State trade or commerce' — Meaning — Orissa Sales Tax Act (1947), S. 5 (2) (a) (ii).

In order that a sale or purchase might be inter-State, it is essential that, there must be transport of goods from one State to another under the contract of sale or purchase. A purchase made inside a State, for sale outside the State cannot itself be held to be in the course of inter-State trade and the imposition of a tax thereon is not repugnant to Art. 286 (2) of the Constitution.

Under S. 5, Orissa Sales Tax Act, 1947, certain sales to the petitioner were not included in the taxable turnover of the sellers by reason of the registration certificate which the petitioner had obtained on a declaration that the goods were to be resold in Orissa. But in violation of that declaration the petitioner sold the goods to dealers outside the State and so the purchases by him were included in his turnover and assessed to sales-tax:

Held, that the levy was not on the sales by the petitioner to persons outside the State, but on purchases by him inside the State. The former sales were in the course of inter-State trade and were not taxable under Art. 286 (2), but the latter were purely intra-State sales, and a tax imposed thereon did not offend Art. 286 (2). AIR 1955 SC 661, AIR 1953 SC 333, Rel. on; AIR 1955 SC 786, Disting. Endupuri Narasimham and Son v. State of Orissa. 28 Cut LT 1: (1962) 1 SCR 314: (1962) 1 SCJ 54: (1962) 1 SCA 39: (1962) 1 Mad LJ (SC) 32: (1962) 1 Andh WR (SC) 32: 1962 SCD 1: (1961) 12 STC 282: AIR 1961 SC 1344 (1345, 1346) (Prs 4, 5).

●—Art. 286 (2) — Sales Tax Laws Validation Act (7 of 1956), S. 2 —Act is not ultra vires —Scope and purpose of Act, indicated. See Sales Tax—Sales Tax Laws Validation Act (7 of 1956), S. 2. AIR 1958 SC 468.

[This case was held in AIR 1961 Mys 3, to have been Overruled on another point in AIR 1959 SC 648.]

●——Art. 286 (2) — Sales Tax Laws Validation Act (1956), S. 2 — "Law of a State" — Madras General Sales Tax Act 9 of 1939, S. 22, if within protection of S. 2. See Sales Tax — Sales Tax Laws Validation Act (7 of 1956), S. 2. AIR 1958 SC 468.

[This case was held in AIR 1961 Mys 3, to have been Overruled on another point in AIR 1959 SC 648.]

●——Art. 286 (2) — Madras General Sales Tax Act (1939), S. 22, Explanation — Repugnancy to Art. 286 (2) of Constitution — Subsequent enactment of Sales Tax Laws Validating Act — Effect of, indicated — Invalidity of S. 22, Explanation is removed — (Interpretation of Statutes — Constitutionality — Invalidity — Void and null statutes). See Sales Tax — Madras General Sales Tax Act (9 of 1939), S. 22, Explanation. AIR 1958 SC 468.

[This case was held in AIR 1961 Mys 3 to have been Overruled on different point in AIR 1959 SC 648.]

●——Art. 286 (2) — Madras General Sales Tax Act (1939), S. 22 —Validity — Constitution of India, Sch. VII, List I, Entry 42 — Entry if covers inter-State sale — Validity of S. 22. See Sales Tax — Madras General Sales Tax Act (9 of 1939), S. 22. AIR 1958 SC 468.

[This case was held in AIR 1961 Mys 3, to have been Overruled on another point in AIR 1959 SC 648.]

●——Arts. 286 (2), 245 — Territorial extent of legislative power — Theory of territorial connection or nexus — Applicability to sales-tax legislation. See Ibid, Art. 245. 1958 SCR 1355: ILR 37 Pat 827: AIR 1958 SC 452.

●——Art. 286 (2) — C. P. and Berar Sales Tax Act (XXI of 1947), Ss. 8 and 27-A — Inter-State commerce — Registered dealer in Madhya Pradesh importing finished tobacco from registered dealers in State of Bombay — Transaction is in the course of inter-State commerce — No liability can be imposed either for sales-tax or purchase-tax — (Sales-tax — C. P. and Berar Sales-tax Act (21 of 1947), Ss. 8 and 27-A).

Section 8 of the C. P. and Berar Sales-tax Act requires that a dealer while being liable to pay tax under the Act shall not carry on business as a dealer unless he has been registered as such and possesses a registration certificate. The liability to pay tax under the Act is thus postulated and unless and until a person is liable to pay such tax he need not get himself registered as a dealer.

All the transactions entered into by a registered dealer, however, do not necessarily import a liability to pay tax under the Act because, whenever the question arises in regard to his liability to pay any tax under the Act, such liability would have to be determined in spite of his being a registered dealer with reference, inter alia, to the provisions of S. 27-A of the Act which incorporates within its terms the bans which have been imposed on the powers of the State Legislature to tax under Art. 286 (1) (a) and (2) of the Constitution.

If, therefore, a dealer who has got himself registered as dealer under the provisions of S. 8 (1) of the Act is sought to be made liable in respect of transactions of sale effected by him he could claim exemption from such liability if the transactions of sale or purchase took place in the course of inter-State trade or commerce after 31-3-1951, except in so far as Parliament may by law otherwise provide. Mohanlal Hargovind Das v. State of Madhya Pradesh, (1955) 2 SCR 509: (1956) 1 Mad LJ (SC) 5: 1956 SCA 105: 1955 Nag LJ 719: (1955) 6 STC 687: (1956) SCJ 6: AIR 1955 SC 786 (788, 789) (Pr 11).

●——Art. 286 (2) — Scope.

Art. 286 (2) cannot be regarded as subject to the States taxing power, and it cannot be said that the protection of Art. 286 (2) could not have been intended to be larger. Dissenting view in AIR 1953 SC 232, & in AIR 1953 SC 333, Approved. Bengal Immunity Co. Ltd. v. State of Bihar, ILR 34 Pat 905: (1955) 6 STC 446: (1955) 2 SCR 603: (1955) 2 MLJ (SC) 168: 1955 An WR (SC) 422:

(1955) SCJ 672: 1955 SCA 1140: AIR 1955 SC 661 (682) (Pt M) (Pr 34).

●——Art. 286 (2) — Scope.

The opening words of clause (2), namely, "Except in so far as Parliament may by law otherwise provide" clearly indicate that the lifting of the ban may be total or partial, that is to say, Parliament may lift the ban wholly and unconditionally or it may lift it to such extent as it may think fit to do and on such terms as it pleases. In exercise of its legislative powers under Entry 42 of List I of 7th Schedule read with Art. 286 (2) Parliament may make a law permitting the States to tax inter-State sales or purchases of certain commodities only. Parliament may by way of regulating inter-State trade or commerce, fix a ceiling rate of tax on sales or purchases of goods which the law made by the States under Entry 54 of List II may not exceed. Bengal Immunity Co., Ltd. v. State of Bihar, ILR 34 Pat 905: (1955) 6 STC 446: (1955) 2 SCR 603: (1955) 2 MLJ (SC) 168: 1955 An WR (SC) 422: (1955) SCJ 672: 1955 SCA 1140: AIR 1955 SC 661 (678) (Pt J) (Pr 27).

●——Art. 286 (2) — Bihar Sales Tax Act (XIX of 1947) — Validity.

Article 286 (2) puts an absolute restriction on the taxing power of the States where transactions of sale or purchase take place in the course of inter-State trade or commerce unless and until the ban is lifted by Parliament within the terms thereof. The charging section of the Bihar Act read with the relevant definitions cannot operate to tax inter-State sales or purchases and it must be held that as Parliament has not otherwise provided, the Act, in so far as it purports to tax sales or purchases that take place in the course of inter-State trade or commerce is unconstitutional, illegal and void. The Act imposes tax on subjects divisible in their nature but does not exclude in express terms subjects exempted by the Constitution. In such a situation the Act need not be declared wholly ultra vires and void, for it is feasible to separate taxes levied on authorised subjects from those levied on exempted subjects and to exclude the latter in the assessment of the tax. Order was issued directing that, until Parliament by law provided otherwise, the State of Bihar do forbear and abstain from imposing Sales-tax on out-of-State dealers in respect of sales or purchases that had taken place in the course of inter-State trade or commerce even though the goods had been delivered as a direct result of such sales or purchases for consumption in Bihar.

All the provisions contained in Bihar Sales Tax Act with regard to the registration of the outside dealer, the maintenance of the books of account, submission of returns by him to the sales-tax authorities of the State of Bihar, the production and inspection of books of account before the sales-tax authorities, the search of the premises of the outside dealer by them and the imposition of penalties on him by reason of his non-compliance with the various provisions contained in the Act amongst others are unwarranted and the illegitimate exercise of the powers incidental to the power of taxing sales or purchases conferred upon the State of Bihar by Art. 246 (3) and the Entry 54 in List II of the Seventh Schedule to the Constitution and do not affect non-resident businessmen who are outside the territories of the State of Bihar. AIR 1953 SC 252, Overruled. Bengal Immunity Co., Ltd. v. State of Bihar, ILR 34 Pat 905: (1955) 6 STC 446: (1955) 2 SCR 603: (1955) SCJ 672: 1955 SCA 1140: (1955) 2 MLJ (SC) 168: 1955 An WR (SC) 422: AIR 1955 SC 661 (687, 688, 710, 711, 722, 742) (Pt T) (Prs 48, 51, 52, 110, 113, 137, 184).

●——Art. 286 (1) (a) and Explanation and (2) — Scope.

It cannot be held that if Article 286 (2) applies to the class of sales covered by Article 286 (1) (a) and the Explanation thereto it would result in discrimination against local trade in favour of inter-State trade and it will be inconsistent with the provisions of Part XIII of the Constitution. The consumers within a State who would resort to transactions of purchase across the border with a view to avoid the payment of the intra-State sales-tax would be comparatively few and could in conceivable cases be caught within the net by imposing a tax on goods of a non-discriminatory nature within the meaning of Art. 304 (a). This reason is therefore, no deterrent to holding that the ban under Art. 286 (2) is absolute and unaffected by Art. 286 (1) (a) and the Explanation thereto. Bengal Immunity Co., Ltd. v. State of Bihar, ILR 34 Pat 905: (1955) 6 STC 446: (1955) 2 SCR 603: (1955) SCJ 672: 1955 SCA 1140: (1955) 2 MLJ (SC) 168: 1955 Andhra WR (SC) 422: AIR 1955 SC 661 (708) (Pt V) (Pr 104).

●——Art. 286 (1), Explanation and (2) —Scope.

It cannot be said that the Constitution itself has divided transactions of sale or purchase in the course of inter-State trade and commerce into two distinct categories, one falling within Art. 286 (1) (a) and the Explanation thereto and the other falling within Art. 286 (2). The transaction of sale or purchase would be one but it is subject to the imposition of distinct bans having regard to the view-point from which it is being looked at. If it is looked at from the view point of its being an outside or an inside sale it may be caught within the ban of Art. 286 (1) (a). If it is looked at from the view-point of its being a transaction in the course of inter-State trade or commerce it may be caught within the ban imposed by Art. 286 (2). These bans are mutually exclusive and may have to be applied to the same transaction of sale or purchase, one ban not necessarily excluding the other. Bengal Immunity Co., Ltd. v. State of Bihar, ILR 34 Pat 905: (1955) 6 STC 446: (1955) 2 SCR 603: 1955 SCJ 672: 1955 SCA 1140: (1955) 2 MLJ (SC) 168: 1955 An WR (SC) 422: AIR 1955 SC 661 (708, 709) (Pt W) (Pr 106).

●——Art. 286, Cl. (1) (a), Explanation and Cl. (2) — Art. 286 (2) applies only to cases not covered by Explanation to Art. 286 (1) (a).

Clause (1) (a) of Art. 286 read with the Explanation enacts a prohibition of taxation of sales or purchases involving inter-State elements by all States except the State in which the goods are actually delivered as a direct result of such sales or purchases, for consumption in that State. Art. 286 (2) banning the imposition of tax by a State on sales or purchases taking place in the course of the inter-State trade or commerce applies only to cases not covered by the Explanation, such as inter-State sales or purchases where goods are imported into the State, not for consumption therein, but for re-export to other States. Art. 286 (2) does not affect the power of a State where goods are actually delivered as a direct result of sales or purchases, for consumption in that State to tax inter-State sales or purchases. AIR 1953 SC 252, Foll. Satyanarayana Murthy Brothers v. The State of Madras, (1955) 6 STC 405: 1955 Andhra WR 578: AIR 1955 Andhra 248 (FB). (See however the decision of the Supreme Court in The Bengal Immunity Co., Case, (1955) SCJ 672: (1955) 2 MLJ 168 (SC): AIR 1955 SC 661).

● ——Art. 286 (2) — "In the course of inter-State Trade".

The sale by a trader in one State to a user in another would be a sale "in the course of inter-State trade" according to the natural meaning of those words, and there is no reason for imposing the restriction that the transaction should be one between two traders only. State of Bombay v. United Motors (India), Ltd. (1953) SCJ 373: (1953) 1 MLJ 743: 55 Bom LR 536: 66 Mad LW 577: 1953 SCR 1069: 1953 SCA 408: AIR 1953 SC 252 (258) (Pt D) (Pr 17).

[Overruled on another point in AIR 1955 SC 661.]

——Art. 286 (2) and (1) (b) — "In the course of inter-State trade or commerce" — Meaning of.

The expression 'in the course of' must be given the same meaning in Cl. (2) of Art. 286 as it has in sub-Cl. (b) of Cl. (1). Consequently, the first sale by a whole-sale dealer of goods brought by him into this State from another State is not a transaction in the course of inter-State trade or commerce, and is accordingly not exempt from liability to sales-tax. AIR 1953 SC 333, Rel. on. ILR (1956) 1 All 703: 1956 All LJ 537: (1956) 7 STC 813: AIR 1956 All 445 (446, 447) (Pt A) (Prs 6, 10) (DB).

——Art. 286 (2) — Applicability — Export of goods not necessarily arising out of sale nor forming part and parcel of sale — (Sales Tax — Hyderabad General Sales Tax Act (XIV of 1950), S. 2 (k).

It is clear from the language of Art. 286 that only such sales as take place in the course of inter-State trade or commerce fall within the ban of Art. 286 (2). Where there is no relationship between the transaction of sale and movement of goods and where the export of goods does not necessarily arise out of sale nor is it part and parcel of the sale, it admits of no doubt that it is not a sale in the course of inter-State trade. When the delivery of goods is contemplated to be effected in the State itself and the movement of the goods thereafter largely depends upon certain circumstances and conditions which in no way form part of the sale transaction and with which the seller is in no way connected, such a sale does not take place in the course of inter-State trade or commerce: AIR 1956 SC 158, AIR 1955 SC 661, AIR 1966 Mad 449, Rel. on. (1960) 11 STC 705: AIR 1960 Andh Pra 502 (506, 507) (Pt C) (Pr 6).

——Art. 286 (2) — Levy of tax on inter-State sales — Validity — Effect of Sales Tax Laws Validation Act. See Sales Tax — Hyderabad General Sales Tax Act (XIV of 1950), S. 3. (1960) 1 Andh WR 145.

——Art. 286 (2) — Inter-State sale — All essentials of sale completed in State to agent of non-resident principal — Export of goods by agent to principal — Sale is not inter-State sale.

Whether a sale has inter-State elements or not and whether it was made in the course of inter-State trade is a matter to be determined on the particular circumstances of each case.

Where the sale or purchase was completed as soon as it was delivered in the State itself to the agent on behalf of the non-resident principal, inasmuch as the several ingredients of sale such as agreement to sell, transfer of ownership, payment of price and delivery of goods had all been completed within the State itself, and nothing further was to be done in the matter so far as the seller was concerned, the sale is not an inter-State sale, though it might be that the agent to whom the goods were delivered by virtue of sale transaction, according to convenience, might have to export the same subject to the terms and conditions as settled between him and the principal. The case, however, would be different if some of the ingredients of transaction were completed outside the State or though all the essential ingredients took place within the State, transport of the goods took place across the borders of the State as part and parcel of the transaction of sale itself. (1960) 11 STC 646 (Andh Pra).

——Art. 286 (2) — 'In the course of inter-State trade or commerce' — Interpretation — Movement of goods contemplated. (1959) 10 STC 327: AIR 1958 Assam 119 (127) (Pt H) (Pr 37) (DB).

——Art. 286 (2) —Scope — S. 15 (1) (b), Assam Sales Tax Act, as amended and R. 80 are ultra vires. See Sales Tax — Assam Sales Tax Act (XVII of 1947), S. 3 (as amended by Assam Act (IV of 1951). AIR 1956 Assam 177 (DB).

[Reversed in AIR 1962 SC 107.]

——Art. 286 (2) — Taxation powers of State and fundamental rights. See Ibid, Art. 19 (1) (g) AIR 1956 Assam 177 (DB).

[Reversed on another point in AIR 1962 SC 107.]

——Art. 286 (2) — 'In the course of Inter-State trade or commerce' — Meaning of — Purchase of tea in State for re-sale outside State.

Per Ram Labhaya, J.:—The mere fact that a dealer purchases tea in the State for re-sale outside does not bring the purchaser within the exemption provided by Art. 286 (2) if the two transactions (purchase and re-sale) have absolutely no connection, as where the procedure normally adopted by the dealer in making sales of tea outside the State is that the tea meant for re-sale is booked in the name of the dealer, of which he is both the consignor and the consignee. When the tea arrives in Calcutta, the sample of tea is examined by the prospective purchaser, and if he approves, the bill of lading or the consignment note is endorsed in his favour on receipt of the price, and the purchaser then obtains delivery of the tea consigned: AIR 1952 SC 366, AIR 1953 SC 333, AIR 1956 SC 158, Foll. ILR (1956) 8 Assam 384: AIR 1956 Assam 177 (183, 184) (Pt D) (Pr 28) (DB).

[Reversed in AIR 1962 SC 107.]

——Art. 286 (1) (b) and (2) — Applicability — Inter-State sale — Requirements of — Goods sold for export out of India — Exemption — Right to.

A person claiming protection under Art. 286 (2) of the Constitution of India, that is, on the ground that the sale has taken place in the course of inter-State trade must necessarily plead and prove that the sale has occasioned movement of goods from one State to another for purposes of consumption in another State. Merely alleging and proving that goods sold have moved from one State to another would not render the sale an inter-State sale. If the object and purpose of the sale is to export goods out of India, it does not fall under Cl. (2) of Art. 286. Such a sale, to an exporter for exportation of goods out of India, is not also exempt from sales-tax, under Art. 286 (1) (b). 1961 Nag LJ (Notes) 69.

——Art. 286, Sch. VII, List 1, Entry 42, List 2, Entry 54 — Sales-tax — Sales-tax Laws Validation Act (VII of 1956) — Validity — Legislative competence.

The Sales Tax Laws Validation Act (1956), is valid. The legislative function that Parliament was performing in passing this Act was not imposing any tax on sales or purchases, nor trespassing upon the State field put acting under Art. 286 (2) and providing by legislation that the restriction upon the competence of the State Legislature shall be removed & that the legislative competence, as it were, restored without this particular restriction. If Parliament could remove the restriction antecedent to the State legislation, equally so it could remove the ban retrospectively and validate a law which was only invalid because the ban had not been lifted and the restriction had not been removed.

It will be difficult to hold that by reason of the absence of Parliamentary legislation under Art. 286 (2) the State legislation was dead for all purposes. It did not operate to the extent that it imposed a tax not justified by the Constitution and when the ban was lifted that irregularity was set right and the law could operate to tax the sales with regard to which Parliament had passed the necessary legislation. (1956) 7 STC 675 : 58 Bom LR 955 : ILR (1957) Bom 63 : AIR 1957 Bom 71 (73 to 75) (Pt A) (Prs 5 to 7, 9 to 11) (DB).

[Overruled on another point in AIR 1958 SC 468.]

——Art. 286 (2) (Before Sixth Amendment) — Inter-State and intra-State sales — Tests — "Free delivery at Calcutta for outward despatch to consignee" outside the State — Sale does not become inter-State sale. See Sales Tax — Bengal Finance Sales Tax Act (VI of 1941), S. 5 (2) (a). 69 Cal WN 260 : (1965) 16 STC 478.

——Art. 286 (2) — Scope — Sales Tax Laws Validation Act, S. 33 — Validity. See Sales Tax — Sales Tax Laws Validation Act (1956), S. 2. AIR 1960 Cal 513.

——Art. 286 (2) — Inter-State sales — Test — Transport of goods from one State to another must be integral part of contract of sales —No such express term in contracts — Term cannot be treated as implied from mere practice followed by assessee — Sales held not in course of inter-State trade — Even if they were inter-State sales ban under Art. 286 (2) was lifted during relevant period by Sales Tax Laws Validation Act (1956).

A sale cannot be said to be an inter-State sale unless there is movement of goods from one State to another under the contract of sale. It must be an integral part of the contract of sale that the goods shall cross the border from one State into another. It is not enough that the buyer takes delivery of the goods from the seller for the purpose of despatching them to another State nor is it enough that the seller pursuant to the instructions of the buyer despatches the goods across the border to another State. If the contract of sale provides for movement of the goods from one State to another as a necessary incident of its performance, the sale would be a sale in the course of inter-State trade or commerce. In such a case it would not be relevant to inquire where the property passes. The property may pass within the State which seeks to tax the sale, but the sale would nevertheless be an inter-State sale and, therefore, beyond the taxing power of the State. AIR 1955 SC 661 and AIR 1961 SC 1344 and AIR 1962 SC 107, Relied on

Held, on facts (i) that though the goods in the instant case moved from the State of Bombay to another State, such movement of the goods was not under the contracts of sale entered into by the buyers with the assessee. It was not an essential term of the contract of sale that the goods shall necessarily cross the border of the State of Bombay and go into another State. There was admittedly no such express term and in the absence of any custom of trade, from a mere practice followed by the assessee alone, no such term could be regarded to have been implied in the contracts of sale entered into by him with different buyers.

Even if a term were to be implied on the contracts of sale, that would not help the assessee, because under the contracts of sale the goods were not necessarily to go out of the State of Bombay into another State. The buyers had an option under the contracts of sale either to take actual delivery of the goods at their godowns within the State of Bombay or to direct the assessee to despatch the goods by rail to destinations outside the State of Bombay according as they required in each case. It is, therefore, impossible to hold on the facts and circumstances of the instant case that it was an integral part of the contracts of sale that the goods shall necessarily be transported from the State of Bombay to another State or that the movement of the goods from the State of Bombay to another State was a necessary incident of performance of the contracts of sale. The sales were, therefore, not sales in the course of inter-State trade or commerce.

(ii) (Obiter) That even if the sales effected by the assessee were inter-State sales that would not help the assessee because inter-State sales were exempt from tax under Art. 286 (2) but by the very terms of that Article, such exemption was given except in so far as Parliament might by law otherwise provide. By the Sales Tax Laws Validation Act, 1956, the Parliament otherwise provided by lifting the ban imposed by Art. 286 (2) retrospectively for the period 1st April, 1951 to 6th September, 1955. The result was that so far as inter-State sales effected during this period were concerned, there was no ban of Art. 286 (2) which operated to prevent the law of any State from imposing or authorizing the imposition of tax on such inter-State sales. AIR 1958 SC 468, Relied on. (1964) 15 STC 885 : (1964) 5 Guj LR 961 : AIR 1964 Guj 219 (222, 223) (Prs 3 to 5) (DB).

——Art. 286 (2) (before its amendment by Constitution (Sixth Amendment) Act (1956) — Scope — Clauses (1) (a) and (2) are independent — Explanation to Cl. (1) (a) is of no help in interpreting Cl. (2).

The ban imposed by Cl. (2) of Art. 286 of the Constitution, as it stood before its amendment in 1956 is an altogether independent ban which is in no way whittled down, qualified or excepted by the Explanation to Art. 286 (1) (a). Clauses (1) (a) and (2) of Art. 286 deal with two different topics without the one in any manner affecting or encroaching on the other. The explanation to Cl. (1) (a) of Art. 286 cannot, therefore, be projected into the interpretation or affect the scope and effect of Cl. (2) of that Article. Until the ban imposed by Art. 286 (2) is lifted, no State can impose a tax on inter-State sales or purchases. AIR 1953 SC 252, Held overruled by AIR 1955 SC 661, which is followed. 1962 Kash LJ 83: AIR 1962 J and K 89 (92) (Pt A) (Pr 5) (DB).

[Partly Reversed on another point in AIR 1966 SC 1350.]

——Art. 286(1) (a), Explu. and (2) (before its amendment in 1956) — Sale — Part of ingredients of sale taking place in State — Its effect on inter-State sale — Transport of petrol from one State to another — Held, sale took place in course of inter-State trade. 1962 Kash LJ 83: AIR 1962 J & K 89 (93) (Pt C) (Prs 7, 8) (DB).

——Art. 286 (2) (before its amendment in 1956) — Transaction of sale — Different activities forming one integrated sale taking place in different States — If still remains inter-State trade.

The entire activities beginning from the contract of sale and ending with the delivery of goods and the passing of property in them constitute an integrated whole called the transaction of sale. The property in the goods may pass in the State across whose borders the goods are transported to another State or it may pass in the delivery State; but whichever be the State in which property passes in a transaction of this kind the nature of the sale as one in the course of inter-State trade will remain unaffected. It is, therefore, not necessary that in order to constitute a sale in the course of inter-State trade the movement of goods must take place after the completion of sale by passing of property in the State from which the goods are moved to another State. 1962 Kash LJ 83: AIR 1962 J & K 89 (98) (Pt D) (Pr 10) (DB).

[Partly reversed on another point in AIR 1966 SC 1350.]

——Art. 286 (2) (before its amendment in 1956) — Ban placed by — Lifting of ban by Sales Tax Validation Act (1956) — Such lifting of ban does not enable State to impose tax on sales in course of inter-State trade unless taxing statute of State expressly provides for it — Jammu and Kashmir Motor Spirit (Taxation of Sales) Act (V of 2005), S. 3 — This State Act does not contemplate imposition of tax on inter-State Sales. 1962 Kash LJ 83: AIR 1962 J & K 89 (93 to 95) (Pt E) (Prs 13, 14, 16) (DB).

[Partly reversed in AIR 1966 SC 1350.]

——Art. 286 (2) (before 1956 amendment) — Petrol supplied from Pathankot Depot in Punjab to consumer in Jammu and Kashmir — Sale held to be in course of inter-State trade and commerce and immune from taxation. See Sales Tax — J. and K. Motor Spirit (Taxation of Sales) Act (2005), S. 3. AIR 1962 J & K 48.

——Art. 286 (2) (as it stood before 6th Amendment of 1956) — General Sales Tax Rules (1950), R. 6 — Sale or purchase in inter-State trade — Tax on them though authorised, they are not within purview of R. 6. See Sales Tax — General Sales Tax Act (Kerala) (XI of 1125), S. 3 (2). 1965 Ker LJ 755.

——Art. 286 (2) — Sale in course of inter-State trade — Test — Sale completed in State — Movement by buyer for better enjoyment — Sale not exempted — Sales Tax — General Sales Tax Act (T. C. Act XI of 1125), Ss. 2 (j), 3.

To be a sale in course of inter-State trade exempted under Art. 286 (2) of the Constitution, the movement contemplated must be closely linked with the sale of goods and is not intended to cover later movement undertaken for the better enjoyment of goods after the title had passed. The principle, therefore, is that where the owner moves his own goods to outside State for their better enjoyment of what had been earlier acquired, the journey would not, in the commercial sense, form part of the flow or course of inter-State trade, and, therefore, the sale would not be exempted.

Thus where, under the agreement, a contractor had to supply sleepers to the Railway authorities at stations in the Kerala State, title in which passed with the delivery of sleepers at the railway stations, and the later movement was for the better enjoyment of the goods, in which title had already been acquired:

Held, that the agreement did not put the sleepers into the channel of inter-State trade, but the journey was started after the goods had been delivered and largely paid for. The sale was not therefore, exempted under Art. 286 (2). ILR (1961) 2 Ker 238: 1961 Ker LT 659: 1961 Ker LJ 586: (1961) 12 STC 722: AIR 1962 Ker 69 (71, 72) (Prs 3, 4) (DB).

——Art. 286 (2) (before the sixth amendment) — 'In the course of inter-State trade or commerce'.

The petitioner-firm were commission agents with authority to purchase on behalf of their non-resident constituents. The price was fixed and the purchase was made by the petitioners on behalf of the non-resident constituents. After the purchase, the petitioners took signed memos from the constituents confirming the purchase. Subsequently the goods were despatched to the purchasers by the petitioners. Transportation across the State frontier was not a term of the contract of sale.

Held, that in the absence of such a term the purchases could not be considered as purchases which took place 'in the course of inter-State trade or commerce'. View of Venkatarama Ayyar, J., in AIR 1955 SC 661, Foll. 1957 Ker LJ 783: 1957 Ker LT 906: ILR (1957) Ker 877: (1957) 8 STC 817: AIR 1958 Ker 280 (281) (Pr 6) (DB).

——Art. 286 (2) — Inter-State Sales — Power to tax — Sales Tax — M. B. Sales Tax Act (XXX of 1950) (as amended in 1955), S. 23-A — Validity — Sales Tax Laws Validation Act (VII of 1956), S. 2 — Effect of.

Where the sale of goods takes place out of the State of Madhya Bharat but the goods are delivered in the State for the purpose of consumption as a direct result of the contract of sale, the sale has taken place in the course of inter-State trade or commerce. AIR 1955 SC 661, Foll. Assuming that S. 23-A, M. B. Sales Tax Act, applies to such transactions, it cannot be deemed to be invalid after the passing of the Sales Tax Laws Validation Act of 1956, where the impugned tax relates to the period specified in the Validation Act. (1956) 7 STC 675, Rel. on. MBLR (1956) Civ 839: 1957 Jab LJ (MB) 57: AIR 1957 Madh B 139 (149) (Pt B) (Prs 95, 103) (DB).

——Art. 286 (2) — Sales-tax in contravention of Cl. (2) — Validation of — Sales Tax — Sales Tax Continuance Order (1950).

By virtue of the Sales Tax Continuance Order, 1950, any tax on the sale or purchase of goods which was being lawfully levied by the Government of any State immediately before the commencement of the Constitution of India was to continue to be levied, notwithstanding that the imposition of such tax was contrary to the provision contained in Clause (2) of Art. 286 of the Constitution. (1959) 10 STC 322 (Mad).

——Art. 286 (2) — Effect of law being or being declared unconstitutional — Sales Tax Laws Validation Act (1956), S. 2 — Effect on Madras General Sales Tax Act (IX of 1939). See Ibid, Art. 13. (1957) 2 Mad LJ 167: AIR 1957 Mad 368 (DB).

——Art. 286 (2) — Sales Tax Laws Validation Act — Parliament held did not transgress its powers under Art. 286 (2). See Sales Tax — Sales Tax Laws Validation Act (1956), S. 2. (1957) 2 Mad LJ 167: AIR 1957 Mad 368 (DB).

——Arts. 286 (2), 245 and 246 and Sch. VII, List I, Item 41, List II, Item 54 — "Except in so far as Parliament may by law otherwise provide"— Interpretation of — Sale in course of inter-State trade — Power of Parliament to directly enact legislation — (Sales Tax Laws Validation Act (1956), S. 2).

It is not correct to draw any distinction between the normal power of legislation by Parliament with respect to matters in the Union list and the power conferred by the opening words of Art. 286 (2). Both of them are legislative powers. Therefore, the argument that though under Art. 286 (2) Parliament might by law make a provision permitting a State to impose a tax on the sale of goods, where such sales took place in the course of inter-State trade, the power of Parliament is restricted to lifting the ban and did not extend to directly enacting legislation (such as Sales Tax Laws Validation Act) which had the immediate effect of imposing such taxes is not acceptable. 70 Mad LW 186: (1957) 8 STC 177: (1957) 2 Mad LJ 167: AIR 1957 Mad 368 (371) (Pt A) (Prs 7, 8) (DB).

——Art. 286 (2) — Madras General Sales Tax Act (IX of 1939), Ss. 3 and 2 (h) — Sale transaction — Transport of goods out of Madras State — Inter-State sale — Liability to sales-tax.

Where the sale transaction involves inter-State elements, i.e., where the transport from the Madras State across its border is an integral part of the sale, the sale would have been liable to tax prior to the Constitution by reason of the extended definition of "sale" introduced by the Madras Amending Act of 1947, which now figures as Explanation (2) to S. 2 (h) of the Madras General Sales Tax Act. Tax on such sales could have been lawfully levied even after the Constitution came into force by virtue of the President's Order. When the President's Order expired on 1st April, 1951, the levy of the tax became subject to the ban imposed by Art. 286 (2). This position continued, however, only until S. 22 was introduced into the Madras Sales Tax Act.

This provision, which incorporated the Constitutional ban had the effect of negativing the tax liability. This state of things, however, was to last only till Parliament by law otherwise provides. And in this respect the Sales Tax Laws Validation Ordinance (No. 3 of 1956), is not a law made by Parliament "providing otherwise". (1956-57) 7 STC 691: 70 Mad LW 142: (1957) 1 MLJ 356: AIR 1957 Mad 362 (367, 368) (Pt D) (Prs 20, 21) (DB).

——Art. 286 (2) — Scope — Sale to dealer within State — Delivery to dealer's agent — Transport of goods outside State for delivery to dealer — Transaction if within Article.

Held, that the sales fell outside the purview of the ban imposed by Art. 286 (2). AIR 1956 Mad 449, Foll. Observations of Bose, J. in AIR 1953 SC 252, Distinguished. 1957 Mad WN 50: 70 Mad LW 166: (1957) 8 STC 210: AIR 1957 Mad 263 (268) (Pt D) (Pr 23) (DB).

——Art. 286 (2) — Scope — Goods consigned to dealers outside State.

Where goods consigned to the dealers are delivered to them outside the State and the consignments are effected by rail or steamer, the delivery arranged by the assessee is an integral part of the transaction of sale itself and the sale falls within the scope of inter-State trade or commerce for which Art. 286 (2), provides. 1957 Mad WN 50: 70 Mad LW 166: (1957) 8 STC 210: AIR 1957 Mad 263 (265) (Pt C) (Pr 10) (DB).

——Art. 286 (2) — Validity of S. 11-A, Madras Commercial Crops Markets Act (XX of 1933). See Madras Commercial Crops Markets Act (XX of 1933), S. 11-A. (1954) 1 MLJ 117: AIR 1954 Mad 621 (DB).

——Art. 286 (2) — Levy under S. 11, Madras Commercial Crops Markets Act (XX of 1933). See Madras Commercial Crops Markets Act (XX of 1933), S. 11 (1). (1954) 1 MLJ 117: AIR 1954 Mad 621 (DB).

——Art. 286 — (Prior to its amendment by sixth amendment of 1956), Art. 286 (1) (a) and (2) — Applicability of — Burden is on the assessee to show that transaction comes within Art. 286 (1) — Sale for purpose of inter-State trade and sale in the course of inter-State trade — Distinction — Sale and subsequent transportation being two transactions — Art. 286 (2) not applicable. See Sales Tax — Orissa Sales Tax Act (XIV of 1947), S. 2 (g). ILR (1961) Cut 622.

——Art. 286 (2) — Applicability — Sale by dealer to buyer within State — Buyer selling to outside millers. See Sales Tax — Orissa Sales Tax Act (XIV of 1947), S. 4. AIR 1958 Orissa 87 (DB).

——Art. 286 (2) — Applicability — Conditions.

In order that the transactions may be brought within Cl. (2) of Art. 286 they must be in the course of inter-State trade or commerce. ILR 1956 Cut 478: (1956) 7 STC 645: 22 Cut LT 208: AIR 1956 Orissa 145 (147) (Pt B) (Pr 8) (DB).

——Art. 286 (2) — Inter-State sales — Tax on — Territorial nexus — Place of passing title and delivery of goods — Effect of — Bihar Sales Tax Act (XIX of 1947), Ss. 4 and 2 (g).

Where the goods sold by the assessee were manufactured by him in the factory at Monghyr, and the title to the property also passed from the manufacturing company to the purchaser company at Monghyr as soon as the goods were delivered to the carrier and also the orders for the supply of goods were received at Monghyr and the sale price of these goods was credited to the account of the purchasing Company at Monghyr, there was sufficient territorial nexus for the State of Bihar to give legislative jurisdiction to tax the sales. Authority of AIR 1953 SC 252, as regards the doctrine of nexus held not affected by AIR 1955 SC 661 and AIR 1953 SC 274, Applied. 1957 BLJR 631:

(1956) 7 STC 745 : AIR 1957 Pat 288 (291) (Pt B) (Pr 4) (DB).

——Art. 286 — Inter-State trade — Liability to pay sales-tax — Assessee doing business of supply of coal — Monopoly given to another company owning collieries — Coal supplied by collieries to State power houses at controlled rate — Volition held was lacking — Transactions held not sale — Even if sale it was in course of inter-State trade — Imposition of tax not validated under Sales-tax Validation Act — Assessment being composite must fail in toto. See Sales Tax — Rajasthan Sales Tax Act (29 of 1954), S. 2 (o). 1965 Raj LW 258.

——Art. 286 — Sales Tax Laws Validation Act (1956), S. 2 — Effect of assessment on imported quota and cloth held valid. See Sales Tax — Rajasthan Sales Tax Act (XXIX of 1954), S. 2 (f). ILR (1961) 11 Raj 469.

9. Clause (2), Proviso — Before Constitution (Sixth Amendment) Act, 1956.

■——Art. 286 (1) (a), Explanation, Proviso — — President's Order issued under Proviso —Order if removed ban imposed by Art. 286 (1) and Explanation — Composite assessment of tax for pre-Constitution and post-Constitution period — Post-Constitution assessment invalid — Assessment if invalid in toto — (Sales-tax — Sales-tax Continuation Order (1950)) — (Sales-tax —C. P. and Berar Sales Tax Act (XXI of 1947), S. 2 (g), Explanation II).

(Per Majority).— The terms of the proviso itself make it abundantly clear that the proviso is meant only to lift the ban under Art. 286 (2) and no other. The effect of the President's Order was to raise the ban in so far as it was imposed by the provisions of "this clause" in Art. 286 (2). The President's Order therefore, only lifted the ban in so far as the transactions took place in the course of inter-State trade or commerce and could not be projected into the sphere of any other clause of Art. 286. It had, therefore, not the effect of lifting the ban which was imposed by Art. 286 (1) (a) and the Explanation thereto, even though the transactions covered by the Explanation to Art. 286 (1) (a) by and large fell within the category of transactions which took place in the course of inter-State trade or commerce.

The appellants entered into agreements with several mills situated outside Madhya Pradesh by which they undertook to purchase kapas in the various markets in Madhya Pradesh as their agents on their accounts and on their behalf. The appellants worked as such agents for the period 1st October, 1949 to 30th September, 1950. The Assistant Commissioner of sales-tax included the kapas transactions in the appellants' turnover and ordered them to pay sales-tax on the said transactions.

Held, that so far as the post-Constitution period was concerned the assessment was invalid as the ban imposed by Art. 286 (1) (a) and the Explanation thereto could not be removed by the President's Order.

Held, further that as the assessment was one composite whole relating to the pre-Constitution and post-Constitution periods, it was invalid in toto, for when an assessment consists of a single undivided sum in respect of the totality of the property treated as assessable, the wrongful inclusion in it of certain items of property which by virtue of a provision of law were expressly exempted from taxation renders the assessment invalid in toto. 1951 AC 786, Foll.

(Per Contra).— Whether it is by Parliamentary legislation or by the Presidential action that the ban on taxing sales in the course of inter-State trade and commerce is lifted, the principle of harmonious construction of Art. 286 taken as an integral whole, requires that the lifting of the ban is to be construed as laying open for taxation the entire field covered by Art. 286 (2) and to carry with it the implication that no other overlapping ban will be operative. The result of construing the proviso and by parity of reasoning the saving clause, as merely removing the ban of a particular nature leaving another overlapping ban to operate would be to render both the saving clause in, and the proviso to, Art. 286 (2) virtually nugatory. The non obstante clause undoubtedly affirms the fact that the proviso is operative in respect of Art. 286 (2). But it does not purport to limit the effect of the proviso, which a reasonable construction thereof may justify. A non obstante clause does not normally add to or subtract from the main provision of which it is a part. It is often enough inserted by way of extra caution. But it does not have the effect of limiting the operation of the main provision. Ram Narain Sons Ltd. v. Asst. Commissioner of Sales Tax, (1955) SCJ 803 : (1955) 6 STC 627 : (1955)2 SCR 483: 1956 SCA 111: 1955-2 MLJ (SC) 302: (1955) Andhra WR (SC) 556 : AIR 1955 SC 765 (769 to 771, 774, 775) (Pt A) (Prs 10, 14 to 16, 32, 33).

■——Art. 286 (2), Proviso — Scope — Extent of power of President.

The only power, which the President has been granted under the proviso to Art. 286 (2), is to pass an order doing away with, for a temporary period ending on the 31st day of March, 1951, the ban imposed by clause (2), Art. 286 of the Constitution. No power has been granted to the President to dispense with the ban imposed by clause (1) (a) of Article 286 of the Constitution.

Held, that the order made by the President on 26th January, 1950, by which the President directed that the tax on sale or purchase of goods under the U. P. Sales Tax Act shall, notwithstanding that such imposition of tax was contrary to the provisions of Cl. (2) of Art. 286 of the Constitution, continue to be levied until the 31st day of March, 1951, could in no way authorise the Government of U. P. to impose sales-tax in contravention of the ban imposed by Art. 286 (1) (a) of the Constitution. ILR (1956) 1 All 107 : 1955 All LJ 19 : (1955) 6 STC 77 : AIR 1955 All 99 (103) (Pt C) (Pr 6).

——Art. 286 (1) and (2) — Relative scope —Sales-tax Continuance Order, 1950 — Effect — (Sales Tax Continuance Order (1950)).

The ban imposed under Art. 286 (1) (a) read with the Explanation is a ban independent of the ban imposed by Cl. (2) of Art. 286, although transactions falling within the latter clause may also fall within the category of transactions covered by the former. The President's Order could have the effect only of lifting the ban under Cl. (2) because the proviso which enabled the issue of such an order is a proviso only to that clause. 1958 Andh LT 816 : (1958) 2 Andh WR 428: (1958) 9 STC 761: AIR 1959 Andh Pra 36 (39) (Pt C) (Pr 10) (DB).

[Overruled in (1960) 2 Andh WR 244 (FB).]

■——Art. 286 — C. P. and Berar Sales Tax Act (1947), S. 2 (g), Expl. II — Goods delivered outside State — Sales before Constitution. See Sales-tax — C. P. and Berar Sales Tax Act (1947), S. 2 (g), Expl. II. AIR 1958 MP 220 (FB).

——Art. 286 — Sale taking place outside taxing State — Levy of tax on — President's Order C. O. No. 7, Sales Tax Continuance Order, 1950, dated 26-1-1950 under sub-Art. (2) of this Article does not enable the Government to continue to levy sales-tax until 31-3-1951 upon sales which had taken place outside the State notwithstanding that such levy offends sub-Art. (1) of this Article. 36 Mys LJ 606 : (1959) 10 STC 29 : ILR (1958) Mys 373 : AIR 1959 Mys 57 (61) (Pt F) (Pr 19) (DB).

——Art. 286 (2), Proviso — Scope of.

The proviso under Art. 286 (2) of the Constitution governs only Cl. (2) and not the whole of the article. 1952 NLJ 373 : ILR (1953) Nag 332: (1952) 3 STC 343 : AIR 1952 Nag 378 (387) (Pt G) (Pr 52) (DB).

——Art. 286 — Sales involving inter-State elements — Effect of President's Order — (Sales tax — Orissa Sales Tax Act (XIV of 1947), S. 4).

Where a transaction of a sale involves inter-State elements if the goods are delivered for consumption in a particular State that State alone can tax the sale by virtue of Clause (1) of that Article and by a legal fiction that sale becomes intra-State sale. Clause (2) of Art. 286 applies to those transactions of sale involving inter-State elements which do not come within the scope of Cl. (1) of that Article. Where the sales involve inter-State elements inasmuch as the buyers are outside Orissa, price is paid outside Orissa and goods are delivered for consumption outside Orissa, by virtue of Cl. (1) of Art. 286 the State of Orissa is not competent to tax such transactions of sale. Clause (2) of Art. 286 will not be of any help to the Department. The President's Order under the proviso to that clause would have only those classes of sales in the course of inter-State trade or commerce which do not come within the scope of Cl. (1) of that Article. AIR 1953 SC 252. Foll. (1956) 7 STC 221: ILR (1955) Cut 267: 21 Cut LT 339: AIR 1955 Orissa 172 (175) (Pt D) (Pr 12) (DB).

——Art. 286 — Inter-State sales — Sale in course of import — Sale for consumption in Bihar — Goods delivered in Bihar — Liability to sales-tax under Bihar Sales Tax Act 1947, during period 21-6-1950 to 30-9-1951 — Goods imported into Bihar from outside India — Sales Tax Continuance Order 1950 — Sales Tax Validation Act 1956 — Sales held were not exempt from taxation under Art. 286 (1) (a) —Matter held came within ambit of S. C. decision in (1953) 4 STC 205 : AIR 1953 SC 333. (1960) 11 STC 242 (Pat).

[Reversed in AIR 1964 SC 584.]

——Art. 286 (2) — Tax imposed for period from 26-1-1950 to 31-3-1951 — Legality — Effect of Sales-tax Continuance Order on assessment — (Sales-tax — Sales-tax Continuance Order (1950), Cl. 2).

In view of the Sales Tax Continuance Order promulgated by the President, it is clear that the tax imposed upon the assessee for the period from 26th January, 1950 to 31st March, 1951, is not liable to attack on the ground that there is a violation of the provisions of Art. 286 (2) of the Constitution. 1959 BLJR 131: (1959) 10 STC 281 : AIR 1959 Pat 503 (503, 504) (Pr 5) (DB).

——Art. 286 (2) — Ban under — Effect of President's Sales Tax Continuance Order, 1950 — (Sales Tax — Sales Tax Continuance Order, 1950) — (Sales Tax Laws Validation Act, 1956).

The ban imposed by Art. 286 (2) of the Constitution has been surmounted by the President's Sales Tax Continuance Order of 1950, which authorised the imposition of sales-tax contrary to the provisions of Art. 286 (2) of the Constitution with regard to the period from 26-1-1950 to 31-3-1951. AIR 1957 Pat 288. Foll. (1958) 9 STC 173 : AIR 1959 Pat 30 (31) (Pt B) (Pr 6) (DB).

——Art. 286 — Bans under — Scope of — Sales Tax Continuance Order, 1950 — Effect — Inter-State sales — Assessment for period from 26-1-50 to 31-3-1950 — Legality.

The bans imposed by the several clauses of Art. 286 with regard to the taxing powers of the States are independent and separate, and each one of the bans has to be overcome before the State legislature can impose a tax on the transaction of sale or purchase of goods.

It is true that the President's Continuance Order has lifted the ban so far as Art. 286 (2) is concerned. But that order cannot surmount or overcome the ban imposed by the Explanation to Art. 286 (1) (a). AIR 1955 SC 661 : 1955 SCJ 672. Foll. 1956 Pat LR 510 : 1957 BLJR 130 : (1956) 7 STC 776: ILR 35 Pat 1055: AIR 1957 Pat 112 (113) (Pt A) (Pr 4) (DB).

10. Clause (2) — Inter-state sales — After Constitution (Sixth Amendment) Act, 1956.

——Art. 286 (2) — Madras General Sales Tax Act (1939), Ss. 2 (h), Expl. 2, 3, 22 (as amended in 1957) — Assessee manufacturing motor cars at its factory in Madras State — Sale in other States through its own dealers — Cars and spare parts supplied to dealers by rail or by road — Delivery of cars and spare parts to drivers of dealers at the factory — Goods intended to be sold outside Madras State — Sales held liable to tax — Scope and effect of S. 2 of Validation Act of 1956. See Sales Tax — Madras General Sales Tax Act (9 of 1939), (as amended in 1957), S. 2 (h), Expl. 2. AIR 1961 SC 1433.

——Arts. 286, 269 and Sch. VII, List 1, Entry 92-A — Inter-State trade or commerce — Meaning — Test to determine — Power of State to tax — Central Sales Tax Act (1956), Ss. 3 and 4 — Bengal Finance (Sales Tax) Act (VI of 1941), S. 5 (2) (a) (v).

The expression "Inter-State trade or commerce" is not confined to mean trade or commerce between a seller-State and purchaser-State. It is inter-State trade where goods sold or purchased under contracts of sale move from one State to another. The constitutional doctrine of free inter-State trade and commerce must not be understood to mean that inter-State trade and commerce is a privileged activity immune from all taxation. What the Constitution prohibits is multiple taxation of inter-State sale transactions, discrimination between States in imposing tax on such transactions and discriminatory taxes on goods imported into and exported out of the State. It is possible to have sale in the course of inter-State trade or commerce even if the title passes wholly within the State so long as the sale itself has occasioned the movement of goods. So also neither the appropriation nor the delivery to the buyer within the meaning of S. 23 (2) or S. 39 (1) of the Sale of Goods Act would prevent the transaction being a sale in the course of inter-State trade. Passing of goods through check posts would also not alter the character of an inter-State sale since the check posts are mainly intended for customs and that by itself would not be a determination of what is meant by an inter-State sale.

According to S. 3 of the Central Sales Tax Act, the inter-State sales are those which occasion the movement of goods from one State to another or are affected by transfer of documents of title to the goods during their movement from one State to another. These sales are subject to taxation by the Union Government by reason of the amended Entry 92-A of List I of Seventh Schedule of the Constitution. Mere contemplation of movement at the time of sale without there being an actual movement or movements immediately after the completion of sale will not, however, make the sale an inter-State sale. Therefore, if the delivery of goods is given to the buyer and title passes to him within the State, the subsequent export out of the State by him would not render the previous sale inter-State, the movement being after the sale and the sale itself not having occasioned the movement of goods. AIR 1963 SC 980, Foll.

Held, on facts, on consideration of the terms of the contract that the origin of the contract and the placing of the purchase order with the petitioner showed that the goods were intended to be moved from Calcutta to Jamshedpur. The sale, therefore, occasioned the movement. The fact, that, the purchaser arranged for lorry in Calcutta in which the seller could load the goods or the fact that the seller was to be liable for loss or damages to the goods till delivery of the goods at the delivery point specified did not make the transaction any-the-less inter-State trade. This State Government could not tax such sale by reason of entry 92-A in List I of the Seventh Schedule of the Constitution read in the light of Art. 286 of the Constitution both before and after the amendment thereof and the sale was exempt from taxation under S. 5 (2) (a) (v) of the Bengal Finance (Sales Tax) Act, 1941. AIR 1963 Cal 442 (450, 451, 453 to 455) (Prs 30, 33, 37, 41 to 43, 45).

——Art. 286 (as amended in 1956) — Effect of amendment — Sale or purchase of goods taking place outside State cannot be taxed — Part of transaction taking place within State — J. and K. Motor Spirit (Taxation of Sales) Act not providing levy of tax on basis of theory of territorial nexus — Sale is not taxable within State.

The Constitution (Sixth Amendment) Act which amended Art. 286 came into force in the State of Jammu and Kashmir on 16th January, 1958, by the Constitution (Application to Jammu and Kashmir) Amendment Order, 1958. Under the amended Art. 286 a State is prohibited from levying a tax on the sale or purchase of goods, where such sale or purchase takes place outside the State. Where except the passing of property in the goods and the delivery of the goods, all the other necessary ingredients of sale take place outside the State, then unless the State taxing statute has proceeded to tax sales on the basis of the theory of territorial nexus, the sales are not taxable as having taken place inside the State. But there is nothing in the Jammu and Kashmir Motor Spirit (Taxation of Sales) Act, 1948 to indicate that if any of the essential ingredients of a sale is located in the State of Jammu and Kashmir, the sale should be deemed for purposes of taxation to have taken place within the State. Where, therefore, under the contract to supply the petrol it is bought at a place outside the State and transported and delivered at a place in the State during the period 16th January, 1958 to 22nd March, 1958, the sales of petrol cannot be taken to be inside sales which can legitimately be taxed under the Jammu and Kashmir Motor Spirit (Taxation of Sales) Act, 1948. 1962 Kash LJ 83 : AIR 1962 J & K 89 (95, 96) (Pt F) (Prs 19, 20, 21, 23) (DB).

[Partly reversed on another point in AIR 1966 SC 1350.]

——Art. 286 (2) — Central Sales Tax Act (1956), S. 3 — Sale or purchase in the course of inter-State trade — What is — Orders by parties from outside State — Delivery of Goods F. O. R. railway station in State — Railway receipt in name of self but endorsed to buyer — Freight paid by buyer at destination — Sale held as inter-State sale and exempted from tax.

To be regarded as within the course of export a sale or purchase must be inextricably bound up with the export. A sale or purchase unconnected with the ultimate export as an integral part thereof is not within the exemption. It may thus be taken as settled that sales or purchases for the purpose of export are not protected unless the sales or purchases themselves occasion the export and are an integral part of it. AIR 1961 SC 315, AIR 1953 SC 333, AIR 1952 SC 366, Rel. on.

Held, on facts that, the connection between the F. O. R. sales at a railway station in this State for a destination outside this State and the movement that followed the delivery to the common carrier was so intimate and real that the movement was occasioned, caused, or brought about, by the sale, and therefore, the sales should be considered as sales in the course of inter-State trade or commerce. ILR (1961) 2 Ker 404 : 1961 Ker LT 832 : 1961 Ker LJ 1281 : (1962) 13 STC 17 : AIR 1962 Ker 66 (67, 68) (Prs 7, 9, 10) (DB).

——Art. 286 (1) (a) — Scope and object — Inter-State sale and outside sale — Sales Tax Laws Validation Act (1956) has not empowered States to levy tax on outside sales — Sales Tax — Sales Tax Laws Validation Act (1956), S. 2 —Scope of.

Art. 286 of the Constitution imposes a very clear ban on the States to impose a tax on sale or purchase of goods where such sale or purchase takes place outside the State. The ban imposed on the State to tax sale or purchase taking place outside the taxing State is absolute and independent of the other bans in the said Article. Once it is held that there is a ban on the State to tax, sale or purchase outside the State, the explanation by its own force cannot render even the fictional inside sale subject to taxation. The only way to reconcile Art. 286 (1) and (2) is to hold that Parliament may lift the ban in regard to taxation of 'inside sales' or what may be called 'explanation sales'. Any other interpretation is not merely inconsistent with the clear terms of the Constitution but also repugnant to the avowed principles and objects underlying the State's power to tax goods forming the subject-matter of inter-State sale or purchase. Neither the express terms of Art. 286 nor any implication therein can sustain the view that this absolute ban can be removed by the Parliament by appropriate legislation. The object is 'to maintain freedom of inter-State trade or commerce pari passu with the State's power to tax goods imported from sister States without discriminating them from local goods, that is, goods produced or manufactured in the taxing State.

Section 2 of the Sales-tax Laws Validation Act, 1956 only liberates the State Laws from the fetters placed on them by Art. 286 (2) and to enable such laws to operate on their own terms. It only lifts the ban imposed on the States against taxing inter-State sales and it does not validate or ratify any such law. There is no decision of the Supreme Court which can be so construed as to lead to the conclusion that an inter-State sale or purchase outside the taxing State can be taxed by a State Law provided the Parliament permits it. The ban on the States' power to tax outside sales is permanent and irremovable and Art. 286 (2) has to be read as only enabling the Parliament to lift the ban on inside sale or purchase of the taxing State. AIR 1963 Mad 5, Ref. (1963) 14 STC 923: ILR (1964) 1 Mad 367: (1965) 1 Mad LJ 411.

●——Art. 286 — Sales Tax — Central Sales Tax Act (1956), S. 8 (1) Proviso (before amendment by Act 31 of 1958) — Scope — Words "Is exempt from tax generally" in the proviso — Meaning of — Exemption intended relates to sale or purchase and not to goods sold. See Sales Tax — Central Sales Tax Act (1956), S. 8 (1) Proviso (before amendment by Act 31 of 1958). (1962) 40 Mys LJ 570.

11. Clause (3) — Sale of essential commodities.

●——Art. 286 (3) — Only modifies charging section of State Act — East Punjab General Sales Tax Act (XLVI of 1948), S. 5 — Central Sales Tax Act (1956), S. 15 (a). Modi Spinning and Weaving Mills Co., Ltd. v. Commr. of S. T. Punjab. 67 Pun LR 372: 1965 Cur LJ 322: (1965) 16 STC 310: AIR 1965 SC 957 (960) (Pt B) (Pr 8).

●——Art. 286 (3) (as it was in 1950) — Sales Tax — Imposition of sales-tax under provisions of M. B. Sales Tax Act, 1950 on goods manufactured from iron and steel — Declaration that iron and steel is essential for life of community made by Parliament by enacting Essential Goods (Declaration and Regulation of Tax on Sale or Purchase) Act, 1952 — Cl. (3) of Art. 286 not retrospective— Validity of M. B. Act, 1950 cannot be challenged under Art. 286 (3).

Clause (3) of Art. 286 of the Constitution of India, as it stood in the year 1950, provided that no law made by the Legislature of a State imposing, or authorising the imposition of a tax on the sale or purchase of such goods as have been declared by Parliament by law to be essential for the life of the community, shall have effect unless it has been reserved for the consideration of the President and has received his assent.

By a notification issued under S. 5 (2) read with S. 3 of the Madhya Bharat Sales Tax Act, 1950, the State of Madhya Bharat imposed sales-tax in the territory of Madhya Bharat on the sales of goods mnaufactured from iron and steel with effect from 1-5-1950. As from 9-8-1952, S. 2 read with Schedule to the Essential Goods (Declaration and Regulation of Tax on Sale or Purchase) Act, 1952, declared iron and steel to be essential for the life of the community. The validity of the M. B. Act of 1950 cannot be challenged on the ground that it was not reserved for the consideration of the President and had not received his assent. The material words are that the sale or purchase of any such goods manufactured from iron and steel as have been declared by Parliament by law to be essential for the life of the community. Therefore, if the Parliamentary declaration follows the impugned enactment it cannot retrospectively affect the validity of the said enactment. AIR 1954 SC 311 and AIR 1958 SC 883, Rel. on. AIR 1957 Madh Bha 83, Affirmed. Indore Iron & Steel Registered Stock-holders Association (P.), Ltd. v. State of Madhya Pradesh, (1961) 12 STC 622: (1962) 2 SCR 924: (1963) 1 SCJ 383: 1961 Jab LJ 1305: AIR 1962 SC 191 (192, 194) (Prs 4, 12, 13, 14, 15).

●——Art. 286 (3) — Sales-tax — Madras General Sales-tax (Special Provisions) Act (XI of 1963), S. 2 (1) — Validity — Effect of declaration under Central Act LII of 1952 as regards hides and skins — Did not affect legislative competency of State to enact provision relating to pre-Constitution Act — Section not invalid for want of President's Assent. See Sales Tax — Madras General Sales Tax (Special Provisions) Act (XI of 1963), S. 2 (1). AIR 1964 SC 1729.

●——Art. 286 (3) — Applicability — Tax on essential commodities — Act LII of 1952. See Sales Tax — Hyderabad General Sales Tax Act (XIV of 1950 as amended by Act XXVII of 1952). AIR 1958 SC 883.

●——Art. 286 (3) — 'Law' — Essential Supplies (Temporary Powers) Act (XXIV of 1946) — (The Essential Goods (Declaration and Regulation of Tax on Sale or Purchase) Act (LII of 1952)).

Per Majority (Bose J. Contra): The law of Parliament declaring goods to be essential contemplated by cl. (3) of Art. 286 is a law making a declaration for the purposes of that clause. Any Act of Parliament declaring certain goods to be essential for its own purposes, as Act XXIV of 1946 does, is not an Act within the contemplation of Art. 286 (3). The Parliamentary Act, there contemplated has to be passed in exercise of the powers contained in it and must clearly be referable to it. Essential Goods (Declaration and Regulation of Tax on Sale or Purchase) Act LII of 1952, came into force on 9th August, 1952. It cannot therefore be contended that in view of Art. 286 (3) no tax can be levied on the sale of a commodity (i.e., Groundnut) declared essential by Act XXIV of 1946. Konduri Buchirajalingam v. State of Hyderabad, (1958) 9 STC 397: AIR 1958 SC 756 (760) (Pt D) (Pr 10).

●——Art. 286 (3) — Mad. Gen. Sales Tax Act (1939), S. 22 (as applied to Andhra) — Imposition of tax on yarn, if hit by Essential Commodities Act (1952) read with Art. 286 (3) of Constitution — See Sales Tax — Madras General Sales Tax Act (as applied to Andhra) (9 of 1939) S. 22. AIR 1958 SC 468.

[Held overruled on another point by AIR 1959 SC 648 in AIR 1961 Mys 3].

●——Art. 286 (3) — Article contemplates Post-Constitution Act — Pepsu General Sales Tax Ordinance (XXXIII of 1006) — No inconsistency between S. 3, Essential Goods (Declaration and Regulation of Tax on Sale or Purchase) Act (LII of 1952), and relevant provisious of Constitution — No question arises whether Ordinance has become void since commencement of Constitution. Soma Singh v. State of Pepsu, 1954 SCJ 393: 1954 SCA 351: 1954 SCR 955: 56 Punj LR 282: AIR 1954 SC 311 (312) (Pr 2).

●——Art. 286 (3) — U. P. Sales Tax Act (XV of 1948), S. 3-A (as amended by U. P. Act (XL of 1952) — Notification No. S. T. 117/X-923-1948 dt/-8-4-1948 — Validity — Validity of Amending Act not affected by Art. 286 (3) of the Constitution — U. P. Sales Tax (Amending) Act (XL of 1952), S. 8 — Applicability. See Sales Tax — U. P. Sales Tax Act (XV of 1948), S. 3-A (as amended by U. P. Act (XL of 1952)). AIR 1965 All 24 (FB).

——Art. 286 (3) (before its amendment in 1956) — State Act reserved for and receiving assent of President — Effect of — Date of operation of State Act — Not affected by date of assent — State Act making gur liable to sales tax from 1-4-1956 — Assent received on 9-5-56 — Taxation of turnover of gur from 1-4-1956 held legal — U. P.

Sales Tax Act (XV of 1948), S. 4 (as amended by U. P. Act XIX of 1956). (1962) 13 STC 409: AIR 1963 All 16 (16, 17) (Prs 3, 5).

——Art. 286 (3) — Sale of tobacco in the State — Power of State to levy tax on —Additional excise duty imposed under S. 7 of Act, LVIII of 1957 — Power of State not affected. See Sales Tax — Central Sales Tax Act (1956), S. 15. AIR 1965 Cal 498.

——Art. 286 (3) (as amended in 1956) Sch. 7, List 2, Entry 54 — Cen. S. T. Act (1956) (as amended by Act XXXI of 1958), S. 15 — Levy of sale-tax on declared goods — Powers of State Legislature — Effect of Art. 286 (3) and S. 15 — Scope of Ss. 15 (a) and 15 (b) of the Central Sales Tax Act.

The plain meaning of Clause (3) of Art. 286 of the Constitution as amended in 1956 was that if, after 11th September, 1956, Parliament (a) declared any goods to be of special importance to inter-State trade or commerce, and also (b) specified restrictions and conditions in regard to the imposition of sales tax on the sale or purchase of such goods, a State Legislature could, in exercise of its power to levy sales tax under Entry 54 of List II, impose sales tax on such declared goods only subject to such restrictions and conditions as Parliament may so specify.

Section 15 of the Central Sales Tax Act, 1956 as amended by Act XXXI of 1958 which came into force from 1st October, 1958 lays down three conditions subject to which sales tax may be levied by a State Legislature on the 'declared goods' namely (i) that such tax shall be levied only on the last sale or purchase inside the State; (ii) that the levy of such tax shall not exceed 2 per cent. of the sale or purchase price thereof, & (iii) that such tax shall not be levied at more than one stage. A violation of any of these three conditions would render the taxation of a declared goods ultra vires whether in fact, it is sold in the course of inter-State trade or not.

Clause (b) of S. 15 is independent of cl. (a) and imposes an additional condition. Clause (b) does not mean that the violation of any of the prohibitions which are mandatory shall not render the imposition ultra vires so as to enable an aggrieved assessee to seek relief from the Court to restrain the proceedings for any such assessment. AIR 1965 Cal 498 (503, 504) (Pt D) (Prs. 27, 36, 37, 38).

——Art. 286 (3) (as amended in 1956) — Central Sales Tax Act (1956) (as amended by Act XXXI of 1958), S. 15 — Sales Tax on declared goods — Restrictions under S. 15 — When effective — Tax levied by Bengal Act of 1941 on sale of tobacco — Validity — Tax in excess of 2 per cent levied before 28th October, 1959 not valid.

No tax could be levied on the declared goods such as tobacco under the Bengal Act of 1941 until S. 5(1) of that Act was amended with effect from 28th October, 1959, so as to incorporate the ceiling of 2 per cent, as required by S. 15 of the Central Sales Tax Act, read with Act, LVIII of 1957. The invalidity of the Bengal tax on this ground would, however, commence from 1st October, 1958, the date when S. 15 of the Central Sales Tax Act itself was given effect to. Unreported decision in C. R. 1125 of 1959 (Cal) decided in 1961, Rel. on. AIR 1965 Cal 498 (504) (Pt E) (Pr 40).

——Art. 286 (3) — Cotton fabrics declared goods of special importance — Imposition of sales-tax under S. 5 (1) of Bengal Act VIII of 1941, in excess of 2 per cent laid down in S. 15 of Central Act, was ultra vires, till the time the former section was amended to conform with latter section. See Sales Tax — Bengal Finance (Sales Tax) Act (VI of 1941), S. 5 (1) (as it stood prior to its amendment by Act XIII of 1959). AIR 1965 Cal 203.

——Art. 286 (3) — Notification imposing sales-tax on cereals — Imposition held not ultra vires. See Sales-Tax — Hyderabad General Sales Tax Act (14 of 1950), S. 4 as amended by Act 7 of 1955. (1960) 11 STC 782 (Andh Pra).

——Art. 286 (3) — Goods essential for life of community — (Essential Supplies (Temporary Powers) Act (1946), S. 2).

It cannot be said that the essential goods mentioned in the Essential Supplies (Temporary Powers) Act (1946) are the same as the essential commodities necessary for the life of the community mentioned in Art. 286 (3). The purpose of the Essential Supplies (Temporary Powers) Act is entirely different from the Act which would relate to the essential commodities for the life of the community. The Essential Supplies Temporary Powers Act is a law which relates to the regulation, control, production, supply and distribution of essential commodities, while what is contemplated under Art. 286 (3) of the Constitution of India is the prohibition against the levy of tax on goods which have been declared to be essential to the life of the community. Hence it cannot be said that inasmuch as food stuffs have been included among the essential commodities in the Essential Supplies (Temporary Powers) Act, the State legislature cannot pass any law which purports to levy tax on them which had been declared to be an essential commodity. AIR 1954 Hyd 94 (94, 95) (Pt B) (Pr 4) (DB).

——Art. 286 (3) — "Law" in Art. 286 (3) does not include previous law. See Sales Tax — Hyderabad General Sales Tax Act (XIV of 1950) (as amended in 1952), S. 1. ILR (1954) Hyd 76: AIR 1954 Hyd 50 (DB).

——Art. 286 (3) — Essential Goods (Declaration and Regulation of Tax on Sales and Purchase) Act (52 of 1952), Sch. Item 14 — Iron and Steel— Expression if includes articles made of iron and steel — Exemption of articles from taxability — Notification under M. B. Sales Tax Act, if inconsistent with Art. 286 (3) of Constitution. See Essential Goods (Declaration and Regulation of Tax on Sale and Purchase) Act (1956), Sch. Item 14. AIR 1957 MB 83.

——Art. 286 (3) — Scope and effect of.

The restrictive provisions of Art. 286 (3) hit the legislation made by the legislature of the State made subsequent to the declaration under Art. 286 (3) and the subordinate legislation made under a prior status is in no way affected. 1956 Madh BLJ 1575: AIR 1957 Madh B 83 (89) (Pt C) (Pr 54) (DB).

——Art. 286 (3) — Scope — Liability to tax under M. B. Act (XXX of 1950) if affected by Central Act (LII of 1952) — (Sales Tax — Madhya Bharat Sales Tax Act (XXX of 1950), S. 5) — (Essential Goods (Declaration and Regulation of Tax on Sale or Purchase) Act (1952), S. 3).

The words 'made after the commencement of this Act' in S. 3 of Act LII of 1952 do not go beyond the legislative power of the Parliament and run counter to the provision of the Constitution as contained in Art. 286 (3). If one has regard to the words 'law made by the Legislature of a State' and 'as have been declared by Parliament by law' in Art. 286 (3) it is clear that the State legislation contemplated is a post-constitutional legislation. The words 'as have been declared' indicate that the declaration must precede the impugned State legislation. It, therefore, follows that the said Act LII of 1952 will not affect a State legislation made prior to the coming into force of that Act. Moreover the declaration has to be made by Parliament. Declaration made of certain commodities as essential cannot be construed to be a declaration by Parliament regarding goods as being essential to the life of the community under Act LII of 1952: AIR 1954 SC 311 Foll.; AIR 1954 Hyd 50, Rel. on. The liability of a dealer to the tax under M. B. Act XXX of 1950 is not affected by the Essential Goods (Declaration and Regulation of Tax on Sale or Purchase) Act LII of 1952. 1956 Madh BLJ 667: Madh BLR 1956 Civ 204: AIR 1956 Madh B 214 (217, 218) (Pt A) (Prs 22, 23, 25, 28) (DB).

——Art. 286 — Scope — Development of Sales Tax Law in India — State of law in pre-Constitution and post-Constitution periods — C. P. and Berar Sales Tax Act (XXI of 1947), S. 2 (g), Expl. II. See Ibid, Art. 245. AIR 1962 Madh Pra 225 (DB).

——Art. 286 (3) — Madras Turnover and Assessment Rules, Rr. 15 and 16 — Act passed before Essential Goods (Declaration and Regulation of Tax on Sale or Purchase) Act — Act did not require assent of President as required by Art. 286 (3) — Rules under Act being delegated legislation also do not require assent — Rules 15 and 16 are not ultra vires because they were not reserved for President's assent. See Sales Tax— Madras General Sales Tax Act (IX of 1939), S. 5. (1960) 1 Mad LJ 240.

——Art. 286 (3) — 'Law imposing taxation' — Meaning of — Madras General Sales Tax Act, 1939 & Rules — Rules 15 and 16 — (Sales Tax —Madras General Sales Tax Act (IX of 1939), Ss. 3, 5) — (Sales Tax — Madras General Sales Tax (Turnover and Assessment) Rules (1939), Rr. 15, 16 (as amended in 1955) — (Sales Tax — Essential Goods (Declaration and Regulation of Tax on Sale or Purchase) Act (1952), S. 3).

The Madras General Sales Tax Act is a 'law imposing the tax'. Under it the person who is liable to tax is the 'dealer'. The subject-matter of the tax is a transaction of sale or purchase of any commodity and the tax is laid on the total turnover of such dealer. The rate of tax is that laid down in the levy provision, S. 3 (1) and (2). The nature of the levy whether it is at a multiple point or at a single point is determined by the operation of S. 5. The rest of the Act contains merely machinery provisions for the assessment and collection of tax. The impugned Rr. 15 and 16 of the Turnover and Assessment Rules were subordinate legislation whose subject-matter was the prescription regarding assessment and collection of taxes 'imposed' by Ss. 3 and 5 of the Sales-tax Act and though without their existence, it could not have been possible to levy or collect the tax, they are not in themselves 'laws imposing the tax' within Art. 286 (3) or S. 3 of Act LII of 1952. (1959) 10 STC 171: (1960) 1 MLJ 27: AIR 1959 Mad 317 (320 to 323) (Prs 16, 23 to 25).

——Art. 286 (3) — Sales-tax on groundnuts — Groundnuts not declared essential commodity during assessment year— Tax is not hit by Art. 286 (3) — (Sales Tax — Madras General Sales Tax (Turnover and Assessment) Rules (1939), R. 4).

Article 286 (3) would apply to any law made by a Legislature of a State subsequent to the date on which the Constitution came into force. Even apart from that, the ban of Art. 286 (3) will fall only after Parliament declares by law any goods as essential for the life of the community. Where during the assessment year there was no declaration by Parliament by law that groundnut was an essential commodity, essential for the life of the community, its taxation to sales-tax during that period is not hit by Art. 286 (3). 67 Mad LW 784: ILR (1955) Mad 821: (1954) 2 MLJ 550: 1954 Mad WN 649: AIR 1955 NUC (Mad) 675 (DB).

——Art. 286 (3) — Sales tax on groundnuts — Groundnuts not declared essential commodity during assessment year — Tax is not hit by Art. 286 (3) — (Sales Tax — Madras General Sales Tax (Turnover and Assessment) Rules (1939), R. 4). AIR 1955 NUC (Mad) 674 (DB).

——Art. 286 (3) — 'Oil seeds' includes coconut and copra — Tax on sale and purchase restricted to maximum provided in S. 15, Central Sales Tax Act — Further impost on such sales and purchases in Mysore State under S. 11, Madras Commercial Crops Markets Act is invalid. See Sales Tax — Central Sales Tax Act (1956), S. 14 (vi). AIR 1962 Mys 1 (DB).

——Art. 286 (3) —Scope — Mysore Sales Tax Act (1948) — President's assent — Necessity.

Clause (3) of Art. 286 does not affect pre-existing laws. The Mysore Sales Tax Act under which the tax is levied on hides and skins came into force in 1948 and not being a post-Constitutional law is exempted from the requirement of the President's assent for being effective. 35 Mys LJ 79: ILR (1956) Mys 266: (1957) 8 STC 205: AIR 1957 Mys 22 (23) (Pt A) (Pr 4).

——Art. 286 (3)—Dealers of ginned and unginned cotton dealing only in one commodity -- Imposition of tax exceeding two per cent and at two stages — Contravention of S. 15 of Central Act — Sections held ultra vires — Dealers in oilseeds, non-ferrous metals and iron scrap —Liable to pay tax at two stages. See Sales Tax —East Punjab General Sales Tax (Amendment) Act (VII of 1958), S. 3 (1), (9). ILR (1960) 1 Punj 852.

——Art. 286 (3) — Declared by Parliament by law to be essential for the life of the community — (Sales Tax — Travancore Cochin General Sales Tax Act (1125) — Validity) — (Essential Goods (Declaration and Regulation of Tax on Sale or Purchase) Act (1952) Ss. 2, 3) — (Essential Supplies (Temporary Powers) Act (1946), S. 2).

Even on the assumption that jaggery and gur are identical there is no declaration by Parliament by law of jaggery to be essential for the life of the community prior to the Essential Goods (Declaration and Regulation of Tax on Sale or Purchase) Act, 1952. It should be clear from S. 3 of the Act that the declaration under S. 2 will affect only enactment made after the commencement of the Act and not those made prior to it, like the Travancore-Cochin General Sales Tax Act, 1125, which was made prior to the date of its commencement, namely, 9th August, 1952. Central Act (XXIV of 1946) is not an Act passed with a view to declare, in pursuance of Cl. (3) of Art. 286 of the Constitution, any goods to be essential for the life of the community; a definition clause like S. 2 of Central Act No. XXII of 1946, is not the same thing as the declaration contemplated by Art. 286 (3) of the Constitution and cannot do duty for such a declaration.

Hence, the Travancore-Cochin General Sales Tax Act, 1125, is not 'ultra vires' of Art. 286 (3) of the Constitution on the ground that it seeks to impose a tax on the sales of jaggery, a commodity alleged to have been declared by Parliament by law to be essential for the life of the community. (1955) 6 STC 203: AIR 1955 Trav-Co 18 (18, 19) (Prs 1 to 3).

12. Validity of sales-tax laws — Illustrative cases.

●——Art. 286 and Part III — Scope —Tax laws — Principles for determining its validity — Scope of Art. 265 — Tax laws are not outside Part III of Constitution. See Ibid, Art. 265. AIR 1962 SC 1006.

●——Art. 286 — Bihar Sales Tax Act (XIX of 1947), Ss. 4 (1) and (2) (g), second proviso (as amended by Act (VI of 1949) — Validity). See Sales Tax — Bihar Sales Tax Act (XIX of 1947), S. 4 (1). (1958) SCJ 818 : AIR 1958 SC 452.

●——Arts. 286, 245 — Theory of nexus as applied to sales-tax legislation —(Sales-tax— Bihar Sales Tax Act (19 of 1947), S. 2 (g), Second Proviso — Validity — Cases provided in second proviso whether constitute sufficient nexus. See Ibid, Art. 245. AIR 1958 SC 452.

●——Art. 286 — Retrospective levy of sales-tax— If affects nature as sales-tax. See Sales Tax — Bihar Sales Tax Act (XIX of 1947), S. 4 (1). 1958 SCJ 818: AIR 1958 SC 452.

●——Art. 286 — Sales Tax legislation operating on non-resident persons — Validity considered. See Ibid, Art. 245. (1955) 2 SCR 603: AIR 1955 SC 661.

●——Art. 286— Validity of tax — Inconvenience in recovering tax.

The convenience or inconvenience of collecting a sales-tax or a purchase-tax is not a relevant consideration when one is considering the validity or otherwise of such a tax. AIR 1949 FC 18, Rel. on. Bengal Immunity Co., Ltd. v. State of Bihar. (1955) SCJ 672 : ILR 34 Pat 965 : (1955) 6 STC 446 : (1955) 2 SCR 603 : 1955 SCA 1140 : (1955) 2 MLJ (SC) 168 : 1955 Andhra WR (SC) 422 : AIR 1955 SC 661 (710) (Pt Y) (Pr 110).

●——Art. 286 — Validity of Expl. 2 to S. 2 (g) of C. P. and Berar Sales-tax Act. See Sales Tax — C. P. and Berar Sales Tax Act (II of 1947, as amended by Act XV of 1949), S. 2 (g), Explanation 2. (1954) 1 MLJ 690 : (1954) SCJ 445: 1954 SCR 1122 : 1954 SCA 654 : 67 LW 629 : AIR 1954 SC 403.

●——Art. 286 — Any law framed by a Provincial legislature relating to or based on the subjects of entry 27 or entry 29 of List II, Sch. VII, Govt. of India Act, the entry into or export from the province of any goods is prohibited or restricted, such a law will be invalid. See Government of India Act, 1935, S. 297 I (a). 1952 Cri LJ 1361: AIR 1951 SC 318.

——Art. 286 — U. P. Sales Tax Rules (1948), R. 2 (d1) — It is not ultra vires as being repugnant to Art. 286. See Sales Tax — U. P. Sales Tax Rules (1948), R. 2 (d1). AIR 1956 All 445.

——Art. 286 — Madras General Sales Tax Act (9 of 1939) — Composite assessment — Part illegal — Assessment not severable — Whole is bad. See Sales Tax — Madras General Sales Tax Act (9 of 1939). AIR 1958 AP 670.

——Art. 286 (2) — Scope— Sales tax held illegal — Economy of State — Remedy.

In cases where the provisions relating to the sales-tax having been held illegal, the economy of the State and the sources of revenue on which it depends are seriously affected, the remedy of the State lies in Art. 286 itself and the President or the Parliament may, by law, provide for relief against hardship. ILR (1956) 8 Assam 384: AIR 1956 Assam 177 (180, 181) (Pt C) (Pr 10) (DB).

[Reversed on another point in AIR 1962 SC 107.]

——Art. 286— Bihar Sales Tax Act (XIX of 1947) — Tax on inter-State sales —Validity. See Government of India Act (1935), Sch. VII, List 2, Item 48. AIR 1957 Bom 71 (DB).

——Art. 286 — Contravention of, constitutes infringement of fundamental right — Question of alternative remedy as a bar does not arise. See Ibid, Art. 226. AIR 1965 Cal 236.

——Art. 286 — Taxation Law — (Kerala) General Sales Tax Act (XI of 1125), S. 5 (vii) — Levy of sales-tax on last purchase in Kerala State—Not violative of Arts. 301 and 304 (b). See Ibid, Art. 301. AIR 1963 Ker 202.

——Art. 286, Sch. VII, List II, Entry 54 — Sales Tax — M. B. Sales Tax Act (XXX of 1950), Ss. 3 and 2 — Constitutional validity — Works contracts — Electric installation contracts — Liability to sales-tax.

The word "sale of goods" in Entry 54 of List II of Sch. VII, Constitution of India, is wide enough to include works contracts of electric installations or sanitary fittings in which the element of supply of materials for money consideration is more predominant than the labour of affixing the same. (1955) STC 93, Rel. on. AIR 1954 Mad 1130, Dissent from. Therefore, the provisions of S. 3 read with S. 2 in the M. B. Sales Tax Act (XXX of 1950), are not beyond the legislative competence of the State Legislature under Entry 54 of the State List. MBLR (1956) Civ 839 : 1957 Jab LJ (MB) 57 : AIR 1957 Madh B 139 (148, 149) (Pt A) (Prs 87, 91) (DB).

——Art. 286, Sch. VII, List II, Entry 54 — Sales-tax — M. B. Sales Tax Act (XXX of 1950), S. 24— Rules under M. B. Sales Tax Rules, R. 8 — Validity.

It is futile to say that R. 8 of the Madhya Bharat Sales Tax Rules is made without any power for the purpose under the scheme of the main Act. But the artificial test laid down in the Act to determine sale price of goods in respect of 'contracts' as defined in the Act and the R. 8 prescribing the proportion between the value of the materials and value of works and labour part must be declared as ultra vires. (1955) 6 STC 93, Rel. on. MBLR (1956) Civ 839 : 1957 Jab LJ (MB) 57 : AIR 1957 Madh B 139 (150) (Pt C) (Prs 116, 119) (DB).

——Art. 286 — Sales Tax Laws Validating Act (1956), S. 2 — Section had validated the laws of Part C State also — This is on basis that Art. 286 applies to Part C States also. See Sales Tax — Sales Tax Laws Validating Act (1956), S. 2. AIR 1965 Madh Pra 11 (DB).

——Arts. 286 and 19 (1) (f) and (g) — M. B. Sales of Motor Spirit Taxation Act (XX of 1953) — Act is not beyond the legislative competence of the State of Madhya Pradesh — Levy of tax not an infringement of fundamental rights under Art. 19.

The M. B. Sales of Motor Spirit Taxation Act (XX of 1953) being a statute which is not beyond the legislative competence of the State of Madhya Pradesh the levy of tax under that statute cannot be deemed to infringe the fundamental rights guaranteed by Art. 19 (1) (f) and (g).

Levy of a tax lawfully imposed under a statute within the competence of the legislature cannot be deemed to infringe the fundamental rights guaranteed by Art. 19 (1) (f) and (g) : AIR 1958 SC 560. Rel. on.

The State of Madhya Pradesh had power to levy tax on sale or purchase of motor spirits and such power could be exercised in respect of sales traditionally so understood.

Section 2(k) of the Act defines a 'retail sale' as meaning 'a sale of motor spirit by retail dealer for the purpose of consumption by the person by whom or on whose behalf it is or may be purchased, and the expression 'sell in retail' shall be construed accordingly'. But there is nothing in the definition of S. 2 (k) 'retail sale' nor in the charging section (S. 3) which indicates that the Legislature had enacted legislation beyond its competence. 1963 MPLJ 485 : 1963 Mah LJ 493 : 1963 Jab LJ 508 : (1963) 14 STC 410 : (1964) 1 SCR 488.

——Art. 286 (2) — Legislature and judiciary — Legislation to override effect of judicial decision — Whether bad as exercise of judicial power — Sales Tax Laws Validation Act (1956), S. 2 — Validity and effect — Injunction issued by Supreme Court, prior to passing of Act, restraining local Sales Tax Authorities from taxing transactions made in course of inter-State trade or commerce — Liability to sales-tax of such transactions after passing of Act. See Ibid, Art. 245. AIR 1962 Madh Pra 245 (DB).

——Art. 286 — Taxation — Illegal, remedies for — Suit of refund — Assessment of sales-tax on turnover of works contract made under provision of Madras Act 9 of 1939 subsequently held to be ultra vires — Suit for refund held barred by S. 18-A. 1961 Mad WN 80: (1961) 12 STC 138: (1961)1 Mad LJ 163 : AIR 1961 Mad 322 (323) (Pt B) (Pr 6) (DB).

——Art. 286— Scope — Madras General Sales-tax Act (IX of 1939) — Act is not void on ground of recognition of distinction between intra-State and inter-State sales. See Sales Tax — Madras General Sales Tax Act (IX of 1939), S. 3. (1957) 2 Mad LJ 167 : AIR 1957 Mad 368 (DB).

——Art. 286 — Petitioner assessed to tax under Madras General Sales Tax Act — Petition under Art. 226 — Maintainability. See Ibid, Art. 226. (1952) 3 STC 433 : AIR 1953 Mad 131 (DB).

——Art. 286 — Non-resident assessee — Principal place of business in Cochin State — Contract of sale executed in Madras State — Delivery of goods also made in Madras State — Assessee held was "dealer" within meaning of the Madras General Sales Tax Act and was liable to sales tax in respect of such sales. See Sales Tax — Madras General Sales Tax Act (9 of 1939), S. 2 (b). (52) 1952 Mad WN 658: AIR 1953 Mad 86 (DB).

——Art. 286— Amendment covering into tax that is not really tax — Amendment held unconstitutional. See Sales Tax — Mysore Sale Tax Act (XXV of 1957), S. 18 (3) (as amended in 1964). AIR 1965 Mys 120 (DB).

——Art. 286 — Madras Commercial Crops Markets Act (20 of 1933), Ss. 6, 6-A — Validity of the Act — Regulates buying and selling within a State — Bearing on export outside State only incidental —Does not control inter-State commerce and hence not ultra vires State Legislature. See Madras Commercial Crops Markets Act (20 of 1933), S. 6. ILR (1961) Mys 951.

——Art. 286 (1) — Refund of tax if can be ordered, since tax is illegal according to new interpretation — Assessment becoming final — Effect. See Sales Tax — Orissa Sales Tax Act (XIV of 1947), S. 14. AIR 1957 Orissa 240 (DB).

——Art. 286 (1) — Sales Tax — Orissa Sales Tax Act (14 of 1947), S. 5 (2)(a) (ii) — Condition in certificate of registration broken by registered dealer-purchaser — Proviso to S. 5 (2) (a) (ii) of Orissa Act applies — Legislative competency in enacting such a provision in Act. See Ibid, Art. 246. ILR (1956) Cut 478 : AIR 1956 Orissa 145 (DB).

——Art. 286 (1), Expl. (a) — Illegal taxation — Certiorari, if and when can issue stated. See Ibid, Art. 226. AIR 1953 Pat 78.

——Art. 286, Sch. 7, List 2, Entry 54 — Government of India Act (1935), Sch. 7, List 2, Item 48 — Sales Tax — West Bengal Sales Tax Act (as extended to Delhi State), S. 2 (g), Explanation 1 — Constitutionality — Power to tax hire-purchase agreements.

In order that a transaction be taxable under Entry 48 in List 2 of Sch. 7 of the Government of India Act of 1935 there should be a completed sale under which there is transfer of property in the goods and not when there is a mere agreement to sell. The State Legislature has not the power to enlarge the meaning of the words 'sale of goods' defined in the Sale of Goods Act. In that view, Explanation (1) to S. 2 (g) of the West Bengal Sales Tax Act (as extended to Delhi) is unconstitutional inasmuch it seeks to bring within the meaning of the word 'sale' hire-purchase agreements which are not sales within the word as used in Entry 48 of List II of the Government of India Act, 1935. (1956) 7 STC 586 : 58 Punj LR 399 : AIR 1956 Punj 177 (177, 178, 180, 181) (Pt A) (Prs 3, 19, 28, 30) (DB).

——Art. 286 — Constitutional remedies for illegal taxation indicated. See Ibid, Art. 226. AIR 1956 Punj 177 (DB).

ARTICLE 288

——Art. 288 — Northern India Canal and Drainage Act (VIII of 1873) and Pepsu Sirhind Canal and Western Jamna Canal (Enforcement and Validation) Act (IV of 1954) — Validity.

It is necessary that the legislation to fall within Art. 288 must be one which imposes, or authorises the imposition of, a tax. Charge of water-rate for the water supplied, made use of in an unauthorised manner or suffered to run to waste can, by no stretch of reasoning, be regarded as a tax. It is neither a compulsory exaction of money nor an imposition for public purpose, the two essential ingredients of a 'Tax'.

Hence, it cannot be urged that the Canal Act VIII of 1873 and also the Validation Act IV of 1954 are bad and inoperative since they were not reserved for and did not receive the assent of the President as required by Art. 288 of the Constitution. AIR 1954 SC 282, Foll. AIR 1956 Pepsu 40 (47) (Pt E) (Pr 25) (DB).

ARTICLE 289

——Art. 289 — Road Transport Corporation Act (LXIV of 1950), Ss. 28, 29, 30 and 38 — Income of Andhra Pradesh Road Transport Corporation established under the Act, is not exempt from Union taxation.

The income derived from its trading activity by the Andhra Pradesh Road Transport Corporation, which is established under the Road Transport Corporation Act, 1950, by a notification issued by the Andhra Pradesh Government, is not the income of the State of Andhra Pradesh within the meaning of Art. 289 (1) of the Constitution and hence it is not exempt from Union taxation. AIR 1963 SC 1241 and (1950) 1 KB 18, Rel. on (1939) 83 Law Ed. 927 and (1923) 68 Law Ed. 328 (331) Distinguished.

The general proposition flows from Cl. (1) of Art. 289 that ordinarily the income derived by a State both from governmental and non-Governmental or commercial activities shall be immune from income-tax levied by the Union provided the income in question can be said to be the income of the State. Clause (2) provides an exception. If clause (1) had stood by itself, it may not have been easy to include within its purview income derived by a State from commercial activities but since Cl. (2) in terms empowers the Parliament to make a law levying a tax on commercial activities carried on by or on behalf of a State, the conclusion is inescapable that these activities were deemed to have been included in Cl. (1) and that alone can be the justification for the words in which Cl. (2) has been adopted by the Constitution. Clause (3) then empowers the Parliament to declare by law that any trade or business would be taken out of the purview of Cl. (2) and restored to the area covered by Cl. (1) by declaring that the trade or business is incidental to the ordinary functions of Government. In other words Cl. (3) is an exception to the exception prescribed by Cl. (2).

From the relevant provisions of the Road Transport Corporation Act, 1950, there is no doubt that the bulk of the capital is contributed by the State Government and a small proportion by the Central Government and in that sense the majority of shares are at present owned by the State Government. There is also no doubt that the Corporation is a State controlled Corporation. But it is clear that all other citizens may be admitted to the group of shareholders and from that point of view the Act contemplates contribution of the capital for the Corporation not only by the State Government and Central Government but also citizens. Far from making any provision which would make the income of the Corporation the income of the State, all the relevant provisions emphatically bring out the separate personality of the Corporation and proceeds on the basis that the trading activity is run by the Corporation and the profit and loss that would be made as a result of the trading activity would be the profit and loss of the Corporation. The Corporation though statutory has a personality of its own and this personality is distinct from that of the State or other shareholders. Hence, prima facie the income derived by the trading Corporation cannot be claimed by the State which is one of the shareholders. Andhra Pradesh State Road Transport Corporation v. I. T. Officer, B. I. B. Ward, Hyderabad, (1964) 7 SCR 17 : (1964) 52 ITR 524 : (1964) 34 Com Cas 473 : (1964) 1 ITJ 738 : (1964) 2 MLJ (SC) 33 : (1964) 2 Andh WR (SC) 33 : (1964) SC J 167 : AIR 1964 SC 1486 (1491, 1492, 1493) (Pt A) (Prs 14 to 17, 19, 21).

■ ——Arts. 289 (1), 285 (1), 245, 366 (28) and 265, Sch. 7, List 1, Items 83, 84, 41 and 42 — Immunity of property and income of States from Union taxation — Scope and extent of — Levy of customs duties (export or import) and excise duties by Union on property of State — Levy not covered by exemption and can be validly imposed — Sea Customs Act (1878) S. 20 (2) — Central Excises and Salt Act (1944), S. 3 (1-A).

Per Sinha, C. J., Gajendragadkar, Wanchoo, Shah and Ayyangar, JJ.: (Das, Sarkar, Das Gupta and Hidayatullah, JJ., Contra) :— The immunity granted to the States in respect of Union taxation under Art. 289 (1) does not extend to duties of customs including export duties or duties of excise. The provisions of Art. 289 of the Constitution therefore, do not preclude the Union from imposing, or authorising the imposition of customs duties on the import or export of the property of a State used for purposes other than those specified in Clause (2) of that Article.

Nor do the provisions of Art. 289 of the Constitution of India preclude the Union from imposing or authorising the imposition of excise duties on the production or manufacture in India, of the property of a State used for purposes other than those specified in Clause (2) of that Article. In this view sub-section (2) of S. 20 of the Sea Customs Act, 1878, and sub-section (1-A) of S. 3 of the Central Excises and Salt Act 1944, as sought to be amended by the proposed Bill of the Sea Customs and Central Excises (Amendment) Act, will not be inconsistent with the provisions of Article 289 of the Constitution.

Per Sinha, C. J., Gajendragadkar, Wanchoo, Shah and Ayyangar, JJ. :— Whereas all taxes on income other than agricultural income are within the exclusive power of the Union, taxes on agricultural income only are reserved for the States. All customs duties, including export duties, relating as they do to transactions of import into or export out of the country are within the powers of Parliament. The States are not concerned with those. They are only concerned with taxes on the entry of goods in local areas for consumption, use or sale therein, covered by Entry 52 in the State List. Except for duties of excise on alcoholic liquors and opium and other narcotic drugs, all duties of excise are leviable by Parliament. Hence, it can be said that by and large, taxes on income, duties of customs and duties of excise are within the exclusive power of legislation by Parliament.

Reading Article 289 and its complementary Art. 285 together the intention of the Constitution-makers was that Art. 285 would exempt all property of the Union from all taxes on property levied by a State or by any authority within the State, while Art. 289 contemplates that all property of States would be exempt from all taxes on property which may be leviable by the Union. Both the Articles are concerned with taxes directly either on income or on property and not with taxes which may indirectly affect income or property. The contention therefore, that these two Articles should be read in the restricted sense of exempting the property or income of a State in one case and the property of the Union in the other from taxes directly either on property or on income as the case may be, is correct.

The provisions of Art. 289 (1) being in the nature of an exception to the exclusive field of legislation reserved to Parliament, the exception has to be strictly construed and therefore, limited to taxes on property and on income of a State. In other words, the immunity granted in favour of States has to be restricted to taxes levied directly on property and income. Therefore, even though import and export duty or duties of excise have reference to goods and commodities, they are not taxes on property directly and are not within the exemption in Art. 289 (1).

That S. 20 of the Sea Customs Act was recast and amended by Act XLV of 1951 and that sub-sec. (2) thereof has borrowed most of its words from the provisions of Clause (2) of Art. 289, and therefore, Parliament itself has understood Cl. (2) of Art. 289 in the broader sense does not conclude the matter, for the Court has to construe the provisions of the Constitution in their proper setting and it is entitled to come to the conclusion that Parliament may not have been correct in so interpreting the words of Clause (2) of Art. 289.

Per Das, Sarkar and Das Gupta, JJ.: Contra.: The true scope and effect of Arts. 245, 285, 289 and 366 (28) of the Constitution is that the State property must be exempt from imposition of any tax or impost, whether general or local or special, by the Union. In the matter of the extent of the immunity therefore, the distinction drawn between a tax on property as such or in relation to property is really of no materiality as both the taxes affect property.

Sub-section (2) of S. 20 of the Sea Customs Act, 1878 and sub-S. (1-A) of S. 3 of the Central Excises and Salt Act, 1944 (Act I of 1944) as sought to be amended by the proposed Bill of the Sea Customs and Central Excises (Amendment) Act will be inconsistent with the provisions of Art. 289 of the Constitution of India. Interpreting Art. 289 (1) with the key furnished by Art. 366 (28), it would be impossible to stretch or prevent the language of the Article which in the clearest of terms says that the property and income of a State shall be exempt from any impost, whether general or local or special, by the Union. Parliament cannot legislate to take away the exemption given by Art. 289 (1) nor can a State Legislature legislate to take away the exemption given by Art. 285 (1).

Looking to the context of Art. 289, particularly Cls. (2) and (3) thereof, it becomes manifest that there is nothing in Art. 289 which restricts the comprehensive meaning to be given to the word 'taxation' in Art. 289. Similar is the position with regard to Cl. (2) of Art. 285. That again creates an exception to Cl. (1) of Art. 285 and saves any tax on any property of the Union to which such property was immediately before the commencement of the Constitution liable or treated as liable to tax, so long as that tax continues to be levied in that State.

The Union's power to legislate to regulate foreign trade contained in the legislative list is subject to the provisions of the Constitution one of which is contained in Art. 289 (1). The Union cannot in view of Art. 289 (1) impose a customs duty on things imported by the State and seek to justify it as an exercise of its power to regulate foreign trade. The power in List I to regulate foreign trade cannot be exercised by imposition of a tax. That has to be done otherwise and without the imposition of a tax.

Per Hidayatullah, J., Contra: (agreeing with Das, Sarkar and Das Gupta, JJ.):— The provisions of Art. 289 of the Constitution preclude the Union from imposing, or authorising the imposition of, customs duties on the import or export of the property of a State used for purposes other than those specified in Cl. (2) of that Article, if the imposition is to raise revenue but not to regulate external trade. Sub-section (2) of S. 20 of the Sea Customs Act, 1878, and sub-S. (1-A) of S. 3 of the Central Excises and Salt Act, I of 1944, as proposed to be amended by the Bill is inconsistent with the provisions of Art. 289 of the Constitution.

If the law were framed to regulate and even to prohibit the importation, by the State Government in common with others, of certain goods or classes of goods, such a law would not offend the exemption in Art. 289. Section 20 of the Sea Customs Act, and S. 3 of the Central Excises and Salt Act, are provisions for raising revenue in much the traditional English way. Whatever little pretence there might be is shed completely by the proposed amendment which is a "measure designed to put the States on the tax collector's List". There is no difference in this respect between excises and customs. The case of excises is similar and a fortiori, because the goods produced in the States by the States for their ordinary functions of Government and not for trade or business, are property of the States and directly within their ownership. If such property is taxed it is directly hit by Art. 289 (1). It follows, therefore, that neither customs duties nor excise duties can be levied on goods properly belonging to a State if the goods are imported or produced not for the purpose of trade or business but for purposes incidental to the ordinary functions of Government. It also follows that the sections of the two Acts as they stand to-day reflects the true position under the Constitution. If the Union Government desires to put a curb on the excessive importation of goods by the States the power to regulate external trade is available and it is unaffected by Art. 289. A measure designed to achieve regulation by a system of controls, would not be affected by the exemption contained in the Article. But a pure taxing measure which seeks to tax property used for State purpose is within the exemption. In re Sea Customs Act, (1878), S. 20 (2). (1964) 1 ITJ 671 : (1964) 3 SCR 787 : (1964) 2 SCJ 51: (1964) 2 SCA 97: AIR 1963 SC 1760 (1770 to 1777, 1780, 1781, 1787, 1791, 1803 to 1807) (Pt A) (Prs 9, 10, 13, 16, 21, 25, 26, 29, 31, 39, 40, 43, 62, 70, 71, 108, 111, 113, 115, 119, 120, 121).

●——Art. 289 — "Executive power" — Meaning of — Right of State Government to provide buses for passenger transport for hire— Nationalisation of Transport business if executive Act. See Ibid, Art. 53 (i). AIR 1951 All 257 (FB).

——Art. 289 — Andhra Pradesh Road Transport Corporation — If a State-owned Corporation is exempt from tax liability.

Unless the trade or business is incidental to the ordinary functions of Government or has been declared to be so by Parliament, the income of that trade or business will not escape tax. Corporation under a statute is a body corporate and is an independent legal entity apart from the Government. It is not necessarily owned by Government though it may contribute its capital. It can sue and be sued in its name. The mere fact that the State is given power to say what proportion should be set apart for depreciation, reserve and other funds, does not take it out of the category of assessees carrying on business, profession or vocation taxed under S. 10 of the Income-tax Act in respect of profits or gains arising out of the trade or business carried on by it. The supervision of the Government by appointing Chairman and Chief Officers or by sanctioning the budget or having the accounts audited or directing the provision for depreciation and other funds does not make it a State-owned Corporation, nor can it be said that the income belongs to the State. Therefore, the Andhra Pradesh Road Transport Corporation is not a State-owned Corporation nor a Corporation carrying on business on behalf of the Government within the scope of Art. 289 of the Constitution. (1961) 2 Andh WR 393: (1963) 47 ITR 101: AIR 1962 Andh Pra 323 (330, 331) (Pt E) (Pr 12) (DB).

——Art. 289 — Road Transport Corporations Act (1950), S. 3 — Corporation established under — Status of — Not State-owned corporation — Business not carried on on behalf of Government — Held liable to pay income-tax on its profits. See Road Transport Corporations Act (1950), S. 3. AIR 1962 Andh Pra 323.

——Art. 289 (3) — Scope of Cl. (3).

Clause (3) of Art. 289 contemplates that any trade or business may be incidental to the ordinary functions of Government. When the State engages in any such trade or business, the income or profits thereof are immune from taxation. This clause does not mean that the State cannot engage in such trade or business unless sanctioned by an Act of Parliament. All that it means is that if Parliament by law declares any such trade or business to be incidental to the ordinary functions of Government, it shall not be liable to be taxed by the Union. ILR (1955) 459: AIR 1955 Nag 177 (179) (Pt D) (Pr 9) (DB).

——Art. 289 — Functions of State — It can carry on the business of plying motor vehicles for hire on commercial basis. See Ibid, Art. 38. AIR 1956 Pepsu 3.

——Arts. 289, 39, 19 and 298 — State can do transport business on commercial basis without legislative sanction. See Ibid, Art. 38. AIR 1956 Pepsu 3.

——Art. 289 — Scope — Function of State-Motor Transport business — State, whether can carry on business or trade like other individuals —Legislative sanction if and when necessary. See Constitution of India, Art. 19. ILR (1956) Patiala 77.

——Arts. 289 (1) and 298 — Road Transport Corporation is not State Department — It is taxable as 'individual' under S. 3, I. T. Act — Corporation has not been established for any religious or charitable purpose — Writ jurisdiction cannot be invoked as regards claim in regard to remainder of net profits which have to be made over to State Government for road development — Interpretation of exemption provisions of I. T. Act. See Road Transport Act (1950), S. 3. AIR 1964 Punj 178 (DB).

ARTICLE 291.

——Arts. 291, 363 — Madhya Bharat covenant —Nature of — It is an act of State — Guarantee for payment of privy purse under Art. 11 (1) of Covenant — Obligation cannot be enforced in Municipal Courts — Its sanction is political and not legal. Nawab Usmanali Khan v. Sagar Mal, 1965 MPLJ 864: (1965) 2 SCWR 656: 1965 Jab LJ 1028: 1965 Mah LJ 776: AIR 1965 SC 1798 (1802) (Pt D) (Pr 11).

——Arts. 291 and 366 (2) — Ruler of erstwhile State of Bastar — Whether proprietor within S. 2 (m), Cl. (ii) — Ex-Ruler, meaning of — Effect of Merger Agreement — Whether made him a 'Ruler' for purposes outside the Constitution — Maufidar, meaning of. See Tenancy Laws — M. P. Abolition of Proprietary Rights (Estates, Mahals, Alienated Lands) Act (1 of 1951), S. 2 (m) (ii). (1961) 1 SCJ 639: AIR 1961 SC 775.

——Arts. 291, 362, 363 — Orissa Merged States (Laws) Act (4 of 1950) — Orissa Agricultural Income Tax Act extended to merged State — Assessment of property of Ex-ruler of merged State — Personal privileges granted by merger agreement held did not extend to personal property — Ex-ruler is a 'person' within the meaning of S. 2 (i) of the Orissa Agricultural Income Tax Act — Resistance to payment of tax, held amounted to enforcement of merger agreement, which he could not do by virtue of Art. 363 of the Constitution. See Orissa Merged States (Laws) Act (4 of 1950). AIR 1961 SC 196.

——Arts 291, 294 and 295 — Applicability of Art. 363 — Expenditure-tax on expenditure made out of amount of privy purse — Liability disputed by virtue of Arts. 291, 294 and 295 — Dispute falls under Art. 363 and is not justiciable. See Ibid, Art. 363. AIR 1963 Guj 98 (DB).

——Art. 291 — 'Taxes on Income' — Meaning of — Expenditure-tax under Expenditure-tax Act, 1957 — Not tax on income — Amount of privy purse under covenant to be free of all taxes — Explanation 'free of all taxes' — Meaning of.

Although the words 'taxes on income' in Art. 291 have to be construed in a broad sense, the expenditure-tax levied under the Expenditure-tax Act, 1957, cannot be regarded in any sense as a tax on income. A provision in a covenant that the amount of the privy purse, shall be free of all taxes does not mean that it shall be free from all taxes relating not merely to the receipt of the amount of the privy purse but from all taxes when the same is expended. The expression 'free of all taxes' is intended to mean free of all taxes which would be payable because of the receipt of the amount of the privy purse. (1962) 3 Guj LR 479: AIR 1963 Guj 98 (103, 104, 105) (Pt B) (Prs 9, 10) (DB).

——Art. 291 — Political pension — Privy purse paid to Ex-Rulers of Covenanting States not a political pension within S. 60 (1) (g). See Civil P. C. (1908), S. 60 (1) (g). AIR 1962 Madh Pra 320 (DB).

——Arts. 291, 362, 363, 19 (1) (f), Sch. 7 List I, Entry 34, List II, Entry 22 — C. P. Court of Wards Act (XXIV of 1899) (as modified by Adaptation of Laws Order, 1950), S. 41 — Validity.

In a petition under Arts. 226 and 227, proceedings commenced for assuming superintendence of the estate of the Ruler of the erstwhile princely State of Rajgarh under C. P. Court of Wards Act, XXIV of 1899, as modified by the Adaptation of Laws Order, 1950, were sought to be quashed. It was contended that any law affecting the petitioner's privy purse and enjoyment of his private property guaranteed by the Covenant of merger would offend Arts. 291, 362 and 363 of the Constitution:

Held, negativing the contention, that the Covenant guaranteed payment to the petitioner of his privy purse and afforded protection to his private property so that it could not be subsequently claimed by the State. The guarantee or assurance was not absolute and did not go beyond what is guaranteed to all the citizens under Art. 19 (1) (f) of the Constitution. AIR 1952 SC 252 and AIR 1958 SC 239, Rel. on. The position was also implicit in the power of Parliament to make laws with respect to 'Court of Wards for the estates of Rulers of Indian States' contained in Sch. VII, List I, Entry 34. ILR (1960) Madh Pra 993: 1960 Jab LJ 1197: 1961 MPC 12: 1961 MPLJ 164: AIR 1961 Madh Pra 197 (198) (Pt A) (Pr 4) (DB).

——Arts. 291, 362 and 363 — Scope — Merger agreement with Maharaja of Manipur — Manipur Constitution Act (1947), Ss. 8, 7 — Manipur Courts Acts (1947 and 1955) — C. P. Code (1908), Ss. 82 and 87-B — Civil suit upon contractual obligation against Maharaja — Maintainability.

The Merger Agreement and the Indian Constitution have taken away the prerogative rights of the Maharajah of Manipur. Whatever special rights which the Maharajah enjoys at present are the rights under the Merger Agreement which have been recognised in the Indian Constitution. Under the Merger Agreement and the Indian Constitution the Maharajah is exempt from the jurisdiction of the Civil Courts. The Manipur State Constitution Act, 1947 exempts only the jurisdiction of the State Courts. There are no longer any state Courts. The Courts existing in Manipur at present are courts under the Manipur State Courts Act, 1947, as amended in 1950 and later continued under the Manipur Courts Act, 1955 by authority of Parliament. The Maharajah cannot exercise his prerogative rights over the said Courts. Article 7 of the Merger Agreement exempts only the civil liability for acts done or omitted to be done by the Maharaja during his administration of the State as Ruler and not acts done or omitted to be done after he ceased to administer the State nor acts done or omitted to be done in his personal capacity by way of contractual obligations with citizens of the State. What has been guaranteed or assured are only such personal rights, privileges and dignities which have been given under the Merger Agreement which is referred to in Art. 291 of the Constitution, which deals with what is called the privy purse of the Maharajah. The personal rights, privileges and dignities will not include exemption from civil liability by way of proceedings in Courts. This will be again apparent from Ss. 82 to 87-B of the C. P. Code. AIR 1961 Manipur 40 (42) (Pt B) (Prs 9, 10 11).

——Arts. 291, 362 — Agreement between the ruler of a former native State and the Dominion of India transferring the administration of the State to Dominion — Special privileges granted to the ruler — His status held was that of a subject and not of a sovereign, for there cannot be two sovereigns in a State. AIR 1962 SC 1305 and 1955 SC J 523: AIR 1955 SC 504, Rel. on. 1963 BLJR 570: AIR 1963 Pat 475 (477) (Pt B) (Pr 5) (DB).

——Arts. 291, 294 (a), 362, 363 and 366 (22) — The paramountcy which the British Crown enjoyed vis-a-vis the Indian States is not now enjoyed by Central Government. AIR 1954 SC 447, Rel. on. AIR 1963 Punj 461 (467) (Pt A) (Pr 21).

——Art. 291 — Report of Indian Finances Enquiry Committee — Recommendations accepted by President and Rajpramukh — Report did not acquire force of law — Courts will take cognizance of agreement so far as it relates to matters specified in Arts. 278, 291, 295 and 306 of Constitution. See Ibid, Art. 278. AIR 1960 Raj 92 (DB).

——Arts. 291, 131 — Art. VII (3) of Covenant of State of Rajasthan and Qanoon Mal Mewar (5 of 1947), S. 107 — Validity.

When Rajasthan Administration Ordinance No. 1 of 1949 came into force, there was no S. 107 of Qanoon Mal Mewar left in which the Rajpramukh of the present State of Rajasthan could be substituted for the Ruler. Section 107 must be deemed to have been abrogated by Art. VII (3) of the Covenant of the present State of Rajasthan. There was thus no power in the Rajpramukh to pass an order recognising succession to a jagir under Qanoon Mal Mewar. The power could only arise under Art. VII (3) of the Covenant, and that came to an end on 25-1-1950. (S) AIR 1955 Raj 185 (FB), Foll. AIR 1955 Raj 203 (205) (Pt A) (Pr 6) (DB).

——Art. 291 — Covenant of State of Rajasthan, Arts. VI (2) and VII (3) — Succession to jagir.

Rights, authority and jurisdiction have to be exercised as provided by the covenant, and there is a specific provision in Art. VII (3) how the right to recognise succession would be exercised. Hence in the face of that specific provision, it is not possible to take recourse to the general provision of Art. VI (2). Besides Art. VI (2) gives a power to the United States. It does not mention the power of the Rajpramukh, which is specifically mentioned in Art. VII (3). Hence it cannot be said that the Rajpramukh had power under Art. VI (2) of the Covenant of the present State of Rajasthan to make a decision regarding succession to jagir. ILR (1955) 5 Raj 995: AIR 1955 Raj 203 (205) (Pt B) (Pr 7) (DB).

——Arts. 291 Cl. (1), 362, 72(1) — Travancore Cochin Covenant — Art. 21 — Maharaja of Cochin cannot invoke powers of suspension, remission or commutation of death — Sentences reserved to him under Art. 21, after commencement of Constitution. See Travancore-Cochin Covenant, Art. 21. ILR (1955) Trav-Co 788.

——Art. 291 — Scope — See Ibid Art. 362. ILR (1955) Trav-Co 788.

ARTICLE 294.

——Arts. 294, 278 and 295 — Scope — Agreement dated 7-4-1947 by former Ruler of Gwalior State to grant exemption from payment of tax to certain corporation — Contractual obligation devolving on Part B State of Madhya Bharat due to constitutional changes and ultimately on Government of India by virtue of Art. 295 (1) (b) — Art. 295 (1) (b) does not cast any constitutional obligation on Government of India to fulfil it and it can be effected by law validly passed by Parliament — Agreement dated 25-2-1950 between President of India and Madhya Bharat with regard to continuance of such privileges and immunities — Effect of — Income-tax Act (1922), S. 60-A — Finance Act (1950), S. 13 — Part B States (Taxation Concessions) Order (1950), Cl. 16 — Effect of, is to supersede agreement dated 7-4-1947 — Company held not entitled to claim exemption from payment of Income-tax by virtue of that agreement — AIR 1960 Madh Pra 350. Reversed. See Ibid, Art. 278. (1964) 53 ITR 466: (1964) 9 Fac LR 124: (1965) 2 SCJ 41: (1964) 7 SCR 892: AIR 1964 SC 1903.

——Art. 294 (b) — Validity of Bombay Personal Inams Abolition Act (XLII of 1953) — Argument based on immutability of sanad rejected — Act held valid. See Bombay Personal Inams Abolition Act (XLII of 1953), S. 1. (1961) 1 SCJ 614: AIR 1961 SC 291.

——Arts. 294 (b), 31-A, 245, 246 and 363 — Scope — Powers of State Legislature to legislate — Extent of, indicated — Bombay Merged Territories and Areas (Jagirs Abolition) Act (39 of 1954) was intra vires the State Legislature notwithstanding terms of guarantee contained in Cl. 5 of Letters of Guarantee accompanying merger agreement. See Ibid, Art. 31-A. (1955) SCJ 472: AIR 1955 SC 540.

——Art. 294 — Grant of right to run ferry without any interest in lands appertaining thereto by East India Company in 1781 — Valid unless destroyed by some valid law — Grant binding on Republic of India. 1957 All WR (HC) 425: 1957 All LJ 276: AIR 1957 All 455 (457) (Pt C) (Pr 7).

——Art. 294 — Criminal P. C. (1898), S. 514, Sch. V, Form 42 — Undertaking to pay penalty to 'King Emperor' —Effect of Art. 294 of Constitution is to make rights of King the rights of Government of India — Surety bond executed to the King before the Constitution — Bond can be forfeited for default after Constitution has come into force. See Criminal P. C. (1898) S. 514. AIR 1955 NUC (All) 4433.

——Art. 294 (b) — If prevents State from acquiring taluqdari property in Oudh.

Prior to the 26th January, 1950, the rights of taluqdars in land granted to them under a sanad were subject to such laws as might from time to time be passed by an Indian Legislature acting within its appropriate field. Art. 294, clause (b) does not alter position. The effect of that Article is merely to declare that the rights, liabilities and obligations of the Government of the Dominion of India and of each Governor's Province, shall devolve respectively on the present Govt. of India and the Government of each corresponding State. The effect of Art. 294, clause (b) is not to confirm for ever the rights of taluqdars in land granted to them by the British Government. Raja Surya Palsingh v. U. P. Government, ILR (1952) 2 All 46: 1951 All LJ 365: 1951 RD (HC) 122: 1951 All WR 317: AIR 1951 All 674 (692) (Pt U) (Pr 92) (FB).

——Arts. 294 (b), 295 (1) (b) and 300 — Loss of goods by Nizam State Railway — Suit for damages against then Hyderabad Government — Maintainability— Union Government —Liability of as successor Government.

Articles 294 (b) and 295 (1) (b) must be read with the provisions of Art. 300 (1). If the Dominion Government or the former Hyderabad State could not be sued at all, the Union Government cannot be proceeded against concerning matters which arose during the period of 1947 to 1950. Apart from Art. 300 (1) the Constitution has no retrospective operation, and the same result will follow if the Dominion or the Government of the former Indian States could not be sued in law Courts. For an obligation that could not be enforced against a State would be equally unenforceable against the successor.

After the lapse of paramountcy but before the inauguration of the Constitution, no suit could be filed against the then Hyderabad State without permission. When the cause of action had arisen against the railway owned by the then Hyderabad Government for the suit for damages for loss of goods by the railway, still as the permission to file a suit was not obtained, the Hyderabad Government could not be sued and the Union Government cannot also be proceeded against. ILR (1957) Andh Pra 320: AIR 1958 Andh Pra 394 (395, 396) (Prs 5, 6).

——Art. 294 — Article if primarily concerned with continuance of pre-Constitution rights and liabilities including right of priority of Crown debts.

The object of the Article appears to be to provide for an adjustment of the properties, rights and liabilities as between the Centre and the provinces and not to enact a provision for their continuation. The continuance is referred to necessarily and incidentally, but cannot be read as primarily or directly concerned with the maintenance or continuance of the pre-Constitution rights and liabilities including the right of priority in regard to Crown debts. ILR (1957) 2 Cal 897: 59 Cal WN 1119: (1955) 28 ITR 797: 96 Cal LJ 194: AIR 1956 Cal 26 (31) (Pt E) (Pr 13) (DB).

——Arts 294 (b), 300 — Agreement before partition on behalf of Governor-General in Council for purposes of project within Dominion of India — Agreement must be deemed to have been made on behalf of Dominion of India — Liabilities under it including liability to suffer arbitration became liabilities of Union of India — Liability cannot be avoided by Union of India on ground that it was not party to said agreement — (Indain Independence (Rights, Property and Liabilities) Order (1947), Art. 8 (1) (b)). AIR 1955 NUC (Cal) 2912 (DB).

——Arts. 294, 363, 291 and 295 — Applicability of Art. 363 — Expenditure-tax on expenditure made out of amount of privy purse — Liability disputed by virtue of Arts. 291, 294 and 295 — Dispute falls under Art. 363 and is not justiciable. See Ibid, Art. 363. (1962) 3 Guj LR 429: AIR 1963 Guj 98 (DB).

——Art. 294 — Liabilities of Sirmur Darbar under contract — Subsequent merger of Sirmur State in the Dominion of India — Transfer of liability to Indian Union.

The merger of the former Sirmur State in the Dominion of India was not an act of State. It was not a case of cession or annexation. It follows therefore that broadly speaking the Union of India, as the legal successor of the Sirmur State would be bound by all lawful obligations, liabilities and commitments entered into by the Darbar except in so far as the same can be avoided under any law in force. AIR 1958 Him Pra 20 (22, 23) (Pt A) (Pr 8)

——Art. 294 — Scope — Income-tax Act, S. 34 (1-A) — If ultra vires. See Income Tax Act (1922), S. 34 (1-A). AIR 1958 Mad 220 (FB).

——Art. 294 — Civil P. C. (1908) Ss. 100-101, O. 8, R. 2 — New point that suit by Union af India is not maintainable in view of S. 172 (1). Government of India Act (Art. 294 of the Constitution) involving mixed question of law and fact cannot be raised in second appeal. See Civil P. C. (1908) Ss. 100-101. AIR 1960 Patna 410.

——Arts. 294, 300 and 375 — Suit against East Indian Railway in name of Dominion of India — Appeal — Name of Union of India substituted due to constitutional changes — Special power of attorney executed in favour of B by General Manager, East Indian Railway — Authority given to B by the authorised agent should be taken as having ceased to have any legal effect after transfer of power from Dominion of India to Union of India —(Railways Act (1890), S. 145). AIR 1956 Pat 511 (517) (Pt D) (Pr 10) (DB).

——Arts. 294 and 300 — Liability of Crown for acts of its servants — Present position in India — Immunity of State for tortious acts — Exceptions to — See Torts. AIR 1954 Pat 513.

——Arts. 294 (a), 291, 362, 363 and 366 (22) — The paramountcy which the British Crown enjoyed vis-a-vis the Indian States is not now enjoyed by Central Government. See Ibid, Art 291. AIR 1963 Punj 461.

——Art. 294 — Principle of priority — After enforcement of Constitution situation has not undergone any change. AIR 1961 Punj 292.

——Art. 294 (b) — Scope of — Contract of carriage of goods by Railways — Goods passing through Pakistan for delivery in India — Liability of Union of India. See Indian Independence (Rights, Properties and Liabilities) Order (1947), Art. 8. AIR 1961 Raj 162.

——Arts. 294, 295 and 14 — Scope — Agreement between Government of former Jodhpur State and plaintiff for setting up mill by latter — State agreeing to exempt plaintiff from payment of excise duty — Validity — (Contract Act (1872), S. 56) — (Rajasthan Excise Duties Ordinance (1949), S. 30).

The Government of the former Jodhpur State entered into an agreement with the plaintiff for setting up a cloth mill by the plaintiff in the State. By Cl. 6 of the agreement it was inter alia provided that the State would exempt or remit State or Federal excise duty on goods manufactured in the mill. In August, 1946, the State acceded to the Dominion of India and became part of the United State of Rajasthan. The Central Excises and Salt Act, 1944, was extended to Rajasthan. The Union Government started recovering excise duty from the plaintiff. In a suit filed by the plaintiff against the State of Rajasthan and the Union of India, and on appeal by plaintiff. Held, (1) that the agreement, dated 17th April, 1941, was not enforceable against the respondents. (2) that the contract did not become void under Art. 14 of the Constitution. ILR (1959) 9 Raj 984 : 1960 Raj LW 44 : AIR 1960 Raj 92 (96, 97, 99, 100)(Pt A) (Prs 23 to 25, 27, 42, 44) (DB).

ARTICLE 295

● ——Arts. 295, 278 and 294 — Scope — Agreement dated 7-4-1947 by former Ruler of Gwalior State to grant exemption from payment of tax to certain corporation — Contractual obligation devolving on Part B State of Madhya Bharat due to Constitutional changes and ultimately on Government of India by virtue of Art. 295 (1) (b) — Art. 295 (1) (b) does not cast any constitutional obligation on Government of India to fulfil it and it can be effected by law validly passed by Parliament — Agreement dated 25-2-1950 between President of India and Madhya Bharat with regard to contiunance of such privileges and immunities — Effect of — Income-tax Act (1922), S. 60-A — Finance Act (1950), S. 13 —Part B States (Taxation Concessions) Order (1950), Cl. 16 — Effect of, is to supersede agreement dated 7-4-1947 — Company held not entitled to claim exemption from payment of Income-tax by virtue of that agreement — AIR 1960 Madh Pra 330 Reversed. See Ibid, Art. 278. (1964) 53 ITR 1166 : (1964) 9 Fac LR 124 : (1965) 2 SCJ 41 : (1964) 7 SCR 892 : AIR 1964 SC 1903.

● ——Art. 295 — Claim against former Indian State — Recognition of, by successor Governments may be express or implied — Proof.

Recognition of the claim made against the former Indian State by the successor State or the Union can be proved by the claimant either by express acknowledgment or recognition or may even be established on relevant facts and circumstances which may lead to the inference of such recognition. In other words, recognition of such a claim can be either express or implied and in the latter class of cases the inference as to recognition may be drawn legitimately from facts and circumstances which reasonably support such an inference. Amar Chand Butail v. Union of India. 67 Pun LR 90: 1965 Mad LJ (Cri) 107: (1965) 1 SCJ 243 : AIR 1964 SC 1658 (1662) (Pt D) (Pr 15).

● ——Arts. 295 (2), 363 (1) — Merger of several sovereign States by stages to form a new State — At each stage covenants keeping old laws in force and new State taking over assets and liabilities of component States — New State not repealing old laws by its legislation — Liabilities of component States continue to be enforceable — A subject thereof can enforce his rights by a suit against the new State —Rajasthan Adminstration Ordinance (I of 1949), S. 3(1).

Held, after reviewing the process of merger of former Rajasthan States by different stages to form into the Part B State of Rajasthan and the Covenants entered into by the States and the Union State at each time, that there was recognition of liability by the new State throughout this process and under the circumstances the suit was maintainable against the Part B State of Rajasthan in view of Art. 295 (2) of the Constitution. AIR 1958 SC 816 and AIR 1963 SC 953, Distinguished. Held further that S. 3 of the Rajasthan Administration Ordinance, 1949 also led to the same conclusion that the new State recognised the rights of the subjects of the old States flowing from the old laws and was prepared to undertake the liability that may lie on it in consequence thereof. State of Rajasthan v. Shyam Lal. (1965) 1 SCJ 458 : (1964) 7 SCR 174 : AIR 1964 SC 1495 (1499,1500, 1501) (Prs 10 to 12).

● ——Art. 295 (1) (b) — Law — Meaning of — Distinction between agreement and law — Agreement entered into on 17th April, 1941, by Ruler of Jodhpur State with a Company exempting excise duty and income-tax in respect of goods produced by the Company — Held, agreement could not be considered law within Art. 372—Agreement not affirmed by United State of Rajasthan — Company had no enforceable right against Union Government — Parliament not prohibited under Art. 295 from altering terms of contract under which liability of Government arose — Liability of Govt. of India was subject to agreement entered into by Government of the State — Such agreement entered into on 25th February, 1950 — Company could not invoke Art. 19 or Art. 31 to its aid having no enforceable rights on 26th January, 1950. See Ibid, Art. 372. AIR 1963 SC 953.

● ——Art. 295 — 'Assessment' — If includes reassessment — Effect of recommendations of Finance Inquiry Committee — Recommendations do not bring S. 13 (1) into conflict with Arts. 278 and 295 of Constitution — S. 13 (1) not void. See Finance Act (1950), S. 13 (1). 1958 SCJ 1023: AIR 1958 SC 795.

——Arts. 295 (1) (b), 300 and 294 (b) — Loss of goods by Nizam State Railway — Suit for damages against then Hyderabad Government — Maintainability of suit— Union Government — Its liability as successor Government. See Ibid, Art. 300. AIR 1958 Andhra Pra 394.

——Art. 295 — Applicability of Art. 363 — Expenditure-tax on expenditure made out of amount of privy purse — Liability disputed by virtue of Arts. 291, 294 and 295 — Dispute falls under Art. 363 and is not justiciable. See Ibid, Art. 363. AIR 1963 Guj 98 (DB).

——Arts. 295, 264, Sch. VII, List 2, Item 18 — Jagir grants — Variation by executive — Legality — Effect of Constitution on Nizam's prerogatives.

The prerogatives of H. E. H. the Nizam have been determined by the Constitution and put an end to and the State Legislature is fully competent to legislate, and the executive to grant, land revenue or compensation for jagirs under the provisions of Arts. 264, 295 and Item 18 of List II in Schedule VII of the Constitution. An order granting guzara passed by the Revenue Minister was not, therefore invalid on the ground of lack of jurisdiction. ILR (1956) Hyd 1 : AIR 1956 Hyd 164 (167) (Pt D) (Pr 11) (DB).

——Arts. 295 and 300 — Act of State — Formation of State of Travancore-Cochin was act of State but not formation of Kerala State — Plaintiff's claim to annuity recognised by State of Travancore-Cochin — Suit for such claim against Kerala State entertainable by municipal Court. See Ibid, Art. 3. AIR 1964 Ker 123 (DB).

——Art. 295 (2) — Family grant by Travancore State continued by United State of Travancore-Cochin — Grant not repudiated by successive states till Constitution came into force— Kerala State bound to pay the grant — Right to adjudicate and enforce payment of grant of municipal Court — Defence of act of State when available —Travancore-Cochin Covenant, Art. III b. See States Reorganisation Act (1956), S. 91 (a). 1960 Ker LJ 1461.

——Art. 295 — Wrongful dismissal of employee of Scindia State Railway — Suit against Union of India after transfer of Railway — Maintainability.

The liability of Madhya Bharat in respect of the Scindia State Railway became the liability of the Government of India, after the transfer of the Scindia State Railway to the Central Government on 1-4-1950. Hence, a suit for wrongful dismissal of an employee of Scindia State Railway before its transfer lies after transfer against the Union of India. 1957 Jab LJ (MB) 121 : AIR 1957 Madh B 108 (111) (Pt E)(Pr 17).

■ ——Art. 295 (1) — Obligation to maintain irregular forces, i.e., Shiledars of erstwhile Scindia State, if at all constitutes a statutory right of the Shiledars, rests, in view of the correspondence between the Union and the State of Madhya Bharat, on the State of Madhya Bharat and not upon the Union. Madharao Ramrao v. State of Madhya Bharat, ILR (1954) Madh Bha 211 : AIR 1953 Madh B 257 (259) (Pt A) (Prs 15, 16) (FB).

[Reversed on another point in AIR 1961 SC 298.]

——Art. 295 (1) (b) — Order of Ruler of Gwalior under S. 30, of Gwalior State Places of Worship and Religious Endowments Aid and Administration Act of taking over administration of endowment properties and further order to continue such control until position improved in certain respects, is in substance administrative order and not law within Art. 372 — Art. 295 (1) (b) is not attracted. See Ibid, Art. 372. AIR 1965 Madh Pra 183 (DB).

■ ——Art. 295 — Merger of Rewa State in Vindhya Pradesh — Order of Maharaja of Rewa fixing pension of its servant prior to merger — Order has effect as private Act — Binding nature on new State — Vindhya Pradesh Application of laws Ordinance (4 of 1948), S. 2 — Ordinance continues to be binding. AIR 1961 Madh Pra 154 (FB).

——Art. 295 (1) (b) — Scope — Order, dated 18-1 1947 of Maharaja of Gwalior exempting certain industries of petitioner-company from taxation— Effect of — Madhya Bharat Regulation of Government Act (I of 1948), Ss. 3 and 4 and Madhya Bharat Covenant, Art. 6 — Effect of.

The Maharaja of Gwalior made an order on 18-1-1947 exempting from any form of taxation for a period of twelve years the income of certain industries and factories. After the formation of Madhya Bharat, the petitioner-company was assessed to tax for three assessment years commencing from 1950-51. The assessee-company claimed exemption by virtue of the agreement with the former Ruler of Gwalior.

Held, (i) that the order of the Ruler of Gwalior State exempting the petitioner from taxation had the effect of law. AIR 1955 SC 352 and AIR 1956 SC 60, Foll. (ii) that by virtue of Ss. 3 and 4 of the Madhya Bharat Act No. I of 1948 the petitioner's right to get the exemption received legislative recognition. The State of Madhya Bharat was bound to discharge the obligation undertaken by the Ruler of the Gwalior State which devolved on it; (iii) that it was this obligation of the Madhya Bharat Government that devolved on the Government of India under Art. 295 (1) (b) and became a constitutional obligation of that Government; and (iv) that on a true construction of the relevant provisions of the Income-tax Act, S. 13 of the Finance Act of 1950, and paragraph 16 of the Taxation Concessions Order, 1950, they do not repeal the specific exemption granted to the petitioner by special 'statutory provisions', and that, therefore, the petitioner's claim for exemption from taxation was well founded. 1960 Jab LJ 581: 1960 MPLJ 789: (1961) 43 ITR 184 : 1960 MPC 387 : AIR 1960 Madh Pra 330 (336, 339, 340, 341, 344) (Pt A) (Prs 9, 13, 16, 23) (DB).

[Reversed in AIR 1964 SC 1903.]

——Art. 295 (2) — Scope of — Orders passed by Ruler of Ratlam — Enforceability against State of Madhya Bharat after coming into force of Constitution — Bar under Art. 363. See M. B. Regulation of Government Act (1 of 1948), S. 4. AIR 1958 Madh Pra 71(DB).

——Art. 295 — Grant sanctioned by former Indian State — State subsequently merged in Indian Dominion— Arrears of grant upto 18-9-1951 paid to claimant by State Government on 30-7-1951, while question of continuance of grant was under consideration of Government — State Government by notification, dt. 21-3-52, stopping all grants but ordering payment of arrears upto 18-9-1951 — Payment cannot be deemed to be in recognition or acknowledgment of claim. AIR 1964 SC 1658, Foll. AIR 1965 Punj 354 (355, 356) (Pt B) (Prs 7, 8, 9) (DB).

——Arts. 295, 296 — Escheat — Rule of — Applicability — Occupancy tenant in former Indian State (Faridkot) dying heirless after its merger —Land reverts to successor State. See Ibid, Art. 296. AIR 1961 Punj 200.

——Art. 295 — Scope and effect of. See Patiala Recovery of State Dues Act (IV of 2002 B.K.), S. 5. AIR 1959 Punj 440 (DB).

[Reversed on another point in AIR 1963 SC 222.]

——Art. 295 — Companies Act (1956), S. 155 — Shares allotted to Government of erstwhile Kotah State — Merger of Kotah State into Rajasthan — Forfeiture of shares by Company — Application under S. 155, filed by State of Rajasthan — Application was competent in view of Art. 295 of the Constitution according to which all the rights of the merged Kotah State devolved upon the State of Rajasthan. See Companies Act (1956), S. 155. ILR (1965) 15 Raj 639 : AIR 1966 Raj 136 (DB).

——Arts. 295 (1) (b) and 372 — Law in force — Distinction between agreement and law — Agreement entered into by State of Jaipur with a company exempting income-tax and sales-tax in respect of goods produced by the company — Merger of State with United State of Rajasthan— Extension of Income-tax Act and application of Sales-tax Act — Obligation whether devolves on succeeding State under Art. 295 (1) (b)—Agreement held not law within meaning of Art. 372— Agreement held not a legislative contract — Parliament can under Art. 295 alter terms of agreement — Company held could not claim exemption under agreement as it was not saved by S. 13, Finance Act, 1950 — Contractual obligations could not override law passed by Union Government —It was for State Government to grant exemption from sales-tax if found expedient. AIR 1963 SC 953, Foll. ILR (1965) 15 Raj 375 : 1965 Raj LW 188 : AIR 1965 Raj 162 (165 to 168) (Pt A) (Prs 11, 12, 15 to 17, 19, 22) (DB).

——Art. 295 & Sch. VII, List I, Entry 31 — Contract to instal radio transmitter — Contract executed on 4th October, 1947 by Government of Bharatpur State — Suit by contractor to recover money due under contract — Suit filed against State of Rajasthan and Union of India — Validity of contract — Frustration of contract — Extension of Telegraph Act, 1885, to former Indian State of Bharatpur — Its effect on maintainability of suit — Liability of Union Government under Art. 295 to pay arrears of charges arising under contract —Notice to Union Government under S. 80, C. P. Code — Its validity. ILR (1964) 14 Raj 667: 1964 Raj LW 313: AIR 1964 Raj 205 (209, 212 to 216) (Pt A) (Prs 13, 27, 32, 33, 37, 39, 41, 44, 45) (DB).

●——Arts. 295, 300, 363, 372 — United State of Rajasthan Covenant, Art. VI — Rajasthan Administration Ordinance (1 of 1949), S. 3— Force of.

Under S. 3 of the Rajasthan Administration Ordinance 1 of 1949 suits to enforce contractual liabilities of the former Dholpur State could be brought against the United State of Rajasthan. After the Constitution came into operation, by virtue of Art. 295 (2) of the Constitution, the State of Rajasthan can be said to have incurred the liabilities of the Dholpur State, as the successor of the United State of Rajasthan: AIR 1954 SC 680, Rel. on.; AIR 1958 SC 816, Disting.

The laws covenanting in force in any State continuing by virtue of Art. 372 of the Constitution, operated not only vis a vis the subject and the subject but also vis a vis the subject and the State. After the merger, the new Sovereign has by unequivocal declaration recognized the operation of the laws already in force in the Covenanting territories, thereby granting as it were a charter of rights and liberties to the subjects and the modes of securing them in the manner provided by these laws. State of Rajasthan v. Shamlal, 1960 Raj LW 257: ILR (1960) 10 Raj 652 : AIR 1960 Raj 256 (259, 260, 262 to 265, 275, 276) (Pt B) (Prs 2, 7 to 9, 36) (FB).

●——Art. 295 (2) — 'Corresponding Indian State' — Meaning — United State of Rajasthan with its component units — If included.

The Part B State of Rajasthan succeeded to the rights, liabilities and obligations of the other Covenanting States which went to form the United State of Rajasthan before the Constitution came into operation, and the expression 'Government of the corresponding Indian State' used in Art. 295 (2) of the Constitution with reference to Rajasthan means not only the Government of the United State of Rajasthan, but the United State of Rajasthan including its covenanting Units. Modi J.'s observation in AIR 1960 Raj 138, Dissented from. State of Rajasthan v. Shamlal, 1960 Raj LW 257 : ILR (1960) 10 Raj 652 : AIR 1960 Raj 256 (279) (Pt D) (Pr 48) (FB).

——Art. 295 — 'Corresponding Indian State', meaning of.

Per Modi, J.— The phrase 'corresponding Indian State' in Art. 295 connotes the United State of Rajasthan and not any of the Covenanting States constituting the United States. The old Bikaner State had lost its separate or independent existence altogether. The only State in existence, the rights, liabilities or obligations whereof were under Art. 295 of the Constitution to devolve by succession of the Part B State of Rajasthan, were the rights, liabilities and obligations of the United States of Rajasthan. ILR (1959) 9 Raj 1217: AIR 1960 Raj 138 (145 to 147) (Pt D) (Prs 18, 19) (DB).

[These observations of Modi J. were Dissented from in AIR 1960 Raj 256 (FB).]

——Art. 295 — Report of Indian Finances Enquiry Committee — Recommendations accepted by President and Raj Pramukh — Report did not acquire force of law. See Ibid, Art. 278. AIR 1960 Raj 92 (DB).

——Arts. 295, 294 and 14 — Agreement between Government of former Jodhpur State and plaintiff for setting up mill by latter — State agreeing to exempt plaintiff from payment of excise duty — Agreement not enforceable against State of Rajasthan or Union of India. See Ibid, Art. 294. ILR (1959) 9 Raj 984 : 1960 Raj LW 44 : AIR 1960 Raj 92 (DB).

●——Arts. 295 (1) and 277—Cotton excise duties in Rajasthan — (Central Excises and Salt Act (1944), S. 1).

The Central Excises and Salt Act, 1944, was extended to the State of Rajasthan by S. 11, Finance Act (25 of 1950), from 1-4-1950 and the necessary rules under that Act also came into force from the said date.

Article 295 has to be read along with Art. 277. As Art. 277 allows duties to be levied for purposes of the State even though such duties may be mentioned in the Union List till such time as Parliament provides to the contrary (which it did by S. 11, Finance Act, 1950). As stated above the cotton excise duties levied formerly continue to be levied by the State of Rajasthan for its own purposes up to 31-3-1950. Therefore, if there were any arrears of these duties due to the State of Rajasthan for a period before 1-4-1950, those arrears were for purposes of the State of Rajasthan, even after the commencement of the Constitution and up to 31-3-1950. It cannot in consequence be said that they became assets or rights under Art. 295 (1) which could be taken over by the Union Government as after 26-1-1950 they could only be used for purposes of the Union. Maharaja Kishangarh Mills, Ltd. v. Union of India, ILR (1953) 3 Raj 128 : 1953 RLW 381 : AIR 1953 Raj 145 (148) (Pt B) (Prs 9, 10) (FB).

[Reversed on another point in AIR 1961 SC 683.]

●——Art. 295—Recovery of arrears of cotton cloth excise duty in Rajasthan, held in stock or manufactured by mill before 1-4-1950 — Union of India not entitled to levy and recover by virtue of Arts. 270 and 295 and agreement entered into between President or India and Raj Pramukh of Rajasthan on 25-2-1950. See Ibid, Art. 278. AIR 1953 Raj 145 (FB).

[Reversed in AIR 1961 SC 683.]

——Art. 295 (2) — Acts of Government servant— Immunity of State — Exception —Illegal confiscation and release of grain on orders of State — Damage to grain due to negligence — Liability of State — Presumption of negligence. See Tort — Acts of Government Servant. AIR 1956 Sau 65.

——Art. 295 (2)— Saurashtra Covenant, Art. 6 — Retired servant of former Nawanagar State — Liability of Nawanagar State to pay full pension only existing from particular date — Liability of Saurashtra Government after merger — Extent of.

The plaintiff who had retired from the service of the former Nawanagar State on 1-2-1938 was granted his full pension with effect from 1-2-48 under the order of His Highness the Jamsaheb. Prior to this he was not getting his full pension under the orders passed from time to time. After the merger of the Nawanagar State into Saurashtra the Government of Saurashtra also agreed to pay him at the full rate. The plaintiff brought a suit against the Saurashtra Government for declaration of his right to receive the full pension from the date of his retirement.

Held, that the only liability of the Saurashtra Government was to pay the pension in accordance with the orders of His Highness. As the plaintiff could not have sued the former Nawanagar State for arrears of his pension in view of the Pension rules of the State, the Saurashtra Government could not be held liable for those arrears by reason of Art. 295 (2), Constitution of India and Art. 6 of the Covenant. AIR 1953 Sau 21 (24) (Pt C) (Pr 8) (DB).

——Arts. 295, 278 — Power to be reassessed is saved by S. 13, Finance Act — There is nothing in Arts. 278 and 295 or agreement between President of Union and Raj Pramukh of Travancore-Cochin which militates against this — (Finance Act (1950), S. 13) — (Words and Phrases — "Levy, assessment and collection" includes "reassessment"). See Travancore Income Tax Act (1121), S. 47. AIR 1957 TC 303.

ARTICLE 296

——Art. 296 —Scope — Property of dissolved company — Applicability of doctrine of bona vacantia — Absence of express provision—Effect. See Companies Act (1956), S. 560. 1959 Cri LJ 964 : 63 Cal WN 889 : AIR 1959 Cal 493.

——Art. 296 — Succession — Hindu dying without any heirs — Government takes the property by escheat. See Hindu Law — Succession. AIR 1950 Cal 473 (DB).

——Art. 296 — Nazool law in erstwhile Patiala State — Escheat of property to State (Escheat).

Property can escheat to the State only if the owner of it has died without leaving any heir or a reversioner within the degree recognised by law and not otherwise. If an owner leaves the village and goes away and his property is taken possession of either by some other person or by the State, he may lose his title because of the adverse possession, but the nazool can have no application to a case of that kind. AIR 1954 Pepsu 33, Rel. on. ILR (1953) Patiala 375 : AIR 1954 Pepsu 34 (35) (Pt A) (Pr 4) (DB).

——Arts. 296, 295 — Escheat — Rule of — Applicability — Occupancy tenant in former Indian State (Faridkot) dying heirless after merger — Effect.

Escheat is a species of reversion, and it is a right, which now vests in the Crown or in the State as ultimus haeres upon the failure, natural or legal, of the last tenant. Originally it was an incidence of Feudal Law whereby a fief reverted to the lord, when the tenant died seised without heir, in which event the land lapsed to the Lord of the manor, or to the Crown. This Feudal rule has been accepted in India with this difference that the land left by an heirless tenant lapsed as bona vacantia to the State.

Where an occupancy tenant of land belonging to the former State of Faridkot died heirless after that State had merged in the State of Pepsu:

Held, that the land reverted to the Raja of Faridkot in his capacity as the sovereign head of the State and the rights acquired by the Raja of Faridkot by reversion had passed on to the successor State of Patiala and East Punjab States Union into which the Faridkot State had merged. AIR 1961 Punj 200 (201, 202) (Prs 4, 7, 8) (DB).

——Art. 296 — Escheat — Power of Panchayat to take proceedings — (Rajasthan Panchayat Act (XXI of 1953)).

A property in a place in Rajasthan can, by escheat, only accrue to the State of Rajasthan. There is nothing in the Rajasthan Panchayat Act which vests in the Panchayat any property by lapse or escheat or for want of a rightful owner; nor is there any provision in the Panchayat Act to take proceedings for taking property by lapse or escheat in the absence of the rightful owner. 1957 Raj LW 11 : ILR (1957) 7 Raj 83 : AIR 1957 Raj 43 (43) (Pr 4) (DB).

ARTICLE 297

——Arts. 297 and 298 — Scope — State Government issuing notification reserving mining area for public sector — Validity — Right of Government to carry on trade. See Ibid, Art. 73. AIR 1959 Andh Pra 485.

——Art. 297 — Scope — Lands and other things underlying the ocean within the territorial waters of Indian Union — Vesting in the Union —Chank fisheries — Outside the ambit of Art. 297 — Chank fishery rights in the territorial waters of Sivaganga — Exclusive property of Native Rulers — Appropriation by Rulers from time immemorial — Exclusive rights of Rulers not affected by Fisheries Act (4 of 1897) — Act merely regulatory — Abolition of Sivaganga estate by Madras Estates (Abolition and Conversion into Ryotwari) Act (26 of 1948) — All rights vest in the State Government — Chank fisheries vest in the State —State has the power to lease out rights — Precedent— Decision rendered in ignorance or disregard of statute — No binding force.

Both in England and India, before the Constitution, a right to fish belonged communis juris to the subjects only in so far as it had not otherwise been appropriated by the Sovereign. The authorities make it clear that the Crown or some subject could acquire a property or ownership exclusive of the public right and in such a case, the exclusive right should prevail over the public.

So far as the chank fisheries along the sea coast of Southern India are concerned, there is ample authority both historical and judicial, to the effect that the Native Sovereigns throughout the ages, Pandivas, Navaks and Nawabs of Arcot and later the East India Company had regarded them as a fruitful source of revenue and held the fisheries of pearls and chanks as their exclusive property. They had either farmed out the right to fish the chanks and oysters in consideration of periodical payments on lease, or other arrangement or directly worked the chank and pearl fisheries. The indisputable historical evidence points out that from time immemorial, Native Rulers exclusively appropriated from and held the chank fishery right in the territorial waters of Ramanathapuram. It is seen that at least from 1914 the Government had taken the chank fishery on lease from the Zamindar of Sivaganga. When the last lease in favour of the Provincial Government was subsisting the estate of Sivaganga was notified on 7th September, 1949, under the provisions of Madras Act XXVI of 1948 and as a result, the Sivaganga estate including chank fishery vested in the Government absolutely on and from that date. Sivaganga had originally formed part of the Zamindari of Ramanathapuram and, therefore, the observations of the Division Bench in (1904) 14 MLJ 248 : ILR 27 Mad 551 relating to the title of the Rajah of Ramanathapuram to the chank fisheries equally apply to the chank fisheries in the territorial waters of Sivaganga. Consequent upon the abolition of the estate of Sivaganga and its vesting in the Province of Madras, and now the State of Madras, it must be held, therefore, that the State Government is exclusively entitled to the chank fishery in the territorial waters of Sivaganga. It follows that the petitioners either as fishermen or members of the public have no common right to fish chanks in those waters and appropriate the same for themselves.

There is no doubt that in principle a decision rendered by even the highest judicial authority will have no binding force as a precedent if it was rendered in total ignorance or disregard of a relevant statute or statutory rule.

The provisions of the Indian Fisheries Act and the Rules framed thereunder, as amended in Madras entirely left untouched the exclusive rights of fishery, their incidence and exercise subject to limited regulation with the written consent of those entitled to such rights and conferred no rights upon the general public in derogation of such exclusive rights. The petitioners cannot, therefore, claim that either the Indian Fisheries Act or the Rules framed thereunder gave them or recognised in them as members of the public or fishermen, any right to dive or otherwise fish and catch chanks in the Sivaganga waters and appropriate the same for themselves. Chank fisheries are not within the ambit of Art. 297. What it vests in the Union is what underlies the ocean within the territorial waters of India and not the territorial waters themselves. For the purpose of the vesting under the Article, the dividing line appears to be between the bed of the ocean and the waters above it. What does not underlie the bed of the ocean is, clearly outside the purview of Art. 297. Chanks cannot, in any sense, be regarded as underlying the bed of the sea but are fish gathered or taken not from underneath the bed but from the sea bed. The chank fishery in the territorial waters of Sivaganga is not by virtue of Art. 297 vested in the Union Government but continues to be exclusive property of the State Government, and as its proprietor it is competent for it to grant the lease of the right to fish chanks in those waters and the petitioners have no common or other right to fish chanks in the waters or to question the lease. (1965) 2 MLJ 35.

——Art. 297 — Provisions affecting rights in sea fisheries — Madras Estates (Abolition and Conversion into Ryotwari) Act is not ultra vires — State legislature has jurisdiction to legislate regarding fisheries within territorial waters which do not vest in Union Government. See Tenancy Laws — Madras Estates (Abolition and Conversion into Ryotwari) Act (26 of 1948), S. 20. (1953) 2 MLJ 587 : AIR 1954 Mad 291 (DB).

ARTICLE 298

●——Art. 298 — Laws — Notification by President under Art. 258 (1) of the Constitution held to have force of law — Commissioner appointed under notification under Art. 258 (1) could appoint Additional Special Land Acquisition Officer as Collector for purposes of S. 5-A, Land Acquisition Act. See Bombay Reorganisation Act (1960), S. 87. AIR 1964 SC 648.

●——Arts. 298 and 300 — Carries on business — Application to Government — Running of Railways — Is a business even in hands of Government — Profit motive not necessary — Principal place of railway administration is place of business for S. 20 Civil P. C. See Civil P. C. (1908), S. 20 (a). AIR 1963 SC 1681.

●——Art. 298 and Sch. VII, List III, Entries 21, 35, List II, Entry 26 — Interpretation of grant of monopolies — Powers under entry 21 not restricted by entry 26 in State List — Ch. IV-A of Motor Vehicles Act — Validity of — Effect of Art. 19 (6).

The expression 'commercial and industrial monopolies' is wide enough to include grant of monopolies to the State and citizens as well as control of monopolies.

Further, Entry No. 26 of List II of the Seventh Schedule which invests the States with exclusive authority to legislate in respect of trade and commerce within the State, subject to the provision of entry No. 33 of List III, does not derogate from the authority conferred by Entry 21 of List III concurrently on the Parliament and the State Legislatures to grant or create by law commercial or industrial monopolies.

Chapter IV-A introduced by the Parliament by Act C of 1956 enables the State transport undertaking, to exclude private operators. The chapter could, therefore, competently be enacted by the Parliament under entry No. 21 read with entry No. 35 of the Concurrent List. The right of the State to carry on trade or business is recognised by Art. 298; authority to exclude competitors in the field of such trade or business is conferred on the State by entrusting power to enact laws under Entry 21 of List III of the Seventh Schedule, and the exercise of that power in the context of fundamental rights is secured from attack by Art. 19 (6). The scheme framed under S. 68-C may property be regarded as 'law' within the meaning of Art. 19 (6) made by the State excluding private operators from notified routes or notified areas, and immune from the attack that it infringes the fundamental right guaranteed by Art. 19(1) (g). H. C. Narayanappa v. State of Mysore, (1960) 3 SCR 742 : (1961) 1 MLJ (SC) 5 : (1961) 1 Andh WR (SC) 5 : 1961 SCJ 7 : AIR 1960 SC 1073 (1078, 1079) (Pt B) (Prs 10 to 12).

——Art. 298 — Scope — Competency of Government to make grants of land to particular persons — Grant to political sufferers — Whether discriminatory — G. O. No. 1142, dated 18th June, 1954 — Nature of whether gives any person a legal right under it — Board's Standing Orders, Order No. 15 — Permanent assignment of land — Procedure — Notice of assignment to temporary assignees before making a permanent assignment — Necessity. See Ibid, Art. 14. (1960) 2 Andh WR 272.

——Art. 298 — Legislation interfering with contracts with Govt. — Electrical energy supplied by Government. See Madras Essential Articles Control and Requisitioning (Temporary Powers) Act (XXIX of 1949) (as amended by Andhra Act I of 1955), S. 3. (1959) 2 Andh WR 156: AIR 1959 Andh Pra 538 (DB).

——Arts. 298, 73, 162 and 297 — Scope — State Government issuing notification reserving mining area for public sector — Validity — Right of Government to carry on trade. See Ibid, Art. 73. AIR 1959 Andh Pra 485.

●——Arts. 298, 258, 73 (1) Proviso, Sch. 7, List 3, Item 42 (as amended by Constitution (Seventh Amendment) Act, 1956) — Acquisition of land within State area for purposes of Union — Delegation of power by Central Governmnt to State Government under Art. 258 — Validity — Scope of Arts. 73 (1) Proviso, 298 — Land within State area needed for construction of food-grains ga-down by Central Government — Whether Union purpose or State purpose — Notifications under Ss. 4 and 6, Land Acquisition Act, issued by State Government — Validity. See Ibid, (as amended by Constitution (Seventh Amendment) Act, 1956), Art. 258. AIR 1961 Assam 133 (FB).

——Arts. 298, 226 — Applicability of Art. 226 — State Government as lessor resuming leased property in terms of lease — Article 226 cannot apply. See Ibid, Art. 226. AIR 1961 Assam 20.

——Arts. 298, 154 (2), 162, 53, 73 — M. B. Panchayat Act (Smt. 2006) (58 of 1949), S. 9 — M. B. Panchayat Rules, (Sm. 2008), Rr. 11, 21 — Collector fixing dates for election — Subsequent postponement of election on Government directive — Legality — Executive powers of Government — Extent of. See Panchayats — M. B. Panchayat Act (58 of 1949) S. 9. AIR 1956 MB 163.

——Art. 298 — Road Transport Corporation Act (1950), S. 47-A — Commercial activity carried on by State — Profit motive not essential feature — Mysore Government Road Transport Department is commercial undertaking of Mysore State Government within meaning of S. 47-A of Act of 1950. W. P. No. 72 of 1960 (Mys) Foll. AIR 1963 Mys 66 (73) (Pt B) (Pr 17) (DB).

——Arts. 298, 299 and 77 — Industrial Employment (Standing Orders) Act (20 of 1946), Ss. 2 (b), 5 — Sindri Fertilisers and Chemicals Ltd. — Industrial establishment is under control of Central Government within meaning of S. 2 (b) — Labour Commissioner of Bihar has no jurisdiction to certify drafts standing order of company. See Industrial Employment (Standing Orders) Act (20 of 1946), S. 2 (b). AIR 1959 Pat 36.

——Art. 298 — State can do transport business on commercial basis without legislative sanction. See Ibid, Art. 38. AIR 1956 Pepsu 3.

——Art. 298 — Function of State — Motor Transport business — State whether can carry on business or Trade like other individuals — Legislative sanction if and when necessary. See Ibid, Art. 19. ILR (1956) Patiala 77.

——Arts. 298, 289(1), 226 — Road Transport Corporations Act (64 of 1950), Ss. 3, 30 — Income-tax Act (1922), Ss. 3, 4 (3) (i) — Road Transport Corporation is not State Department — It is taxable as "individual" under S. 3, I. T. Act — Corporation has not been established for any religious or charitable purpose — Writ jurisdiction cannot be invoked as regards claim in regard to remainder of net profits which have to be made over to State Govt. for road development — Interpretation of exemption provisions of I. T. Act. See Road Transport Act (1950) S. 3. ILR (1963) 2 Punj 636: (1964) 51 ITR 441: AIR 1964 Punj 178 (DB).

——Art. 298 (as amended by the Constitution Seventh Amendment) — State carrying on banking business — Not illegal.

There is nothing in the Constitution to debar a State Government from owning or running a bank in the exercise of its ordinary executive power. The amendment to Art. 298 has not added anything new to the Constitution but has merely stated explicitly what was previously implicit. ILR (1959) Punj 1384; AIR 1959 Punj 440 (446) (Pt H) (Pr 14) (DB).

[Reversed on another point in AIR 1963 SC 222]

——Arts. 298, 1, 239 and 300 — State of Vindhya Pradesh is a legal entity capable of suing and being sued. See Ibid, Art. 1. AIR 1956 Vin Pra 1.

ARTICLE 299

SYNOPSIS

(Constitution of India (1950), Art. 299)

1. Analogous law.
See Government of India Act (1935), S. 175.
2. Scope and applicability.
3. Contract must be executed by proper authority.
4. Oral contracts.
5. Formal document, whether necessary.
6. Contract by correspondence — Validity.
7. Non-compliance — Effect.
8. Relief under Contract Act, S. 65.
9. Relief under Contract Act, S. 70.
10. Ratification.
11. Contracts made in the exercise of executive power.
12. Contracts of service.
13. Immunities in favour of the President, Governor or Rajpramukh.

1. Analogous law.

See Government of India Act (1935), S. 175.

2. Scope and applicability.

■——Art. 299 (1) — Scope — Contract Act, S. 230 (3).

The provisions of Art. 299 (1) were not inserted for the sake of mere form. They are there to safeguard Government against unauthorised contracts. If in fact a contract is unauthorised or in excess of authority it is right that Government should be safeguarded. On the other hand, an officer entering into a contract on behalf of Government can always safeguard himself by having recourse to the proper form. In between is a large class of contracts probably by far the greatest in numbers, which, though authorised are for one reason or other not in a proper form. It is only right that an innocent contracting party should not suffer because of this and if there is no other defect or objection Government will always accept the responsibility.

Held, that the Chairman of the Board of Administration acted on behalf of the Union Government and his authority to contract in that capacity was not questioned. There can equally be no doubt that both sides acted in the belief and on the assumption, which was also the fact that the goods were intended for Government purposes, namely amenities for the troops. The only flaw was that the contracts were not in proper form and so, because of this purely technical defect, the principal could not have been sued. But that is just the kind of case that S. 230 (3) of the Contract Act designed to meet.

It would be disastrous to hold that the hundreds of Government Officers who have daily to enter into a variety of contracts, often of a petty nature, and sometimes in an emergency, cannot contract orally or through correspondence and that every petty contract must be effected by a ponderous legal document couched in a particular form. It may be that Government will not be bound by the contract in that case, but that is a very different thing from saying that the contracts as such are void and of no effect. It only means that the principal cannot be sued; but there would be nothing to prevent ratification, especially if that was for the benefit of Government; when a Government Officer acts in excess of authority Government is bound if it ratifies the excess. The contracts in question were not void simply because the Union Government could not have been sued on them by reason of Art. 299 (1). 8 Moo Ind. App. 529 (P. C.), Rel.on. Case law discussed. Chatturbhuj Vithaldas Jasani v. Moreshwar Parashram. 1954 SCJ 315: 1954 SCA 373: 1954 SCR 817: 1954 Andh LJ (W.) SC 1: AIR 1954 SC 236 (243) (Pt H) (Prs 40, 41).

——Art. 299 (1) — Contracts by Government — Procedure. See Government of India Act (1935), S. 175 (3). AIR 1960 All 420 (DB).

——Art. 299 — Contract with Government — Government cancelling offer even before contract was concluded — Aggrieved party cannot claim any right to maintain writ petition — Proper course is to proceed under general law. See Ibid, Art. 226. AIR 1965 Andh Pra 425.

——Art. 299 —Scope and object of.

Article 299 of the Constitution was not enacted as a matter of mere form but was put in only to safeguard the Government against unauthorised acts. Though they could not be enforced against the Government, they could not be regarded as void contracts. AIR 1954 SC 236 Rel. on. 1958 Andh LT 1078: (1959) 1 Andh WR 31: ILR (1958) Andh Pra 618: AIR 1959 Andh Pra 116 (122, 123) (Pt F) (Pr 24) (DB).

——Art. 299 — Applicability.

Where there was no contract in winding between the plaintiff and the State Government and there was no suggestion by any of the parties that there was any contract in the exercise of the executive authority of a province or State, the provisions of Art. 299 of the Constitution or S. 175 (3), Government of India Act, 1935, can have no application. (1960) 1 Assam LR 96: AIR 1961 Assam 64 (66) (Pt A) (Pr 4).

——Art. 299 — Contracts by or on behalf of Government — Requirements — Mandatory nature of provisions. See Government of India Act (1935), S. 175 (3). AIR 1955 Assam 86 (DB).

——Art. 299 — Appeal under R. 190, Assam Land Revenue Manual — Appellant not asking for remedy for breach of executive contract — Applicability of Article — (Assam Land Revenue Manual, R. 190).

Where in an appeal under R. 190 of the Assam Land Revenue Manual the appellant has not as a matter of fact asked for any remedy for breach of an 'executive contract' but the appeal is confined only to the validity of the order of cancellation of the settlement of the fishery with the appellant and the settlement thereof with the respondents, Art. 299 has no application. AIR 1952 Assam 76 (78) (Pt C) (Pr 14).

——Art. 299 — Arbitration Act (10 of 1940), Ss. 2 (a), 20 and 39 (IV) — Contract by tender containing provision for sole arbitration — Document held, satisfied the conditions of Art. 299 though it came into existence before the contract was concluded — Tenderer stating in tender that there should be unattached arbitrator — Contract concluded as per terms of contract form — Arbitration agreement held was valid — Application for filing of arbitration agreement—Court holding it as modified and appointing another arbitrator — Order amounted to refusal to direct filing of arbitration agreement — Appointment of substituted arbitrator not proper — Appeal could lie from such order — AIR 1962 Cal 254, Reversed. See Arbitration Act (1940) S. 2 (a). AIR 1965 Cal 404.

——Art. 299 — Contract by Union Government — Provisions for alteration of rates, in case of change in specifications — Alteration made without change in specification — Alteration is de hors original contract in both respects — Fresh compliance with S. 175 (3) necessary. See Government of India Act (1935), S. 175 (3). AIR 1965 Cal 191.

——Art. 299 — Filing of arbitration agreement — Sufficient cause for not filing same — What is — Complete abrogation of arbitration agreement or competent reference under arbitration clause necessary — Invalid reference does not amount to waiver or estoppel — Government party to agreement — Art. 299 to be complied with in matter of alteration of agreement. See Arbitration Act(1940), S. 20. AIR 1962 Cal 82.

——Art. 299 — Execution of contracts by Government officers — Strict compliance with formalities —Estoppel against Government — (Evidence Act (1872), S. 115).

In India the law insists that where contracts or engagements are required to be in particular forms with particular officers of authority to sign them that must be strictly complied with in order to bind the Government. For obvious reasons the Government and the administration cannot, like an ordinary person, be estopped by the acts of its numerous agents and officers. AIR 1954 SC 236; AIR 1955 Cal 626; (1951) AC 837 (845), Rel. on. 62 Cal WN 278: ILR (1959) 1 All 140: AIR 1958 Cal 203 (205, 206) (Pt B) (Pr 9).

——Art. 299 — Object of.

Article 299 has been inserted in the Constitution to safeguard the interests of the Government. AIR 1957 Him Pra 1 (5) (Pt B) (Pr 11).

——Art. 299 — Arbitration agreement — Acceptance — Document — Drawing up of — — Agreement clause wide enough to cover requirements of Art. 299. See Arbitration Act (1940) S. 34. AIR 1965 J and K 114.

●——Art. 299 — Contract — Auction of forest held under conditions notified — Implied contract — Breach of conditions by successful bidder at auction — Re-auction held — Loss to State — Auction purchaser committing breach is liable to to pay loss as per conditions — Forest Contract Rules, Rules 28 & 29 — Applicability — To such an implied contract neither Art. 299 of Constitution nor Rules 28 and 29 of Forest Contract Rules, apply. See Forest Act (1927), S. 82. AIR 1962 Madh Pra 102 (FB).

[Reversed in AIR 1967 SC 203].

——Art. 299 — Person bidding on terms of auction — Bid accepted — Formal contract deed not drawn — Bidder plaintiff is bound by conditions — He became liable to pay all instalments which on default could be recovered as arrears of land revenue — Art. 299 of Constitution has no application — AIR 1960 MP 152: 1960 MPLJ 195, Foll. Suit simpliciter for declaration did not lie without prayer for injunction prohibiting the State to recover the dues. 1962 MPLJ (Notes) 142.

——Art. 299 (1) — Scope — Act 1 of 1951 — Effect of.

Under S. 7 of Act I of 1951, Deputy Commissioners were authorised to take charge of all lands and interests vesting in the State under S. 3. The power to take charge obviously included the powers to manage and dispose of. In exercise of the powers conferred by sub-s. (3) of S. 175 of the Government of India Act, 1935, the Governor of the Central Provinces and Berar was pleased to make rules prescribing the classes of contract and assurances of property made in the exercise of the executive authority of the province and the authorities entitled to exercise them. These rules have been kept alive under Art. 372 (1), read with Cl. (10) of Art. 366 of the Constitution of India. The management and disposal of the forests that vested in the State under S. 8, Act I of 1951, accordingly fell within the ordinary jurisdiction of the Deputy Commissioners of their respective districts. Hence where indentures were executed by the Deputy Commissioner, there was no breach of Art. 299 (1). ILR (1959) Madh Pra 513: 1960 MPLJ 195: 1960 Jab LJ 321: AIR 1960 Madh Pra 152 (154) (Pt C) (Pr 10) (DB).

——Art. 299 — Settlement of land in favour of A by Khasmahal for agricultural purposes — No document executed — Rent accepted by Khasmahal — A became occupancy raiyat — Government cannot cancel settlement by subsequent order — No formal document necessary — Art. 299 of Constitution or S. 175 (3) of Government of India Act (1935), not applicable. See Tenancy Laws — Orissa Tenancy Act (II of 1913), S. 3 (9). ILR (1961) Cut 595.

——Art. 299 — No plea as to whether S. 175 (3), Government of India Act, was complied with — Question whether can be raised in appeal. See Government of India Act (1935), S. 175 (3). AIR 1960 Pat 139.

——Art. 299 — Essentials of contract enforceable against Government — Held, there was no such contract — (Contract Act (1872), S. 10). See Govt. of India Act (1915), S. 30. AIR 1952 Pat 393 (DB).

[Reversed on another point in AIR 1954 SC 165]

——Arts. 299 and 300 — Government transferring premises to purchaser — Latter to hold them as absolute owner — Premises cannot be said to be public premises — Government cannot resume premises by reference to S. 4 — Purchaser cannot be evicted in exercise of executive power. See Houses and Rents — Punjab Public Premises and Land (Eviction and Rent Recovery) Act (31 of 1959), S. 2 (3). ILR (1965) 1 Punj 215.

——Art. 299 — Object of Art. 299.

The reason for enacting Art. 299 of the Constitution of India is that in order to bind a Government there should be a specific procedure enabling the agents of the Government to make contracts. The public funds cannot be placed in jeopardy by contracts made by unspecific public servants without express sanction of the law. It is a provision made essentially in the interest of the Government so that Government may not be committed by any and every public servant. AIR 1954 SC 236, Rel. on. AIR 1963 Punj 372 (374) (Pt A) (Pr 7).

——Art. 299 (1) — Strict compliance is necessary.

Clause (1) of Art. 299 is a mandatory provision calling for strict compliance and the infraction to the provision results in avoidance of contract. AIR 1963 Punj 372 (374) (Pt B) (Pr 7).

3. Contract must be executed by proper authority.

——Art. 299 — Proper authority to execute contract — Special authority in respect of particular contract may be validly given to officer other than notified officer. See Government of India Act (1935), S. 175 (3). (1962) 2 SCJ 479: AIR 1962 SC 113.

——Art. 299 — Contracts with Government.

It is well settled that Government can only be bound by contracts that are entered into in a particular way and which are signed by the proper authority. Thawardas Pherumal v. Union of India, 1955 Mad WN 782: (1955) 2 MLJ (SC) 23: (1955) Andhra WR (SC) 277: 1955 SCJ 445: 1955 SCA 862: 57 Punj LR 369: 34 Pat 359: (1955) 2 SCR 48: AIR 1955 SC 468 (476) (Pt C) (Pr 25).

——Art. 299 (1) — Contract executed by person not authorised. See Government of India Act (1935), S. 175 (3). AIR 1955 Assam 33 (DB).

——Art. 299 — Formal document embodying terms of contract — If can come into existence before acceptance of terms by other contracting party.

Article 299 only requires that the terms of a contract, in order that it may bind the Government, must be agreed to by the proper authority and must be evidenced by an instrument executed by an officer duly empowered. There is nothing to prevent the Government from offering a contract by a formal document in compliance with Art. 299 for the other contracting party to accept and conclude the deal. AIR 1959 Cal 526 (531) (Pt C) (Pr 14).

——Arts. 299, 298 and 77 — Industrial Employment (Standing Orders) Act (20 of 1946), Ss. 2 (b), 5 — Sindri Fertilisers and Chemicals, Ltd. — Industrial establishment is under control of Central Government within meaning of S. 2 (b) — Labour Commissioner of Bihar has no jurisdiction to certify draft standing orders of company. See Industrial Employment (Standing Orders) Act (20 of 1946), S. 2 (b). AIR 1959 Pat 36.

4. Oral contracts.

——Art. 299 —Contract executed on behalf of Governor or Governor General has to be in writing —R. 377, Vol. VI of the Financial Handbook and General Instructions in the Instructions on Accounts, on page 13 also clearly indicate that the contract has to be in writing — Original contract in writing on prescribed form — Normally one would expect second contract enhancing the rates in the original contract would also be in writing —Oral contract cannot be enforced against Government. See Government of India Act (1935), S. 175 (3). 1964 All LJ 1092.

——Art. 299 (1) — Verbal agreement — Validity. See Contract Act (1872), S. 230 (3). AIR 1955 NUC (Cal) 4499.

——Art. 299— Scope.

The word "executed" in Art. 299 (1) indicates that the contract must be in writing. An oral contract to which the State is a party is not recognised under the Constitution. ILR (1952) Trav-Co 960: AIR 1953 Trav-Co 146 (154) (Pt D) (Pr 18) (DB).

5. Formal document, whether necessary.

——Art. 299 — Contract between Government and private individual — Form of — S. 175 (3) is mandatory — Formal document is necessary — Interpretation of Statutes. See Government of India Act (1935), S. 175 (3). (1962) 2 SCJ 479: AIR 1962 SC 113.

——Art. 299 — Government of India Act (1935), S. 175 (3) — Contract with Government — Formal document not necessary — Contract evidenced by letters — Requirement that contracting party was Governor-General need not appear in express terms.

A formal bilateral instrument is not imperative under S. 175 (3) of the Government of India Act. It can very well be evidenced by letters, provided it is clear that the authority entering into the contract is the Governor-General in Council and the document is signed for and on behalf of the Governor-General by a duly authorised agent. This can very well be done by letter as well. AIR 1934 Bom 277, Dissent. from; AIR 1938 Bom 168 and (1949) 2 MLJ 156 : AIR 1950 Mad 194, Rel. on; AIR 1959 Cal 526, Foll. Where the contract is evidenced by letters, the requirement that the contracting party is the Governor-General may not appear in the letter in express terms. AIR 1961 Cal 620 (622, 623) (Pt B) (Prs 9, 11).

6. Contract by correspondence — Validity.

——Art. 299 (1) — Contract cannot be spelled out of correspondence — It requires execution of formal document. See Government of India Act (1935), S. 175 (3). AIR 1964 All 128.

——Art. 299 — Existence of contract to be found out from correspondence — Rule — Applicability to contract evidenced by document in compliance with Art. 299 of Constitution. See Contract Act (1872), S. 2 (h). AIR 1959 Cal 526.

——Art. 299 (1) —Contract with Government— — Tender submitted by contractor — Offer accepted by Government — Acceptance communicated to contractor by proper Government Authority under the Ministry's abbreviated telegraphic address — Acceptance by telegram is valid. AIR 1963 Punj 372 (375) (Pt C) (Pr 12).

7. Non-compliance — Effect.

●——Art. 299 — Government of India Act (1935), S. 175 (3) — Non-compliance — Effect— Agreement between Superintending Engineer and private party excluding land of latter from factory area and giving supply of water for irrigation of the land permanently — Agreement fell outside Bombay Irrigation Act — Agreement was made in executive authority of Province —As it did not comply with S. 175 (3) it was void. See Government of India Act (1935), S. 175 (3). AIR 1964 SC 1714.

●——Art. 299 — Government of India Act (1935), S. 175 (3) — Contract with Union of India —Non-compliance with S. 175 (3) — Effect — Relief under Contract Act, S. 70.

A contract entered into by A with the Government of India for the supply of coal to the Railway Administration in contravention of the provisions of S. 175 (3) of the Government of India Act, 1935 is void and unenforceable. But if in pursuance of the said void contract, A has performed his part and the Government of India has received the benefit of the performance of the contract by A, S. 70, Contract Act, would apply and the Government of India was bound to make compensation to A in the form of the value of the said coal under that section. AIR 1962 SC 779, Foll.; 65 Cal WN 441, Reversed in so far as it held that S. 70, Contract Act, was inapplicable. New Marine Coal Co. (Bengal) Private Ltd. v. Union of India, (1964) 1 SCA 491: 1964 SCD 595 : (1964) 2 SCR 859 : AIR 1964 SC 152 (155) (Pt A) (Pr 6).

●——Art. 299 — Scope — Provisions are mandatory — Non-compliance makes contract invalid. See Government of India Act (1935), S. 175 (3). AIR 1962 SC 779.

——Art. 299 (1) — Assessee coming to arrangement with Collector and agreeing to pay amount of tax in instalments — Contract was not in compliance with Art. 299 (1) of Constitution — O. 20, R. 11 (2) Civil P. C., also would not apply to such case. See Contract Act (1872), S. 2 (b). (1965) 16 STC 701 (All).

——Art. 299 (1) — Contracts not made in name of President or Governor — Validity.

Contracts, which are not expressed to be made in the name of the President or the Governor, are not void. Such contracts are not enforceable against the Union or the State Government. They would become enforceable against the Union or the State Government if they are ratified by them. 1954 SCJ 315; AIR 1954 SC 236, Followed. 1960 All LJ 193 : 1960 All WR (HC) 164 : ILR (1959) 2 All 561 : AIR 1960 All 420 (425) (Pt G) (Pr 21).

——Art. 299 — Suit for damages against Government for breach of contract — Facts alleged in plaint disclosing contract did not comply with requirements of Art. 299 of the Constitution — Defendant not taking such plea in written statement but only in appeal — Still Court should refuse to enforce the contract. See Civil P. C. (1908), O. 8, R. 2. AIR 1963 Assam 197 (DB).

——Art. 299 — Government of India Act (1935), S. 175 (3) — Scope — Contract on behalf of Government not in accord with S. 175 (3), Government of India Act (1935) — If binding on Government. See Government of India Act (1935) S. 175 (3). (1959) 63 Cal WN 907 : AIR 1961 Cal 663 (DB).

——Arts. 299, 154, 166 — Executive action in administration of Government property — Non-compliance with formalities under Art. 166 — Effect — Third party cannot challenge validity even if there is violation of Art. 299—Violation of Art. 299 is a matter concerning contracting parties. See Ibid, Art. 154. 64 Cal WN 1017 : 1960 Cri LJ 1436 : AIR 1960 Cal 668.

——Art. 299 — Non-compliance with — Effect.

The provisions of Art. 299 are mandatory and not directory and as such a contract which does not comply with the formalities prescribed by Art. 299 is unenforceable in law. AIR 1954 SC 236, Foll. AIR 1959 Cal 526 (531) (Pt D) (Pr 15).

——Art. 299 (1) — Contract not expressed to be made by Governor-General — It is not binding on the Union of India — Arbitration clause contained there is not binding — Applicability of S. 230 (3). See Government of India Act (1935), S. 175 (3). AIR 1959 Cal 287 (DB).

——Art. 299 (1) — Non-compliance — Contract alleged to be not in accordance with the manner required by law — Burden of proof. See Government of India Act (1935), S. 175 (3). AIR 1959 Cal 287 (DB).

——Art. 299 (1) — Government of India Act (1935), S. 175 (3) — Agreement not in form prescribed by section — Agreement is unenforceable and void. See Government of India Act (1935), S. 175 (3). AIR 1956 Cal 138.

●——Art. 299 (1) — Government of India Act (1935), S. 175 (3) — Non-compliance with — Suit brought on contract by State Government — Applicability of doctrine of mutuality — State Government fully executing its part of contract — Suit brought by it against other contracting party is maintainable even though there is no compliance with Art. 299 (1) — Such suit is maintainable also under S. 65, Contract Act.

The provisions relating to the contracts made by a State Government contained in S. 175 (3) of the Government of India Act, 1935 and Art. 299 (1) of the Constitution of India are meant for the protection of the State. Hence, no suit against any State Government based on an alleged contract entered into with the State can be enforced against such Government in a Court of law if the contract is not embodied in an agreement entered into by the Governor and executed on behalf of the Governor in the manner prescribed and by the authority empowered to do so. AIR 1962 SC 110 and AIR 1962 SC 113 and AIR 1954 SC 236 and AIR 1962 SC 779, Rel. on.

Similarly the State Government will, in a case where there is no compliance with the above statutory provisions, not be able to maintain an action on contract against the other contracting party, the reason being that such a course would offend the rule of mutuality. But there is no violation of the doctrine of mutuality in cases where the State Government has fully executed its part of the contract and then sues for enforcing the promise of the other contracting party. In such an action the plea that the contract is not binding on the State Government is not available to the defendant. And there can be no infringement of the doctrine of mutuality. (1883) 8 AC 517 and (1843) 134 ER 510, Rel. on; ILR 27 Bom 618 and ILR 30 Mad 290, Disting.; AIR 1927 Cal 465 and AIR 1930 Mad 600, Not Foll. Further, a suit instituted by the State Government is sustainable even if the contract is void, as S. 65 of the Contract Act, 1872, applies to such a suit. AIR 1962 SC 779, Applied. A. K. T. K. M. Sankaran Namboodiripad v. State of Kerala, ILR (1963) 1 Ker 361 : 1963 Ker LJ 316 : 1963 Ker LT 393 : AIR 1963 Ker 278 (282 to 285) (Prs 10, 14, 16, 19) (FB).

——Arts. 299 (1), 226 — "For any other purpose" — Existence of legal right is essential for exercise of jurisdiction under Art. 226 — Claim to enforce right under contracts with State — Contracts not complying with Art. 299 (1) — Right cannot be enforced under Art. 226. See Ibid, Art. 226. ILR (1956) Madh Bha 1: AIR 1955 Madh B 188 (DB).

——Art. 299 — Scope of — Contract not satisfying requirement of Art. 299 — Contract not binding on Government — Person aggrieved can have no remedy under Art. 226. See Ibid, Art. 226. AIR 1961 Madh Pra 364 (DB).

——Art. 299 — No formal contract as per Art. 299 entered into between the Government, the seller of goods and the buyer, a private party — Suit by Government for recovery of unpaid price — Counter-claim by buyer for damages for breach of contract not sustainable in absence of formal contract. 1964 Mad WN 178 : 77 Mad LW 224 : (1964) 2 Mad LJ 263 : AIR 1964 Mad 508 (512) (Pt B) (Pr 7).

——Art. 299 (1) — Representation of the People Act (1951) (as amended by Act LVIII of 1958), S. 7 (d) — Essentials under — There must be valid subsisting contract — Contract not complying with Art. 299 (1) — Cannot be considered for S. 7 (d). See Representation of the People Act (1951) (as amended by Act LVIII of 1958), S. 7 (d). AIR 1964 Pat 431 (DB).

——Art. 299 (1) — Government of India Act (1935), S. 175 (3) — Non-compliance with — Effect — Void contract — Payment of damages made under —It cannot be recovered — Obligation arising under such contract cannot be enforced. AIR 1963 Pat 254 (257, 261) (Pt A) (Prs 10, 49) (DB).

——Art. 299 — Government of India Act (1935), S. 175 (3) — Contract not in strict compliance with S. 175 (3) — Not enforceable against Government but binding upon officer making it. See Government of India Act (1935), S. 175 (3). AIR 1962 Pat 372 (DB).

——Art. 299 — Scope — If mandatory — Non-compliance — Effect. See Government of India Act (1935), S. 175 (3). AIR 1958 Pat 203 (DB).

——Art. 299 (1) — Scope — Mandatory — Non-compliance — Effect. See Government of India Act (1935), S. 175(3). AIR 1957 Pat 586 (DB).

——Art. 299 (1) — Government of India Act (1935), S. 175 (3) — Non-compliance with section — Effect — Provisions of S. 175 (3) are mandatory. See Government of India Act (1935), S. 175 (3). AIR 1957 Pat 586.

——Art. 299 — Appeal against order setting aside award — Objection to arbitration agreement on the basis that contract containing same did not comply with requirements of S. 175 (3), Government of India Act cannot be raised for first time at time of argument when claimant had no opportunity to adduce evidence upon question. See Arbitration Act (1940), S. 39 (1). AIR 1955 Punj 240.

——Art. 299 — State Government granting mining lease of land containing sandstone — State Government giving notice to lessee to execute lease deed within specified time as required by law — Default by lessee — Lease can be validly revoked by Government. See Rajasthan Minor Mineral Concession Rules (1959), R. 18 and Sch. IV. 1964 Raj LW 380.

——Art. 299 — Transactions between State Bank and its constituents — Form of — Need not be in the name of Governor — Every executive act need not be clothed in the particular form referred to in Art. 299 and a transaction does not become invalid by not being so expressed. ILR (1959) Punj 1384: AIR 1959 Punj 440 (447) (Pt J) (Pr 16) (DB).

(Reversed on another point in AIR 1963 SC 222).

8. Relief under Contract Act, S. 65.

——Art. 299 — Government of India Act (1935), S. 175 — Government arranging for distribution of salt through certain person— Loss due to decontrol — Liability of Government. See Government of India Act (1935), S. 175. AIR 1956 Assam 23.

——Art. 299 — Agreement with Government not satisfying statutory requirements — Applicability of S. 65, Contract Act. See Contract Act (1872), S. 65. AIR 1955 Assam 86 (DB).

——Art. 299 (1) — Agreement hit by S. 175 (3), Government of India Act — Compensation under S. 65, if can be allowed. See Contract Act (1872), S. 65. AIR 1955 Assam 33 (DB).

——Art. 299 — Agent failing in his duty — Principal's remedies. See Contract Act (1872), S. 211. AIR 1955 Assam 33 (DB).

——Art. 299 — Civil P. C. (1908), S. 80 and O. 6, R. 2; O. 7, R. 7 — Suit against Union of India solely on basis of contract and on allegation of failure of consideration — Plea for relief under S. 65, Contract Act — Whether can be raised by plaintiff — Plea whether introduces fresh cause of action — S. 80, Civil P. C., whether operates as bar — (Contract Act (1872), S. 65). ILR 30 Cal 36, Not Foll. See Civil P. C. (1908), S. 80. AIR 1959 Cal 585.

——Art. 299 (1) — Contract on behalf of Government entered into by Government Officer — Government's responsibility.

It is only right that an innocent contracting party should not suffer because a contract on behalf of the Government is entered into by an Officer of the Government and if there is no other defect or objection, Government will always accept the responsibility. AIR 1954 SC 236 : 1954 SCJ 315 (SC), Foll. AIR 1955 Manipur 49 (54) (Pt C) (Pr 18).

——Art. 299 — Government of India Act (1935), S. 175 (3) — Contract though not complying with sub-s. (3) otherwise valid for all purposes — It is quite enforceable in law and binding between parties — Assuming it is not so or it is voidable, defendant must restore under S. 65, Contract Act, any benefit derived by him on the basis of the contract. See Government of India Act (1935), S. 175. (1961) 27 Cut LT 397.

——Art. 299 (1) — Government of India Act (1935), S. 175 (3) — Non-compliance with — Effect — Void contract — Contract — Contract Act (1872), Ss. 70 and 65 — Goods delivered in pursuance of such contract — Party accepting such goods has to compensate for them — Advantage received under such contract has to be restored. AIR 1962 SC 779 and AIR 1962 Pat 336 (FB), Foll.; (1842) 134 ER 364, Rel. on. AIR 1963 Pat 254 (256, 257, 261) (Pt B) (Prs 9, 10, 49) (DB).

——Art. 299 — Scope — Plaintiff supplying goods to Military department under oral agreement — Non-compliance with S. 175 (3), Government of India Act —Effect of. See Contract Act (1872), S. 65. AIR 1958 Pat 203 (DB).

——Art. 299 (1) — Government of India Act (1935), S. 175 (3) — Contracts on behalf of the Union or State — Form of contract is mandatory — Contract not in form as required by S. 175 (3) — It cannot be enforced — Section 65, Contract Act, is of no help.

The provisions relating to the form of contract made in the exercise of the executive power of the Union or of a State are mandatory. Where therefore, a contract is not made in the form required by S. 175 (3) of the Government of India Act, 1935 or Art. 299 (1) of the Constitution of India, it cannot be enforced at the instance of a party to the contract. The Union of India, therefore, cannot be sued for compensation for the breach of contract nor can an arbitration clause contained in such a contract be enforced. AIR 1962 SC 113, Foll.

Section 65 of the Contract Act, 1872, does not help the party in recovering the compensation as it is relevant only when the contract is in proper form and between the parties to the suit. 64 Punj LR 438: AIR 1962 Punj 423 (424, 425) (Pt A) (Prs 5, 6, 8).

9. Relief under Contract Act, S. 70.

——Art. 299 — Non-compliance with — Effect — Contract is void and cannot be ratified —Government paying money to agent for procuring food grains — S. 70, Contract Act, does not apply in such a case — Interest not allowed for mere retention of money in absence of any damages. See Government of India Act (1935), S. 175 (3). AIR 1964 Pat 555 (DB).

——Art. 299 (1) — Government of India Act (1935) S. 175 (3) — Contract with Government — Not in compliance with provisions — Is not merely unenforceable but void — Government however is liable to make compensation under S. 70, Contract Act, if goods have been delivered or services rendered to the Government in pursuance of the void contract. AIR 1962 SC 110 and AIR 1962 SC 113 and AIR 1962 SC 779, and AIR 1962 Pat 336 (FB), Rel on. AIR 1963 Pat 153 (155, 156) (Pt A) (Pr 6) (DB).

——Art. 299 — Provisions are mandatory — Suit, for damages in respect of lease of footpath over railway bridge and ferries — Suit in respect of lease of footpath held was not governed by Bengal Ferries Act, but by S. 175, Government of India Act — Non-compliance with Section 175 — Suit not maintainable — S. 70, Contract Act, was also not applicable. See Government of India Act, (1935), S. 175. AIR 1962 Pat 485 (DB).

——Art. 299 (1) — Government of India Act (1935), S. 175 (3) — Non-compliance with — Contract is void and cannot be ratified by Government — Goods delivered in pursuance of such void contract — Conditions of S. 70, Contract Act, complied with — Government liable to compensate : ILR 35 Pat 1067, Overruled. See Government of India Act (1935), S. 175 (3). AIR 1962 Pat 336 (FB).

10. Ratification.

——Art. 299 (1) — Contract with Government signed by officer not having authority — Not void — Contract is enforceable against the officer — Ratification by conduct of Government —Effect— Arbitration clause in contract modified — Government taking part in proceedings — Ratification implied.

An agreement not in conformity with Art. 299 (1) of the Constitution is not void contract, though it may be unenforceable against the Government. Such a contract is like the contract entered into by an agent on behalf of a disclosed principal without the principal's authority and though unenforceable against the Government it can be enforceable against the particular officer who purported to sign on behalf of the President without authority. Such contract is also enforceable against Government if ratified by it and ratification can be made in express terms by a formal order of the Government or by the conduct of the Government. AIR 1954 SC 236, Rel. on.

Where the Government one of the parties to a contract, entered into an agreement for modifying the original arbitration clause, in the contract, took part in the arbitration proceedings, and made an application to the Court for extension of time to file the award :

Held, that the Government must be taken to have ratified the contract by its own conduct, and was precluded from challenging the authority of the officer who entered into agreement for modifying the original arbitration clause. AIR 1963 Cal 456 (459, 460) (Pt A) (Pr 18).

——Art. 299 (1) — Contract not expressed in form prescribed —Effect — Government's power to ratify.

Article 299 (1) of the Constitution of India although mandatory is only intended to safeguard the interest of Government. Even by acceptance of a bid by the State Government or its authorised servants a contract binding on the person offering the bid is created by operation of law. The Government has the power to ratify a contract not in proper form and even where it is ratified by acceptance of the bid and nothing more, the Court would be entitled to enforce it at will. AIR 1954 SC 236 and 1953 SCJ 429: AIR 1953 SC 309, Foll.; AIR 1956 Cal 138, Diss. from. 1960 MPLJ 195: ILR (1959) Madh Pra 513: 1960 Jab LJ 321: AIR 1960 Madh Pra 152 (154) (Pt D) (Prs 12, 13) (DB).

——Art. 299 — Government of India Act (1935), S. 175 (3)— Contract Act (1872), Ss. 197 and 199 — Contract for supply of goods to Government— Person signing on behalf of Government not authorised by rules — Government not bound — Payment for some of goods supplied does not amount to ratification.

It is the duty of the person entering into contract with officers of the Government acting on behalf of the Government to enquire and ascertain whether they had the authority and the power and satisfy himself. A contract for supply of goods to Government, entered into on behalf of the Government by an officer or a person not authorised by the rules is not binding on the Government even though the person who supplied the goods on such order might have been induced to believe that he will be paid. AIR 1962 SC 113, Rel. on. The fact that the Government paid for some of the goods received by them under the order will not amount to ratification of the contract. 1962 Mad WN 521 : 75 Mad LW 633 : AIR 1963 Mad 140 (141, 142) (Prs 8, 9).

——Art. 299 —Scope — Mandatory — Estoppel or ratification.

A contract, in order to be binding and enforceable against the State Government must be made in strict conformity with the formalities prescribed by Art. 299 (1) of the Constitution. If these formalities are not complied with, the contract is void and not enforceable against the Union Government. The constitutional provisions embodied in Art. 299 are mandatory and there is no question of estoppel or ratification in a case of this character. 1959 BLJR 649 : AIR 1960 Pat 159 (159, 160) (Prs 3, 4) (DB).

——Art. 299 (1) — Scope of — Contract not in conformity with — Validity — Ratification — Acceptance of benefit by Government not sufficient — (Government of India Act (1935), S. 175 (3)).

In case of contracts which do not conform to the provision of Art. 299 (1) or, for the matter of that, S. 175 (3) of the Government of India Act, acceptance of the benefit by the Government is not sufficient in point of law to constitute ratification so as to validate the contracts. The important question for consideration is whether or not the constitutional provisions with respect to the execution of the contracts have been strictly followed. If not, the contracts must be declared unenforceable against the Government. (1883) 8 App. Cas 517, Rel. on. There is no question of estoppel or ratification in such a case. 1957 Pat LR 198: ILR 36 Pat 633: AIR 1957 Pat 586 (604) (Pt K) (Pr 38) (DB).

[Reversed on another point in AIR 1962 SC 113.]

——Art. 299 — Government of India Act (1935), S. 175 (3) — Ratification — Contract entered into by Government Official not complying with provisions of S. 175 (3) Government of India Act (1935) — Subsequently Government agreeing to accept goods at reduced rate from the contractor in pursuance of terms of contract and entering into arbitration with him dragging on for a long time — Arbitrators not objecting on ground of non-compliance with S. 175 (3) — Such objection raised after a very long time — Facts held amounted to ratification of the contract— Plea of ratification held involved not only question of law but also question of fact — Plea not raised — Defect of non-compliance with S. 175 (3) held not cured by reason of ratification. See Contract Act (1872), S. 196. AIR 1961 Punj 5.

11. Contracts made in the exercise of executive power.

——Art. 299 (1) — Government of India Act (1935), S. 175 (3) — Contracts entered into by Government — Conditions of — Authority to execute contract — Conferment of — Mode in which authority may be conferred.

Under Section 175 (3) of the Government of India Act, 1935 a contract entered into by the Governor of a province must satisfy three conditions. It must be expressed to be made by the Governor; it must be executed; and the execution should be by such persons and in such manner as the Governor might direct or authorise. S. 175 (3) does not prescribe any particular mode in which authority must be conferred on a person to execute a contract. There is nothing in the section itself to preclude authorisation being conferred ad hoc on any person, and when that is established, the requirements of the section must be held to be satisfied. ILR 35 Pat 1067, Affirmed. State of Bihar v. Karam Chand Thapar and Brothers, Ltd., 1961 SCD 815: ILR 41 Pat 1: 1962 BLJR 64 : (1962) 2 SCJ 17 : (1962) 1 SCR 827 : AIR 1962 SC 110 (111 to 113) (Pt A) (Prs 3, 5, 6).

——Art. 299 — Applicability — Contracts on behalf of railway administration — If exempt. See Government of India Act (1935), S. 175. AIR 1957 Pat 586 (DB).

——Art. 299 — Transactions between State Bank and its constituents — Form of.

Every executive act need not be clothed in the particular form referred to in Art. 299 and a transaction does not become invalid by not being so expressed. Thus a transaction of mortgage between a State Bank and its constituent though in exercise of the executive power of the State, need not be expressed to have been made in the name of the Governor. ILR (1959) Punj 1384: AIR 1959 Punj 440 (447) (Pt J) (Pr 16) (DB).

[Reversed on another point in AIR 1963 SC 22.]

12. Contracts of service.

——Arts. 299, 309, 311, 320 — Government servants — Contract of employment — Fundamental Rules, R. 49 —Bombay Civil Services, Conduct, Discipline and Appeal Rules, R. 33 — Order appointing employee to post communicated by Deputy Secretary by and in name of Governor — Order published in Government Gazette and communicated to employee — Order amounts to contract of employment — Order is not invalid because sanction of Public Service Commission was not obtained.

If the proper authority issues an order appointing a person to a post and that person accepts it and joins his duties, then he is a person employed and is governed by all the rules and contract of service must be regarded as having been made out.

Where an order appointing a person to a post for a fixed period was signed by the Deputy secretary to the Government by order and in the name of the Governor of Bombay and was also published in the Bombay Government Gazette and communicated to the employee and he worked in obedience to it, it becomes a contract of employment and the employee must be held to have been employed for the period between the two dates. AIR 1953 Cal 319 and AIR 1954 Cal 335, Dissented from.

A notice by the Head of the Department to the employee informing him that his services were liable to be terminated without mentioning any date and a Government Resolution containing only a direction that certain person should relieve the employee are inadequate to terminate his employment and he must be deemed to be in service until the force of the order appointing him is completely exhausted.

Even if it is assumed that the services of the employee were terminated before the date upto which he was appointed, the termination of his service is contrary to R. 49 of the Fundamental Rules, R. 35 of the Bombay Civil Service, Conduct, Discipline and Appeal Rules and Art. 311 of the Constitution.

The fact that while making the appointment of the employee, the procedure of referring the matter to Public Service Commission was not followed does not make the order appointing him an invalid order nor is the order subject to sanction being accorded by the Public Service Commission thereafter. 64 Bom LR 446 : 1962 Nag LJ 569 : ILR (1962) Bom 532 : (1963) 2 Lab LJ 563 : AIR 1963 Bom 13 (14 to 16) (Pt A) (Prs 7, 9, 10, 13, 14, 15).

——Art. 299 — Contract of employment —Need not comply with formalities prescribed by section — Contract concluded by an offer of competent authority and acceptance by civil servant concerned creates a binding and valid contract —Suit on basis of such contract can well be maintained in law. See Government of India Act (1935), S. 175 (3). AIR 1962 Cal 349.

——Arts. 299, 309, 310 and 311 — "Appointing authority" in respect of Railway Servant in non-gazetted post — Railway Establishment Code and contract of service — Question as to who is appointing authority to be determined by Rules and not by service contract — President of India is not appointing authority in such cases. See Ibid, Art. 311 (1). (1961) 3 Fac LR 344 (Cal).

——Art. 299 — Government servant — Formal contract — Necessity.

The origin of Government servant is contractual. There is an offer and acceptance in every case. Once appointed, however, the Government servant acquires a status and his rights and obligations are no longer determined by consent of both parties, but by Statutory Rules framed and altered unilaterally by the Government. The Constitution framers never intended that there must be a formal contract of employment in the case of every Government servant and such formal contract must comply with the formalities prescribed by Art. 299 of the Constitution. The word 'contract' in Art. 299 must be given a restricted meaning so as to leave out the case of Government employees. AIR 1937 Bom 449; AIR 1953 Cal 319, Dissented from; AIR 1953 Pepsu 196 & Observation of Vivian Bose, J. in his dissenting judgment in AIR 1958 SC 36, Rel. on. (1959) 1 Lab LJ 128 : ILR (1960) 1 Cal 136 : 62 Cal WN 622 : (1958) 1 Cal LJ 175 : AIR 1958 Cal 551 (553 to 556) (Pt D) (Prs 11, 13).

——Art. 299 — Service agreement of the person not in conformity with requirements of S. 175 (3) of Government of India Act or Art. 299 of Constitution — Not a servant of Union of India — Art. 311 (2) not applicable. See Ibid, Art. 311(2). AIR 1953 Cal 319.

——Art. 299 — Applicability — Appointment of Government servants — 'Contract' — Meaning of.

The expression 'contract' in Art. 299 of the Constitution and in S. 175 (3) of the Government of India Act must be given a restricted meaning so as to exclude the case of Government servants whose employment though originating in contract is regulated after appointment by statutory rules and regulations not by contract. AIR 1958 SC 36, Rel. on. The employment of a Government servant does not require a formal document in writing as prescribed by Art. 299 of the Constitution. The expression 'Contract' in Art. 299 applies only to commercial contracts and not to contracts of employment of Government servants. In the case of covenanted servants and in a very small number of cases there is employment on special terms. AIR 1937 Bom 449 and AIR 1953 Cal 319, Dissent. from. 1960 Pat LR 254 : (1961) 1 Lab LJ 196 : ILR 39 Pat 811 : (1960) 1 Fac LR 138 : 1960 BLJR 312 : AIR 1960 Pat 366 (369) (Pt B) (Prs 7, 8) (DB).

——Art. 299 — Contract of service — 'Employment' and 'appointment' — Distinction. See Ibid, Art. 16. AIR 1957 Pat 617.

——Art. 299 — Scope.

When a Government offers a job to a person, and the latter accepts it or when a person applies for a job and the Government agrees to appoint him on that job, there comes into existence a sort of agreement between the Government on one hand and the person concerned on the other but it is doubtful whether such an agreement would come within the purview of the term "contract" used in Art. 299. The operation of Art. 299 is limited to contracts relating to property, etc., and in case of persons who join regular service of the Union or a State it is not necessary at all that they should enter into any kind of contract. The object of a contract is to regulate the mutual rights and duties of the parties and as regards persons who are in regular service of a Union or a State their rights and duties are laid down in the Constitution and the rules of service framed by the Government under the powers given to them by the Constitution. ILR (1953) Patiala 588 : AIR 1953 Pepsu 196 (199) (Pt C) (Pr 5).

13. Immunities in favour of the President, Governor or Rajpramukh.

——Arts. 299 and 300 —Contract between contractor and Union of India but entered into in name of President of India —Arbitrator by mistake passing award against President — Mistake held could be corrected by Court under S. 15. See Arbitration Act (1940), S.15. AIR 1964 Cal 91.

——Art. 299 — Government contract in the name of President as required by Art. 299 (2) of the Constitution — Dispute referred to arbitration— Counter statement of facts filed by Union of India — Everbody proceeding on basis that the liability, if any, was that of the Union — Arbitrator making award against President — Held, what the arbitrator really meant was to make the Union liabie — There was obvious error in award in directing President to pay amount — Court had power under S. 15 to correct such an error in award. See Arbitration Act (1940), S. 15. AIR 1963 Cal 307.

——Arts. 299 (2), 300 and 361 (1), Proviso 2 — Scope.

In suits maintainable against the State, the State is impleaded as a party therein in accordance with Art. 300 of the Constitution of India. The article when read with Art. 299 (2) of the Constitution, which does create certain immunities in favour of the President, the Governor and the Rajpramukh, suggests that the framers of the Constitution did not intend to create any immunity in favour of the State from any consequential proceeding against it in a suit wherein the State is a party and which is maintainable in law against it.

Article 300 read with the second proviso to Art. 361 (1) makes it clear that the Government of a State may be sued even in respect of official acts in certain circumstances. ILR 33 Pat 603: 1954 Cr LJ 1953: AIR 1954 Pat 513 (521, 524) (Pt C) (Prs 26, 27, 39) (DB).

ARTICLE 300

SYNOPSIS

(Constitution of India, Art. 300)

(1) Scope, object and applicability.
(2) In what cases suit will be against Government — General principles.
(a) Maintainability of suit.
(b) Vicarious liability.
(c) Suit against new State.
(d) Principal and agent.
(e) Extent of State liability.
(3) Suit on contracts.
(4) Suit on torts.
(5) Act of State.
(6) "Can sue or be sued".
(7) Writ proceedings.
(8) Contempt of Court.
(9) Proceedings pending at commencement of the Constitution.
(10) States.
(11) Personal exemption of President or Governor.
(12) State as juristic person.
(13) Crown, when bound by statute.
(14) Duty of the executive to obey the law.
(15) Suit against the railway.
(16) Local jurisdiction.

1. Scope, object and applicability.

——Art. 300 (1) — Scope — Suits by or against Government.

Article 300 (1), of the Constitution consists of three parts. The first part, deals with the question about the form and the cause-title for a suit intended to be filed by or against the Government of India, or the Government of a State. The second part provides, inter alia, that a State may sue or be sued in relation to its affairs in cases like those in which a corresponding Province might have sued or been sued if the Constitution had not been enacted. In other words, when a question arises as to whether suit can be filed against Government of a State, the enquiry has to be: could such a suit have been filed against a corresponding Province if the Constitution had not been passed? The third part of the article provides that it would be competent to the Parliament or the Legislature of a State to make appropriate provisions in regard to the topic covered by Art. 300 (1). But when no such law has been passed by the Government concerned, the liability of the Government concerned would have to be determined by the second part as mentioned above. Kasturi Lal Ratia Ram Jain v. State of U. P., 1965 (2) Cri LJ 144: ILR (1965) 2 All 175: (1965) 1 SCWR 995: (1965) 2 SCJ 318: (1965) 2 Mad LJ (SC) 15: (1965) 2 Andh WR (SC) 15: 1965 Mad LJ (Cri) 571: (1965) 1 SCA 809: AIR 1965 SC 1039 (1040) (Pt B) (Pr 14).

——Art. 300 — Contract by Government of Vindhya Pradesh a Part C State — Suit against Government —Form of — Proper defendant was State of Vindhya Pradesh and not Union of India as S. 79 (a) C. P. C. did not apply to a Part C State. See C. P. Code (1908), S. 79. (1961) 2 SCJ 549: AIR 1962 SC 145.

——Art. 300 — State's liability for own acts or acts of its officers — Liabilities of the Government of India were the same as those of East India Company. See C. P. Code (1908), S. 79. AIR 1957 Cal 617 (DB).

——Art. 300 — The State in India claims no exemption from liability to be sued in its own Courts when the cause of action arises, either in contract or tort against a State Railway. See Letters Patent (Cal) Cl. 12. 90 Cal LJ 25: AIR 1953 Cal 1.

——Art. 300 — Applicability — Applies to proceedings by way of suit against the State or the Union of India — Does not apply to contempt proceedings against the State. ILR (1953) 1 Cal 355: 56 Cal WN 387: 1953 Cri LJ 136: AIR 1952 Cal 919 (921, 922, 926, 927) (Pt A) (Prs 5, 6, 28, 29) (DB).

——Art. 300 — Right of suit against State —Sovereign acts — Government of India Act (1858), S. 65 — Government of India Act (1915), S. 32— Government of India Act (1935), S. 176.

When Crown took over the Government of India from the hands of the East India Company, it was provided by S. 65 of the Government of India Act, 1858, that every person shall have the same remedies against the Secretary of State in Council as he might have had against the East India Company, if the Government of India Act, 1858, had not been passed. This provision was reproduced in S. 32 of the Government of India Act, 1915 and the Government of India Act of 1935, also mentioned that position mutatis mutandis, and the present Constitution makes no departure therefrom. The doctrine of immunity of the Sovereign had been extended to the East India Co in respect of its 'sovereign acts'. The East India Company was held not to be liable for acts done by the Company or its servants, in the exercise of its 'sovereign powers', and, consequently, the Company's successor, which was the Secretary of State for some time and the Indian Union of the States subsequently, is entitled to the same privilege. 26 Cut LT 392: AIR 1961 Orissa 124 (127, 128) (Pt B) (Pr 5) (DB).

——Art. 300 — S. 70 of Contract Act — Supply of hard coke by plaintiff to Military Department of Government of India — Supply rejected as being not up to specification — Direction as to its disposal given by Deputy Coal Commissioner — Suit by plaintiff to recover price is governed not by S. 70, Contract Act, but by Rr. 8 and 10-A Colliery Control Order, 1945 — Frame of suit — Suit brought against Union of India is not competent. See Contract Act (1872) S. 70. AIR 1959 Pat 347.

——Art. 300 — Liability of Crown for acts of its servants — Present position in India — Immunity of State for tortious acts — Exceptions to — See Torts. AIR 1954 Pat 513.

——Art. 300 — Scope. See Ibid, Art. 299 (2). 1954 Cri LJ 1593: AIR 1954 Pat 513 (DB).

——Art. 300 — Scope — Suits by or against Government — Maintainability.

The Government can sue and be sued in Courts of law in the same way as ordinary persons sue and are sued, although there may in certain cases be limitations and reservations or exceptions specifically provided by the legislature. Art. 300 of the Constitution contains the legal authority for the Government of India or the Government of any State to sue or be sued. State of Punjab v. Okara Buyers Syndicate, Ltd. 60 Punj LR 546: ILR (1958) Punj 2201: AIR 1958 Punj 456 (457) (Pt B) (Pr 7) (FB).

——Art. 300 — State or Government — If person — Capacity of State to sue and be sued — It is true that the State is capable of suing and being sued but that is not because the State is a person but because Art. 300 of the Constitution has made an express provision in that behalf. See Ibid, Art. 14. AIR 1957 Punj 150 (DB).

——Art. 300 — Suits against Government — Maintainability — Part B States — Position in United State of Rajasthan including Kotah State — Rajasthan Administration Ordinance (I of 1948), S. 17 — Hidayat Gair Mansookh Shuda Seege Diwani (Kotah) Hidayat No. 22 (as amended in 1947).

Under Art. 300, the position of the States which formed part of British India before Independence and that of the Union of India remained the same as it was under S. 176 of the Government of India Act, 1935, S. 32 of the Government of India Act, 1919 and S. 65 of the Government of India Act, 1858. Suits could be filed against the East India Company in matters in which no suit lay under the Common Law of England against the Crown. The position, in this connection, of an Indian State, however, is different for the reason that S. 176 of the Government of India Act, 1935 and the corresponding sections of the earlier Government of India Acts did not apply to them. The United State of Rajasthan could sue and be sued under Art. 300. Thus the position of the State of Rajasthan to sue and be sued cannot be determined on the basis of the position of the East India Company before the year 1858. AIR 1957 Raj 305 held not dealt with properly in the light of law applicable to it.

A Sovereign State cannot be sued in its own Courts or in any other without its consent, but it may waive this privilege. S. 17 of Rajasthan Administration Ordinance No. 1 of 1948, contains a specific provision about the consent of the United State of Rajasthan for being sued in its own courts. In this provision, unlike Art. 300, no limitation whatsoever has been provided as regards the nature of the suits which might be brought against the State.

After the repeal of Hidayat 22, and the substitution of a new provision in 1947, suits could be filed against the Kotah State or its departments after serving a notice under S. 80 of the Civil Procedure Code without obtaining permission of the Darbar. The laws in force in Kotah State were continued by S. 3 of Rajasthan Ordinance No. 1 of 1948. By the provision of S. 17 of Ordinance No. 1 of 1948 the same position was reiterated and extended throughout the territories of the United State of Rajathan. 1960 Raj LW 225: ILR (1960) 10 Raj 784: AIR 1961 Raj 64 (67, 68, 69) (Pt A) (Pr 12) (DB).

——Art. 300 — Suit against State Government for wrongful act of Government servant — Parties — Government servant need not be impleaded where no relief is sought against him.

In a suit against the State Government for compensation for wrongful detention, it is not necessary to implead as a party the Government servant under whose orders the plaintiff was detained when no relief is sought against him. It is open to the plaintiff to sue the servant and the master both or only one of them. 1960 Raj LW 225: ILR (1960) 10 Raj 784: AIR 1961 Raj 64 (69) (Pt B) (Pr 13) (DB).

2. In what cases suit will lie against Government — General principles.

(a) Maintainability of suit.

(b) Vicarious liability.

(c) Suit against new State.

(d) Principal and agent.

(e) Extent of State liability.

2. In what cases suit will lie against Government — General principles

■ ——Art. 300 — Regulations — Contravention of — Right of action in Court — Executive orders passed after enquiry — Variation of — Effect — Birth date fixed for service book — Not a date for all departments. See Travancore Service Regulations. AIR 1958 Ker 1 (FB).

2 (a). Maintainability of suit.

——Art. 300 —Suit against Union of India —Maintainability — C.P.C. (1908), S. 9 — Government of India Act (1935), S. 176 — Government of India Act (1915), S. 32.

The Union of India is liable to be sued for all acts arising out of breaches of the Municipal law in the same way as a private individual. Case law discussed.

In this view, the Union of India can be sued for conversion of a large quantity of earth dug and removed from the land belonging to the plaintiff and laid on the railway track. ILR (1951) 3 Assam 279: AIR 1952 Assam 141 (145) (Pt D) (Pr 26) (DB).

——Arts. 300 & 311 — Civil servant — Wrongful dismissal from service — Suit for damages against Government — Maintainable — Measure of damages.

A Civil servant wrongly dismissed from service in breach of S. 240 (3) of the Government of India Act, 1935, or Art. 311 (2) of the Constitution of India is entitled to maintain a suit for damages for wrongful dismissal. The measure of damages is the loss suffered by reason of such dismissal. AIR 1958 Cal 407, Rel. on. AIR 1962 Cal 349 (359, 360) (Pt C) (Prs 35, 36).

——Arts. 300 (1) and 310 — Suit by member of Armed Services against termination of service — Maintainability. See Patiala State Forces Regulation (1930), Regulation 39. ILR (1965) 1 Punj 752: 67 Punj LR 504: 1965 Cur LJ 269.

——Arts. 300 and 310 (1) — Suit by railway servant against Union of India for arrears of salary — Maintainability — Railway Establishment Code, Vol. I, Form No. 1 in Appendix 24 and Vol. II, Paragraph 2003, Item 24.

The plaintiff, a railway employee, held the substantive post of a station master in Grade II. Subsequently, though the plaintiff was selected as a Station Master Grade IV on a higher scale of pay he was not promoted to that post. Pending his representation to the higher authorities the scales of pay of the various grades were revised and the old employees were required to exercise their option within a prescribed time either to retain the existing scales or to come in the new scales. The plaintiff opted provisionally for the new scales pending the decision of his representations. The plaintiff was promoted to grade V and he continued to draw his salary for that grade under the old scale. Subsequently, on discovery of the mistake his pay was reduced to the minimum prescribed for Grade V under the new scales. The plaintiff filed a suit claiming that he was entitled to the old scale applicable to Grade V and also claimed a certain amount representing the difference between the two scales.

Held, on facts (i) that the option exercised by the plaintiff was to be treated either as provisional or in view of paragraph 2 (c) of the circular he should be deemed to have retained the existing scales of pay.

(ii) that the combined effect of item 24 of paragraph 2003 (Vol. II, Railway Establishment Code, Second Reprint) read with Form No. 1 in appendix 24 to Vol. I of that Code, when applied to the case of the plaintiff would be that he was entitled during the relevant period to the old scale of pay of the Station Master of the Fifth Grade.

(iii) That as the plaintiff must be deemed to have been placed in the old scales, he was entitled to draw pay in that scale, and on the authority of 1954 SCJ 300 : AIR 1954 SC 245, Abdul Majid's case, the suit, so far as the relief of arrears of salary was concerned, was maintainable. AIR 1955 Punj 122, Dist. AIR 1961 Punj 329 (330, 331) (Pt A) (Prs 7 to 9).

2 (b). Vicarious liability.

——Art. 300 — Tortious act of Government servant — Vicarious liability of the State — Acts done in purported exercise of delegated authority — State cannot be held liable for acts of the servant concerned.

Where a Government servant acts in the discharge of his statutory duties or in exercise of delegated sovereign power, the State is not vicariously liable for any loss caused to the subject resulting from the servant concerned's misconduct or negligence.

This would be so even where the servant concerned abuses powers vested in him for the simple reason that abuse of power does not mean absence of power. Abuse of power resulting in any injury to any person is certainly actionable as it results in withdrawal of any immunity conferred by law from the person guilty of such abuse. But action for such an act shall be against the officer concerned personally.

The Station Officer, in the instant case, who seized the plaintiff-respondent's goods acted in the discharge of his statutory duty. Therefore, the State was not liable vicariously, for any loss to the plaintiffs resulting from Station Officer's misconduct or negligence or misconduct of other State official or officials. AIR 1962 SC 933, Dist. C. A. No. 105 of 1963 Dated 20-9-1964 (SC), Foll. (1861) 4 HCR App. 1, Ref. 1965 All LJ 823.

——Arts. 300, 265 and 31 (1)—Illegal seizure of goods in execution of certificate under S. 46 (2), I. T. Act — It is wrongful deprivation of property —Action of attaching officer not empowered by law within meaning of expression "levy and collection" in Art. 265 — Immunity of Government for acts of subordinates in exercise of sovereign powers is not a dogma and has to be considered on facts of each case.

Where in execution of a certificate under S. 46 (2) Income Tax Act, goods of the assessee in possession of a pledgee are attached by the Revenue Officer under Ss. 150 and 154 of the Bombay Land Revenue Code the Revenue Officer acts in excess of his authority and the attachment is illegal and not merely irregular.

When the goods are damaged while in the custody of the Government and the pledgee files a suit against the revenue officers in their official as well as private capacities, for recovery of amount due from the pledgor which he could not recover due to illegal action of the officers, the gravamen of the charge is illegal action of the defendants and not negligence by them. Cause of action is not supplied by decay caused to goods when in Government custody but upon illegal seizure. In such a case question of special authorisation to Revenue Officer or subsequent ratification by higher officers would not arise, because the revenue officers had acted for the benefit of Government.

When the conduct of Government servants in the discharge of Governmental functions was questionable, the Government could not be held liable unless it was established that those acts had been done under the orders of the Government or had been subsequently adopted and ratified by it. The question of ratification arises only when Government is sought to be held liable for tort committed by its servants in the discharge of sovereign functions. If the act is ratified, the Government becomes liable notwithstanding that the act was in the discharge of sovereign functions. AIR 1962 All 233, Ref.: AIR 1915 Mad 434 and AIR 1944 FC 41, Distinguished.

The action taken by the Revenue Officer in seizing the goods was not empowered by law within the meaning of the expression "levy and collection" in Art. 265. It is on that ground also that the act was illegal. At the same time, in view of the fact that the Revenue Officer was exercising delegated authority, he cannot be taken to be doing an act in the discharge of his statutory duties. ILR 28 Bom 314 and AIR 1950 All 206 and AIR 1956 All 75 and AIR 1961 Madh Pra 316, Distinguished.

The acts of levying of a tax and its recovery are acts done in the exercise of sovereign functions. At the same time, the provisions of Article 265 of the Constitution of India which lays down that no tax shall be levied or collected except by authority of law or the provisions of Article 31 (1) which lay down that no person shall be deprived of his property save by the authority of law, cannot be ignored. But in the present case, the Revenue Officer has proceeded to levy and recover the tax without any authority and, in fact, beyond the authority. The immunity of the State in respect of acts done by its subordinates in the exercise of sovereign powers cannot be considered as a dogma or a mantra and will have to be considered on the facts of each case. The act is purported to be done under the authority of Ss. 150 and 154 of the Land Revenue Code, but it is found that the act is not only illegal but unconstitutional. ILR 5 Mad 273, Relied on.: (Suit decreed against the Union of India and the Collector, Mamlatdar and the Circle Officer in their official capacity and not in their private capacity) 67 Bom LR 824 : AIR 1966 Bom 134 (140 141, 143, 145) (Pt A) (Prs 8 to 10, 14).

——Art. 300 — Public servant acting within the scope of his authority receiving payments and embezzling money — Liability of State for fraudulent act of public servant — (T. C. Revenue Recovery Act (7 of 1951), S. 4).

Where the Proverthicar acting within the scope of his authority under S. 4 of the T. C. Revenue Recovery Act, 1951, receives certain payment made by the plaintiff and later embezzles the money, the State cannot plead that the payment is not valid so long as it is not alleged or proved that the plaintiff was a party to such fraud. ILR (1957) Kerala 31 : 1957 Ker LT 193 : (1957) 8 STC 502 :AIR 1957 Ker 40 (41) (Pt B) (Pr 4) (DB).

——Art. 300 — Liability of State for acts of its officers — Seizure of logs of wood cut by plaintiff from the forest by officer — Order of Board of Revenue asking officer to return property to plaintiff.

Held, on facts that so far as the seizure of logs cut from the village forest was concerned, it was perfectly in pursuance of the statutory provisions. But the moment the order fining the plaintiff and confiscating the timber was set aside by the Board of Revenue with express direction to return the timber there was hardly anything left to be performed by the revenue authorities under any statutory provisions. The refusal to return or the inaction on the part of the revenue authorities in the matter of returning the timber was not under any statutory powers. It was thus a simple case where the State would be deemed to have held the property through its officers for the benefits of the plaintiff and the suit to claim the same being in the nature of an action in detenue based upon its wrongful detention. It was certainly not an action for wrongful conversion. AIR 1958 SC 274, Rel. on. ILR (1962) Madh Pra 710 : 1963 MPLJ 136 : 1963 Jab LJ 311 : AIR 1963 Madh Pra 174 (175, 176) (Pr 6) (DB).

——Art. 300 — Tort by Government servant — Servant discharging duty imposed by law — Government not liable.

The Sub-divisional Officer starting proceedings against a proprietor for illegal cutting of trees on his land under Rr. 5 and 9 framed by the State Government under S. 202 of the C. P. Land Revenue Act (II of 1917) exercises statutory powers and duties imposed on him by the legislature, and the Government is not liable for tort committed by such officer in the course of such duty. 1961 MPC 267 : 1961 MPLJ 456 : 1961 Jab LJ 601 : AIR 1961 Madh Pra 316 (317, 320) (Pt A) (Prs 9, 20) (DB).

——Art. 300 — Liability of State for acts of its servants — State claiming immunity from liability on ground that act was done in performance of sovereign function — Pleading and proof — Absence of — Effect. See Tort. AIR 1960 Mys 222.

——Art. 300 —Liability of Government for negligence of its servants — (Tort — Master and Servant — Vicarious liability) — (Banker and customer) — (C. P. Code (1908), S. 9) — (Bihar and Orissa Local Self Government Act (III of 1835), S. 138 —Rules under — Rr. 22, 23, 25, 27, 38, 40).

The treasury had issued the cheque-book on the basis of a forged requisition form; the treasury had also received a forged memorandum conveying the intimation that this new cheque-book had been brought into use on 18th October, 1944 and further the treasury had made payments on the basis of certain cheques, bearing forged signatures of the chairman and a member of the Finance Committee of the District Board. All the payments under these forged cheques were made because of negligence and want of proper care on the part of the officers of the treasury as they failed to compare the signature of the Chairman, appearing either on the red requisition form or on the cheques, with the specimen signature of the Chairman kept in the custody of the Accountant of the treasury.

Held, that when the duty to be performed is imposed by law, and not by the will of the employer, the employer is not liable for the wrong done by the agent in such employment. In the present case the officers of the treasury were performing duties imposed upon them by law and not by the will of their employer. Powers and duties, which are fixed by law, are governmental and not commercial and acts done in the exercise of these powers, or in the purported fulfilment of those duties are not within the rule of vicarious liability. The State could not be said to be engaged in the conduct of a business or commercial undertaking as though the State was conducting a sort of business of banking in opening treasuries. It was impossible to hold that the State was engaged in an undertaking which was of a character of private business and it was liable for damages as the act of negligence was committed by its servants in the course of employment and in the discharge of duties which were incidental to the conduct of a private business. Case-law discussed. 1954 BLJR 603 : AIR 1954 Pat 529 (533, 534, 536, 538, 539) (Pt C) (Prs 17, 23, 33, 41, 44 to 46) (DB).

●——Art. 300 — Liability of State for tortious act of its servant — Suit against Union of India for tort of military driver — Tort committed while transporting coal to Army General Headquarters — Suit maintainable. AIR 1961 Punj 336 (FB) and AIR 1957 Raj 305, Rel. on; AIR 1959 Punj 39, Disting — Government's immunity from actions in respect of acts of its servants is limited to cases involving Acts of State. Union of India v. Jasso, 64 Punj LR 318 : ILR (1962) 1 Punj 708 : AIR 1962 Punj 315 (317, 318) (Prs 6, 8) (FB).

●——Art. 300 (1) — Liability of State for the tortious act of servants — Test.

By virtue of Art. 300 and the corresponding provisions in the previous Constitution Acts since 1858, the liability of the State is exactly the same as that of the East India Company prior to 1858 and there has been no change in the substantive law relating to tortious liability of the State. The basis of the vicarious liability of the master is that he has absolute power and discretion in the matter of employment and is able to get rid of his servant at will, and further that the servant acts, in the course of his employment, for the benefit of his master. Should it, therefore, appear that a servant employed by the State has acted for the benefit of the State and has in the process committed a tort, the State would be held liable to make good the damage. The State is not absolutely immune from liability.

Where a truck belonging to the Public Works Department driven by the driver in the employment of the Department struck against a motor cycle and as the result of the negligent act the person riding the motor-cycle was seriously injured:

Held, that his employer, although the State, must shoulder the responsibility for his negligent act committed in the course of his employment just as an ordinary employer would. Rup Ram Kalu Ram Aggarwal v. Punjab State, ILR (1961) 2 Punj 325: 63 Punj LR 231: (1961) 1 Lab LJ 740 : AIR 1961 Punj 336 (337 to 340) (Prs 8, 10, 12) (FB).

——Art. 300 — Tort — Negligent driving by military driver while supplying meals to military personnel on duty resulting in death of passer-by — Suit for damages against Union of India — Maintainability.

Where as a result of rash and negligent act of a driver of a truck of the Military Department of the Union of India, while he was engaged in military duty in supplying meals to military personnel on duty, the plaintiff's father is knocked down and run over, there is no cause of action against the Union of India for the tort of its servant. 5 Bom HCR Appendix A, p. 1, Rel. on; ILR 40 Cal 391, Ref. 61 Punj LR 30 : ILR (1958) Punj 923: AIR 1959 Punj 39.

——Art. 300 — Liability of State for acts of its public servants subsequently ratified.

An act done for another by a person not assuming to act for himself but for such other person, though without any precedent authority from the former, becomes the act of the principal, if subsequently ratified by him, and in that case the principal would be bound by the act, whether it be for his detriment or his advantage, and whether it be founded on a tort or a contract, to the same extent as if it were done by his previous authority.

Again, the same principle would be applicable where acts, other than an act of State, are done by public servants for or in the name of their employer, the State, where such acts are ratified by subsequent approval, in much the same way as private transactions. 1962 Raj LW 49 : ILR (1961) 11 Raj 1133 : AIR 1962 Raj 36 (40) (Pt B) (Prs 12, 13).

——Art. 300 — Suit against Government for compensation for act of Commissioner in ordering wrongful detention under delegated powers — Not maintainable — Maxim 'Respondeat Superior' — Law of Principal and Agent — Applicability — Rajasthan Public Safety Ordinance (IX of 1948), Ss. 3 (1), 43.

Where the Commissioner acting under the powers delegated under S. 43 of the Rajasthan Public Safety Ordinance, IX of 1948, issues warrants of arrest under S. 3 (1) against the plaintiff which action was subsequently approved by the State Government and the order of the Commissioner is found not to have been passed in good faith, a suit by the plaintiff for damages for false imprisonment does not lie against the State Government. The delegation of the power to the Commissioner under S. 43 did not make him an agent of the Government in the ordinary sense of the term for the reason that the Commissioner, after he was clothed with the powers to act under S. 3, had to exercise his own discretion in the matter. The power delegated was a statutory one and in exercising that power, the Commissioner did not act as an agent of the Government.

The maxim 'Respondeat Superior' has no application, nor does the ordinary law relating to principal and Agent, apply to such cases. Whatever wrong he does is his own and not that of his employer, the officer performing such a statutory duty is not obeying any command of the State, but that of the law.: AIR 1916 Mad 1157, and ILR 28 Bom 314 (325) and 16 Ind Cas 714 (Bom), Foll.

The Commissioner not being an agent of the Government, his act in ordering the detention of the plaintiff cannot be said to have been performed on behalf of the Government. Government could not, therefore, ratify it even though it may have approved of the action of the Commissioner. AIR 1951 SC 245, Disting. 1960 Raj LW 225: ILR (1960) 10 Raj 784 : AIR 1961 Raj 64 (71, 72) (Pt E) (Prs 21, 23, 32) (DB).

——Art. 300 — Liability of State for acts of its servants — Act done in exercise of sovereign powers and acts done in conduct of undertakings which may as well be carried on by private individuals — Distinction — Death caused by rash and negligent driving by Government employee — Liability of Government for damages — Law in England and India. See Tort — Vicarious liability. AIR 1957 Raj 305 (DB).

2 (c). Suit against new State.

●——Art. 300 (1) — Service in former Wadhwan State —Formation of Saurashtra State — All existing law in Wadhwan State continued till repealed — No law repealing Dhara No. 29 of Svt. 2004 was passed by Saurashtra State—Rights of plaintiff were, therefore, carried over when Indian Republic was formed — As plaintiff became an Indian citizen, repudiation as an act of State was not possible — Covenant entered into respecting condition of services —Right of servant under existing law not taken away — Compulsory retirement by Saurashtra State — Obligation of the Ruler passed to Saurashtra State — Plaintiff appellant could enforce his right under the existing law — Suit maintainable. Bholanath v. State of Saurashtra, 1955-1 Lab (SC) 355: AIR 1954 SC 680 (682) (Pr 13).

●——Art. 300 — Contractual liabilities of covenanting Dholpur State — Liabilities devolved on United State of Rajasthan and then on present State of Rajasthan— Liabilities are enforceable in present State of Rajasthan. See Ibid, Art. 295. AIR 1960 Raj 256 (FB).

——Art. 300 — International Law — Suit for damages against new State for torts committed by former State which has ceased to exist — Suit is not maintainable — (Torts) — (International Law). AIR 1924 PC 216 and AIR 1958 SC 816, Rel. on. 1960 Raj LW 132 : ILR (1959) 9 Raj 1277 : AIR 1960 Raj 49 (50, 51, 55) (Pt A) (Prs 8, 9, 19) (DB).

2 (d). Principal and Agent.

——Art. 300 — State and Public Servant — Authority to purchase on behalf of State — Liability of State — Unauthorised purchase — State not liable. See Principal and Agent. 1962 Mys LJ (Supp) 527.

——Arts. 300, 299 — Government servant entering into contract on behalf of Government— Unauthorised provision inserted in contract — No ratification by Government — Provision is not binding on Government.

Held, that when a particular statute requires a particular act to be done in a specified manner to be valid and binding, it must be done in that manner and any violation of the provisions of the statute will render the act so done unenforceable at law. The acts of a Government Officer bind the Government only when he is acting in the discharge of a certain duty within the limits of his authority or if he exceeds that authority when the Government, in fact or in law, directly or by implication, ratifies the excess. As the Superintending Engineer had no authority to bind the State of Orissa for the payment of sales tax, to that extent the contract must be held to be void. (1883) 8 AC 517 and 8 Moo Ind App 529 (PC) and AIR 1950 Mad 194; AIR 1930 Lah 364, Rel. on; ILR 26 Cal 701 (PC) and AIR 1954 SC 236 and AIR 1922 All 324 and AIR 1915 Cal 54 and AIR 1955 SC 468, Dist. (1961) 3 Orissa JD 289: AIR 1962 Orissa 117 (121 to 123) (Pt A) (Prs 13, 14, 19) (DB).

——Arts. 300, 299 — Government servant entering into contract on behalf of Government — Unauthorised provision inserted in contract — No ratification by Government — Provision is not binding on Government. See Ibid, Art. 299. AIR 1962 Orissa 117.

2 (e). Extent of State liability.

——Art. 300 — Liability of State — Extent of — Illegal attachment by tahsildar — Government is not liable for tort — Officer effecting illegal attachment cannot be sued in his official capacity. See Tort — Government Servant. (1965) 1 An WR 183: AIR 1965 Andh Pra 457 (DB).

3. Suits on contracts.

——Art. 300 — Contracts by Government — Formal document — Necessity.

Contracts by the Government may be embodied in formal documents and even if no formal document is necessary, the correspondences embodying the contract must ex facie show that the contract was entered into by Government or on behalf of the Government. (1961) 3 Orissa JD 289: AIR 1962 Orissa 117 (119) (Pt B) (Pr 8) (DB).

——Art. 300 — Contract between citizen and State — Realisation of contractual dues by State.

For realisation of purely contractual dues from an individual with whom a State has entered into contract, the State is in the same position as any other citizen in the State. Unless there is a statutory liability imposed by any Act or some other legislative sanction the dues to the State are to be governed by the same law as other contractual dues. ILR (1959) Cut 365.

4. Suits on torts.

●——Art. 300 — Tortious acts committed by public servants in course of employment and in exercise of statutory functions delegated to them by Government — State is immune from liability — Claim for damages held not sustainable. See Torts— Negligence. 1965 (2) Cri LJ 144: AIR 1965 SC 1039.

●——Art. 300 — Tortious act by servant of State of Rajasthan — Act done in the course of employment but not in connection with sovereign powers of State — Still the State like any other employer is vicariously liable.

Where the driver of a jeep, owned and maintained by the State of Rajasthan for the official use of the Collector of a district, drove it rashly and negligently, while bringing it back from the workshop after repairs and knocked down a pedestrian and fatally injured him.

Held, that the State can be made vicariously liable for the tortious act, like any other employer. The State of Rajasthan cannot escape liability so long as there is nothing to show that its predecessor, the Union of Rajasthan, as it was brought into existence by the last stage of integration, just before the coming into effect of the Constitution, was not liable by any rule of positive enactment or by Common Law. State of Rajasthan v. Mst. Vidhyawati, (1963) 1 SCJ 307: (1963) 1 Mad LJ (SC) 70: (1963) 1 Andh WR (SC) 70: 1962 Supp (2) SCR 989: (1962) 2 SCA 362: AIR 1962 SC 933 (935 to 940) (Prs 4 to 7, 9, 10, 14, 15).

——Art. 300 —Suit against State Government on tort — Tortious act of Government or its servants — Government cannot claim immunity.

Government cannot claim sovereign immunity against liability for its own tortious acts or those of its servants and agents. The State, therefore, cannot claim that the requistitioning of a motor vehicle under the U. P. Requisition of Motor Vehicles Emergency Powers Act is an act of State for which it can claim sovereign immunity. AIR 1957 Raj 305, Rel. on. AIR 1962 All 233 (235, 236) (Pt A) (Pr 8).

——Art. 300 — Suit against Government on tort — U. P. Requisition of Motor Vehicles Emergency Powers Act (U. P. Act 27 of 1947), S. 9 and S. 3 — Delegation of power — Officer requisitioning motor vehicles under S. 3 in exercise of power delegated to him under S. 9 — Tortious act of Government — Officer acts as its agent.

An officer who requisitions a motor vehicle under S. 3 of the U. P. Requisition of Motor Vehicles Emergency Powers Act, under the authority of an order passed by the State Government delegating its powers to him, acts on behalf of and for the benefit of Government and does not, for the purpose of tortious liability, exercise any functions imposed upon him by law but acts as an agent of the Government which will be liable for his wrongful acts. AIR 1956 All 75 and AIR 1932 All 575 and AIR 1950 All 206, Disting. AIR 1962 All 233 (236, 237) (Pt B) (Pr 12).

——Art. 300 — Suit against Government for tort of its employees — Loss of property through negligence of officers in discharge of their legal duty — Government not liable — Tort — Negligence.

The Government is not liable for the negligence of its officers while acting in discharge of their legal duty. Where the property suspected to be stolen was seized by the police officers and kept in their custody in the police Malkhana in the exercise of their statutory duty under the relevant provisions of the Cr. P. Code, the police officers were not acting as servants of the Government but were acting in the discharge of their statutory duty and were not amenable to the control of the Government in the discharge of their duty, so that the Government, even though it is their employer, would not be liable for their negligence. AIR 1950 All 209; AIR 1956 All 75, Foll; 1959 ALJ 845, Distinguished. 1960 All WR (HC) 394: 1960 All LJ 529.

——Art. 300 — Suits on torts — Tortious act of Government servant ratified by Government—Suit for compensation against Government is maintainable.

The State Government, when it ratifies the illegal acts of its officers committed by them in excess of the powers conferred by the statute and in consequence reaps benefit therefrom, becomes liable for the acts of its officers and a suit for damages for tortious acts of those servants will lie against it. 26 Cut LT 605: (1960) 2 Orissa JD 353.

——Art. 300 —Vicarious liability — Principle of — How far applicable to State — State taking over management of plaintiff's estate under Bihar Act 21 of 1949 — Loss caused to plaintiff due to wilful default or gross negligence of estate manager — State held liable. See Master and Servant. AIR 1964 Pat 13.

——Art. 300 — Liability of Union of India to be sued in Tort — Central Excises and Salt Act (1944), S. 40. 1958 Pat LR 139: 1958 BLJR 354: AIR 1958 Pat 439 (440, 441) (Prs 2 to 4) (DB).

——Art. 300 — Liability of State for acts of its servants — Death caused by rash and negligent driving by Government employee — Liability of Government for damages. 1957 Raj LW 404: ILR (1957) 7 Raj 773: AIR 1957 Raj 305.

5. Act of State.

——Art. 300 — Act of State. See C. P. Code, (1908), S. 9. 1959 All LJ 845.

——Art. 300 — Civil P. C. (1908), S. 9 — Act of State when justified. See Civil P. C. (1908), S. 9. AIR 1953 Assam 116 (DB).

——Art. 300 — Act of State, liability for — Trespass by servants of State for Government purposes — Trespass accompanied by damage to property — State is liable for damages. See Civil P. C. (1908), S. 9. AIR 1953 Assam 116.

——Art. 300 — Act of State — Liability to be sued. See Civil P. C. (1908), S. 9. (1953) 55 Bom LR 746: AIR 1954 Bom 129 (DB).

——Art. 300 — Act of state — Formation of State of Travancore-Cochin was act of State but not formation of Kerala State — Plaintiff's claim to annuity recognised by State of Travancore-Cochin — Suit for such claim against Kerala State entertainable by municipal Court. See Ibid, Art. 3. AIR 1964 Ker 123 (DB).

——Art. 300 — Act of State — Law — Personal grant by ruler of Nabha as a sovereign— It is law — Grant repudiated by new Pepsu State— Repudiation is not act of State and is justiciable in municipal Courts—Act of State. ILR (1959) Punj 2341: AIR 1960 Punj 644 (645, 646) (Prs 4, 5).

6. "Can sue or be sued".

——Art. 300 — The expression "sue" includes execution proceedings. See Indian Independence Pakistan Court (Pending Proceedings) Act (1952), S. 3. AIR 1952 Assam 159 (166) (Pt D) (Pr 12) (DB).

——Art. 300 — 'Person' — Meaning — Includes Government — Suit against Rajasthan State Government for tortious act of Commissioner — Government can claim protection under S. 44 of Rajasthan Public Safety Ordinance, 1948 (9 of 1948) as bar to suit if other conditions laid down in the Section are satisfied. See Public Safety — Rajasthan Public Safety Ordinance, 1948, S. 44. AIR 1961 Raj 64 (DB).

7. Writ proceedings.

——Arts. 300 and 226 —Application for writ of certiorari by Union of India — Maintainability of.

The words "sue or be sued" appearing in section 176, Government of India Act, 1935 have been held to have included proceeding in certiorari. AIR 1950 SC 222 (236); 1950 SCJ 471; (1950) 2 MLJ 703 (SC), Rel. on.

The particular writ that a body like the Union of India can ask for is of course limited to the very nature of things. It cannot for example ask for a writ in the nature of habeas corpus and possibly not for a writ of quo warranto. However, it can ask for a writ in the nature of mandamus, prohibition or certiorari. Modern Legislation often confers rights and imposes liabilities upon the Government. As such, it cannot be denied the right to come up to the High Court for the enforcement thereof.

This unfettered right to apply for certiorari existed in the Dominion of India and can appropriately be invoked by the Indian Union, under the power vested in it by Art. 300. AIR 1955 Cal 581 (583, 584) (Pt B) (Prs 4, 6).

——Art. 300 — Petition for writ of mandamus against Collector and Assistant Collector — In view of S. 79 C. P. C., cannot be interpreted as directed against the State Government. See Ibid, Art. 226. AIR 1952 Him Pra 16.

——Arts. 300 and 226 — Art. 226 is not subject to provisions of Art. 300. ILR (1953) Punj 472: AIR 1953 Punj 137 (144, 145) (Pt B) (Pr 30) (DB).

8. Contempt of Court.

●——Art. 300 — Scope — Disobedience of order of temporary injunction by State — Expression 'person' in O. 39, R. 2 (3) is employed comprehensively and not for excluding any defendant— Can be proceeded against in contempt for disobedience of the order. State of Bihar v. Rani Sonabati, 1960 Mad WN 818: (1960) 2 Ker LR 681: 1961 SCD 173: 1961 BLJR 285: (1961) 1 SCA 399: (1961) 1 SCR 728: 1961 Pat LR (SC) 26: ILR 40 Pat 216: AIR 1961 SC 221 (228 to 230) (Pt C) (Prs 26, 28, 29, 35, 36).

——Art. 300 — Article applies to proceedings by way of suit against the State or the Union of India — Cannot be extended to apply to contempt proceedings. See Contempt of Courts Act (1926), S. 2. (1952) 56 Cal WN 387: AIR 1952 Cal 919 (DB).

9. Proceedings pending at the commencement of the Constitution.

——Art. 300 (2) (b) — Substitution under —Defence open to substituted State — Civil P. C. (1908), O. 22, R. 10 — Applicability.

The principles, which hold good in the case of a party substituted under O. 22, R. 10, C. P. Code cannot apply to the case of a State, which has been substituted in its constitutional right. The provisions for substitution contained in Art. 300 of the Constitution have been obviously made to cover those cases where the liability has been accepted by the succeeding State. It must be established that there is a right which can be enforced against the succeeding State. If the right itself has lapsed, then the substitution will not revive the plaintiff's right. In such a case, the substitution takes place for enabling the substituted State to resist the plaintiff's claim. ILR (1961) Bom 101: 62 Bom LR 735: AIR 1961 Bom 11 (19) (Pt E) (Pr 15) (DB).

——Art. 300 — Agreement before partition on behalf of Governor-General in Council. See Ibid, Art. 294 (b). AIR 1955 NUC (Cal) 2912 (DB).

——Art. 300 — Suit against East Indian Railway in the name of Dominion of India —In appeal arising out of suit name of Union of India substituted due to constitutional changes — Special power of attorney executed in favour of B by General Manager, East Indian Railway — In view of specific provision in Arts. 294 and 300 of the Constitution, continuity of proceedings is not in any way affected, in spite of the transfer of power from the Dominion of India to the Union of India. See Ibid, Art. 294. AIR 1956 Pat 511 (DB).

10. States.

——Arts. 300 and 295 (1) (b) and 294 (b) — Loss of goods by Nizam State Railway —Suit for damages against then Hyderabad Government — Maintainability of suit — Union Government— Its liability as successor Government. ILR (1957) Andh Pra 320: AIR 1958 Andh Pra 394 (395, 396) (Prs 5, 6).

——Art. 300—(Hyderabad) Suits Against Government Act (V of 1320 F), S. 3 — Validity. See (Hyderabad) Suits Against Government Act (V of 1320 F), S. 3. AIR 1958 Andh Pra 315 (DB).

——Art. 300 — Companies Act, 1956, S. 433 (e) — Application for winding up Tripura State Bank — Merger of State — Formation of State into Union Territory — Application for winding up filed by Tripura Administration — Competency. See Companies Act (1956), S. 433 (e). AIR 1959 Tri 41.

11. Personal exemption of President or Governor.

——Art. 300 — Arbitration Act (1940), S. 15 — Contract between contractor and Union of India but entered into in name of President of India — Arbitrator by mistake passing award against President — Mistake held could be corrected by Court under S. 15. See Arbitration Act (1940), S. 15. AIR 1964 Cal 91.

12. State as juristic person.

●——Art. 300 — Union and the States — Whether constitutional or juristic entities.

Under Article 300 of the Constitution, the Government of the Union and the Government of a State are enabled to sue and be sued in the name of Union of India and of the Government of the State, as the case may be. It would not, therefore, be improper to speak of the Union and the State as constitutional entities which have attributes defined by the Constitution. State of Punjab v. Okara Grain Buyers Syndicate, Ltd., Okara. (1964) 5 SCR 307 : (1964) 2 SCA 451 AIR 1964 SC 669 (679) (Pt B) (Pr 20).

——Art. 300 — Person — Includes Officer representing Food Department of W. B. State. See Municipalities — Calcutta Municipal Act (III of 1923), S. 386 (1) (a). 1955 Cri LJ 792 : AIR 1955 Cal 282 (DB).

[Reversed on another point in AIR 1960 SC 1355.]

——Art. 300 — "Person" — Meaning — Includes Government. See Public Safety — Rajasthan Public Safety Ordinance (9 of 1948), S. 44. AIR 1961 Raj 64 (DB).

——Arts. 300, 1, 239, 298 — State of Vindhya Pradesh is a legal entity capable of suing and being sued. See Ibid, Art. 1. AIR 1956 V. P. 1.

13. Crown, when bound by Statute.

●——Art. 300 — State — Whether bound by statute — English common law rule that Crown is not bound by any statute — Whether applies to India after the Constitution — Calcutta Municipal Act (3 of 1923), Ss. 386 (1) (a), 488 — Whether applies to Government — AIR 1955 Cal 282, Reversed; ILR 25 Mad 457, Overruled. Director of Rationing and Distribution v. Corporation of Calcutta. (1961) 1 SCR 158 : 1960 Cri LJ 1684 : 1960 Mad WN 797 : (1960) 2 Ker LR 656 : (1961) 1 SCJ 406 : (1961) 1 Andh WR (SC) 88 : (1961) 1 MLJ (SC) 88 : 1961 Mad LJ (Cri) 225 : (1961) 1 SCA 507 : AIR 1960 SC 1355.

●——Art. 300 — Crown prerogative — Priority of Crown debts — Common Law doctrine — Doctrine is not displaced by S. 46 (2), Income-tax Act (1922) or R. 22, Sch. II of Bengal Public Demands Recovery Act. See Income-tax Act (1922), S. 46. AIR 1965 SC 1061.

——Art. 300 — Crown how far bound by Statute —Legal proceedings against.

The Crown is not bound by a statute unless expressly named or bound by necessary implication. It is also a part of the common law that no proceeding, civil or criminal, is maintainable against the Crown in the ordinary Courts of law. 1951 MWN 391 : (1951) 1 Mad LJ 709 : AIR 1951 Mad 880 (881) (Pt B) (Pr 3) (DB).

——Art. 300 — S. 31 of Bih. Act 21 of 1949 — Person exercising rights under Statute is not liable unless it is proved that he acted unreasonably or negligently. See Bihar State Management of Estates and Tenures Act (21 of 1949), Section 31. AIR 1964 Pat 13.

14. Duty of the executive to obey the law.

——Art. 300 — Punjab Public Premises and Land (Eviction and Rent Recovery) Act (XXXI of 1959), Ss. 2 (3) and 4 — Government transferring premises to purchaser — Latter to hold them as absolute owner — Premises can not be said to be public premises — Government cannot resume premises by reference to S. 4 — Purchaser cannot be evicted in exercise of executive power — Constitution of India, Arts. 162, 299 and 300. AIR 1955 SC 549, Disting. See Houses and Rents — Punjab Public Premises and Land (Eviction and Rent Recovery) Act (XXXI of 1959), S. 2 (3). ILR (1965) 1 Punj 215.

15. Suit against the railway.

——Art. 300 — Wrongful detention of goods by railway owned by Government — Liability of Government to return goods. See Torts —Wrongful detention. AIR 1958 Cal 183.

——Art. 300 — Amendment of cause title or addition of party — Plaintiff describing defendant as Dominion of India through Governor-General of India —Notices under S. 77, Railways Act and S. 80, Civil P. C. served on G. I. P. and B. N. Railway Managers — Effect. See Civil P. C. (1908), S. 79. 1951 Nag LJ (Notes) 96.

——Art. 300 — Suit against Railway administered by Government — Summons or notice of suit on whom to be served — East Indian Railway — Notice to be served on General Manager. See C. P. Code (1908), S. 79. AIR 1956 Pat 511 (DB).

16. Local jurisdiction.

●——Art. 300 — Civil P. C. (1908), S. 20 (a) — Carries on business — Application to Government — Running of railways — Is a business even in hands of Government — Profit motive not necessary —Principal place of railway administration is place of business for S. 20. See Civil P. C. (1908), S. 20 (a). (1963) SCD 887 : AIR 1963 SC 1681.

——Art. 300 — Territorial jurisdiction of High Courts —High Court cannot issue a writ against Union of India. See Ibid, Art. 226. AIR 1955 All 468 (DB).

——Art. 300 —Suit against Government — Local jurisdiction of Courts. See Letters Patent (Cal) Cl. (12). AIR 1960 Cal 430 (DB).

——Art. 300 — Suit for damages for loss of goods by railway — Allegation that Union of India carried on business in the name of East India Railway at Calcutta —Suit instituted without obtaining leave under Cl. 12 — Maintainability. See Letters Patent (Calcutta), Cl. 12. (1958) 1 Cal LJ 67.

PRINTED BY G. D. KHANNA AT THE ALL INDIA REPORTER PRESS AND PUBLISHED BY D. V. CHITALEY, B.A., LL.B., ADVOCATE, FOR THE ALL INDIA REPORTER, LIMITED, AT NAGPUR.

FOR PERSONAL NOTES

FOR PERSONAL NOTES

FOR PERSONAL NOTES

7610
24.2.70.

A. I. R. Commentaries Judicially Appreciated

A.I.R. 1948 Patna 460 (462) (Pr. 9) [V 35 C 161] (D. B.)—Per Meredith J.—"I will make two quotations from Chitaley and Annaji Rao's annotated edition of the Civil Procedure Code, 4th Edn. Vol. III, because those learned commentators have, in my opinion, correctly summed up the position in language which cannot be bettered.

CONSTITUTION OF INDIA.

1961 Manipur 1 (4) (Pr. 11) [A.I.R. V 48 C 1]—Tirumalpad J. C.—"What is prohibited (in Art. 28 (1)) is begar and other similar forms of forced labour. The A. I. R. Commentaries on the Constitution of India at page 685 define 'begar' as a system under which persons are pressed to carry burdens for individuals or public or to perform other forms of menial service under compulsion".

1961 M. P. 216 (219) (Pr. 11) [A.I.R. V 48 C 70]—Shrivastava J.—"In this connection, we may refer to the following passage from the Constitution of India by Chitaley (Vol. 3), Art. 254, Note 17 (d) Pt. 5 : . . . . . ."

1956 All. 341 (345) (Pr. 33) [(S) A.I.R. V 43 C 126] (DB).—Desai J.—"Shri Jagdish Sahai could not cite any authority in support of his contention that the right given to the Court to draw an adverse inference is equal to compelling the accused to be a witness against himself. We notice that Chitaley in his Commentary on Constitution, Vol. I, pp. 497-498, does not see any conflict between the provisions of Art. 20 (3) and those of S. 342, Cr. P. C."

1956 J. & K. 1 (10) (Pr. 34) [(S) A.I.R. V 43 C 1] (F.B.)—Kilam J.—"The learned author Chitaley in his luminous commentary on the Constitution has, after discussing almost the whole case law on the subject, enunciated some principles which I might give more or less in his own language. According to the learned author . . . ." (Points from Note 8 (g) to Art. 21, p. 533 quoted.)

CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908.

1953 S. C. 23 (27) [A.I.R. V 40 C 7] —[Touching the revisional jurisdiction of the High Court set out in S. 115, Civil P. C.] "A large number of cases have been collected in Edn. 4 of Chitaley & Rao's Code of Civil Procedure (Vol. I) which only serve to show that the High Courts have not always appreciated the limits of the jurisdiction conferred by this section."

P. L. D. 1965 (W. P.) Lahore 590 (594, 595) (DB).—Sajjad Ahmad J.—"There has been a conflict of judicial opinion on the question of the applicability of this section to decrees in appeals under the Letters Patent. The High Courts of Bombay, Punjab, Madhya Pradesh and Madras have held that the section applies. The High Court of Patna took a contrary view (See Chitaley's Commentary on S. 114 of the Civil P. C.—headnote 1, at page 1507, Vol. II, 1963, Edition.) In a recent Full Bench decision reported in Jwala Prasad v. Jwala Bank Ltd., A. I. R. 1961 All. 381, the Allahabad High Court has held that . . . and has overruled an earlier decision to the contrary given by another Full Bench of the same Court reported in Mst. Abhilakhi v. Sada Nand, A. I. R. 1931 All. 244."

1965 All. 527 (531) (Pr. 28) [A. I. R. V 52 C 148] — Oak J. — "Mr. Brij Lal Gupta pointed out that the Court dealing with the matter in April 1947 was a Munsif. The present suit was tried by a Civil Judge. The valuation of the suit was Rs. 35,000. The Munsif had no jurisdiction to try the present suit. Under S. 11, C. P. C., the Court trying the former suit should have been competent to try the subsequent suit itself. (See Chitaley's Commentary on the Code of Civil Procedure Volume I, Page 415). (Now see 1963 (7th Edn.) pp. 379, 380)."

1955 Punj. 494 (496) [A.I.R. C 157 Pr 7]—Shamsher Bahadur J.—"The words 'for any other substantial cause' (in O. 41, R. 27 (b)) must be read with the word 'requires' in the beginning of the sentence and need not be construed in the narrow sense suggested by the doctrine of ejusdem generis . . . . . Reference may be made to Chitaley's Commentary on the Code of Civil Procedure, Vol. IV, at page 4819".

1965 Punj. 166 (168) (Pr. 7) [A. I. R. V 52 C 55]—Shamsher Bahadur J.—"Mr. S. L. Puri has further contended that O. 21, R. 15 is not concerned with disputes inter se the decree-holders and has relied on a passage in Chitaley's Code of Civil Procedure Vol. III, 7th edition, at page 2820. It is thus stated that . . . . . ." (Contention accepted.)

1965 Kerala 104 (105) (Pr. 3) — S. Velu Pillai J. — "The rights inter se of rival purchasers in sales in execution of decrees on mortgages, have been the subject of consideration in several decided cases. The result of these has been summarised as follows in A. I. R. Commentaries on Civil Procedure Code, Vol. 3, 1957 (6th) Edn. pp. 3791 and 3792. (Now see 1963 (7th Edn.), pp. 3807, 3808, O. 34, R. 1, N. 39, Pts. 26 to 34) . . . . . ."

('64) I. L. R. (1964) 1 Ker. 320 (322)—Madhavan Nair J. — "The A. I. R. Commentaries on the Code of Civil Procedure in Note No. 4 to O. 84, R. 7 put the position succinctly thus . . . . . ."

1963 Rajasthan 4 (5) (Pr. 3) [A.I.R. V 50 C 3]—Jagat Narayan J.—"There is conflict of opinion on the question whether an appeal lies against an order staying or refusing to stay an execution proceeding. The different views have been classified as follows by Chitaley in Note 44 to S. 47, Code of Civil Procedure: ".

COURT-FEES ACT, 1870 & SUITS VALUATION ACT, 1887.

1965 Punj. 1 (11) (Pr. 25) [A. I. R. V 52 C 1] (FB) — P. C. Pandit J. — "With regard to this definition (of 'consequential relief'), Chitaley in his Commentaries on the 'Court-fees Act and the Suits Valuation Act (Second Edition)', on page 185 has observed thus—".

1956 Madras 593 (595) (Pr. 8) [A. I. R. V 43 C 187]—Ramaswami J.—"The permutations and combinations which arise in regard to the procedure to be followed has been comprehensively and accurately summarised in the well-known A. I. R. Commentaries on the Court-fees Act and Suits Valuation Act (2nd Edn.) at page 871 as follows :—" [Quoted and relied upon]

CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, 1898.

('62) 1962 (1) Cr. L. J. 96 (98) (Pr. 13)—T. N. R. Tirumalpad J. C.—"This is the view which I find has been accepted as correct in the A. I. R. Commentaries to the Code of Criminal Procedure at Pages 880 and 881. It is seen from the said Commentaries that there is a conflict of decisions on the question . . . . . The Commentators are of the opinion that the view expressed in the Calcutta case is not the correct view. I certainly agree with the A. I. R. Commentaries on this point."

1958 All. 439 (442) (Pr. 14) [A.I.R. V 45 C 109] (DB)—James J.—"I would also refer to the opinion of the learned authors of the A.I.R. Commentary on the Code of Criminal Procedure, Vol. IV, 5th Edn., appended under S. 540 : . . . ."

LIMITATION ACT, 1908.

1963 Punj. 457 (459) (Pr. 7) [A. I. R. V 50 C 127]—Grover J.—"As stated in Chitaley's Limitation Act, (3rd Edition), Volume 1 Page 524, the words 'Stayed by an injunction or order' have reference to an order of a court and not to a disability to sue or to apply arising from other causes."

1961 Pat. 134 (137) (Pr. 18) [A.I.R. V 48 C 36]—Raj Kishore Prasad J. — "The question under consideration has been thoroughly and clearly dealt with in A.I.R. Commentaries on the Indian Limitation Act, 3rd Edition, Vol. I, Note 11, page 595, Note 18, pages 601-604 and Note 32 page 638."

1960 Kerala 306 (308) (Pr. 17) [A.I.R. V 47 C 144]—M. S. Menon and T. K. Joseph JJ. — "As pointed out by Chitaley : 'Where no time is fixed for delivery, if the correspondence between the parties shows that the matter was being enquired into and that there was no refusal to deliver up to well within a year of the suit, this article (Art. 31) cannot be pleaded as a bar . . . . . ' (Limitation Act, Vol. 2, Page 1187)".

1959 Mad. 26 (27, 28) (Pr. 10) [A.I.R. V 46 C 6]—Ramaswami J.—"This conflict of opinion has been settled by a Bench decision of this Court in Kamppanna Gounder v. Ponnuthayee, 1955-2 Mad. L J. (N. R. C.) 62=(A. I. R. 1956 Mad. 198). . . . . In this connection it is interesting to note that in the A. I. R. Commentaries on the Limitation Act, the view expressed in this Bench decision is submitted to be the correct view (Vol. I page 568)."

REGISTRATION ACT, 1908.

1960 Madh. Pra. 3 (Pr. 8) [A.I.R. V 47 C 2] — Dixit J.—"The prinolple laid down in I. L. R. 4 Bom. 126 has been followed in many cases which have been noted in Chitaley's Registration Act (Second Edition) at page 367. . . . . ."

1960 Mad. 244 (Pr. 9) [A.I.R. V 47 C 77] — Ramaswami J.—"It is interesting in this connection to note that the A. I. R. Commentaries on the Registration Act (Second Edition) at pages 526 to 530, after an elaborate discussion of the entire case-law and the principles of S. 77 of the Registration Act, mention at p. 530 that the view expressed by Abdur Rahman J. is correct."

STAMP ACT, 1899.

1967 Him. Pra. 29 (31) (Pr. 11) [A. I. R. V 54 C 9)—Om Prakash J. C.—"From the language, used in the document, it is capable of falling within the definition of a bond, as defined in sub-s. (5) (b) of S. 2, Stamp Act, and also within the definition of a promissory note, under sub-s. (22) of that section. The maxim being, specialia generalibus derogant, an instrument which satisfies the definition under sub-s. (5) (b) must be held to be taken out of the more general definition in sub-s. (22), vide A. I. R. Commentaries on the Stamp Act, p. 70."

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, 1882.

1964 Punj. 210 (211) (Pr. 4) [A.I.R. V 51 C 52] — S. S. Dulat Actg. C. J. and D. K. Mahajan J. — "It is significant that the provisions of this section (S. 111, T. P. Act) have never been applied as a rule of equity, justice or good conscience by any of the High Courts in the territories to which this provision is not made applicable under S. 1 of the T. P. Act, whereas a number of cases will be found at page 173, Note 4, of Chitaley's Transfer of Property Act, Vol. I, where principles underlying the provisions of the Transfer of Property Act have been so applied . . . . . ."

1961 Mad. 28 (30) (Pr. 7) [A. I. R. V 48 C 7] — Ramaswami J. — "In this connection the learned District Munsiff has pertinently pointed out the implications of the decision in Gopal Chandra Das v. Harendra Nath Datta, 68 Ind. Cas. 483 (Cal.) . . . . This decision has been cited with approval in the well-known commentaries on the Transfer of Property Act by Chitaley and Annaji Rao, Third Edition (1950), page 1861".

1957 Jammu and Kashmir 16 (Pr. 2) [A.I.R. V 44 C 13] — Shahmiri J.—"In this connection reference may also be invited to Note 9 under S. 114 of Chitaley's Transfer of Property Act, 3rd Edition at page 1898 which reads as follows :—. . . . ."

A. I. R. MANUAL (2ND EDN.) JUDICIALLY APPRECIATED

P. N. RAMASWAMI J. : — "A person who is in occupation of grazing land is its occupier within the meaning of this section, (S. 10 of the Cattle Trespass Act, 1871) and he is entitled to seize cattle within the meaning of this section, and he is entitled to seize cattle trespassing on such land and doing damage thereon. (For an exhaustive citation of the relevant cases see the most welcome 2nd (1960) Edn. of the A. I. R. Manual Vol. I referring to A. I. R. 1947 Pat. 172=47 Cri. L. J. 986 ; A. I. R. 1943 Sind 152=44 Cri. L. J. 761 ; A. I. R. 1916 Lah. 281=17 Cri. L. J. 63 ; A. I. R. 1919 Cal. 93=20 Cri. L. J. 398." — A. I. R. 1960 Mad. 331 (332)=1960 Cri. L. J. 932 (933)

—See also A. I. R. 1960 Mad. 443 (446) = 1960 Cri. L. J. 1340 (1344) (Vol. 4 of the A. I. R. Manual (2nd Edn.) referred to.)